Corpus Christi; CYA Five Enters Tourney

Corpus Christi CYA basketball coach Gary Krigbaum reports that his team has entered the annual Central Diocesan Basketball Tourney, Mar. 3 at the Catholic Center.

The perennial finalists have strengthened their club this year with the return from the armed services of playmaker guard Dan Baumann and high-scoring Tom Richards.

The Blue and Gold, who set a tourney scoring record of 113 points several years ago, are expected to reach the finals again, this year.

Other team members are Mike Dietlein, Mike Bryan, Dave Wenger, Larry Roehrenbeck, John Rhodes, John Schmidt and Jim Parker.

REBOUND RUMBLE—South's Marion Iverson (45) proves to be the spoiler just as the Red Devils' John Jackson thinks he's got this rebound situation well under control. This third-period scramble ended up out of bounds, resulting in a jump ball.

Sport Wags Looking For New Vocabulary

While copyreading our basketball wrapup accounts of area high school games the other afternoon, we noticed that we had fallen into a basic habit that hounds every sports writer sooner or later — the choice of words in reporting a sports event.

Even before the late Grantland Rice ever set his talented fingers to the typewriter, sportswriters had earned a rather unsavory reputation in their manipulation of the English language.

WAY BACK WHEN we can imagine a newspaper's sports department stuck back of some files out of the way grammatically-polished set who probably thought of the sports reporter as a necessary evil.

High school journalists were most likely steered away from the free-wheeling sports editor who had invented a "jargon" all his own that defied all the conventions of correct and accepted English.

It just wasn't safe to expose the aspiring journalist to that guy in the corner who produced words the likes of which might turn Noah Webster over in his grave.

WELL, TIMES have changed (fortunately) and the sportswriter of today has gained equal liberties and sometimes even is included on newspaper tours as long as he doesn't open his mouth.

However, the use of the language medium remains the same and doesn't appear to be moving toward any form of fine-polished finesse.

The difficulty lies in the games themselves. Take football for example. A halfback scores a touchdown. He either "sweeps around end," or "bursts over tackle" and sprints, streaks, gallops, drives or charges to the goal line, end zone, paydirt, TD-land, final stripe or a six-pointer.

A QUARTERBACK just doesn't throw a pass, he "takes to the airways," "arches an aeriel," "goes to the overland route" or "pitches a strike."

Basketball isn't much better. A player never scores a basket. He "drops in, meshes, burns the nets, rings up, or pours in" a bucket, fielder, two-pointer or goal.

And how about baseball's home run? It isn't just hit. A batter "slugs, cracks, belts, bops, smacks, clubs or clouts" a homer, four-bagger or circuit wallop.

THE NOVICE MUST be thoroughly confused when sports writers interchange the lingo.d escribing how Bart Starr threw a 'home run ball' to Ron Kramer for a Green Bay touchdown."

Variety is more than the spice of life, it's the spice of sportswriting. But the day soon comes when the same old words keep popping up over and over and over again.

Maybe we need a whole new brand of words. What about it? Anybody out there got any new words or ways of describing a sports contest?

NEW WORDS SEEM to pop up on the market every day. Why not "new" sports words? We guess what we're asking is a concerted effort to bring the nation's sportswriters out from behind the files and into the light of respectability.

Got any words? Send them to Sports Editor, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Who knows? You might revolutionize the whole field of sportswriting.

Remember Jet book tickets go on sale, Wednesday, Mar. 20.

EVER WONDER what caused that "pressurized" feeling in the chest that causes an "athlete" who thinks he can have his cigarette and smoke it too to feel that he just can't breathe?

Dr. Charles Meckstroth of the Thoracic Surgery Dept. at OSU explained the cause to us at the Student Conference On Smoking Friday at Central High School.

Contrary to popular belief, the difficulty isn't inhaling at all. Due to cigarette tars, the tiny air sacs that compose the branches of the lungs are narrowed and can't fill up with a normal amount of air.

However, the biggest difficulty occurs in exhalation when the passages narrow even more refusing to allow the air to escape properly. In a nutshell, the smoking athlete cannot exchange air normally, resulting in the feeling that he can't breathe when engaged in strenuous exercise.

RAMS PLAY FRIDAY

South, M-F, Rosary Fall In Tourney Play

By ART KIENZLE

For South High School, the '62-'63 basketball season came to an abrupt end Saturday evening as the Bulldogs lost their first AA tournament game, 39-29, to Delaware Hayes at Upper Arlington.

Two nights before the Rebs closed out their regular season with a 55-48 City League win at Marion-Franklin.

LLOYD PATE led South against M-F as he stuffed in 22 points and took scoring honors in all league games that evening.

Saturday the Rebs led Delaware through the first half but could not find the basket at all after intermission, falling behind, 26-18, and eventually bowing by 10 points.

Lloyd Pate's 10 markers topped South's scoring against the Pacers.

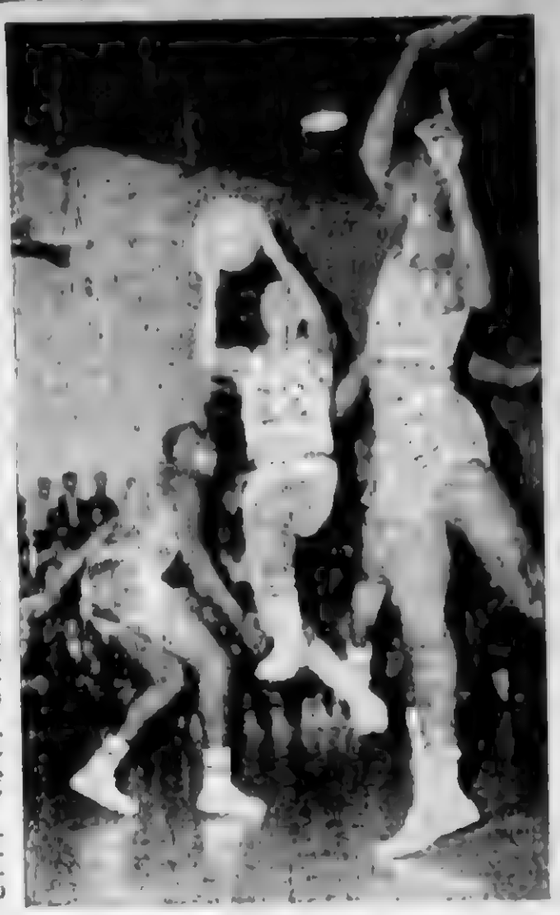
NEW ALBANY'S late point landslide buried Rosary, 58-52, Saturday evening in A competition at Westerville. The loss eliminated the Crusaders from the tourney.

The Eagles, who had suffered a pair of losses to Rosary during the regular County League season, overcame a 10-point Crusader advantage to pull ahead to stay in the final four minues of play.

Jim Grace and Ed Roehrenbeck were the Green and White's bright spots, scoring 21 and 16 points respectively.

AQUINAS WRAPPED up its regular season play Friday with a 64-43 win over Walnut Ridge. The winning Terriers never let the Scotties get any closer then 10 points after piling up their first-period edge.

Pat Mentel's 19 points keyed the Irish offense. The win evened Aquinas' City League final mark at 5-5 — good enough for a three-way fifth-place tie with West and Whetstone.



BEXLEY'S POINT-SPURT in the final four minutes of play carried the Lions to a 57-44 AA tourney victory over Marion-Franklin Saturday.

Neither team was able to garner any kind of a lead until Steve Jackson fouled out for the Red Devils late in the game. Jackson's 12 markers was best for M-F.

With South, Rosary and Marion-Franklin already eliminated from tourney competition, only St. Marys remains to bolster area hopes.

The Rams (14-4) get their first taste of tournament play Friday evening at Westerville when they take on Academy (6-13) at 7 p.m.

Aquinas (9-9) tests Gahanna (17-1) Saturday in AA action at Arlington's gymnasium. Tipoff time is set for 1:30 p.m.

IVOR BOLING (second from right) nabs the leadoff spot as he finishes on top in a little "choose up" session at a recent organizational meeting of the Bow Wow Cafe's entry in the South Side Old Timers League—the city's first slo-pitch loop now moving towards its eleventh season. Joining in the "spring training" session, left to right: catcher Buck Santanich, team sponsor Joe Eagle, outfielder Dick Fritzpatrick, Boling and pitcher Sam Soward.

SKIP SURROUNDED—Marion-Franklin's Skip Sheridan finds himself surrounded by a possession-hungry bunch of South Bulldogs after the Red Devil cager pulled in this rebound against the Rebels. South outlasted M-F in the City League finale for both clubs, 55-49.

WRESTLING WRAPUP

F-H Paces Qualifiers In District Mat Final

Defending district wrestling champion Franklin Heights moved into position for a repeat performance this weekend on the home mats by leading the qualifying field with nine entries as the sectional finals Saturday at Whitehall trimmed the field to 31.

The Falcons could find some stern competition, however, when the district finals get underway Friday as Worthington will send eight participants to the meet and East Pleasant View and Hilliard each will contribute seven other grapplers to the field.

OTHER QUALIFYING schools were: Whitehall and Arlington, six each; West, five; Bexley, Grandview, Watterson, University, four each; Walnut Ridge and Circleville, three each; Groveport, Central and Linden, two each and Grove City, Eastmoor, Hartley, North and Westerville, one each.

P-V's John Holloway (112), Franklin Heights' Aziz Dere (120), Walnut Ridge's Don Pinkston (138) and Whitehall's Alan Rosenblum (120) —the area's four defending champs — all qualified for the finals with twin wins over the weekend.

The district preliminaries are set for Friday at 7 p.m. at Franklin Heights with consolation matches slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. Finals will get underway Saturday evening at 8.

HERE ARE THE individual results of Saturday's sectional finals:

'Old Timers' Limber Up For '63 Play

Break out the bats and uncork the liniment, mom—the South Side Old Timers League is starting to limber up.

That's the way it looked last week when the loop's initial team — Joe Eagle's Bow-Wow Cafe club — sat down to map out the strategy for opening day.

THE OLD TIMERS League, organized in 1952 by Eagle, now consists of 10 teams with expansion ballooning membership from the original four "charter" clubs — Bow Wow, Gay Timers, West Park Methodist and Swan Club.

The purpose of the league then (as it is now) was to provide recreation for players 30 years of age or over. The "over" segment of the clause is accurate at least as far as the Bow Wow's who have a number of 40-year-plus boys are concerned.

Slo-pitch softball has come a long way since Eagle initiated the loop 11 years ago. In fact, it should be safe to assume that the sport is the most popular team activity during the summer months.

DON KIRBY will pilot the Bow-Wow entry this summer. Six of the players that made up Eagle's first team are still active. They include Kirby, Eagle, Ike Boling, Ivor Boling, Desy Defourney and Buck Santanich.

Eagle, who also sponsors another softball team, three bowling clubs and a euchre team, is a graduate of South High School, where he was active in the sporting picture.

Slipping—

that we're faced with the problems of the 1930's"

"An article in the 'New Yorker' pointed out that there are 50 million Americans in poverty or serious trouble. The poor have slipped out of our experience and consciousness. The middle class never did like poverty, so, to the people living in the suburbs, those 50 million are invisible

"In reality, we have an economic depression that curls our hair. But, it's hidden and concealed. We have to adjust our eyes, intelligence, emotions and wallets. It's because most of us never had it so good, and we feel good about it."

Three of these "hidden and concealed" problems Kelly talked about are (1) family education, (2) youth counseling, and (3) a program for slow learners. In all three areas, as Kelly sees it, community houses can serve a real need.

The Boston College graduate took a slight slap at Gov. Rhodes, firing of state workers — specifically in the field of mental health.

"Some 3000 mental health workers were fired in this state," he exclaimed. "Actually, we should be hiring 3000 more and this now makes 6000 jobs that need to be filled in this field."

Kelly talked a bit about finances and likened them, now, to bikini that "only covers the barest essentials."

As Kelly points out, "what is important is that we cannot leave the problem to the people who reject the need and are unwilling to pay the bill for it."

Car-Train Crash Kills East Sider

Will Reed, 63, of 1629 Emerald-av, was killed Thursday in a car-train collision at the Norfolk and Western Railroad crossing on Frebis-av.

Reed was thrown from his car by the impact.

Allen H. Chrisman, 1224 E. 22nd-av, said Reed apparently made no attempt to stop, even though flasher lights at the crossing were working and the engineer gave warning blasts on the train whistle.

Reed was employed by the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., 2211 Parsons-av for nearly 40 years.

Robert Dade In Alaskan Exercise

Army Specialist Five Robert A. Dade, whose wife, Marie, lives in Gary, Tex., helped support mock aggressor and friendly forces with other members of the 514th Medical Company during Exercise Timberline in central Alaskan wilderness this month.

The exercise was a joint combined maneuver involving Alaskan Command units, Army and Air Force units from the continental U. S. and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Dade, a medical specialist, entered the Army in June 1960 and arrived in Alaska in April 1962.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of East High School.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dade, live at 551 Stanley-av.

New Larger State Parks Proposed In Goals Of Rhodes Administration

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Dean Jauchius, administrative assistant to Gov. Rhodes, announced some details of the administration's natural resources and outdoorf recreation program at the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio. He also said that a director for the Department of Natural Resources had not been found, and that Director Herbert B. Eagon, whose term expires in April, will not be reappointed.

Gov. Rhodes has an ambitious program in mind that will be good news for all outdoors-minded people. Heading the list is land acquisition—for future lake sites and outdoor recreation development. Up to $98 million may be spent on the program, which is more money than the Department of Natural Resources has spent in the 13 years of its existence. An increased liquor tax and federal matching funds are expected to provide the money.

Here are the other highlights: Large parks will be developed, six and a quarter miles of Lake Erie beaches will be acquired; a large inn will be built at Hueston Woods State Park; camping capacity will be doubled to accommodate one and a half million persons a year; youth camps will be established; a conservancy district revolving fund will be set up to help districts get started which would then repay the money; and a new headquarters building will be constructed at 1500 Dublin-rd.

Jauchius promised that enabling legislation to begin this program will be introduced into the General Assembly soon, probably within days. It certainly deserves the help and support of all outdoors lovers in the state.

The program of the OWO concentrated on the future and on what is to come, Dr. Charles A. Dambach, director of the Natural Resources Institute, Dick Jennings, jovial representative from Cortland Line Company, introduced Cortland's 333 "half and half" fly line. It is a double taper line—one half sinks and the other half floats. By reversing this line on your reel you can interchange wet and dry flies. You need not carry two lines with you anymore. Cortland has also improved its coating of spinning lines to keep the sun's rays from making them wiry and stiff.

A brand new open-face spinning reel was shown. Called the 'Holiday," it will begin showing up in stores in about two weeks. It is very simple and represents a new departure in spinning reel design. Ohio State University, described a day not many years off when we will become more European-like. Our cities will empty out on weekends as crowded and harassed people head for the outdoors in even greater numbers. Our parks will become the most prized real estate we have, and outdoor recreation will almost alone break the monotony of people and more people.

Mike Hudoba, Washington editor for Sports Afield, was the banquet speaker, and told of the importance of the conservation movement. "The seeds of communism find root where natural resources have been used and disused," said Hudoba. "The greatest experiment in human freedom—by the people and for the people—will be decided by how we handle our natural riches, our resources." His message was a warning for the future.

A little more in the immediate future, several fishing tackle manufacturers revealed what would be coming up this spring in the way of fish foolers. Dick Kotis, president of the Arborgast Company, said lure makers have been accused of making baits for fishermen and not fish. Disputing this, he said that their new bait, the "Wheedler," has less sales appeal than most any bait ever made. "But show this little artificial snake to a bass, and it's a different matter," bragged Kotis. It is designed to fish over algae and weed-chocked water, and may be a new breakthrough in getting to those hard-to-reach bass.

ings, etc.) shouldn't permit smoking at meetings, one lad volunteered.

• Parents shouldn't "lay down the law" on smoking or drinking, said one girl who confessed she believed in "reverse psychology."

• Smoking forums should be conducted at schools so that all students are aware of the dangers, said one discussion leader who pointed out that it's always the "goody-goodies" who frequent special functions such as this one.

• The far-reaching effects of smoking, such as forest fires, was pointed out by another discussion leader.

Most interesting perhaps, of the discussions were carried on by seventh graders — youngsters who maintained that they wished they had been told about smoking dangers earlier.

Faculty advisors of the affair were Mrs. Jean Porter of Groveport Schools, Mrs. Lillian Bernhagen of the Worthington district and M. D. Sheatsley of the Columbus Public Schools.

Student committee leaders were Mike McCoy (University), Ruth Hollingsworth (Franklin Heights), William Johannes (West), Janice Hale (Champion Junior), Cheri Papier (Bexley) and George Morris (Bishop Ready).

Boy Scout News

The month of February was celebrated over the country as the 52nd aniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. The Mohawk District actively participated in the anniversary with projects by the various troops.

A common item in the Cub Scout program were the Blue and Gold dinners. These dinners are the highlight of the Cubbing program for the year, and usually awards are given out to the Cubs. The following packs held such dinners: 25, 84, 92, 105, 135, 167, 178, 242 and 456.

The packs also held different displays in store windows throughout the South Side. These displays showed the various aspects of the Cubbing program to the public. Those packs participating with window displays were Pack 105, demonstrating "Webeloes" at the Alber's Supermarket; Pack 135, "Crafts," at Nat's Barber Shop; Pack 178 "Crafts," at Budget Loan; and Pack 242, "Pinewood Racing and Space Derby," at City Loan.

In the Boy Scout program, a few of the troops held Parent Potluck dinners, which were usually combined wih a Court of Honor recognizing the scouts. Troops 25, 56 and 78 held these dinners.

Most of the troops in the Mohawk District held window displays such as the Cub Scouts, displaying the different facets of Scouting. These troops were Troop 78, "Scoutcraft," at Budget Loan; 111, "Scoutcraft," at Johnnie's Pizza; 25, "Scoutcraft," at Economy Loan; 260, "Scoutcraft," at Tractor Supply; and Troop 530, "Hobbies," at Renne Gift Shop.

Troop 526 held a special demonstration in commemoration of Scout Week by camping out on the Walnut Hills Methodist Church lawn. Their display included tents, fires and a monkey bridge to show the elements of scouting.

Those units that attended church as a whole group on Scout Sunday were Packs 25, 84, 92, 135, 242, 456 and 526; Troops 25, 77, 78, 56, 92, 230 and 526, and Post 77.

Gals Gain Share Of Spotlight In Schiller Athletic Program

By Jack Wittenmeier

Ever since the first Neanderthal picked up a stone and discovered he could throw it farther than his mate, the male of the species has dominated the sports kingdom.

But if you're trying to peddle this theory to the folks down at Schiller Recreation Center, you might not find them buying.

ALL THEY HAVE to do is introduce you to Linda Stevens or some of the other young ladies in the Schiller sports program. If Linda isn't enough to disprove the male sporting superiority story, the foot-in-the-door boy might just as well throw in the towel.

As an integral part of the Schiller program for the past five years, Linda has competed in basketball, softball, volleyball, table tennis, shuffleboard, track, etc. If Schiller's got it—Linda's tried it.

And not just tried it but excelled in it as records, award cups and ribbons will testify. Linda, who admits she's been participating in sports for "as long as I remember," is currently table tennis champion at Schiller.

LINDA, an honor student at South High School, from where she expects to graduate this June, is 18 and must depart from the Schiller sports scene as a member of the 16-18 senior group before long.

"We're really going to miss her," was the way Director of Girls Athletic Activities Mary Gillen put it. "Linda either wins the tournament or is runner-up. She's a very excellent basketball player."

Linda, the daughter of Ruth Stevens of 488 Sheldonst, hasn't always donated her varied athletic talents to the Schiller program. She participated in Lincoln Park sports activities as a member of the 12 and under group.

YOU COULD continue on and on listing Linda's achievements, but Linda Stevens isn't the whole story at Schiller.

Linda's table tennis partner, Norma Williams, of 966 S. Champion-av, is a basketball champion in her own right and has also got the job done in the weightlifting department.

Norma, a freshman at OSU, works for the recreation department during the summer.

And don't get the notion that Schiller's proficiency in the feminine sports field will cease to exist with Linda Stevens' departure.

FOLLOWING in her footsteps is Rene Easterling, who at 12, has already made quite a name for herself at Schiller. Rene, of 791 Ebner-st, was the junior girls table tennis champion in her first year of competition.

Last year she swept the foul shooting tournament in her novice attempt. Rene is a seventh-grade student at Mohawk Junior High.

So fellows — watch out. These gals can put that ball through the hoop or hit that softball or just about anything else they try.

But maybe it's still a man's world. At least the gals seem content to let the fellows buy the philosophy. We guess that's why Linda admitted, with a bit of feminine tact, that her brothers still give her a good deal of competition as top athlete around the

TRAINED

MARINE PRIVATE 1/C. Robert P. Harper, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Harper of 2448 S. FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Multiple Choices Offered For March Menus

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit, winter pears, apples.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes (old crop), lettuce, celery, cabbage.

Protein Foods — Eggs, frozen fish, beef and pork "specials," fryers, cottage cheese.

March — the windy month — is also the month when family appetites are likely to be as capricious as the weather. In addition, Lenten season imposes some restrictions on your menus. But here's some encouraging news on what's ahead at food markets.

Mrs. Franks

Market men say that beef and pork supplies are plentiful, that egg production is up and that shipments of fresh produce from warmer climates are increasing. Seafoods also will come into the spotlight for Lenten menus.

The plentiful supply of eggs in March ties in nicely with the Lenten season. It offers you an economical protein that can be made into hearty, appetizing dishes. Larger supplies and slightly lower prices sum up the meat prospects. Marketings of fed cattle are expected to be four to six per cent above a year ago during March. At the same time, pork supplies will be increasing as heavy marketing of 1962 fall crop pigs gets under way. To round out the picture, broiler supplies should also be somewhat larger than last year during this period.

Weather still plays a crucial role in the produce market, but at this writing fresh vegetables from Florida and the West are increasing and quality improving. You'll find more beans, lettuce, green onions, radishes and summer squash. Also plenty of new cabbage and broccoli. Florida will start shipping us sweet corn by the middle of the month and more fresh asparagus will come from California.

And, what could be tastier in brisk, windy March than a boiled dinner? To go in it, potatoes, onions and carrots have no competition as leading bargain vegetables

Valencia oranges — the favorite oranges for juice — come to market in March, but expect prices to be higher this year than last. Grapefruit, winter pears, bananas, avocados and apples continue in good supply. Look for CA (controlled atmosphere storage) printed on the bag to identify the apples with the longer storage life. Michigan hothouse rhubarb is at peak production this month and will be featured more often at prices low enough to make that first fresh rhubarb pie.

A three-course dinner — a complete frozen meal including soup and dessert — will be added in March to the present list of frozen dinners. You'll find three dinners — roast turkey, salisbury steak and fried chicken. Each dinner has a different soup. For a dessert, the chicken dinner has apple brown betty, with the salisbury steak there is apple-apricot crisp; spicy apple crisp tops off the turkey dinner.

Ask Welfare Aides Meet With Board

The Franklin County Child Welfare Board will hold a "get-together" for representatives of area civic groups interested in helping the child welfare program.

Don Dodsworth, Director of Group Services and head of Franklin Village, said the meeting will be held Tuesday, Mar. 19, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the "Lecture Room" of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. building, 215 E. Front-st.

Accommodations can be made for about 75 people, according to Dodsworth, so it is requested that each organization limit its representatives to two.

Reservations can be made by calling BR. 6-3541, extension 252.

Fairbanks Completes Air Force Training

Master Sergeant John E. Fairbanks of 3335 Scottwood-rd, has graduated from the Air Defense Command Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Sgt. Fairbanks received advanced training in leadership and management.

The sergeant, son of Ray E. Fairbanks of 559 Mohawk, attended Everett High School.

Clinic For Soap Box Derby Set

The first Soap Box Derby Clinic will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Mar. 2 at the Sunshine Recreation Center, 677 Sullivant-av.

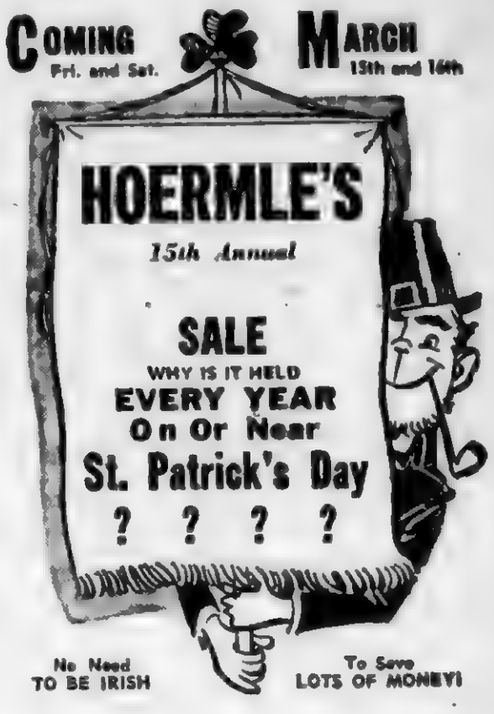
All boys interested in entering this year's competition are invited to attend. Spokesmen for the 1963 racing classic said boys 11 through 15 are eligible.

Included in the clinic's program will be the showing of a movie, "The Long, Happy Race," highlighting the 1963 event.

Bobby Held, last year's local champion, will discuss his experiences in Akron and make recommendations for building a racer. He will also show his racing car.

Boys attending the clinic will have the opportunity to examine one of the winning cars from last year's Akron championship race.

Schedule of future clinics and other information pertaining to the Columbus derby will be given to those in attendance.



All Chevrolet dealers have the necessary material to register boys now for this year's race on July 13. Entrants should be accompanied by their parents or guardians.

Stage Columbus Jewish Center To Rhinoceros' Mar. 2 Premiere Of 'Rh

"Rhinoceros" will be presented in its Columbus premiere at the Jewish Center by the Gallery Players opening Saturday night, Mar. 2. Subsequent performances will be on Mar. 3, 6, 7, 9 and 10.

This is the Eugene Ionesco play that symbolizes the trend to conformity, the bandwagon psychology, by showing a townful of people exuberantly abandoning their membership in the human race by turning themselves into rhinoceroses. The play brought Zero Mostel to stardom on Broadway in 1961, and the same role will be played by Joseph Colucci in the Gallery Players production.

"Rhinoceros" is the fantastic tale of how first one or two, then a handful, and then nearly all of the citizens of a town happily cast off their human guises and turn into rhinoceroses—until only one man is left.

While all his friends are lecturing him on his stuffiness in remaining human, on his inability to keep in step with the times, on his old-fashioned insistence on sticking to the standards of human decency, culture and morality, when everybody else is eagerly surrendering to a herd instinct and wallowing in ugliness, this lone defender of humanity's struggle to rise above animalism resolves never to capitulate.

Sam McClintic plays the mousy clerk who turns out to be the town's single holdout against the mass mania for animalism. Marilyn Trapp will be seen as the feather-brained pretty girl he tries to persuade to remain human with him.

Larry Kent, Curt Meeks and Paul Golub will portray some of his office mates, and Muriel Gundersheimer a fluttery wife who rushes to join her husband who has already become one of these thick-skinned beasts. Alvin Beck plays a favorite Ionesco character, a logician who gives a logical touch to absurdities.

Others appearing in the play are Julian Barnett, Gil Parish, Hy Copeland, Iris Epstein, Debbie Israel, and Irene Braverman.

Harold M. Eisenstein is directing this comic rebellion against conformity, and Robert Stegmiller is designing the settings and lighting.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER

The film, "The Will of Augusta Nash," will be shown at the Fellowship dinner of Ashville Methodist Church, Sunday, Mar. 3, 6:30 p.m.

Heart Fund Still Accepts Contributions

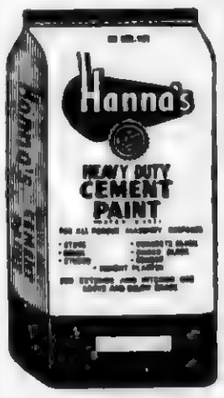
"Families who were either not at home or who were not visited by a volunteer on Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, still have an opportunity to join the 1963 fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, according to Heart Sunday chairman, Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, 4554 Starret-rd.

Contributions may be mailed to the Heart Fund in the not-at-home envelopes or in plain envelopes addressed to Heart, 145 N. High-st, Columbus 15, she said.

"This is a cause in which we all have a personal stake," Mrs. Schellenger said, "for heart diseases can strike anywhere, any time. No adult, no child is immune. This number one killer claims the lives of more local residents — and those of neighbors across the country—than all other causes of death combined."

Mrs. Snyder Buried Monday

Service was held Monday for Mrs. Helen Jones Snyder, 67, who died last Thursday at her home, 229 Front-st, Groveport.



She is survived by her husband, E. Arlow Snyder, treasurer of the village; two daughters, Mrs. Charlotte Graham and Mrs. Margaret Henrdicks; two sons, Rudyard and John; 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A member of Grace Lutheran Church of Columbus, Mrs. Snyder was active in the Community Players Club and took part in civic activities.

The funeral was at Darfus Funeral Home. Burial at Glen Rest Cemetery.

Is Test System Wise?

The question of psychological testing of school children currently rests in a state of remission; unresolved, after having generated more heat than light during initial clashes of opposing forces.

We offer our thoughts during this comparatively "cool" period in the hope that they will be absorbed by those seeking a reasonable resolution of the problem, rather than to be consumed by the fire of controversy.

The local controversy centers on the test prepared by Science Research Associates, and administered to eighth grade students in Whitehall; the general question of psychological testing of school children is the subject of no less than three bills introduced in Congress, and aimed at curbing present practices.

We discuss the Whitehall controversy, with our views applying to the general question of youth inventory testing.

All side issues to the contrary, the Whitehall question is: Should parental consent be obtained prior to testing, and after parents have been apprised of the test content?

It is most unfortunate that the prime issue — merit of testing and methods — is clouded by irrelevant questions. It is just as foolish of test method opponents to "wonder out loud" if the whole business is "Communist inspired," as it is for proponents to equate their opposition with "book-burners," "right wing," or "left wing" groups.

We can appreciate that boards of education cannot properly function without authority sufficient to determine policies, rules and regulations governing the education process for children entrusted to their care.

We can also see the danger of expediency that tends to deny a voice to the parent, who must assume the ultimate responsibility for the child, simply because he is not a member of the education fraternity.

Granted; that guidance programs in our school system constitute a necessary and worthwhile adjunct to total education. But, because we are old-fashioned enough to place great reliance on common sense, we submit that the following questions should be given prime consideration:

Why mass test? If students are performing adequately in school, is it then wise to "kick the lid off" repressed emotions?

Is parental consent eliminated as a test prerequisite because parents might object? If so, would these same parents be any more likely to cooperate after hearing negative results of a test they would not have approved in the first place?

Can corrective measures be undertaken and successfully achieved without the cooperation of parents?

We are reminded that Mark Twain once said that the trouble with people is not their ignorance, but their knowing so many things that "ain't so." Perhaps therein lies the answer to our problem.

Goals Lead Us To Life's Satisfactions

Where are you headed? Do you know? Is your goal one that you have chosen, or is it one that others have imposed upon you? Are you one of those who have no life goals at all?

Folkman

These are good questions to consider as the new year begins. For many years, I have been interested in the stress and strain of modern life. My investigations have convinced me that they are caused less by the number and speed of our activities than by the lack of satisfaction in them.

Satisfactions are derived from the accomplishment of goals. This is called success. If one has no goals, he does not know when he has succeeded. Consequently, he cannot enjoy the feelings of success that make life worth living. Somehow or other, we can never escape the feeling of failure that follows any inadequacy in one or another of life's situations.

It is essentially unhappiness or lack of satisfaction in life that wears us down. An hour's play in an active sport is less tiring than an hour spent in calisthenics. The hour of play may require as much or more physical exertion, but its satisfactions diminish its fatigue.

One is doomed to failure feelings and robbed of success feelings if he lives without goals. Such a life is a meaningless exercise or exertion. To be meaningful, life must be directed toward goals of value and worth.

The highest goals and the most enduring are those set before us by religion. To be a better person tomorrow than I was yesterday, a better father, a better friend, a better citizen, a better worker, are the goals that can be reached almost every day; they can make living more successful almost every day than it was the day before.

Almost every day, practically every human being has an opportunity to be helpful to another. Almost every day, every human being has a chance to make the world just a little bit better for his having lived in it that day. Almost every day, every human being can live as the child of God, the Universal Father in heaven, and the brother of all mankind.

With such life goals, one need not succumb to the stress and strain of life. With such goals, one discovers that God is his helper. He finds sources of strength he never knew he had.

This is the beginning of a new year. This is a good time to think these things over. What are you doing with your life?

Day Of Prayer Serves Need

Friday, Mar. 1, will mark the 77th observance of the World Day of Prayer, sponsored by United Church Women. Churches in 22,000 communities throughout the United States will be joined in prayer with church groups in 145 foreign countries.

The observance will include services in 26 churches in Franklin County, and will represent more than 20 Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The theme of World Day of Prayer includes prayers for peace and the spread of Christian faith, and offerings for home and international missions and support of 12 Christian colleges for women throughout the world.

While significant as one day when many unite for a common spiritual good, the World Day of Prayer is a needed reminder that the Brotherhood of Man is a day-to-day, continuing process by which we attain the peace of mind that the world cannot give.

Teen Drivers Should Pay Own Auto Bills

To The Editor:

In all fairness to those Hilliard High students who may be paying in loss of car liberties for a deadly mistake of one of their fellow students, I have sought hard for reasons behind youthful speeding that may not be the fault of teenagers themselves.

I came up with two important problems that go farther than safety demonstrations, lectures, etc., which are fine as long as students are kept on a steady diet.

In the past ten years since my husband and I were graduated from Hilliard High School, there has been a decline in part-time job opportunities, and it is going to become worse. There was a time when a student could work to finance his car, gas, tires and insurance. One of my classmates was known to purchase gas 50 cents at a time, but he paid his own way.

Along with this job opportunity squeeze goes the cost-of-living squeeze, and it hurts students just as much as adults. Even the most industrious student cannot earn enough to make it worthwhile to keep his own car.

Speeding and disrespect for the property and lives of others often result when youths drive cars that are not their own. Only when a boy earns and pays for his own transportation costs will he begin to slow down and quit abusing a car. No amount of lecturing can replace the process of earning and paying that characterizes the life of responsible adults.

Granted, we need student education on safe driving. Behind that, parents can encourage the job-earning-paying process of driving, even if they can afford to do otherwise.

Parents who want to give the best economically and socially can better pay for clothes or hobbies, rather than provide devices with which youth can destroy themselves.

Cuts In Social Agencies 'Economy Of Grave'

To The Editor:

Long indifference and neglect broken by short blasts of get-tough punishment will not dent the problem of juvenile delinquency and violence.

The open tragic death of Richard Brown on a West Side street momentarily makes it impossible to ignore the sea of troubles in which hundreds of teenagers swim every day and night in Columbus.

The rest of the time we look away from the troubled waters. We don't want to pay for basic community services to maintain families and protect children. Witness the erosion of Child Welfare Board funds. We want to cut welfare, economize on education and bypass the staggering problems of youth unemployment.

The cry is economy. We want to save money and in the process we spend lives

The death of Richard Brown is a senseless death. There have been other "near" deaths — deaths deflected in settlement houses, in homes and on the street — deaths, which were avoided because trained workers helped solve the turbulent problems of youth growing up in the violent world adults have patterned.

But many agencies in Columbus are short staffed and under budgeted. Services to youth and families have been crippled. This kind of economy is the economy of the grave. It will fill coffins and jails. It will not solve the problem.

This problem can only be attacked by careful and continual concern for the health, education and welfare of growing citizens. It requires a commitment from the community beyond that of retributive punishment. It requires a commitment to plan for youth services.

Pleads For Restraint

To The Editor:

Since reading your article (Youth Spouts Alarming Views, Feb. 21) I cannot help but answer. A student of 17 should be in school, not roaming the streets with nothing to do but get in trouble.

I have no children but I do a lot of work to help different organizations which help young people.

I think that was a terrible thing that happened Feb. 9 (at Gladden House.) The Tenth Commandment, given by our Lord, was broken.

Please, let us all stay in our own end of town and try to do some good for others. We don't want "revenge." I only hope all teenagers will let the law take care of things like this and will keep out of trouble.

A friend to all high school students,

CapitalExecutionFoe

The subject of the right of society to take a life was cause for much controversy during the past administration. However, as is always the case, matters of this nature fall in the realm of political footballs. All too often an issue is opposed just because the other party suggested it.

I know of no other issue this administration and legislative body better could consummate in its tenure of office than the abolishment of capital punishment.

Our Bible tells us, "Thou shalt not kill." There are no added words such as "except if a sin against society is committed."

The strong argument which once confronted the proponents of abolishing the taking of lives — that is to say that it gives criminals more freedom of committing crimes — has not proved worthy in any of the states which abolished capital punishment.

It would appear that once a mind was so confused as to actually commit a serious crime the thought of being put out of one's miseries would probably be more incentive for doing the crime. Knowing full well that you might spend years and years at the mercy of a prison administration has curtailed more crimes than not.

The present administration in years hence could look back as being members of one of the bold and courageous bodies of men if they would only take the initiative to once and for all abolish this outmoded social admonishment.

Philosophy Is Put To Test

It's an interesting fact that man often is at his worst in a crowd — or by himself.

At least I thought it was interesting until I mentioned this to my wife, Virginia, who for the most part silently serves as my humble sounding board.

McPeek

I made the remark after I had read an article on the recently published "Crowds and Power," a sociological study by Elias Canetti, Bulgarian - born novelist.

Canetti centered his work on the effects produced or brought out in man when he becomes part of a crowd.

"Men join crowds to escape the restrictions of life," Canetti wrote. "Stepping out of everything which binds, encloses and burdens him is the real reason for the elation he feels in a crowd. When he returns to his house . . . he finds again, boundaries, burdens and strings."

Canetti's remarks caused me to realize that man also loses many of his qualities that are noble when he withdraws to himself and becomes totally divorced from his fellowman. I'm thinking of recluses and hermits — also egomaniacs who hold an office or position of supreme power.

Pleased with this information, I was anxious, as is my wont when I come across new ideas, to bounce them off my wife's ears to gain an outside reaction.

"You can whistle that tune again, Buster," she retorted when I threw my jumbled thoughts at her. "If ever I saw a supposedly respectable husband and father transformed into a slob by a crowd, it was you at the party last New Year's eve. If ever anyone became unbound, unenclosed and unburdened by a crowd, you were the one."

Suddenly aware that my humble sounding board was out of tune at the moment, I attempted to beat a hasty retreat.

Leaping before me, she spread-eagled herself in the doorway. "Now that you bring up the ugly subject," she snarled, "let's get it straight — come next New Year's Eve, if you again . . ."

I feinted to the right, darted under her left arm and dashed upstairs. Consequently, I missed the rest of her words except for something about "you'd be better off if you stick to Kool-Aid."

"And you're right about that withdrawing stuff, too," — she squawked up the stairway as I zipped into my room and pushed a chest against the door. "It shows that such a man is a coward, afraid to face life and wife."

Frightened, but determined to get in the last word, I bellowed through the keyhole:

"Nags and crones can bust my eardrums, but not if I stay up here." Then I sat down and cried.

If there's a moral in this story, please send it to my wife.

In a recent news story about a young boy who killed the other members in his family, the youth's teachers and schoolmates were at a loss to explain how he became a murderer.

"He was always in trouble, beating smaller children, torturing animals and assaulting his teachers," said one. "He certainly was not a model student like most teenage killers."

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Who ever expected to see the day when top-rated members of the President's cabinet would have to go on national radio and TV hookups and beg the American people to "believe the President" and stop talking about this insane Cuban fiasco?

For three days I heard more talk by all kinds of people about that astounding performance than on any other topic. These are heated expressions of disgust by individuals who rarely take the time or trouble to get "all hotted up" about anything related to national politics

The whole Cuban affair has been a mess from the day of the Bay of Pigs debacle. It has gone from bad to worse, faster than any scandal I can remember since the oil scandal in the Harding administration. Those of us who would settle right now for another Teddy Roosevelt are indulging in wishful thinking even to hope for such real Americanism.

Paraphrasing George Gobel: "they just don't make them kind" anymore.

We do have men available who would straighten out that whole insane mess in 48 hours. Old General MacArthur for one.

If this so-called psychological poker game goes on, there can be but one result. Some mad man down there will completely blow his stack.

President Kennedy is smart enough to know the truth, but he has allowed the double-talk and dilly-dallying to go way beyond the line of no return.

The one thing that will bring this whole disgraceful mess to a head for this country, is to clean out now the State Dept. and the Supreme Court and get some men in power who have both guts and honest love for our way of life.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

ACHIEVEMENT

You think you've got troubles? So do we all. But others have had them, too. Let's just see what some have done about them.

An eight-year-old Kansas farm boy was so badly burned that the doctor said he would never walk again. But the boy had other ideas. After years of effort, he broke the indoor mile record in Madison Square Garden. His name was Glenn Cunningham.

Sir Walter Scott was lame. Lord Byron had a club foot. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a polio cripple, as was Johnny Weissmuller, the original Tarzan movie actor. He broke more swimming records than any other.

Cartoonist H. T. Webster lost the use of his right hand, but drew "Casper Milquetoast" and "When a Feller Needs a Friend" with his left.

Floyd Gibbons suffered many fractures and lost an eye on a torpedoed ship. But he became a famous war correspondent and radio personality.

Ludwig von Beethoven composed most of his great symphonies after he became deaf. Others who lost all or most of their hearing were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Arthur Capper, Joseph C. Grew, Dr. Karl A. Menninger, Hiram Bingham, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Rupert Hughes, Stanley Baldwin, and Thomas A. Edison.

Samuel Untermyer, famous trial lawyer, had asthma. Woodrow Wilson and Pope Pius XII had murderous headaches. Martin Luther had gout. Charles Darwin suffered life-long pain. Arturo Toscanini was an arthritis victim. Robert Louis Stevenson had tuberculosis.

It says here . . . . . .
Don't give up the ship too soon.
It may not sink after all.

Hoskinson Joins Mehl Sales Staff

Eddie Hoskinson

J. L. Mehl and Co. has announced that Edide Hoskinson has joined its full time sales staff. He previously worked for the company on a part time basis.

A resident of the South Side for a number of years, Hoskinson and his wife and daughter reside at 1781 Wilson-av. He graduated from South High School and served in the armed forces during World War II.

Hoskinson is active in church work, American Legion, Ohio Highway Patrol Auxiliary and Columbus Board of Realtors.

He will specialize in listings on the South Side and East Side of the city.

Lazarus President Predicts A Good Year For Business

"The forecast on which we have based our business plans for spring through late fall is very encouraging." These were the words of Charles Y. Lazarus, president of the F. and R. Lazarus Company, during a press meeting in the Southern Hotel, Feb. 20.

Discussing the company's first branch store, Lazarus West, the department store executive stated he is glad to report the convenience store, established for customers in the vicinity of Lincoln Village and the Hilltop, has done very well since its August opening. He added that the new facility has caused little or no drain-off from the downtown Lazarus store.

Other stores of this same type will be constructed in the near future, according to Lazarus. "We will be accepting bids for the Northland store (Karl and Morse-rd region) about Apr. 1," he told the press gathering, and added that the new facility should be ready for an August 1964 opening.

Almost a year ago the firm revealed its intentions of building a third branch in the Southeast section of the county.

The president of one of Columbus' most successful businesses told the group that Lazarus West had taught his organization a great deal as a pilot operation.

"We have been constantly experimenting by adding price lines and different levels of goods, so there has been considerable change in the stores' goods and services during the first six months of operations. This period of education is valuable because we have such an aggressive branch store program planned for the next several years," he said.

Expanding on the theme of an encouraging business year prospect, Lazarus explained that researchers found that Central Ohio has a little better employment picture than the rest of the nation as a whole in approaching full employment. This, he said, was a key factor in the retail business.

He added that a conservative forecast for 1963 retail business shows at least a three per cent gain over the high levels reached in 1962 in the Central Ohio area.

Platers Now In 50th Year

The 50-year-old Franklin Plating and Polishing Co., Inc., 630 S. Sixth-st, specializes in custom plating and polishing rather than large industrial work.

Owned and operated by brothers, Joe and Walter Zang, Franklin Plating puts new finishes on copper, nickel, chrome, silver, zinc, cadmium, tin and brass objects.

"We also put black oxide on steel and finish kitchen hardware," said Joe Zang, "but we do not work with gold."

A piece to be plated is first stripped to the base metal of its old plating. Repairs are made if necessary, and the fixture is then polished, plated and buffed.

Mrs. Marie Richards, sister of the Zangs and company bookkeeper, said the amount of buffing depends on the desired finish. "Some customers want a dull lustre, others ask for a high gloss," she commented.

The company was founded in 1913 by the Zangs father, Charles, a native of Alsace-Lorraine, who learned the craft when he was 14.

JOE ZANG, co-owner of Franklin Plating, is shown with two newly finished head lamps for antique autos. Zang said the plating and polishing company prefers to do custom work rather than large industrial projects.

Twirlers To Compete March 9

More than 1,000 boys and girls from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana are expected to attend the second annual baton twirling contest Saturday, Mar. 9 at West High School.

Sponsored by the parents of children who perform with Margie's Mattadores, the contest is sanctioned by the National Baton Twirling Association.

James McKenna, 322 S. Roys-av, in charge of the event, said $300 worth of trophies and medals will be awarded.

A number of baton twirling corps from the Midwest will compete in unit competition.

Park Board Gets Federal Aid

The Columbus Metropolitan Park Board announced last week it has received $135,000 in Federal grants for purchasing park land to expand Blendon Woods, Spring Hollow, Darby Creek, Blacklick Woods, High Banks and Chestnut Ridge parks.

The grant was approved by the Urban Renewal Administration for purchase of 36 parcels of land.

$70,000 Pledged By Lutherans

Ninety of the 125 Lutheran Churches of all synods are now actively campaignng for funds for furnishings of the Lutheran Senior City, under construction east of St. Mary of the Springs with access from state route 62.

With eight churches having completed their fund campaign, and seven partially completed, a total of $70,000 has been pledged. Goal for furnishings is $200,000.

High Accident Locations Listed

The Columbus Police Department selective enforcement bulletin for the first 15 days of February cites two high auto accident locations in the Hilltop Record area.

Columbus Police Chief George Scholer listed the Sandusky-Spring Interchange as a particularly dangerous area and called special attention to the peak traffic hours from 3 to 7 p.m. The chief desired stricter enforcement of left of center violations and speed traffic laws.

Chief Scholer also noted a section of Sullivant-av from Wayne to Binns as a high accident location and called for a more concentrated enforcement of failure to yield right-of-way from private drive violators and speed laws. He listed the hours of 4 to 9 p.m. as peak traffic hours needing special attention.

One fatal traffic accident occurred in the Hilltop area, according to Chief Scholer. The driver of a car was killed when he failed to yield to a stop sign at the intersection of Mound and Chestershire. This was the 12th fatal traffic accident of the year in Columbus.

Committee Plans Square Dancing For Darbydale

Round and square dancing will be held every Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight beginning this Saturday at the Darbydale Elementary School.

Funds from the dances, sponsored by the executive committee in charge of the school playground, will be used to buy playground equipment.

Tickets will be $1 a couple, 75 cents for stags, and 35 cents for children under age 12.

Bill Miller will be the caller. The dances, which will be open to the public, will be held for eight weeks.

Society Reports TB Findings

Twenty-four cases of suspected tuberculosis were reported from Christmas Seal chest X-rays offered in 20 industries during January, according to a Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County report.

The X-ray surveys are part of the overall industrial and special location programs offered by the society each year from January through May. Free X-rays are available for any firm employing more than 40 persons.

X-rays also showed the following other suggested findings:

Four tumors, 33 cardiac conditions, four cases of emphysema and 56 other chest abnormalities.

China and Japan signed a treaty Dec. 22, 1905, confirming the Treaty of Portsmouth.

St. Stephen's Celebrates 44th Birthday As A Tradition In The South Side Area

The Spectator

By C.C. Hartley

We Hope It Doesn't Happen Again

Imagine what it would be like today if the word went out that the banks had closed and that you could no longer draw out your money!

Thirty years ago this week, on Mar. 6, 1933, we experienced this situation. In my particular case it didn't mean too much as far as my money in the bank was concerned because it was merely a token.

I had just started in the newspaper business in Greenfield, O., in October of 1932. I was already experiencing the hardships and the hard knocks of business. The tragedies that came with the depression took their toll but likewise they provided their strengthening influences. I would never want to go through another one, but I'm sure my later course has been tempered by such experience.

The late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., ran out of dimes and had to give his caddy a dollar. In some cities taxi drivers were accepting postage stamps. In our then very weak weekly newspaper we were accepting eggs, vegetables, chickens and, yes even a dog, in payment of subscriptions.

Many people claim it couldn't happen again. I hope not. Yet, a careful analysis will show that in many ways we are treading on thinner ice today than at that time.

The bank holiday, incidentally, provided some humor as well as pathos.

Many steps have been taken to forecast economic trouble. We must consider the fact that the U.S. owes more gold that it owns! It is one thing to forecast. It is another to do something about what we find before it is too late!

We read about a Wisconsin weekly advising its readers that due to the cold weather, "the editorial won't hatch, the ink won't run, and the static electricity is holding the sheets together so they won't go through the folder. Here's what we could print. You will get the rest when the weather warms up." And with the high water Monday we had visions of floating your paper to you this week!

The Ohio State Monthly Magazine will appear today with opposing slates of candidates for alumni organization offices. Two tickets will outline their political objectives. Shades of the Rose Bowl-Fullen fracas are already projected. It is hoped we can use our heads and remember that Ohio State is an institution of learning and that those educated there will prove worthy of the title of being educated by refraining from rebuilding a ruckus.

POOL, TOO

$14,500 In Works For Schiller

City Council Monday night opened the gates to $14,500 in two projects for growth-conscious Schiller Park.

Recently the recipients of a new gymnasium, council authorized a $1000 appropriation to the Recreation Commission to hire an architect to design and make specifications for a new wading pool and a 90-car parking lot.

According to Jerry Feddersen of the Recreation Department, the pool will cost $4500 and $10,000 will be set aside for the increased parking facilities.

At present, there's room for 30 cars on the lot. The new complex, outlined by the Parks and Forestry Commission, will make possible the larger area without clearing any of the trees.

An island also is planned to run through the lot and it'll contain trees and shrubbery. The lot will be built to the south of the existing area and include land up to the service drive.

Feddersen pointed out that a new wading pool is needed because the old was heavily damaged during the construction of the new gymnasium.

It'll be approximately the same size as the old one and 18 inches deep in the center. "We hope to have a creative and different design to the pool," said Feddersen. "It won't be just round like the present one."

Plans call for it to be located in the northeast corner of the park. Stressing the need for a wading pool, Feddersen said the "old one was used too much to forget the idea."

Tom Crawshaw, director at Schiller, added that the kids used to "live in" the pool. It mostly benefits children under 10 years of age, he added.

Feddersen said he hopes both projects will be completed by June so that they'll be in use by the time the playground season opens.

JUDGE JOSEPH Van Heyde is shown swearing in the St. Stephen's Community House board of directors last week. They include chairman, Ernest Barta; vice-chairman, William Bighouse (he is now deceased and will be replaced later); treasurer, William Brinkman; secretary, Mrs. John Flowers; and members, Mrs. Carl Baum, Mrs. Lucille Burke, William Carr, Leo Dietlin, William P. Hoermle Sr., Dr. Robert Kessler, Steve McDonald, Lt. George Miller, John F. Quint, Sam Skunza and Dr. S. J. Telerski. The installation took place during the group's annual meeting.

Seek Regional Planning Aid

Co-ordinated planning on a county-wide basis will become a reality if federal participation is approved through the Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for a federal grant of $874,670 will be filed this week by the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission, according to Harmon T. Merwin, commission director.

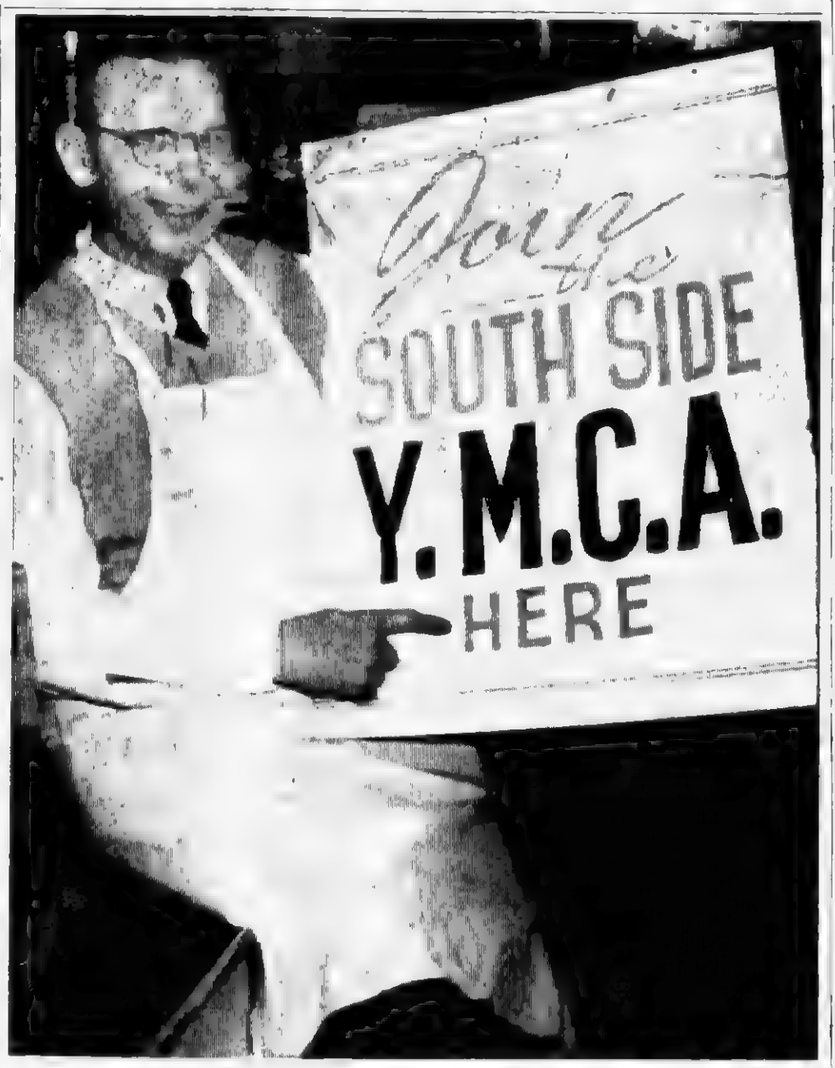
Chief objective of the planning program will be recommendation of standards for such areas as industrial, commercial and residential zoning, water sewer facilities and service, flood control, and transportation.

Standards will also be recommended for development and use of recreational facilities, utilization of open space, agricultural space and conservation areas, and community appearance and science values.

Local participation in planning costs, amounting to approximately $437,330, will be in the form of work credits, with participating agencies furnishing man-hours and materials in lieu of funds.

A third phase of the "Comprehensive Regional Plan," transportation, will be dealt with in a separate application for federal assistance. Transportation planning will be undertaken in co-operation with the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The application for participation in the project by the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency will be accompanied by supporting resolutions passed by Columbus City Council and the Franklin County Commissioners. The resolutions cite the urgent need for county-wide planning, and express confidence that area planners have formulated a workable beginning for continuing, co-ordinated regional planning.



A prospectus, prepared by staffs of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission and the Columbus City Planning Commission, will accompany the application for federal aid.

The planning program was prepared under direction of the Interim Co-ordinating Committe, representing 11 area planning agencies. Participating agencies, in addition to the Columbus City and Franklin County planning commissions, include:

The County Mayors' Association, Downtown Area Committee, Franklin County Commissioners, Columbus City Council, Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, Ohio Department of Highways, Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for federal assistance to complete transportation plans must await approval of the land use and facilities phases of the total program, according to J. W.

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

St. Stephen's Community House was handed a deserved pat on the civic-welfare back last week by Columbus Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann who addressed the group during its annual meeting recently.

The Bishop, however, sent a tinge of fear through the St. Stephen's staff when he announced that he'd "like to remove St. Stephen's from the community."

Then, in haste, he added, "Let me explain. I mean I'd like to remove it when it's no longer needed. This, of course, is our goal. We hope that the day will come when the community and settlement houses are no longer needed."

During this meeting the new board of directors was sworn in. A few days after the installation, a member of the board, William L. Bighouse, passed away and St. Stephens is currently seeking a successor.

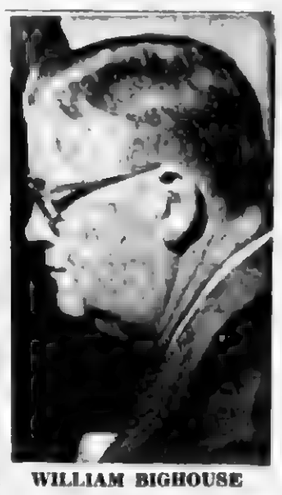
The Bishop went on to point out how the work done by the community house was "negative in part in that it's preventive." But, he added, "It's certainly not negative in its results—just in its approach."

Bishop Issenmann cited the need for St. Stephens to assert itself more into community life and urged a "more positive approach."

He stated:

"St. Stephens should give moral stamina and backbone to the children of the South Side. It should work hard to prevent situations where community houses are needed.

"In other words, children should be taught how to live, so that when they become of age, they won't have to rely on the help settlement houses offer."



What has St. Stephen's contributed the past year? Executive Director William J. Santanich put it this way:

"The interest of citizens to better their living conditions through civic associations seems to be more apparent in the South Side.

"Because of this interest, we felt it necessary to release a staff member, on a part-time basis, in 1958 to work with these groups."

This "work" includes Helmandale rezoning and junk yard controls, joining forces with the South Side Cooperative Association to check de-

WILLIAM BIGHOUSE

Active South Sider Dies At Age 58

Services were held this week for William L. Bighouse, 58, of 1416 S. Ohio-av, who died Sunday in St. Anthony Hospital. He was a prominent South Sider and active in civic work.

He was manager of the Great Southern Office of the Ohio National Bank.

Mr. Bighouse was admitted to the hospital last Wednesday.

He was a past president of the American Institute of Banking, was on the board of directors of St. Stephen's Community House and was sworn into this post just last Tuesday (Feb. 26).

He was a member of Quarter Century Club of Wolfe Industries, Southern Kiwanis and South Side Business and Industrial Association. He was also a member of the 4th Degree, Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy L.; son, Robert L., St. Albans, W. Va.; two daughters, Dolores Bighouse and Mrs. George Crissinger of Grove City; nine grandchildren; two sisters, Sister Mary Ursula, OSF, Buffalo, N.Y., and Sister Mary Ellen, OSF, St. Aloysius Academy, New Lexington, Ky.

Services were held Wednesday in Corpus Christi Catholic Church. Friends were received at Maeder-Quint funeral home.

LAST OF SERIES:

Tillie And Willie Do Family Act For South Side YMCA

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles written to acquaint residents with the South Side YMCA — its work and its leaders. The new "Y," at 190 Southwood-av, is currently staging a membership drive to help furnish the building and it is hoped that these notes will help show the drive's worthiness.)

Tillie and Willie may sound like the name of a vaudeville act, and, in a sense, it represents the same thing. That is, those names represent teamwork in the finest show business tradition.

Actually, it means Tillie and William Houghton, 515 E. Welch-st, another husband and wife duo who have teamed up to aid the efforts of the South Side Branch YMCA.

Tillie's introduction to the South "Y" program dates back to the early 1930's when she participated in the Leaders Club and athletic program of the South Side YMCA at Fornof School.

She became an outstanding girls' basketball team member and later played with the Fountain Drugs team in one of the last Girls' Industrial leagues.

She became active in the Alumni Club and basketball league at Fornof, being a star player for many years.

She still played some of the early 1950's whenever the opposing team had an outstanding forward and Fornof needed a good guard.

However, by this time she was coaching the girls, and soon Husband Bill came into the picture and took charge of the building, helping to organize and supervise the boys.

They made a good team and solicited help from some of the younger boys as coaches.

Lida Berger, Ronald Knipp Repeat Marriage Vows At Hilltop Lutheran

The altar of Hilltop Lutheran Church was decorated with sunburst arrangements of white carnations against a background of frosted jade foliage and the aisle was lighted with single-branched candelabra, accented with beautyberry and white satin, for the wedding of Miss Lida Linanne Berger and Mr. Ronald Burval Knipp, Feb. 23.

Rev. John Hydinger read the marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ellen Berger of 333 S. Eureka-av, and the late Mr. William F. Berger. Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Knipp of 1599 S. James-rd are parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. Everett Foltz escorted his niece to the altar. She chose a gown of bridal satin designed with crescent neckline outlined with Alencon lace and seed pearls, long, tapered sleeves and a princess silhouette skirt, accented with lace and pearls and continuing into a wide chapel train.

A queen's coronet of pearls and brilliant stones held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a full sheath of white Belmont gardenias with beautyberry and natural polished foliages.

Mrs. Donald Dover served as matron of honor, and Miss Jean Ann Berger, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Ronald Coulter, also a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gary McCilsh were bridesmatrons.

They wore identical gowns of azure blue peau satin with batteau necklines, bracelet sleeves and skirts with soft streamer bows in back.

Each wore a matching flower plateau with circle veil, and carried a sheath of white beautyberry and one large white Duchess glamelia.

Mr. Roger Hankle served as best man, and guests were seated by Mr. Rolland Halley, Mr. Charles Gierhart and Mr. Ricky Berger, brother of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Knipp was graduated from South High School and is employed at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Mr. Knipp was graduated from West High School, attended Ohio State University and is now enrolled at Franklin University. He is a bailiff of the Court of Common Pleas, Franklin County.

Following an extended motor trip, the couple will be at home at 2848 Proctor-dr after Mar. 9.

YMCA—

Not the least of their accomplishments has been to put the Fornof Club on a sound financial basis. They have kept good order at the school during their 13 years of volunteer service.

They have promoted awards for their players and helped plan the annual athletic banquets. Bill has designed program covers and one of his most recent depicted the new "Y" building.

Tillie and Bill are active members of the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ, too.

Mrs. Houghton has been a room mother at Lincoln Park and has been active in the Eastern Star of Southgate Masonic Lodge.

Two of their hobbies are music and dramatics. They have taken part in music groups and were always interested in the "Y's" Baskets for the Needy and carol singing at Christmas.

Because they do things as a family, their children have regularly attended council meetings. It was not unusual for their son, Bill, to do his lessons at such meetings, and daughter Beckey always provided some comedy relief as only a youngster can.

Bill has been a member of the South Side YMCA community program council for a number of years. He represents the Marion District.

Statistics show that most college classes are led by girls as well as most college men.

the GOOD NEWS!

An excited aliveness!... That describes a man getting good news over the telephone. Then, there is the gospel, which means "The Good News" which gives life when it comes to a man. It generates life anew. This Good News is proclaimed weekly and oftentimes daily, through God's messenger in His Church. Jesus announced the Good News when He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Matthew 10:10. Listen to the proclamation of the Good News in the church of your choice on Sunday.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

NEARLY A LEGEND, BUT SCARED TO DEATH

Who Is This Man 'Spook' Beckman?

By JOHN AUBLE JR.
Hartley Amusement Editor

Behind the big, bold, brash "Pitch a Hissy" and "Rusty Dusty" terminology — made nearly a legend by a Columbus radio personality — stands a man whose fear of the public has, at times, reached phobia proportions.

Sound strange? It is. But, then again, personable Fred "Spook" Beckman hasn't had the most usual life in the world — not by a long shot.

He chatted at length about this "publicphobia" over a cup of Sunday morning coffee in the basement "hideout" of his attractive East Columbus home.

"It's a funny thing, but I'm always nervous in public. Somehow I don't feel that I live up to their expectations of what I should be," he said shyly.

Just to demonstrate how far his fear has gone, Spook actually, by self-admission, "chickened-out" of numerous MC jobs and even turned down a part in a Playhouse-on-the-Green production last summer ("No Time for Sergeants").

In the private, quiet confines of the WTVN radio studios, however, the Beckman voice rings loud and clear in a Now-Hear-This tone ("the kind of a sound you'd expect from a 6-foot, 215-pound ex-Marine named "Spook," he says). This is just the opposite from the way he feels and lives in his own heart and mind.

"I try not to talk at people," he said, spouting some of his own philosophy with the sincerity of a man dedicated to having the public like him. "I talk with people and that's the way it has to be in this business."

For Spook Beckman, the entertainment world is now big business. But, it wasn't always this way.

Born to a small family in Peoria, Ill., Spook was not quite three when his father died and young Beckman was shipped to Roosevelt Military Academy. He spent three years in the Marines (17 to 21 years of age) and headed for Florida.

It was in the Marines that Fred was changed to Spook. "I'd stand guard duty at night," he remembered. "Once I took off my helmet and some buddies saw the moon shine on my blonde hair. They said I looked like a 'spook' and the name stuck."

He cut his announcing teeth on a WSPB microphone in Sarasota, Fla., at the age of 21 while working 16-hour days at three jobs that included everything from waiting on tables to night-watching for a retail trailer sales firm and sleeping right in the showroom.

WDOD Chattanooga, Tenn., heard him and beckoned. Beckman bought it. He was there with transplanted Columbus personalities Bud Palmer and Joe Hill. Hill, now a Columbus sportscaster, got an opening for Spook on WLW-C TV, where, starting in 1951, he was destined to stay for 3½-years and eventually marry his present wife, singer Marilyn Daye.

Along with winsome Marilyn, Spook wrote a show and sold it to WTVN-TV. That, too, lasted some three years.

It was a bright and shiny summer day in 1957 when Spook's high-pitched, circus-barker rasp first hit the radio waves here as he filled a morning show spot and decided to devote his talents to this medium. Things went smoothly until 1961, when he took his walk from WTVN over a disagreement about the change to a rock 'n' roll format.

On Oct. 23 of 1962 he returned to WTVN, where he's now meeting bigger success than he's ever known. Still, the Beckman uncertainty has him frightened.

"This business is like a tightrope," he said somberly. "You walk a fine line.

"Paul Murphy (program director) is helping me gain confidence in myself," he claims with admiration. "He's giving me the benefit of direction. What little style I have is becoming more solid. Maybe I'll hit my stride when I'm 40. Gee, I hope so."

Anyone who works as hard at it as he does has just got to.

Stella Passed 'Screen' Test By Hartley Editorial Staff

STELLA STEVENS

Put me in a street car and call me desire if Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hasn't got a big star on their hands in a young lady named Stella Stevens.

She, perhaps, passed the greatest test of stardom ever last week when the publicity photos arrived to promote her latest fim venture, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

It took exactly one hour and 37½ minutes before the Hartley Newspapers male editorial staff members halted their wolf-whistling that has proved to be a sure sign of success.

Just to make my point, the same staff whooped it up for an hour and 39 minutes over publicity photos of Connie Francis, a little longer with Sophia Loren, and reached an alltime high with Zsa Zsa Gabor—just so you can compare.

Now, of course, we must consider that MGM still cameras may have outdone themselves in making the comely miss prettier than she actually is. However, scans by the more scientific members of the staff failed to reveal any touch up work so we have to assume that photographic improvements must be discounted.

The real test of this gal's future came when our Business Editor Ron Barlow, who's usually all business, started thumbing through the publicity releases in search for further information on this miss.

All he found, however, and we pass it on to you, is the fact that Stella (who's reportedly 38-24-36, in the usual order) had to work hard for the "Eddie's Father" picture in that she had to go to bowling school.

In a "courtship" sequence, the shapely Miss S. teaches rocketing comic Jerry Van Dyke to bowl like an expert. And, since Stella is not exactly a ten-pin champ, she had some learning to do.

For two solid weeks every day—from nine to three—the actress worked out with bowling champions Don Jones and Dick Song at the Paradise Bowling Alley in the Westchester area of Los Angeles.

The movie also stars Glen Ford, Shirley Jones, Dina Merrill, Roberta Sherwood and Ronny Howard. This column, however, shouldn't be construed as a plug for the flick because, frankly, we haven't been able to preview it yet.

Hustlers Top Bengals, 39-29, For Center Title

The Hustlers, champions of the Thursday Senior League at Schiller Recreation Center, upset the Bengals, Tuesday League champions, 39-29, last week to win the center championship.

The Hustlers were paced by 6'4" center John Cline with 12 points while the previously undefeated and highly-favored Bengals were paced by Ron Skeen's 13 points.

TOM SIMERAL led the Pirates to the Intermediate championship by whipping the Buckeyes 37-23. Simeral scored 17 points, 15 of them in the second half.

The two winners will represent the center in their respective categories in the coming city-wide tournament opening this week at Linden Recreation Center.

Joining the Hustlers for the first tournament game will be senior all-stars Wally McDonald, Darrell Branham, Jim Doughty, Don Collins, Briley Richardson and Ron Skeen. The winning Hustlers include Don Sebrig, Sid Meisner, Jim Culver, John Cline, Joe Nachman and Mel Standifer.

THE INTERMEDIATE champ Pirates include Mike and Mark Rickard, Richard Skeen, Lloyd Longmire, Joe Stevens, Claude Dixon and Tom Simeral. Joining them for the all-star tournament are Greg Rice, Larry Rice, Tom Wright, Charles Barton and Earl Gross.

Johnny Schlecht and Elmer Hay paced their respective junior teams in the season's scoring averages with 67 and 64 points respectively. Schlecht, playing in only six games, ended with a 13.4 average while Hay racked up a 9.1 average.

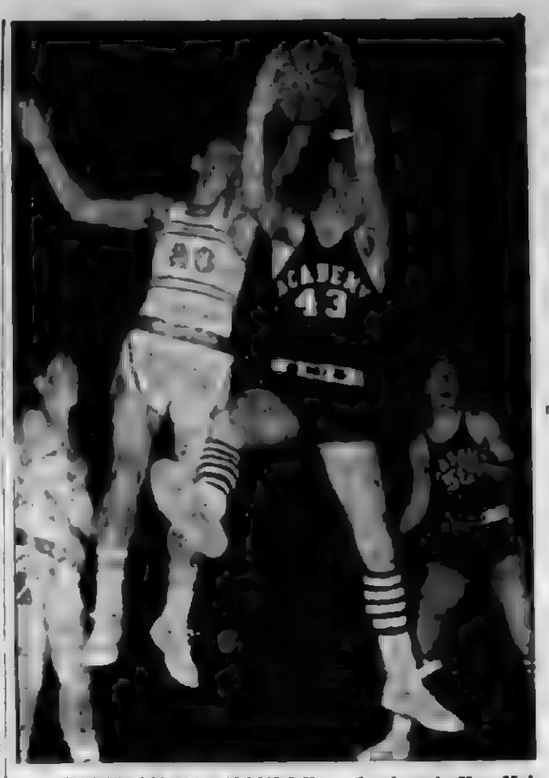
Bob Conrad, Tyrone Ware and Mickey Clements will team with them in trying to bring the city-wide Junior championship to Schiller. Other members of the All-Star team in the Junior classification are Dwight Ware, Eddie Rhoden, Tom Hackett, Kevin Jones, Paul Kempf, Fred Frank and Steve Saul.

Muskie Dinner Set For Mar. 23

With the second annual Ohio Huskie Muskie Club award dinner only two weeks away, last minute efforts are being made by some muskie anglers to qualify for membership. Many of them caught trophy fish but failed to enter them at the time.

This is the word from club officials who are completing plans for the Mar. 23 event to be held at the Baker Motel Restaurant on U. S. 40, 10 miles east of Zanesville. To be eligible, the muskie must be entered during the year it was caught.

PRESIDENT BOB Johnson of Marietta pointed out that the dinner and program are open to anyone interested in muskie angling. Reservations must be made with Huskie Muskie Club secretary Bob Wilson, 250 Guernsey-av, (Columbus) by Mar. 15.



This year membership will be granted to 16 anglers and an additional 19 will receive honorable mention citations. The dinner is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Feature of the program to follow will be fish stories telling how winning fishermen caught their trophy muskies. There will also be a display of photographs and mounted muskies.

HOLZMAN HAS HANDLE — Academy's Ken Holzman (43) outreaches St. Mary cager George Maurer (20) to corral this rebound for the Vikings in Friday's A sectional match at Otterbein. Closing in on the action are the Rams' Tom Sauer (left) and Academy's Charles Cohen (right).

FOLLOW THE LEADER — St. Mary's Tom Sauer leaves a trail of pursuing Academy defenders behind him as he drives in to lay in a two-pointer in Friday's class A sectional basketball tourney at Otterbein. Pulling up too late to discourage Sauer's shot are the Vikings' John Larrimer (21) and Charles Cohen (55).

IN TOURNEY PLAY

Irish Upset Gahanna; St. Marys Eliminated

Two upsets marked respective A and AA tournament play which involved a pair of area cage teams over the weekend.

The first surprise came Friday evening at Otterbein as Academy battled St. Marys to the wire to come up with a tight 51-49 decision.

THE COUNTY League runners-up, who had defeated the Vikings twice during the regular season, held the lead twice—late in the first half and again in the final stanza.

The injury-riddled Rams stayed in contention right up till the final buzzer but Academy cashed in on several pressure free throws in the waning moments of play to stave off St. Marys last-minute comeback.

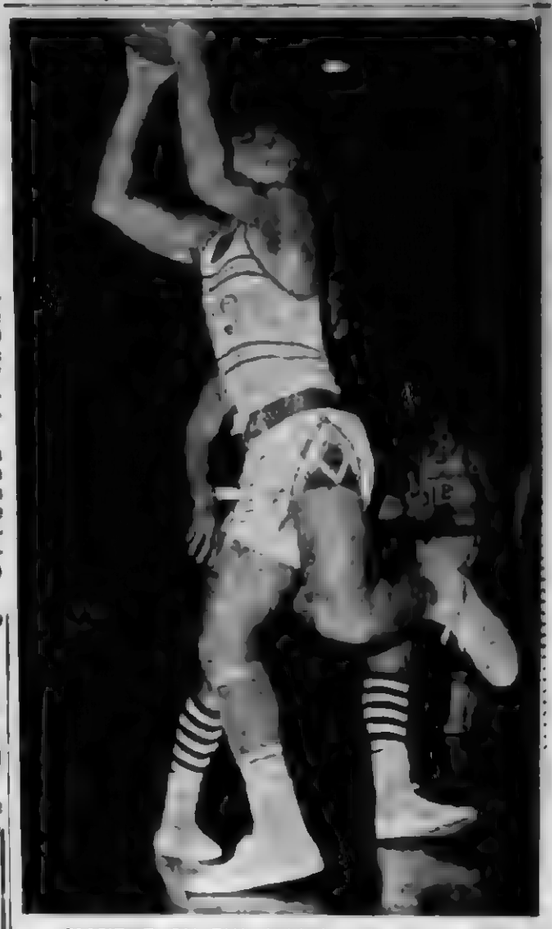
Starter Mike Gray was sidelined with a broken bone in his foot while another regular, Tom Sauer, was slowed with a leg injury. Sauer still managed to drop in 14 points, tying teammate George Maurer and Academy's Ed Laws for game scoring honors.

Jim Yates dropped in 11 more points for the Rams. The loss closed out St. Marys '62-'63 cage season with a fine 14-5 mark.

THE OTHER upset ended on a brighter note as Aquinas came up with the AA tourney's first big surprise—a 46-42 thriller over top-seeded Gahanna.

The Terriers lived up to their reputation as a "tournament team," coming from behind to topple the Lions for their second loss in 19 games this season.

The Irish hopped off to a quick lead which stood up for the entire first half against Mid-Eight League champs. Gahanna took the lead for the first time with only seconds gone in the third period.



AFTER THAT it was give-and-take until the Lions pulled out to a six-point bulge which seemed to spell an end to Aquinas' upset hopes. But the Terriers were far from discouraged as they hit for two quick field goals and then tied the score at 36-all on Pat Mentel's fielder with 3:45 remaining.

A few seconds later Ken Barth, Gahanna's all-state candidate, fouled out and the Irish went two up on Mike McGrath's goal with 2:42 showing.

The Lions managed to tie the score one final time on Denny Souder's goal but Mike McGrath's field goal and Mike Welling's four clutch free throws as time ran out wrapped up the Terriers' biggest win of the season.

TOM WOODARD'S thirteen points was high for the Irish with Mentel adding 10 more. The Aquinas win was highlighted by the Terriers' scrappy floor play and dominance of the backboards over the taller Lion quintet.

Only Aquinas remains with any chance of nailing down tourney honors. The Terriers (10-9) attempt to continue their hardwood success Saturday evening at the Coliseum, playing Hilliard (10-7) at 9:30 p.m.

MAURER ON THE MOVE — Ram center George Maurer picks out his spot and starts a successful drive toward the St. Mary's basket around Academy's Ed Laws in first-period play Friday evening at Westerville. Maurer canned this attempt and scored 12 additional points but it wasn't quite enough to prevent Academy's 51-49 upset win over St. Marys, eliminating the Rams from the A tourney.

Bread, Jars By-Passed By Modern Fisherman

If, for some reason, it should stop snowing in the next couple of months, fishermen all over the area will dust off the fly rods, search frantically through the attic for their tackle box and then hustle down to that favorite river or lake to set a head start on the '63 angling season.

Probably no one will be more anxious than our little brother, who is an avid fisherman. We have been promising a fishing trip for three years now, and after backing out each time—we're afraid we'll never wiggle off the hook this season.

THE COLD FACT of the matter is, however, that the last time we went fishing the big attraction was the city park ponds, and the vogue of the day was catching bluegills and sunfish in submerged mayonnaise jars baited with soggy bread crusts.

Needless to say, the fishing business has improved its techniques by leaps and bounds since those days, and frankly, we're just not up to date.

We suppose the fear of impending disaster directed us to stop in and talk with Dick Reeves of the Reeves Brothers Sporting Goods Store at the Central Point Shopping Center last week.

WE HAD HEARD from the grapevine that in recent years the artifical bait people have been directing their attention to the development of soft, pliable-plastic baits with a realistic feel and appearance that could fool most people, to say nothing of an unsuspecting gill-breather.

Although Dick peddles everything from black bugs to green grasshoppers in the way of soft, artifical bait, we were particularly interested in several items that hit the market late last season—a bit tardy for most area anglers.

Of particular interest were two items manufactured by the Burke Flexo-Products Co., of Traverse City, Mich. One is labeled the "Snake Smorgasbord" and about the only thing this little reptile seems to lack for realism is a forked-tongue.

THE SAME COMPANY also includes black and flesh-colored night crawlers on its production line. The plastic makeup of the worms is more durable than rubber with the colors molded in. Some type of secretion even provides the worm with that slippery sensation.

"Most people laugh the first time they see the soft, artificial bait," Reeves said, "but nevertheless it's becoming pretty widely used by fishermen. This type of lure was introduced about four years ago, but it's been improved each year. It's softer now, and the colors are better and more realistic."

Reeves explained the advantage of the new lures. "If the fish doesn't hit the hook on the harder lure the first time, it won't make a second pass. If it finds the bait is rigid, it will discharge the lure."

THE SNAG PROOF Company put a product on the market late last season that is just that—snag proof. The lures (frog and soft craw) are also soft plastic with the hooks built inside of the bait itself.

"Sales on this type of bait are accelerated each year," Reeves said. "Due to the expense of live bait, people are going more and more to the artifical lures." Reeves also remarked that live bait peddlers are worried that the cold winter might cut down on the size of the soft craws this spring.

Another lure, so new that its U.S. patent is still pending, has been introduced by the Rapala (Finland) people. It's a hand-made, hand-painted minnow that appears to have a third dimensional quality.

THE LURE was secretly used in Wisconsin during a four-year testing period. "It must catch fish," Reeves commented. "At least the game warden at Alpena, Mich., must think so. He called here long distance to order five of them last summer."

Then there's the Weber "true-life minnow" (soft plastic), and Dick even has a mouse in stock that "floats and swims." The Heddon Company reports that it's been known for fish to be caught with an everyday clothes pin using a hook as a companion.

Nevertheless it seems to us that the poor fish have very little chance these days to escape the well-equipped angler after our "brush up" visit with Dick Reeves.

ANYWAY we purchased a snake and three worms and departed with a whole new outlook on the sport and we also have a firm resolution to work that fishing trip into our summer schedule.

Frankly, we were so amazed with snakes literally crawling out of glass display cases that we forgot to ask Dick what we really wanted to know.

But the more we think about it, we guess the sillier it would have been to ask how mayonnaise jars and bread crusts are selling these days.

Franklin Five Nabs 3 Berths On All-Jr. High

Franklin dominated the city-wide selection of the Junior High All-Star basketball squad this year, collecting three of its division's 10 spots.

Other schools that nabbed more than one berth were Everett, Champion and Linmoor, in the North Section and Marion-Franklin in the South Section.

The All-Star squads:

NORTH SECTION

SOUTH SECTION

HONORABLE MENTION

North Section—Ron Jeketic and Dave Parker, Aquinas; Ed Ausborn and John Peck, Champion; Steve Carter, Clinton; Larry Harbaugh and Bob Trout, Crestview; Tom Smith and Steve Williams, Dominion; Ron White, Everett; Lowell Fox and Ed Johnson, Indianola; Jack Hoopes and Paul Piper, Linmoor; Ron Buell, McGuffey; Bob Brewer, Medina, and Mickey Pless and Bob Spears, Westmoor.

South Section — George Harper, Joe Hayes and Ralph Nothstine, Barrett; Walt Bland, Bob Farus, Wyman Hawkins, Eastmoor; Earl Davis, Greg Nesbitt, Chuck Wright and Ed Young, Franklin; Larry Ginn, Hiltonia; Jim Justice, Johnson Park; Kenny Crabtree and Dale Darnell, Marion-Franklin; Jim Burton, Mohawk; Dan Kauffman, Cliff Monford, Joe Peterson and John Wright, Roosevelt; Howdy Donahue, Starling, and Pat Bereridge and Rick Houchen, Walnut Ridge.

Clay-Jones Fight Here On Closed-Circuit TV

Colorful Cassius Clay hopes to take another step toward a match against heavyweight champ Sonny Liston when he steps into the ring against Doug Jones in Madison Square Garden, Wednesday, Mar. 13.

The fight can be viewed on closed-circuit TV at Veterans Memorial in Columbus. There will be no home TV or radio. Tickets are on sale now at the C...eral Ticket Office, 37 N. High-st.

SOUTH Y WRAPUP

Ten Church Fives Qualify For Tourney Title Bracket

Tournament time with all its thrills and excitement hit the South Side YMCA church athletic program last week as 18 teams played their first games in the Y's Junior Boys' tourney.

Winners of first round games were Oakwood Methodist, Christ Methodist, Grace United, St. Paul Lutheran, Eastview Methodist, Bexley Methodist, St. Paul United, Hungarian United and Ohio Avenue EUB.

THESE TEAMS, along with Emmanuel Lutheran, which drew a bye, will make up the championship bracket while the following first round losers will be placed in the consolation division: Parsons Baptist, Scottwood Community, Livingston Methodist, Williams Road Presbyterian, South Methodist, Hope Lutheran, St. John United, Redeemer Lutheran and Brookwood Presbyterian.

John Workmaster with 17 points topped the scorers in games played at Barrett, followed by Marty Komives, 13; Ron Nincehelser, 12; and Keith Bugos with 10.

Other action in the South Side "Y" church leagues:

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The Ohio Avenue EUB lassies won a real thriller from Grace United in the only game played as Carol Arbaugh tossed in seven markers. Bonnie Frey led the Grace attack with her five points.

INTERMEDIATE BOYS

Frebis Church of God and Ohio Avenue EUB continued their neck and neck race for championship honors by scoring wins over St. Paul Lutheran and Trinity Lutheran, respectively.

Other games on the card found St. Paul Lutheran topping Southwood C. of C., Hungarian United defeating South Methodist, and Williams Road Presbyterian being awarded a win over Oakwood Methodist.

Scorers had their best night of the season with the top gunners being Mike Rickard, 38; Jerry Robinson, 36; John Salyers, 26; Larry Sexton, 23; and Bill Howard, 22.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Hope Lutheran continued its drive for the league crown by downing an improved Scottwood Community quintet, 47 to 38, as Graver, Apel and Richardson hit in the double figures. Leonard Griffiths and Jim Henry led the losers' attack with 15 and 14 points respectively.

St. John pulled an upset by outscoring Redeemer Lutheran, 31 to 22. Dick Brixner (14) and Ray Fischer were the mainstays for the Saints while Jim Kuhn's eight points was the Lutheran's best point output.

VOLLEYBALL

Scottwood Community defeated defending champion St. Paul Lutheran in both games of their match to win the 1963 title. Other match results in this popular adult program found St. Paul United victorious in both ends of a doubleheader with Christ Methodist and Livingston Methodist winning their first game of the season in their even split with Brookwood Presbyterian.

All teams start anew although Capital Seminary and Scottwood will rate the co-favorite role as tournament play begins this week.

In Okinawa

Marine Lance Corporal William J. Rieger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Rieger Jr. of 803 South 18th-st, is serving with Second Battalion, Ninth Marine Regiment, at Okinawa. It is presently engaged in Pacific Fleet amphibious operations.

Maurer, Sauer, Stokes Selected For All-County

St. Marys and Rosary nailed down one-half of the first-team positions in the All-County League basketball selections Tuesday.

The Rams' 6-1 senior center George Maurer and senior forward Tom Sauer nabbed two of the spots while Crusader guard Rick Stokes, a 5-8 junior, nailed down a third position in the voting by loop coaches.

UNIVERSITY'S John Howard and Don Durr and Dublin's Dave Bakenhaster completed the first team selections.

Both schools failed to finish in the second-team line-up but both the Rams and Crusaders listed two cagers each in the honorable mention ratings.

Mike Gray and Bob Yates were honored for St. Marys while Ed Roehrenbeck and Jim Groce were selected from the Rosary squad.

Second team berths went to: Don Haueisen and Roger Essig, Dublin; Larry Landis, Canal Winchester; Ed Laws, Academy; Bill Skeen, Hamilton Township, and Bill Guy, University.

CC's Late Rally Earns 60-48 Tourney Win

Corpus Christi was held to its lowest output of the season Sunday in its 60-48 win over previously unbeaten Junction City St. Pauls in the Central Catholic Diocesian Young Adult tourney.

The quintet, with five players hitting in the double figures, had to fight off a last quarter rally to keep its unbeaten win skein alive.

The Gary Krighaum-coached five was seriously impaired when forward Larry Roehrenbeck picked up four quick fouls early in the second period. Roehrenbeck returned to action in the fourth quarter, however, to spark a rally that put Corpus ahead to stay, 46-45.

South Side Girl Burned

Patricia Tucker, 10, suffered critical burns despite her father's efforts to rip a burning slip from her body at their home Thursday Morning.

William Tucker said Patricia took a tea kettle from the gas range in their home, 918 S. Front-st, and was pouring water into a teacup. Her slip ignited from the flame.

Firemen took the girl to Children's Hospital where she was admitted with second and third degree burns over 20 per cent of her body.

A robber escaped with $300 last week from DiPiero's Market, 803 Wilson-av.

Frank DiPiero, 56, of 1771 Frebis-av, said he was working behind a meat counter when a short, dark-haired man proclaimed the stick-up.

The bandit flashed a gun, produced a brown paper bag and ordered DiPiero to "fill it." Dipiero put nearly $300 in the sack and the robber fled on foot.

St. Mary To See Science Program

General Motors "Previews of Progress," a dramatic, educational stage demonstration depicting science in action has been scheduled for St. Mary High School, Friday, Mar. 15, at 1:30 p.m.

The purpose of this non-commercial program is to encourage youth to pursue studies in science and engineering and to point out some of the many opportunities available in these fields.

One of the highlights of the program will be the demonstration of the "Sunmobile", that converts the sun's power to electric energy. Other demonstrations include a jet engine, an illustration of gyroscopic principles, and a small vehicle that skims over land and water on a cushion of air.

Schiller Jr. Gals Nab Cage Title

Schiller Junior Girls captured first place in the city-wide basketball tournament against Thompson Recreation Center Monday evening.

Schiller Junior girls defeated Whetstone in the opening play off, 35 to 4. Eleventh Ave. was Schiller's next victim, 29-17. In the finals, the Junior Girls edged a good Thompson team, 16-14, in the City Recreation Girls Basketball Tournament.

It has been a long time since Schiller has had a Junior girls basketball championship and the Center is very proud of all its Junior ALL STAR members which include: R. Easterling, L. Myers, R. Schmidt, C. Scimidt, T. Guglielmotto, J. Miller, K. Schmitt, L. Smith, S. Richard, S. Truax, Leader; Mary Gillen.

Camp Fire Girls

South Leaders Association will meet Wednesday, Mar. 13, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at Schiller Park. Hectographs and seed plagues will be made, with a 25 cent charge for materials used by each person.

Any leader having access to the following items is asked to bring them: 9¾"x13¾" cookie sheet, double boiler or very fine tea strainer. In order to be certain that enough materials are on hand, those planning to attend should contact Eileen Waidner at HI. 3-3561.

Plans for the Southeast District Arts and Crafts Festival are receiving full attention from all leaders and members of the Camp Fire Girls. The festival will take place Apr. 19 - 20.

Nine girls of the Do-Wan-Lo group acted as honor guards on a recent Saturday at Veteran's Memorial. The girls were Melissa Corson, Diane Butterworth, Beckie Waidner, Terri Donovan, Debbie Smith, Betty Blackburn, Jill Riggs, Lona Reed and Carol Gicle. Following the ceremony they remained to watch the concert, "The Story of Celeste."

The school holiday on Washington's birthday found the members of the A-Ki-La-Fu Camp Fire Girls enjoying a dinner party at Williard's Restaurant.

Adult volunteers of all kinds are needed for the Day Camp program, an annual summer event. Girls of the Southeast District attend Camp Moore.

Camp Fire Girls throughout the area will be converging at Veteran's Memorial on Saturday, Mar. 9, at 9:30 a.m. for the annual Birthday Party sponsored by the Lazarus Company.

The American Cancer Society has asked campfire members to help prepare educational material for the April campaign of the society. Groups can do this work — in the meetings, or any convenient time. Interested leaders may contact Mrs. William Fornof at HI. 4-8225.

Members of the Camp Fire Girls are reminded that the organization's Birthday Week is Mar. 17 - 24, and that it is the week to wear service costumes to school, etc.

Two committe meetings are slated for Tuesday, Mar. 12, at the Camp Fire Girl office, 718 S. High-st. The Program committee meets at 9:30 a.m., while the Camp Property Committee will convene at 7:30 p.m.

LITTLE NIAGARA FALLS IN ALTON AREA
. . . Drive-Way Is Turned Into Spill-Way

FAMILIAR SIGHT
. . . But Not Welcomed

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If familiarity does breed contempt as the poets say, then Franklin County residents should be downright sick and tired of water.

It came in buckets full this week and even lines like "It's good for the farmers" failed to bring the usual smiles to residents busy sump pumping basements.

In the midst of emergency declaring and resident evacuating, area folks did manage to look at the bright side. Some offered suggestions as to what to do with all the water now that it's here. They suggested:

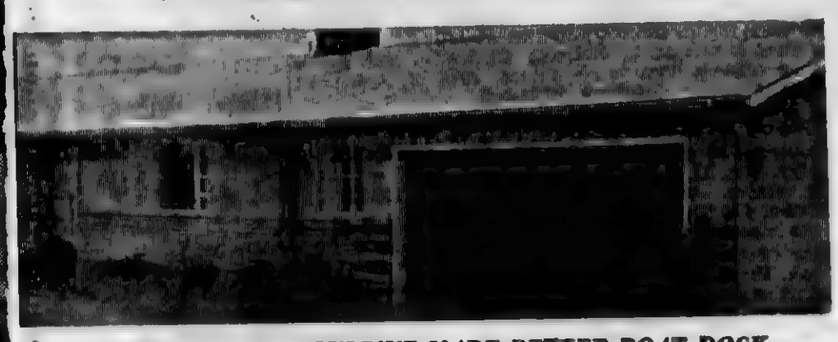
- Building a diving board on the Lincoln-LeVeque Tower and turning the county into a king-sized swim pool.
- Keeping it contained to the streets, thereby making Columbus take on a Venice, Italy appearance that would do wonders for the tourist trade.
- Using it as a publicity stunt by finding a religious fanatic (preferably named Noah) to build an ark.

The strangest thing about floods, however, is the reaction by city officials. They usually fall into a particular category during high-water time and you can make a game out of deciding how your favorite city official handles the situation.

For instance, there's always the "Panic-Button Pusher." Right away, at the first sign of a heavy dew, he's ready to start sandbagging and doesn't miss a press, radio or TV appearance opportunity to cite the seriousness of the situation.

Then, there's the official who—during previous floods—has vowed to "take steps" to prevent flooding in Columbus. Naturally, he doesn't want to look bad when another flood hits, so he covers up by reciting figures to the press regarding dam stability, current flow and safety preventives.

There's the noncommittal type, too. Newsmen, eager to get a story, will urge this type official to say things are dangerous. He'll usually refer to previous floods and show how there's not much cause for alarm, if . . .



But, above all, a flood threat serves a good purpose. It shows community spirit in action, rallying to help friends and neighbors and strangers stave off possible disasters.

Irma Bentz, South High Grad, Pens From Germany

Our correspondent is Irma Bentz Whitright, a South High graduate, now living and working in Germany for the U.S. Army.

She tells of a unique custom called "Fasching," which she says is like Halloween, but which is stretched out three months. It begins on the 11th day of the 11th month at 11:11 and ends as Lent begins. The theme is always mockery and the politicians are the main target for the jokesters. Throughout the season there is a series of gatherings, meetings and balls in each town and village.

Entertainment is furnished by the local talent and is a combination floor-show and after-dinner speaking. There are "Kappenabends" (Cap Evening) when everyone wears New Year's Eve type headgear, and "Sitzungs," when the program consists mostly of comic speeches. Many of these speeches are written in rhyme, with a mocking refrain.

A prince and princess, with their court, appear at each function, clad in medieval costumes. The three main karneval or fasching centers in Germany are in Mainz, Cologne and Munich. To quote Irma, "To put it bluntly, they go hog-wild." The people save all year in order to have the money to celebrate properly. Along the Rhine River it is the custom to spend every pfennig.

At midnight, at the conclusion of Fasching, thousands of empty billfolds are washed in the Rhine River for luck in the coming year. New Year's Eve (Sylvester) is celebrated much as in America, but the end of the Fasching is even more important. Many balls are held in this season of mockery, but the three main types are masquerade, lumpenball (ragamuffin) and Schoenheitsball (beauty ball).

One interesting sidelight about the masquerade balls: a husband and wife agree which one to attend, but each goes separately and neither knows what the other one is wearing; This permits the game of "who's my spouse" until the unmasking at midnight.

Also, until midnight, it's ladies' choice and if a lady asks a man to dance, he owes her a drink if she cares to collect. Again in quotes: "Champagne flows like water in paying these debts." The end of the season brings the burial of Mr. Fasching, still in a spirit of mockery. Perhaps the coffin is decorated with mayonnaise and herring, or instead of sprinkling the congregation with holy water the minister sprinkles the people with water from a bucket, using a toilet brush, while giving the graveside address.

Irma says that the continent's extraordinarily cold winter has caused more money to be spent for fuel than normally and the savings program is much stricter than usual. For South Side friends who would like to write her, her address is European Region, GEEIA, APO 332, N.Y., N.Y.

Our "doll lady," Mrs. I. L. Bier, is unfortunately on our ailing list at this time, due to a broken shoulder. The injury occurred not on the ice but in the safety (?) of her home at 742 E. Gates-st. We know that cheery cards would help her morale at this time. A broken leg is the misfortune of Mrs. Clyde Shields, 378 E. Sycamore-st, who is also on our ailing list.

PEBS, Chapter 1, will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 12, for a noon dessert luncheon, at 1552 S. High-st. Mrs. Guy Burgess will be the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Richard Davis and Mrs. Roy Newman. The election of officers will be held.

The blustery March winds hold no terror for these youngsters as they associate it with their natal days: Joseph Felkner, Sharon Elflein, Cheryl Spencer, Karen Elflein, Robert Mahler, Deetta Neel, Beckie Ervin, Robert Miller, Larry Preston, Bobbie Bowe, Richard Sickler, Mickey Cline, Craig Miller, Walter Reed, Jane Fluhart, Christopher Skeen, Leisa Carle and Becky Waldner.

Teenagers of the area who enjoy this birthday time of year are Ricky Honson, Marcy Goodfleisch, Steve Miller and Linda Kristoff.

Our birthday adults include Clifford Berger, "Dixie" Howell, Chester Wilson, Marjorie Gribble, Sue Pennington, Louis Poczik, Frances Paulus, Tom Wilson, Dorothea Spiker, Gertrude Hedrick, Jean Komonsky, Ethel Weber, Mr. I. L. Bier and Dora Huber. Belated greetings to Silas Smith, who had a Mar. 2 birthday.

Wedding anniversaries to be celebrated within the week include those of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. John Leist. Golden wedding congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. C. La Motte Sr., 898 Beech-st, as of Mar. 2.

The Friendship Committee of Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, is in charge of the Wednesday, Mar. 13, dinner that will be held at 36 W. Sycamore-st. Mabel Gregory, chairman, has chosen as her menu, chicken and noodles (or fish), mashed potatoes, salad, fruit and coffee. Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Still accepting premium stamps donations for the St. Mary's Summer Festival is Marie Esselstein, HI. 3-6903.

Meetings, here and there: Trudeau Guild 25 will meet on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 8 p.m. Hostess will be Mrs. James Whalen, 224 Frebis-av. Trudeau Guild 10 will observe the anniversary of its founding with a 6:30 p.m. dinner at Houstons — Great Southern Shopping Center—on Wednesday, Mar. 13. Selma Circle of St. John's Lutheran Church will meet at 9 a.m. at the church today, while Lydia Circle will meet on Monday, Mar. 11, at 2:45 p.m., also at the church.

The PNAO, Div. 12, will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Mar. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA. A 12:30 p.m. meeting is scheduled today for Circle 2 of Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

The final meeting of the Barrett Junior High School Parent and Family Life Study Program will be held Tuesday, Mar. 12, at 2 p.m.

The Barrett PTA Executive Board will meet the same day at 1:30 p.m. The Capital University Mothers' Club will meet at Troutman Hall at 1 p.m. on Friday, Mar. 8. The Wesley Service Guild of South Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Mar. 12, in the church parlor.

Doris Hain will present the program. Marie Warren will lead the devotions and Mary O'Hara will serve as hostess. The Evening Women's Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet on Friday, Mar. 8, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Richard Poenisch, 1554 S. Fourth-st, will be the hostess. Mrs. John Steller will present the Bible study.

The Mothers of Twins Club will meet on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Main Federal Bank of the Central Point Shopping Center. The annual Spring Clothing Sale will be held at that time.

The mothers of Cub Scouts, Pack 84, are holding a bake sale Saturday, Mar. 9, from 10 a.m. on at the Kroger Store located at Thurman and Parsons. Chairman of the project is Ruth Resch.

Lillian Ryan, 816 S. 17th-st, enjoyed a brief respite from the unusually severe winter this year by visiting her son, Jerry, and his family in Florida. The Columbusite found two of her grandsons ailing with chicken pox upon her arrival in Ft. Myers. Mrs. Ryan's sister, Mrs. Butscha, made the journey to the Southland with her.

The young ladies of Brownie Troop 686 are quite proud of their most recent project, a window display at the Economy Loan of the Great Southern Shopping Center, to be seen on Mar. 12.

The Brownie Troop is sponsored by the South High EUB Church.

The troop leader is Mrs. Norman L d. Assistants are Mrs. Harold Olbert, Mrs. Thomas Cornwell, Mrs. Roy Marcum and Mrs. David McCune. The troop will be among those attending the annual Girl Scout party to be held at Lazarus this Saturday, Mar. 9.

The monthly social meeting of the Washington Avenue EUB Choir will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Mar. 12. The men of the church will meet tonight at 7:30.

Robert Eugene Webber is the youngest member of the household at 877 Ann-st. The little one's parents are Larry and Betty Webber.

Juanita Berger, 1312 Frebis-av, was surprised by a group of friends who chose to observe her birthday with a luncheon which they brought to her home. The long-time friends who cooked up the scheme (and luncheon) were Ella Frederick, Tillie Boehm, Lucille Mehring, Irene Klein, and Marie Judy. Juanita's son, Ronnie, was able to be home to enjoy the unexpected repast aand was as surprised as his mother.

The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will meet on Saturday, Mar. 9, for a 7:30 a.m. breakfast at Dorst Hall of Downtown YMCA. Reservations may be made by calling A. L. Morbitt, at BR. 4-0527.

February was an eventful month for Ida Werner, who attained her 79th year on Feb. 19, then travelled to Florida for a ten-day vacation. With Mrs. Werner were Mr. and Mrs. Don Werner and their son, Bob.

Ten members of the Washington Avenue EUB Church completed the school of religion that was held at Starling Junior High School, Jan. 2 through Feb. 25. Those completing the course were Dorothy Keller, Judy Riemenschneider, Marcella Helser, Lois Bellis, Mary Pierce, Florence Campbell, Herb Cripe, Charles Hemming, Anthorene Bluhm and Evelyn Triet.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of South Methodist Church will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Mar. 13. Dr. Wolters will preside.

New officers of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's United Church of Christ were installed at last night's meeting at the church. The women are Hertha Harper, president; Bernice Ogborn, vice-president; Ernestine Frank, secretary, and Maxine Gerlach, treasurer.

On Friday, Mar. 8, the youth of Rose Hill Church of Christ will be hosts to members of Southwood Church of Christ Seniors C.E., the "Bykotas," in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeler. Congratulations to the Bykota C.E. for winning a "Freedom Foundation" award from Valley Forge, Pa. The DVBS workers from Southwood Church of Christ will hold a preliminary meeting at the church on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

F&AM Lodges To Be Inspected

York Lodge, No. 563 F. & A. M. University Lodge, No. 631 F. & A. M., and Capital City Lodge, No. 656 F. & A. M., will have their 37th annual Triple Inspection on Saturday, Mar. 16, starting at 2 p.m. All three lodges meet in York Temple, 1276 N. High-st.

The inspecting officers will be Fred T. Williams, Lawrence M. Looker, and Louis C. Holzapfel. Lodge masters are Warren M. Wagner, York; Ben F. Myer, University; and William R. Stern, Capital.

Ask Zone Change

Columbus City Council will hear a request at its Mar. 11 meeting for a change in zoning regulations to permit construction of a shopping center on the east side of Noe-Bixby-rd, north of Refugee-rd.

Preliminary plans, submitted by Majestic, Inc., 8 E. Long-st, call for two structures and 35,800 square feet of floor space. Council will be asked to change zoning from suburban residential to general commercial.

at the church on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Margie Speakmon, 820 S. Third-st, has been a patient in Mercy Hospital, though we don't know the nature of her illness. Margie's annual project is the Orient Easter baskets, a reminder to our readers.

The Wesleyan Class of Oakwood Methodist still has many books to gather before attaining their goal of securing a piano for the sanctuary. The class is unique, in that they are offering items to replace the stamp donations. For complete information, call Norma Jacks, HI. 3-5291.

Cloverleaf 33 will meet on Monday, Mar. 11, for a casserole dinner. Mrs. Robert Hoffman, 808 Siebert-st, will be the hostess.

One of the newer public schools, Parsons School, is conducting an Easter Sunday candy sale, through Mar. 13. Mrs. Kenneth Jones is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Paul Brinkley and Mrs. Gerald Fetherholf.

Harmony Glee Club will stage a fresh pickerel dinner Friday, Mar. 8, at 432 Kossuth-st. Serving will start at 5 p.m.

John Metzger, electronic technician third, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metzger, 963 E. Champion-av. He has been stationed at Memphis, Tenn., but is being transferred to Charleston, S.C., where he is assigned to the USS Charles T. Adams. He's a South High grad.

With its 27,400 miles of area, Lake Victoria, chief source of the River Nile, is second largest body of fresh water in the world.

Not All Hikers Observe Rules

Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club says that many hikers are trying to test their physical stamina possibly at the risk of losing their lives by failing to comply with the basic safety rule of facing oncoming traffic.

In addition to the safety factors involved, the AAA official reminds that pedestrians walking along streets or highways not having walks must comply with a section of Ohio law that reads:

". . . pedestrians may walk along or upon such street or highway, and, when practicable, they shall face the approaching traffic and shall exercise due care to avoid approaching traffic."

"While penalties are provided for failing to comply," notes the AAA official, "the incentive to obey must still be to return home healthy . . . and alive."

Tensions of the world will not be relieved until the world experiences a genuine explosion of human justice and recognition of individual rights.—Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson.

Old Bills Are Causing Woes For Fair Board

The Franklin County Agricultural Society needs $9,000 to pay back bills, and county commissioners can't give it to them.

Fair officials told commissioners Thursday that they have $12,300 in unpaid bills. However, commissioners have appropriated only $3300 for 1963.

The debts accumulated several years ago when the society was unable to pay its bills.

Fair Secretary Carl Crandall said the 1963 fair will open Aug. 12. Fair officials have added another day to the event this year so that a Saturday is included in the fair week.

Civil Defense Offers Course

A three-hour Home Preparedness Course will be conducted on Tuesday, Mar. 12, from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. This course in survival techniques will be given in the Civil Defense auditorium at 1045 S. High-st.

The Evening Women's Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet on Friday, Mar. 8, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Richard Poenisch, 1554 S. Fourth-st, will be the hostess. Mrs. John Steller will present the Bible study.

The Mothers of Twins Club will meet on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Main Federal Bank of the Central Point Shopping Center. The annual Spring Clothing Sale will be held at that time.

The mothers of Cub Scouts, Pack 84, are holding a bake sale Saturday, Mar. 9, from 10 a.m. on at the Kroger Store located at Thurman and Parsons. Chairman of the project is Ruth Resch.

Lillian Ryan, 816 S. 17th-st, enjoyed a brief respite from the unusually severe winter this year by visiting her son, Jerry, and his family in Florida. The Columbusite found two of her grandsons ailing with chicken pox upon her arrival in Ft. Myers. Mrs. Ryan's sister, Mrs. Butscha, made the journey to the Southland with her.

The young ladies of Brownie Troop 686 are quite proud of their most recent project, a window display at the Economy Loan of the Great Southern Shopping Center, to be seen on Mar. 12.

The Brownie Troop is sponsored by the South High EUB Church. The troop leader is Mrs. Norman L d. Assistants are Mrs. Harold Olbert, Mrs. Thomas Cornwell, Mrs. Roy Marcum and Mrs. David McCune. The troop will be among those attending the annual Girl Scout party to be held at Lazarus this Saturday, Mar. 9.

The monthly social meeting of the Washington Avenue EUB Choir will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Mar. 12. The men of the church will meet tonight at 7:30.

Robert Eugene Webber is the youngest member of the household at 877 Ann-st. The little one's parents are Larry and Betty Webber.

Juanita Berger, 1312 Frebis-av, was surprised by a group of friends who chose to observe her birthday with a luncheon which they brought to her home. The long-time friends who cooked up the scheme (and luncheon) were Ella Frederick, Tillie Boehm, Lucille Mehring, Irene Klein, and Marie Judy. Juanita's son, Ronnie, was able to be home to enjoy the unexpected repast aand was as surprised as his mother.

The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will meet on Saturday, Mar. 9, for a 7:30 a.m. breakfast at Dorst Hall of Downtown YMCA. Reservations may be made by calling A. L. Morbitt, at BR. 4-0527.

February was an eventful month for Ida Werner, who attained her 79th year on Feb. 19, then travelled to Florida for a ten-day vacation. With Mrs. Werner were Mr. and Mrs. Don Werner and their son, Bob.

Ten members of the Washington Avenue EUB Church completed the school of religion that was held at Starling Junior High School, Jan. 2 through Feb. 25. Those completing the course were Dorothy Keller, Judy Riemenschneider, Marcella Helser, Lois Bellis, Mary Pierce, Herb Florence Campbell, Cripe, Charles Hemming, Anthorene Bluhm and Evelyn Triet.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of South Methodist Church will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Mar. 13. Dr. Wolters will preside.

New officers of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's United Church of Christ were installed at last night's meeting at the church. The women are Hertha Harper, president; Bernice Ogborn, vice-president; Ernestine Frank, secretary, and Maxine Gerlach, treasurer.

On Friday, Mar. 8, the youth of Rose Hill Church of Christ will be hosts to members of Southwood Church of Christ Seniors C.E., the "Bykotas," in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeler. Congratulations to the Bykota C.E. for winning a "Freedom Foundation" award from Valley Forge, Pa. The DVBS workers from Southwood Church of Christ will hold a preliminary meeting at the church on Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

F&AM Lodges To Be Inspected

York Lodge, No. 563 F & A. M. University Lodge, No. 631 F. & A. M., and Capital City Lodge, No. 656 F. & A. M., will have their 37th annual Triple Inspection on Saturday, Mar. 16, starting at 2 p.m. All three lodges meet in York Temple, 1276 N. High-st.

The inspecting officers will be Fred T. Williams, Lawrence M. Looker, and Louis C. Holzapfel. Lodge masters are Warren M. Wagner, York; Ben F. Myer, University; and William R. Stern, Capital.

Ask Zone Change

Columbus City Council will hear a request at its Mar. 11 meeting for a change in zoning regulations to permit construction of a shopping center on the east side of Noe-Bixby-rd, north of Refugee-rd.

Preliminary plans, submitted by Majestic, Inc., 8 E. Long-st, call for two structures and 35,800 square feet of floor space. Council will be asked to change zoning from suburban residential to general commercial.

Margie Speakmon, 820 S. Third-st, has been a patient in Mercy Hospital, though we don't know the nature of her illness. Margie's annual project is the Orient Easter baskets, a reminder to our readers.

The Wesleyan Class of Oakwood Methodist still has many books to gather before attaining their goal of securing a piano for the sanctuary. The class is unique, in that they are offering items to replace the stamp donations. For complete information, call Norma Jacks, HI. 3-5291.

Cloverleaf 33 will meet on Monday, Mar. 11, for a casserole dinner. Mrs. Robert Hoffman, 808 Siebert-st, will be the hostess.

Not All Hikers Observe Rules

Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club says that many hikers are trying to test their physical stamina possibly at the risk of losing their lives by failing to comply with the basic safety rule of facing oncoming traffic.

In addition to the safety factors involved, the AAA official reminds that pedestrians walking along streets or highways not having walks must comply with a section of Ohio law that reads:

". . . pedestrians may walk along or upon such street or highway, and, when practicable, they shall face the approaching traffic and shall exercise due care to avoid approaching traffic."

"While penalties are provided for failing to comply," notes the AAA official, "the incentive to obey must still be to return home healthy . . . and alive."

Tensions of the world will not be relieved until the world experiences a genuine explosion of human justice and recognition of individual rights.—Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson.

Old Bills Are Causing Woes For Fair Board

The Franklin County Agricultural Society needs $9,000 to pay back bills, and county commissioners can't give it to them.

Fair officials told commissioners Thursday that they have $12,300 in unpaid bills. However, commissioners have appropriated only $3300 for 1963.

The debts accumulated several years ago when the society was unable to pay its bills.

Fair Secretary Carl Crandall said the 1963 fair will open Aug. 12. Fair officials have added another day to the event this year so that a Saturday is included in the fair week.

Civil Defense Offers Course

A three-hour Home Preparedness Course will be conducted on Tuesday, Mar. 12, from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. This course in survival techniques will be given in the Civil Defense auditorium at 1045 S. High-st.

The class will be limited to the first 40 persons to place reservations by calling HI. 3-9444.

'Be Realistic,' Juvenile Officer Urges

By FRANK J. RYAN

(Editor's Note: Juvenile delinquency is a topic of serious national concern. Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover Reports: "As a group, persons under 18 years old represented (during 1960) 43 per cent of all arrests for the more serious crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft." In succeeding articles we will view the area of juvenile problems from the local level.)

Juvenile delinquency will always be with us. It can NOT be eradicated. Experience — from the day of Cain and Able to today's headlines of youthful savagery — tells us clearly that crime and lawlessness are here to stay.

This, in essence, is the unvarnished truth as seen by a man who has dealt with troubled and troublesome youth for the past 13 years. He is Captain Phil Momburg, chief of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department, and a veteran of 24 years as a police officer.

Momburg's observation is certainly not negative when viewed in its full context. He says, for example: "Let's be realistic, and think in terms of control and reduction."

While stressing the fact that there is no "cure-all" answer, the veteran police officer believes that much can be done in dealing with the problem before it becomes a police or a court matter.

Momburg is in agreement with the generally accepted belief that delinquency is not confined to any specific group, location, or environment. Nor can it be attributed solely to the presence of slums or lack of adequate recreational facilities.

Both the "soft" and the "hard" schools of approach to the problem have their good points, he believes, but neither represents the total answer.

"There is no single approach that is totally effective," Momburg said. "We must continually look for new approaches."

Momburg cited the recent Sabin on Sunday program in illustrating the difficulty of effectively reaching all people in a public education campaign.

Even though all agencies concerned with the pollo prevention program joined forces in complete unity and harmony, the response still fell short of 100 per cent, he said. And this despite the promise of absolute immunity from the dread disease.

There will always be those, he said, who, for one reason or another will not be reached. This is why he thinks in terms of reduction and control, rather than eradication of the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Not all juveniles who come to the attention of police are delinquents, Momburg pointed out. The first contact is usually with a uniformed patrolman at the neighborhood level. It might represent a neighbor's complaint of too much noise, or a minor traffic code violation.

Momburg's views on youth in general are anything but negative. He is quick to remind that the problem youth who come to his attention represent only three to five per cent of the local juvenile population.

Momburg gives the impression of a man "with a mission" when he discusses, for purposes of public education, the subject of youth problems. He has done extensive public speaking before civic and service groups both in and outside the local area.

Using a set of "flash cards" in detailing the broad base of youth problems, Momburg elaborates on such areas as family, playmates, church, school and police. "Family," he explains, is listed at the base of the chart because the family is the greatest single influence on a child for future behavior.

In discussing the influence of "family," Momburg stresses the importance of the first six years or formative stage of a child's life. This area of direct parental responsibility can mean the difference, in later years, between adjustment to society and juvenile delinquency, he says.

The initial selection of playmates or companions is another area that should concern all parents, Momburg points out, reminding that children are judged and can be influenced by the company they keep.

In pointing out the need for a greater emphasis on church, Momburg says that all too many of the juveniles who come to the attention of his bureau will say they do not go to church; that they quit going to church; or that they were sent (rather than taken) to church.

Schools deal with the various problems of juveniles, he says, through visiting teacher programs, as well as employment of staff psychologists and psychiatrists. However, too many parents feel that their responsibility ends once their child has entered school.

In presenting his talks, Capt. Momburg deals at length with the part played by the police juvenile bureau in the total picture of youth problems. This is by design, and not intended to minimize the part played by other agencies.

Momburg believes that progress in control and reduction of juvenile delinquency calls for a coordinated effort, with each of the related agencies working diligently within its own sphere, and cooperating with all other agencies.

The police attitude is becoming more professionalized, Momburg said, with the emphasis on rehabilitation rather than retribution.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation of the juvenile bureau — its objectives and its relationship to other agencies concerned with juvenile delinquency and youth problems.

CAPT. PHIL MOMBURG uses "flash cards" to tell his story.

NOTED OHIOANS

We of Ohio have a right to be proud of her sons and daughters who have done many things in many fields. They have done much to remind others that here in the heartland of this nation we breed a race able to stand with the best. Here are a few of many:

First, we have produced six Presidents of the United States; U. S. Grant had been a great soldier, having had much to do with the destinies of the nation, before going to the White House. Rutherford B. Hayes and James Abram Garfield were good Presidents, the latter falling at the hands of an assassin.

William McKinley, born in Niles, had been an officer in the War Between the States. He, too, suffered a violent death while in office.

William Howard Taft became Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court after having served as President. His two sons, Charles and the late Robert, both born in Cincinnati, have been active in public affairs.

Warren G. Harding unfortunately was a victim of too much trust in too many he thought true and loyal friends.

Eddie Rickenbacker, born in Columbus, came up the hard way and is now known, after brilliant military service, for his expressed and practiced religious beliefs and for his deep belief in the greatness of this good land.

He Makes Difference When Trouble Comes

All people have their troubles. No person can escape them. "Man that is born of woman is of few days, and full of trouble" (Job 14:1). The same writer wrote: "Man is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upward" (Job 5:7).

Rev. Langlois

The best of people will get sick and have sorrows and disappointments, but a person should be able to see a difference in the attitude of a Christian and of an unsaved person when trouble comes.

The followers of Jesus were troubled because of His forthcoming death. Jesus' word to them was: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. . . I go to prepare a place for you" (John 14:1-2).

What should our attitude be when trouble comes to us? We should not deny the facts, neither should our attitude be that of stoicism, epicureanism, or cynicism.

When we get sick, we should be willing to say with Job: "though he slay me, yet will I trust in Him" (Job 13:15).

When we are passing through great sorrow and disappointment, we should be willing to say: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Rom. 8:28.).

When we lose our loved ones, we should be willing to say: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord" (Job 1:21). And when the Christian dies, he can say with the Apostle Paul: "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (2 Tim. 4:6).

Christ makes the difference when trouble comes. In fact, it's good to have Him with us at all times.

Rev. Raymond Langlois

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Bearded Ones Are Not Always Nuts

I have a newspaper friend who wears a big mustache and likes to inflate and burst paper lunch bags.

Or rather, he was my friend. Now he is having second thoughts. In the meantime at every chance he explodes paper bags near my ears, an act that never fails to orbit me momentarily about three feet above my seat.

Normally my questionable friend curbs any sadistic tendencies he may harbor. But several weeks ago I wrote a column unfavorable to esoteric art, poetry and opera. In it I used the term "bearded nuts."

McPeek

In the past my mustached, questionable friend also sported brush on his chin. At the time he labored on an American newspaper in Europe, the editor of which abhored hirsute adornment of any style.

In the editor's efforts to have his recalcitrant staff member bare his true face, a great struggle of wills evolved (although neither of them is named Will). As the brush war dragged on, my friend wearied of battle and returned to the United States — sans beard, but with a bristling sensitivity to "non-beard buffs." (Aren't all buffs bare?)

My bag-bursting, questionable friend does not dispute my contention that an "artist who slaps a canvas with the end of a hemp rope dipped in Kemtone" and wears a beard, is, in all probability, a "bearded nut."

His umbrage stems from the possibility that the term may be interpreted to imply that all who wear beards are nuts.

He demanded that this matter be corrected. If this was not done, he hinted he would send to the House Un-American Activities Committee poison-pen notes implying that my loyalty may not measure up to DAR standards. Coupled with the fact that there always is a great supply of rumpled lunch bags cluttering up the newsroom, I will heed his threat herewith:

IT IS NOT NECESSARILY TRUE THAT ALL BEARDS CONCEAL NUTS!

Sensing my cowardice, he repeated his threat, hissing through his waxed hedge that it might be wise if I also tossed in a few tautful words about his latest magazine story, "A Runner In The Mist," which is in the current Atlantic Monthly (March).

When I inquired if the story was about a London track meet, he hissed even more violently, tempting me to run in the mist.

Calming somewhat, he took me on his knee and in a paternal manner explained that it was a "tender, sensitive, heart-rending story about loneliness that everyone should read if they would like to have a "fuller, deeper appreciation of the beauty in life." (Such redundancy should reap him a fortune if he is paid by the word.)

Choking back my tears, I rushed to the typewriter. This is the result.

What the hey, it's little enough to do after he bought me a pizza from his Atlantic Monthly check.

And I might as well go all the way. His name is James McCormick.

Spring–Does It Seem Close Or Far Away?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

It has been said that there is no "off-season" for the outdoors, and this, of course, is true. But with the weather we've been having, this is the nearest thing to an off-season.

Ice fishing has tapered off, fox hunters are pretty well hunted out, and the longest open hunting season, for ruffed grouse, has closed. Most of us will simply hang on for the next month or six weeks until a warm April day calls to us like the Pied Piper's flute.

Actually, the spring activity has started. Birds are moving around, and the crows and robins that wintered in Southern Ohio hollows have been seen for several weeks. Cowbirds are back. Song sparrows and some others sing infrequently and rather hopefully it seems. Ducks are seen trading up and down the valleys more frequently and in ever-increasing numbers.

Here is an important lesson—temperature does not govern bird migration and activity. Most people believe that the migrators stay South until it warms up. It is the sun that pulls the invisible strings. As the days get longer, the birds start their northward flights. Perhaps the birds should wait for warmer weather, for each year there are tragedies. Birds are lost in late winter storms and perish. The insect-eaters are most susceptible. Martins, for instance, come back and find cool weather and no hatching insects. When this happens, they starve. But for untold generations, birds have been tied to the lengthening and shortening of days, and it will ever be so.

While we're waiting for spring and watching the birds, it is a good time to reflect on the past season. There was a short deer season, although the deep snow and cold weather probably kept some hunters home. Those who hunted, though, saw deer or deer sign and most everyone considered it a successful season.

Rabbit hunting was very good in some localities, and so-so in others. Pheasant hunting generally seemed to be about the same as the year before, and nothing to brag about. Quail hunting was exceptionally good in quite a few areas in Southern Ohio. Duck hunting was poor as predicted, but early hunters who got a chance at locally-reared ducks did not do too badly. Those who tackled the real trophies of the waterfowl clan, Canada geese, found them available if they wanted to work at it.

Going back a little further, to a season that will whet your appetite for some early spring fishing, last year's fishing was unquestionably superior. Five state fish records were set during 1962, according to the Outdoor Writers of Ohio which keep such books. None of the state records are held by anglers in this area, but the challenge is there just the same. The writers claim that a year when five records are set is unheard of, but it happened just the same.

It's like the old Florida joke — a northerner watches a huge stringer of whopping bass unloaded from a boat onto the dock. "The man who caught those fish is a liar," he exclaimed. Everyone knows that outdoor writers never lie, so we must accept the records. The new ones were set in these categories: largemouth bass, nine pounds, two ounces; channel catfish, 14 pounds, three ounces; flathead catfish, 65 pounds; black crappie, three pounds, and muskellunge, 31 pounds.

Does this make spring seem closer, or farther away?

Urges Second Look At Record Of U.N.

To The Editor:

The League of Women Voters urges us to support the United Nations Organization, which amounts to supporting our own downfall. I urge any of the members of that body of dedicated women to look at the record of UN actions involved in keeping the peace.

The Korean conflict provides all the information needed to forever silence any literate person, who cares to acquaint himself with the facts, regardless of his opinion of the purported claims of the internationalists and their UN supporters.

The Communists circulated a 'white paper' (in 1945) totally disavowing any belief in the principles of the UN charter and have used the machinery of that organization only as an instrument by which the internal affairs of other nations might be manipulated or subverted, without the use of force in the military sense.

In our American Bill of Rights we find a clear expression of each of the basic tenets necessary to the protection of the individual. The same may not be said concerning the vague and contradictory 'jargon' used by the authors of the UN charter.

We have now reached an impasse in this hemisphere which calls for a decision inviting the efforts of Americans dedicated to the principles set forth in our Constitution, and heretofore ably expressed by Americans in high places. The discussions of our present situation by Mr. U. Thant and Mr. Castro, are typical of the whole pattern of "peace-keeping" on the part of the UN.

Self-preservation requires that we pay closer attention to the facts involving our survival, nationally and individually. A course of action based upon fact would automatically rule out American participation in the intrigues of the United Nations Organization, and would relieve us of the presence of a highly dangerous group of intelligence agents now freely circulating in and about the UN headquarters, New York.

"CITIZEN JIM"

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — D.D.S.

One of the most gratifying developments of the last 10 years is the long overdue "housecleaning" in elementary and secondary education. More trash had sneaked into the "long hair" jargon of theorists than most parents realized. Then a loud protest was heard all over the country as people discovered with shock that "Johnny and Mary" couldn't read.

Just plain, old-fashioned teachers, who had large and dependable quotients of common sense, moved into the "modern mess" fast, and some correct things began to happen all over the country. Kids were again taught their letters, then taught to spell and read one syllable words.

Those of us who grew up on the McGuffey Readers, and had used them as teachers in the little old-fashioned country school houses, got a new breath of hope from this uprising of parents who had made the discovery that basic education was "way off the beam."

Thousands of high school graduates have failed miserably in recent years to carry college level work because they couldn't read.

See Slums Coming

As a resident of the Hilltop of the best part of 70 years, I call to the attention of our community newspapers the slum conditions that are being permitted to grow like a cancer on the Hilltop. Conditions that have led to the condemnation of property in other parts of the city, but conditions that could be prevented if this city will enforce existing laws and pass others necessary to stop things that lead to slums. When we have asked the city officials to clean up these conditions, we are told that they have no authority, as none of the present city laws cover the situation.

Persons who were evicted by slum clearance in other parts of the city, have moved into all parts of our city and are continuing to make slum conditions, just as they did before.

Those of us who reside here are too old to start all over again with another mortgage at age 70 and are helpless to stop this spread of slums. We need the aid of every right-thinking citizen to stop it before it is too late.

It has happened—near.

New York to Philadelphia: San Diego to Los Angeles. 90 miles. That's the distance between freedom and Communism, between a people still free and a free people betrayed into Communism.

Do you find such geography alarming? Then think about this: The danger to our free institutions is as real and present as miles and minutes of flying time. And you need not go to Cuba to strike a blow for freedom. There is much to do here. Freedom needs defenders here, for the unfortunate paradox for Americans, the most powerful people on earth, is this: The freedoms we lose are the freedoms we give away.

You must speak up for freedom now. Speak up in your home, in your community. Can you tell your children about the American Way? They'll be up to their necks in the fight for freedom soon; the Communists will see to that. Whether they win the fight depends upon how strongly they want to win, upon how strongly they believe in freedom. And they must understand enough about freedom not to give it away piecemeal at home, so that they are left with the forms and not the realities of freedom. Freedom can be taken away, as every Pole and Hungarian knows. Cubans know it can be lost in other ways.

Perhaps you've tried to share your thoughts about freedom, but find it hard to express them. Then let the Freedoms Foundation help you. Learn how to make your effort count in the struggle against Communism. Learn how to think up, speak up and act up for freedom every day, in your own backyard.

Freedoms Foundation is a nonprofit, nonsectarian organization devoted solely to the preservation of the American Way. Dwight D. Eisenhower is Chairman. Your contribution of ten, five, even one dollar will help in the fight for freedom. It will bring you membership in Freedoms Foundation, and your copy of "Freedoms Handbook," a tool to help you work effectively for freedom.

RobertsUpholsteryHasBeen In Business Over 35 Years

Shopping for upholstery material in your own home is one of the conveniences offered by Roberts Upholstery at the rear of 4365 E. Broad-st. Simply picking up a phone and calling BE. 1-1236 will bring a Roberts Upholstery expert to your home with a complete selection of samples of materials for any type of upholstery job.

Specializing in complete custom re-upholstery and restyling, the firm has remained a family-operated enterprise since it was established over 35 years ago. At one time the company manufactured furniture items in the university district of Columbus under the leadership of the family father, John W. Roberts.

Since the death of John Roberts the organization has been run by Mrs. Angela Roberts, widow of the founder. Alvin Roberts, son of Mrs. Roberts, serves as manager and another son, John, works on a part-time basis.

Along with the family the firm employs four other men to aid in the operation of the business.

Located at the same address for the past 15 years, the upholstery company takes great pride in its reputation and quality of work. Tentative plans call for expansion into the retail furniture trade by offering medium and higher priced items, by nationally known manufacturers, to the general public. The opening date for the new facilities will be announced at a later date.

75th YEAR

WEARING a diamond tiara, signifying the 75th Diamond Anniversary of Main Federal Savings and Loan, is Barbara Wald of 1779 W. Mound-st. Barbara was on hand for the opening of the celebration Mar. 1, to point out a display replica of the famous Hope Diamond. Each of the three Main Federal offices has this display to represent the theme of the observance, "Saving Is Hope." Personnel in the offices, during the month of March, will be attired in clothing reminiscent of the 1888 period, the year Main Federal was founded.

WHEELCHAIR FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

THE LATEST and best available wheelchair is presented to the Crippled Children's Society by members of the Columbus Chapter of the American Business Club (AMBUCS). From left is Bill Pfefferle, AMBUCS project chairman; Lee Hall, club president, and Jack Treece, executive director of the Crippled Children's Society. This chair will be loaned to handicapped children as part of the AMBUCS program of helping the youngsters. The business group is part of a nationwide civic organization of business and professional leaders. Funds are obtained by various money raising projects. The national goal of AMBUCS is to furnish young men and women with college scholarships for study of cerebral palsy therapy. At the present time five students are attending Ohio State University on AMBUCS scholarships.

NEWSPAPER METHODS STUDIED

C. CARLTON HARTLEY, publisher of Hartley Newspapers (at rostrum), presided at a dinner meeting Mar. 2 that climaxed a two-day conference of the Suburban Press Foundation at the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago. Suburban publishers and editors from throughout the nation participated in newspaper improvement workshops. Hartley is flanked at the table by other publishers, representatives of industries and management, and journalism college faculty. Hartley Newspapers' managing editor, Marcus T. Orr, also attended the conference.

The Gay Philosopher says, "A nudist colony is where men and women go to air their differences."

How about that?

Jimmy Crum of WLW-C told an interesting story in a local meeting this past week.

It seems a father was being pestered by his young son to go out and play baseball. Father wanted to read the newspaper and so he clipped out a map of the world from the paper and proceeded to tell the small boy, "When you finish putting the world together I will go out and play baseball."

In a few minutes the boy returned with the map clearly put together and the father was amazed. But the boy explained that it was a simple task because on the back of the map of the world was a picture of a little boy. "I knew if I could put the boy together I would be able to put the world together," he said.

Crum is doing a nice job in this area in paying the proper tribute to our famed Buckeyes and Fred Taylor not only for their part in producing good basketball entertainment but for the good influence they are having on the young people in this area.

Water Pure Says Wright

Water Superintendent Frank Wright testified as to the purity of city water last week after receiving complaints as to its taste.

Wright explained there is a heavy organic count in the water that will not affect its purity. Some of the bad taste, he added, is picked up in the lines after the water leaves the treatment plant.

Vacation Fun For Ohioans

A new concept in vacations for Ohio residents is beginning to take hold in Central Ohio.

Organized by the Switzerland of Ohio Vacation Association, the new plan calls for spending your vacation in the beautiful hills of Monroe County, where facilities have been provided for entire family groups.

A brochure, describing the challange of trails, fishing and outdoor life, has been prepared by the vacation group and is offered to any interested parties. The brochure includes the names and descriptions of vacation farms taking part in the project.

Each description quotes an individual cost for what would appear to be an economical family vacation within easy reach of Central Ohioans.

A brochure can be obtained by writing Mrs. Carl Dietrich, secretary, at Route 2, Clarington, Ohio.

Meet Planned

Seven Area Students Win In Contest

Students in the Hartley Newspapers area have won seven of the eight places in the annual Americanism essay contest of the American Legion and Auxiliary in Franklin County, it is announced by William R. Schnug of Hilliard, county essay chairman. Five of the seven are in the Bexley school system.

Grade nine — Mark Gorchoff and Karen Gingrich, Bexley Junior High.

Grade 10 — Howard T. Albin of Bexley High and Sharon Dunkle of South High.

Grade 11 — Joseph H. Lessem of Bexley High and Mary Christine Lindenberg of Walnut Ridge High.

Grade 12 — Jeffrey Fischer of Bexley High and Anne Madaglia of Bishop Watterson High.

Their essays are being judged this week along with 104 others submitted from 13 other sections of Ohio. The state winners will be announced later this month.

Students from 16 schools in Franklin County submitted 78 essays in this year's contest.

ART DISPLAY

The public is invited to view a display of paintings by local artists in Lowe Brothers Paint Store in the Great Southern Shopping Center on S. High-st., Saturday, Mar. 16. Paintings will be judged by a panel of three art instructors and prizes will be awarded at the completion of the exhibit.

CSSO To Hit Developers, Talk Term Change Tonight

Firey Council of South Side Organizations (CSSO) president Mike Mileusnich predicted some real fireworks tonight (Thursday) when the group meets in regular session.

The meeting is scheduled for the new South Side Branch YMCA, 190 Southwood-av, at 7:30 p.m.

Heading the list is a slap at developers in the South Side for what Mileusnich terms "lack of foresight" in building projects in the area.

Namely, Mileusnich, with the council's backing, is seeking street lights for newly developed areas (especially Southfield) — the first time, the president claims, that the CSSO has ever undertaken a street light search.

"The developers are getting away with murder down here," Mileusnich added. "Of course, street lights cost extra, and if the developers put them in, then they can't sell their houses so cheaply."

The president said that the effort is receiving the full backing of the newly-formed South Side Cooperative Association.

The group's secretary, Howard Henry, has reportedly sent a letter to Service Director Ernest Stork requesting action on the street light matter. Henry was available for comment at press time.

"There are a million and one projects like this in the South Side that need immediate attention," Mileusnich theorized. "We've got to start moving down here — and fast."

It's Mileusnich's contention that the council isn't working as effectively as it should because, he claims, the various representatives are not giving full reports at their individual meetings.

In other words, Mileusnich feels that the council members (all made up from rep-

Flood Control Needs Full Speed Ahead

And the rains came . . . on top of frozen ground and heavy snow!

The result is known to all in this area, and we can be thankful the heavens overhead closed as soon as they did.

The flood of this past week serves to remind us again of the urgency of real concern over some kind of flood control program. This is not a simple thing. It calls for a gigantic and costly development of dams and construction.

The old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District went along some 17 years without any activity. Now a new and much smaller district serves the area and it appears that they are taking steps that will lead to some early action for flood control.

This project deserves full speed ahead and the people of this area should speak up and demand that this program be given its rightful place . . . first consideration.

We have seen how close we can come to real disaster. We will never know from one spring to the next when a death taking toll will fall. Postponements may end in great destruction.

On Growing Up

Firms that stay in business today have to grow and the day when a man can start in business by the seat of his pants is gone. These were the words of advice of Virgil Martin, president of Carson, Pirie Scott and Co., when he addressed the national conference of the Suburban Press Foundation in Chicago last week.

Mr. Martin lauded the suburban press. "Suburban papers have made great strides

Eight South Students In Quill-Scroll

By BONNIE CANFIELD
(Contributing Writer)

Eight journalism students were initiated into the South High School Chapter of Quill and Scroll at an assembly held in the school auditorium Friday, Mar. 8.

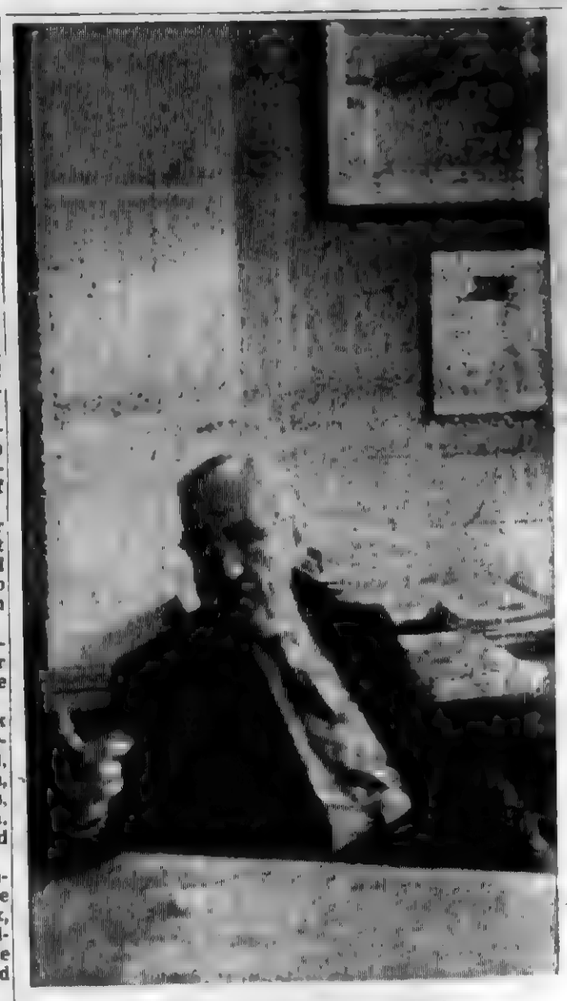
Quill and Scroll is a national honor society for high school students who do outstanding work in the field of journalism.

Members must be either juniors or seniors and must rank in the upper one-third of their class. They must also have a recommendation from their advisor.

Quill and Scroll was founded in 1926 and consists of over 7,500 chapters throughout the world.

The members who took part in the initiation ceremony were Dennis Ferrell, Herb Klopfer, Kathy Mason, JoAnn Dethloff, Donna Beals, Dorothy Davies, Linda Lapia, Sharon Evans, Sue Kish and Sharon Hahn.

The students who were initiated into the campaign are Karen Zealler, Mary Lou Cox, Lauren Werling, Karen Fiaone, Norma Doneghy, Connie Stewart, Donna Wilcox and Bonnie Canfield.



Mrs. Doris Fearing, journalism teacher at South, is the advisor for Quill and Scroll.

Aquinas Five Eliminated In Tourney

Aquinas, a "dark horse" candidate in the Central District AA basketball tourney, was eliminated from further advancement Tuesday night as West defeated the Irish 65-55, in quarter-final play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Terriers managed a 31-31 intermission deadlock but the Cowboy offense shifted into high gear in the third period as West outpointed Aquinas, 17-9, to decide the issue.

The score was tied 11 times during the course of the game. Pat Mentel and Mike Welling paced the Irish offense with 16 and 14 points respectively. The loss closed out the Aquinas season at 11-10.

ERNEST STORK AT WORK
. . . Nearly Half Century of Service

THE FUTURE
. . . Bright and Shiny

THE PAST
. . . A Long Way Up

'ERNIE' MEANS 'SERVICE' TO GREATER COLUMBUS

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
and ED CHURCHILL

As the legendary counterpart of his last name, Columbus Service Director Ernest Harold Stork has been bringing "bundles of joy" to this area for nearly half a century.

And, perhaps the only reason that he too hasn't been tagged a legend is that no one can keep up with him long enough to pin the tag on.

At the end of this year, Stork will celebrate 45 years in public service. When chatting about this in his city hall office, he appeared more like a "freshman" in government rather than an aging veteran.

He was 69 last January 6, but the drive and desire for community development hasn't dwindled for Ernie. If anything, it's more solidified after being distilled with the sweetness of past experience.

How do you describe Ernest Stork in words? Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake said it this way:

"Of all the public officials I have known over the years, Ernest H. Stork is, to me, the one who best exemplifies the concept of a dedicated and devoted public servant.

"For 45 years, Mr. Stork has been a guiding spirit in the development of Columbus from an overgrown country town into the largest city in Ohio in area."

Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes said of Stork:

"His exemplary life and service to his city merits the heartiest approval of all Columbus citizens."

Empty words by politicans? Not by a long shot. Public servants close to Ernie have heaped praise on many occasions—and not for the benefit of the press.

And, it's considerable, too, when you realize that Stork is nearly single-handedly

Free Easter Hams For Our Readers

Free ham, again this year! !

Yes, Hartley Newspapers and the business people of your area are again making plans to provide free hams for the Easter table of many of our readers. Last year nearly 200 families received the free hams.

Everyone over 16 years of age is eligible to win, and you don't have to buy a thing.

Beginning next week your paper will contain a page of special coupons provided by merchants in your area. Just fill in your name, address and phone number, clip out the coupon and deposit it in a special container in the appropriate store. Free coupons are also provided by the sponsoring merchants or at the main office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st.

A drawing will be held at each participating store to determine the winners of the Swift's premium hams.

Be sure and watch for complete contest details in next week's edition of your paper.

Believes 'Raiders' Won't Tempt Many Engineers

By FRANK RYAN

The universal shortage of qualified highway engineers was highlighted this week by the "friendly" raid of West Virginia and Indiana highway officials on the Ohio Department of Highways.

Ohio's neighbor states seem primarily interested in luring away any qualified engineering help they can recruit. But there is an added incentive that brings them to the Buckeye State — to return native sons who strayed over the border in the past few years

"A number of West Virginia people have taken jobs here (in Ohio) over the years," K. L. Bergstralh, personnel representative for the West Virginia State Highway Commission, told Hartley Newspapers. "These people have family ties in West Virginia, and we want to see if we can get them to come back home."

Similar sentiments were expressed by W. N. Rose, personnel representative for the Indiana State Highway Commission. Rose said Tuesday:

"Ohio has had the reputation for the past several years of having a fast-moving highway program."

Both agreed that Ohio's construction program gave the Buckeye State first choice of the qualified engineers available.

Bergstralh said that West Virginia has instituted similar recruiting drives in Pennsylvania and Michigan. He said

DEADLINE IN KITE CONTEST IS UPPED

Due to the recent inclement weather, the finals for the South Side YMCA's kite flying contest will be held Mar. 30 instead and Mar. 23. The deadline for qualifications slips also moves up.

Robert M. Davis, assistant executive secretary at the "Y" and chairman of the kite contest for youngsters 8 to 15, said that all qualification slips must now be in Mar. 22.

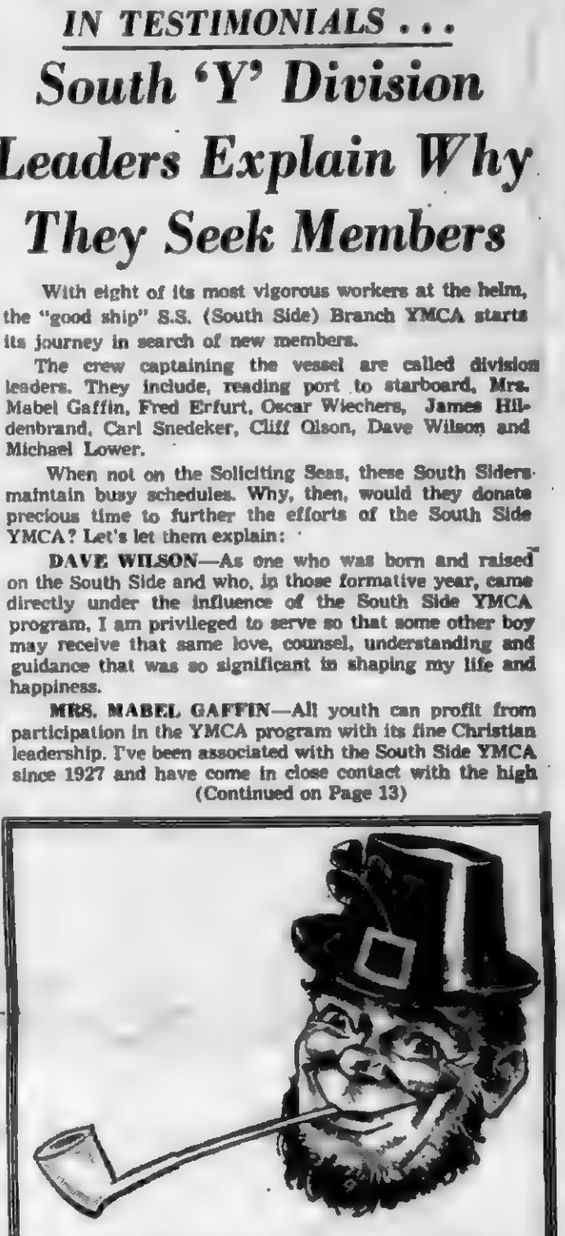
South 'Y' Division Leaders Explain Why They Seek Members

With eight of its most vigorous workers at the helm, the "good ship" S.S. (South Side) Branch YMCA starts its journey in search of new members.



The crew captaining the vessel are called division leaders. They include, reading port to starboard, Mrs. Mabel Gaffin, Fred Erfurt, Oscar Wiechers, James Hildenbrand, Carl Snedeker, Cliff Olson, Dave Wilson and Michael Lower.

When not on the Soliciting Seas, these South Siders maintain busy schedules. Why, then, would they donate precious time to further the efforts of the South Side YMCA? Let's let them explain:

DAVE WILSON—As one who was born and raised on the South Side and who, in those formative year, came directly under the influence of the South Side YMCA program, I am privileged to serve so that some other boy may receive that same love, counsel, understanding and guidance that was so significant in shaping my life and happiness.

MRS. MABEL GAFFIN—All youth can profit from participation in the YMCA program with its fine Christian leadership. I've been associated with the South Side YMCA since 1927 and have come in close contact with the high

FRIENDLY SONS, SHAMROCK CLUB HONOR ST. PAT

Many centuries after St. Patrick died 1500 years ago, Queen Marie Antoinette's milliner wrote the following lament:

"Oh Paddy dear an' did ye hear, the news that's goin' round?
The Shamrock is by Law forbid to grow on Irish ground.
No more St. Patrick's Day we'll keep, his colour can't be seen,
For there's a cruel law agin the wearin' of the Green."

The French revolutionist need not have worried.

The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick meet this Saturday for their annual banquet at the Deshler, and the Shamrock Club will form at Sixth and State for the yearly procession Sunday morning.

And as shurra as ye are a Paddywacker, there'll be "wearin' of the green," whether it is a shamrock, a derby or painted shillelagh.

Jerry O'Shaughnessy, secretary of the Friendly Sons, and Bill Downey, president of the Shamrock Club, made public the plans of the groups.

James F. Kelleher, special assistant to the postmaster-general and Rev. Edward J. Keifer, O.P., of the Aquinas faculty, will speak at the Sons' Stag dinner, which will begin at 6:30 p.m.

This is the 68th banquet of the Columbus chapter of the organization that was started by George Washington and his soldiers during the Revolutionary War.

It is a non-sectarian club with no membership restrictions except to be an admirer of St. Patrick, and no aim except to enjoy the one meeting held each year—on St. Patrick's Day, of course.

O'Shaughnessy stated that tickets are $6 and and can be obtained from him at 405 E. Town-st, or by calling CA. 1-2311.

The Shamrock Procession will march through the Columbus streets to St. Patrick's Church, where Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann will celebrate Low Mass. Monsignor William C. O'Brian, pastor of St. Mary's at Delaware, will give the sermon.

After Communion is held the procession will reform to go to the Neil House for the traditional breakfast, where more than 900 are expected.

R. Patrick West as toastmaster will introduce the South Side Girl Scout Leaders To Begin Training

Girl Scout leaders from the entire South Side area will join their counterparts in the Chio Trefoil Council and go back to school this spring.

In the greatest training effort ever undertaken by their organization, all 1850 troop leaders n the six-county Ohio Trefoil Council will polish up their present knowledge of Girl Scouting and learn some new tricks, too.

Schiller Neighborhood will have 24 leaders and assistant leaders taking the training sessions, which will be held at the Ohio Avenue EUB Church, 1013 S. Ohio-av, Monday, Mar. 18, and Wednesday, Mar. 20. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Brice Griffith, neighborhood chairman, says that the Girl Scout Council is ready and eager to train new volunteers for leadership of new troops.

For information on leadership requirements contact the troop organizer, Mrs. Robert Ferguson at HI. 4-0881.

The Southwind Trail Neighborhood will be represented at the sessions by Mrs. Arthur Humphrey, 1234 Grovewood-dr, and the following leaders and assistants:

Mrs. Lillian Loyola, Katie Cole, Mrs. Pauline Thompson, Mrs. Mattie Lofton, Mrs. Betty Davis, Mrs. Evelyn Holden, Mrs. A. Humphrey, Mrs. Dorothy Clark, Mrs. Mary Garden, Mrs. Phyllis Drown, Mrs. Mildred Bevan and Mrs. Louise Calvo.

Purpose of the training is to prepare Girl Scout volunteers for a program change that will become effective in September of this year.

Each leader will be introduced to the program designed for all four age levels before receiving special instruction on the one she will be leading in the fall.

This is being done because one main purpose of the program change is to establish better continuity from beginning to end of the seven through 17 age range in Girl Scouting.

Leaders and assistant leaders will attend sessions from Mar. 28 through Apr. 14.

AREA SCHOOLS TO SEE SHOW OF FUTURE

THERE GOES THE SUNMOBILE, the amazing little car that runs on sunshine. The picture is a time exposure which shows the fast take-off of the little auto. The button-like photovoltaic cells on the hood of the car turn light energy into electrical energy to furnish power for the engine. In this case a 300-watt light bulb simulates the sun. The Sunmobile is one of the demonstrations in the General Motors science show, "Previews of Progress." The 40-minute, admission-free, stage show dramatizes the wonders of science before two million American students and adults each year. Schools that will see the program in this area include St. Mary High School, Mar. 15; Central High School, Mar. 21; Aquinas High School, Mar. 28; Groveport-Madison High School, Mar. 29; Mohawk Jr. High School, Apr. 2, and Marion-Franklin High School, Apr. 18.

City Street Plans Include South Side

A $36 million street and freeway program, much of which is in the South Side area, is scheduled for Columbus this year, according to City Engineer Robert F. Werner.

Werner's plans do not include one South Side program —the Parsons Expressway— which was programmed under last year's schedule.

The innerbelt system, which encircles the downtown area, will be completed with the $14 million Fulton Expressway.

One and possibly two sections of the East Freeway will be placed under contract this year. Each will cost $7 million. These sections, when completed, will be limited access highways from the innerbelt to the Hanford Village area.

The first section of the East Freeway will run from the innerbelt to Ohio-av.

Third-st (between Chestnut and Mound-sts) and Fourth-st (from Fulton to Naghten-sts) were earmarked for resurfacing by Werner.

A 32-foot permanent surface on Courtright-rd, between Livingston and Deshler-avs, is also scheduled.

A program of new streets will cost $1.5 million. Those in the South Side include: Champion-av (Frebis-av to Marion - rd) Fairwood - av, Gates-st, Lockbourne-rd and Driving Park to Deshler-av.

Boy Injured In Auto Accident

James Thomas Scalf, Jr., eight, 2238 S. High-st, was in fair condition in Children's Hospital after suffering head and hip injuries when struck by a car Mar. 7.

Police said the boy darted across High-st near Frank-rd into the path of a car driven by James Greer Austin, 37, of 3433 S. High-st. Austin was not cited.

CACE Dates Baby Film

The Columbus Association for Childbirth Education has scheduled the film, "Relax, Here's Your Baby," for public viewing Friday, Mar. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Health and Safety Building (181 Washington-blvd, across the river from the Lazarus parking garage).

A "starter layette" from a local store will be given away.

The largest statistical bureau in the world is the U.S. Census Bureau.

Sir Humphrey Davy's safety lamp was first used in coal mines Jan. 9, 1816.

MOHAWK SPELLING CHAMP

MISS DURHANE WONG (left) is the winner of the Mohawk Spelling Bee, and Miss Patricia Blevins (right) is the runner-up. Durahane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ad Foo Wong, 528 Sycamore-st, and Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Blevins of 68½ E. Fulton-st. Durhane will represent Mohawk Junior High School in the city-wide spelling bee to be held Saturday, Mar. 23, 1961.

Exits Window

William Leisure, 30, escaped through a first floor window as flames and smoke spread from a living room couch in his home at 2812 Claude - dr early Saturday, firemen reported.

He suffered from smoke inhalation and received oxygen at the scene.

The brook would lose its song if we removed the rock.

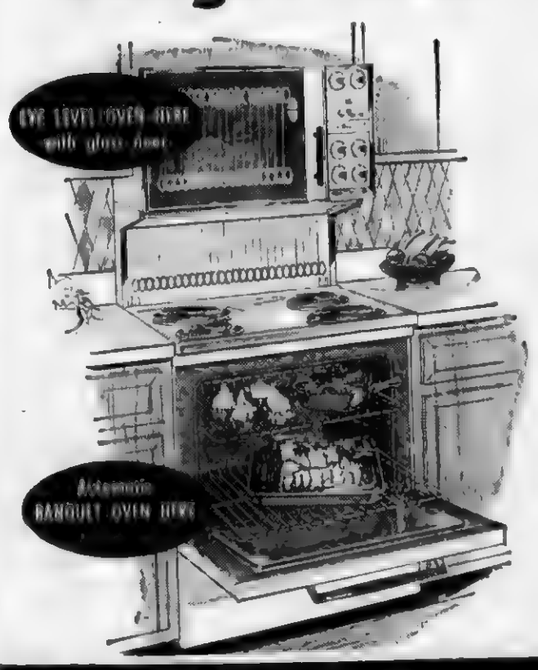
High Accident Spots Named

As a result of the latest two-week traffic accident report, Police Chief George Scholer has ordered increased enforcement in the following areas:

Livingston-av from College-av to Chelsea, 9 p.m. to 2 a.m., drunken drivers, reckless operation.

Mound-st from 18th to Wilson-av, 4 to 8 p.m., failure to yield to car on right, red light violations.



Livingston-av, from Wilson-av to Rhoades, 6 to 10 p.m., driving left of center and reckless operation.

One fatal accident was recorded during the period. It occurred Feb. 21 at Frobis-av and the N and W Railroad crossing, east of Moler-rd. According to police, the driver disregarded a railroad flasher.

Lady Gibson
TWO OVEN ELECTRIC RANGE
Only 30 inches wide and both look built-in!

Ever wish for a second oven? Everyone has. Most ovens are wastefully large for casserole dinners — much too tiny for holiday baking and broiling. That's why the Lady Gibson has two ovens — one at eye-level that's just right for frozen dinners and side dishes — the other below, a full size, fully automatic banquet oven. Yet the Lady Gibson is a slim, trim 30 in. wide. Looks built-in too, but she really isn't.

THE FLOOD IS GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

491-1281

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the home of Mrs. Helen Taylor Mar. 7. Mrs. Norma Reiselt read the scripture and a study of the women of the Bible was started with Rachel as the first to be chosen for discussion.

Regular meeting of the Official Board at Walnut Hill Monday is scheduled Mar. 18, 8 p.m.

Thursday, Apr. 4, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Marion Brown from Interboard Council will be at Walnut Hill to discuss and demonstrate the use of our Sunday School literature. This is for Sunday School teachers and workers and for any who are interested. The South Bloomfield Charge is invited to participate. All teachers should plan to attend.

Walnut Hill Church is happy to announce that it is now sponsoring three scouting programs. Troop 526 has formed an Explorer Post. This post is headed by Louis Wesler, explorer advisor, Joe Epling, committee chairman, and Benny Sawyer and Gerald Eccard, committeemen. They are proud to have ten boys in it. Wesler informs us there are only two other Explorer Posts in the Central Ohio Council.

Troop 526 welcomes two new committeemen registered at the last meeting. Mr. Carr is the troop's outdoor man and Richard Adams is the troop's transportation man so when Adams calls on you please give him your cooperation.

Hubert Gibbs returned home from Doctor's Hospital Monday. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Hazel Hann entertained with a dinner in honor of Miss Helen Stevenson on Monday evening, Mar. 4. Guests included Miss Irma Wells, Miss Marilyn Kraus, Miss Joan Motz, Miss Margaret Carro, Mrs. Lucille Sinclair and Mrs. Gladys Tetirich. Miss Stevenson left Mar. 9 for Jamaica.

GOD'S WORD . . . Protects the soul

As paint protects wood and metal from decay, rust, and corrosion, so the promises found in God's word protect the soul from the evils of sin, anxiety and despair. Hear God's wonderful promises proclaimed from the pulpit in the church of your choice this Sunday. These promises so heard will accomplish wonderful things in your soul and heart, for God says of His Word, "It shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." BUSINESS REVIEW

Alterations And Remodeling Featured By Stonecraft Co.

The Stonecraft Company, established eight years ago to promote the use and sale of stone products in construction, doesn't do stone work anymore.

Instead, according to company manager O. J. Marcus, "We now specialize in all types of home remodeling, including room additions, roofing, siding and altering."

Marcus added that the company just seemed to outgrow the stone business, expanded to home remodeling of all types and has confined its activities to this particular field.

Samples of past work and ideas for future construction are available to the public at the Stonecraft Co. offices at 979 E. Main-st.

The business employs eight persons on its staff to facilitate speedy remodeling and repair work. Free estimates are available by calling Stonecraft at 258-8920.

Bargains At Great Southern

"Old Fashioned Bargain Days" are coming to the Great Southern Shopping Center, 3800 S. High-st, this weekend, Thursday, Mar. 14, through Saturday, Mar. 16.

The three-day celebration will feature many real "old-fashioned bargains" with many items priced the same as years ago. For further details check the Great Southern ad in this newspaper.

One of the really outstanding buys offered during the observance is a full-size household broom for the ridiculously low price of only 11 cents. This is just one example of projected savings. Merchants have gone all-out to bring outstanding low prices to consumers during the celebration.

The first 1000 customers shopping at Great Southern on the opening day of the observance will be given the opportunity to buy an outstanding "old-fashioned bargain."

Great Southern merchants have promised to go all the way to make this gala weekend of shopping a fun-filled bargain bonanza for everyone entering the shopping center.

PREPARING FOR BONUS EVENT

EXECUTIVES of Glick's Furniture Store make plans and preparations for the annual 19 per cent Bonus Event now in progress at Glick Stores in the Columbus area and Chillicothe. Shown, from left, are William Bates, assistant manager of Glick's Town and Country Store; William Soliday, general sales manager; Glen Smith, Town and Country Store manager; Robert Glick, company president; and William Glick, executive vice-president.

Glicks Holding Annual 19% Bonus Event To Offer Bargains To Local Consumers

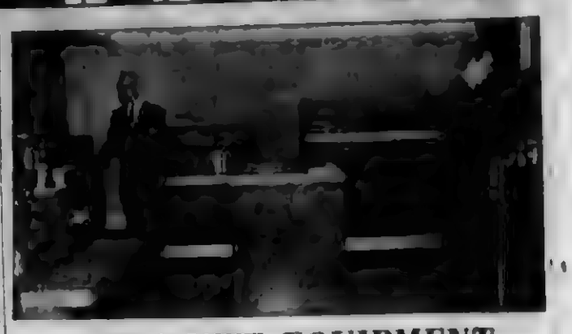
Glick's original, 37th annual 19 per cent Bonus Event began Monday, Mar. 4, according to an announcement by Robert A. Glick, president of the Glick Furniture Company.

The annual event offers Glick customers a bonus of 19 per cent of their purchases to be applied to the cost of things from the Glick store according to the company president.

He added, "Any family in the market for home furnishings in the next three months will find it profitable to make their selections now during the 19 per cent Bonus Event."

The savings are being offered by all five of the Glick stores including downtown Columbus, 65 E. Long-st, and in the Great Western, Town and Country and Northern Lights Shopping centers. The same program is also being offered in the Chillicothe Store.

Glick's Stores feature free delivery anywhere in Ohio and credit terms. Free storage, for future delivery and interior decorating services, are also available without charge.



Workshop Set For Bible Schools

The annual Vacation Bible School workshop sponsored by the Christian Book and Gift Shop, 170 S. High-st, will be held Tuesday, Mar. 19, at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, in the fourth floor auditorium.

"Christ's Way, My Way," will be the 1963 theme for the entire school program including nursery, beginner, primary, junior, teenage and adult departments. Daily lessons, methods and materials will be graded to the various age levels.

Trained instructors, who prepare the VBS material, will be on hand to explain the best possible way of using items in the school.

New visual aids, crafts and materials will be demonstrated.

ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT

Girl Scout News

Schiller Neighborhood

Troops in the Schiller Neighborhood held their annual Thinking Day program at the Hope EUB Church, Feb. 24.

Mrs. Thomas Harrelson, Juliette Low chairman and leader of Scioto Trail Troop 1185, was in charge.

The group sang Girl Scout songs, some in foreign languages. An international skit was presented by Troops 314, 365, 1185, 465, 101, 66 and 686.

Juliette Low World Friendship Fund was accepted by Mrs. Monta Wilson, of Mt. Olivet Troop 101.

Nine local troops participated in the annual cookie sale. Orders (2,712 boxes) will be delivered Mar. 15 to 25.

In keeping with the annual Girl Scout Week, Brownie Troop 686, Scioto Trail, will attend church at South High EUB and will also distribute the church bulletins. On Mar. 12 the troop will have a window display at the Economy Savings and Loan at Great Southern. Mrs. Norman Dodd is the new leader and Mrs. Harold Obert is assistant.

Girl Scout Week really begins Mar. 9 with Girl Scout Sabbath when girls of the Jewish faith attend their synagogue in uniform. Mar. 10 is Girl Scout Sunday. Girls and adults are encouraged to attend the church of their choice. Monday is Homemaking Day, and perhaps this is the year when many area troops will bake something to share with a Boy Scout troop at a simple party.

Tuesday, the Girl Scout Birthday (Mar. 12) is Citizenship Day. Wednesday is Health and Safety Day.

Thursday is International Friendship Day and Friday is Arts and Crafts Day.

Publicity chairman for this neighborhood is Mrs. James W. Donahoe, 186 E. Moler-st, HI. 4-3064.

Scouts Appoint Gallaher Greenhills Camp Director

John Gallaher, Capital District Scout executive, Central Ohio Council, has been selected as camp director for the "pioneer year" at Greenhills Scout Reservation.

Greenhills Scout Reservation is the Central Ohio Council's new 1,200-acre camp near Logan. The reservation will be operated on a troop camping basis. Programs will include swimming, hiking, archery, rifle, camping and pioneering, canoeing, boating, scout skills, nature and burro packing.

Greenhills Reservation will open June 23 and close July 20. Reservations are now being accepted.

Gallaher is a graduate of Marshall University and the 1959 National Training School for professional scouters and the National Camping School. He started his professional career in Charleston, W. Va., where he directed the Charleston area camp for two years. Gallaher came to Columbus in 1958 to serve the new Capital (downtown Columbus) District.

During the past five years the Capital District has grown from 850 scouts to 1,465 in December of 1962 and from 48 to 72 units. Gallaher resides at 2523 Atwood Terrace, is married and has four children.

The opening of the first section, Camp B at Greenhills Scout Reservation, is the result of the nine-county Camp Capital Development Campaign conducted last year.

Already 20 units with over 300 boys have registered for the first season.

THE WANT AD STORY

A Salute To The Little Ads That Make Up The Classified Section of This Newspaper

BY RON BARLOW
BUSINESS EDITOR

For Sale: a wedding dress that was never worn.

For Sale: a $100,000 home. Wanted: a 1936 Ford engine.

Life's passing parade can be seen weekly in the want ad section of your newspaper. Scanning the little black boxes of type can be one of the most rewarding and profitable experiences of an otherwise dull day.

There is a story that former Vice-President Richard Nixon began his political career when he answered an ad placed in the classified section of a paper by the California State Republican Committee.

As an important part of any newspaper, the want ads are being saluted in this edition as part of National Want Ad Week.

What is a want ad and what is its potential? How can it best be used to the advantage of the advertiser?

THE FIRST STEP for a want ad is the order, being taken in this picture by a member of the Hartley classified advertising staff. After the order-taker has aided the customer in wording the want ad, a copy will be sent to the printer. He will set the ad in type and place it in proper classification on the want ad page. It will then become one of an average 550 such ads that go into nearly 75,000 Columbus homes via Hartley Newspapers. Many of the ads are placed in the paper by telephone.

An advertisement can do little more than tell a potential customer about a product and why that product is the best buy for the amount of money involved. Any type of advertisement, regardless of its size or where it appears, is the advertiser's showcase . . . his front window facing the public.

Undoubtedly a want ad is the most economical window an advertiser can buy. In fact, it is so economical that many large advertisers will purchase small classifed ads to accompany their large display advertisements in the same newspaper.

Where else can you get a potential 200,000 buyers to look into your show case, for such a small cost, than with a Hartley Newspapers Want Ad? Where else can you buy, sell or trade anything from antiques to zithers?

In today's edition the cost of placing a want ad has been reduced to half price, making the usual bargain of buying this type of advertising twice as big for non-contract advertisers.

Once an ad is purchased from the Hartley Newspapers it will appear as one of an average 550 such ads, under the correct classification, in the paper. This section of a Hartley Newspaper is larger than the same type section found in some daily papers in the Columbus area.

A want ad is purchased to run consecutively in all seven Hartley papers and will be included in deliveries to nearly 75,000 subscribers in the Columbus and Central Ohio area within easy reach of more than 200,000 readers.

Many persons turn almost immediately to the classified portion of their newspaper before reading any other section, especially if they are in need of a certain item.

Over a year a single Hartley Newspaper will carry more than 28,000 want ads selling just about everything imaginable.

Some purchasers are contacted to determine if their ad produced results, others write a letter telling of the success of placing an advertisement in the classified section of the paper.

Hazel Medors, 214 Cassidy, said she had received between 20 and 30 calls after placing an ad to sell a home; Mrs. Blanche VanGorder, 647 E. Whittier-st, sold a car on the second call after placing a want ad; Joseph H. Palmer, 2795 Wellesley-rd, sold a movie projector the same day his ad was published; Mrs. Robert Knight, 513 Hanford-st, received more than 15 calls from persons interested in a maple dresser even before all the Hartley Newspapers had been delivered; and the Cat Welfare Society found an immediate home for a kitten with a want ad.

To place an ad in the newspaper a staff of experienced personnel is utilized to obtain accurate and economical service for the readers. From the ad-taker, who helps write the ad, to the printer, to the copy reader the newly placed advertisement passes along a smooth production line until it reaches your front door ready to be read.

That, generally, is the story of the little classified ads appearing in each edition of your newspaper. The little ads — probably the best investment you can make in either time or money.

Daily Parade Of Troubles Hits Juvenile Bureau

(Second of a series — By FRANK RYAN)

Come along with me on a tour of duty with officers of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department. It is a good way to learn the bureau's objectives, and its position in the area of juvenile problems and delinquency.

It's about 5 p.m., and officers are questioning a 16-year-old youth. He is suspected of check forgery, an offense usually thought of as an adult crime.

The boy has no previous record of any serious offense. Oh, yes, a little difficulty due to playing hookey from school and some problems with accepting authority both at school and at home. But nothing serious enough to warrant police or court action.

The boy knows nothing about the stolen checks that were cashed. The questioning continues. It's a surprising sort of interview for one accustomed to gaining knowledge of such matters from the family "idiot box."

There is no shouting, no threatening and no bluffing. Each of the two officers who interview the youth have essentially the same approach. Basically it is this:

"A market owner has identified you as having given him one of the stolen checks . . . This is your first big trouble, but it is serious trouble. Now is when you've got to make up your mind if you want to continue to have trouble, or do something about it . . . Do you want to become a con?"

"No," the boy says, and he draws the word out for emphasis.

Now I'm not going to kid you, son," the officer continues, "you're going to be locked up tonight; not in jail, but you'll be kept at the detention home at least for tonight."

The scene was more like a father talking to a neighbor's son, than a police officer to a law violator. The boy responded.

"Really, I don't know why," he started, as he told of taking a book of blank checks from a car. "They were sitting there, and looked so tempting.

"I thought it was a big deal. I thought I could get away with it."

The youth admitted to cashing four of the checks; total amount, about $16.

He told a story all too familiar to officers; of having built a reputation in his neighborhood. "They (the other kids) think I'm a big deal."

"I don't go to church," the boy said in answer to a question, "but I'd like to." He also expressed a desire to see a psychiatrist.

Feigning or sincere, the youth obviously was confused, in need of help, and dangerously close to the point of no return. His immediate future will rest with the decision of the juvenile division of the Franklin County Domestic Relations Court.

Now it's time to witness other facets of the bureau operation. We are delivering an "informal summons," notifying parents that one of them is to appear with their son for a traffic violation hearing. In another case it's a notice for a parent to appear with a juvenile to discuss a complaint that has come to the attention of the juvenile bureau.

It's shortly after 6 p.m., and we are on our way to talk to a youth whose stepfather has requested help in bringing his stepson into line. When we get there, we learn that the boy's mother has sent him to a relative's house to spare him the interview.

After refusing to become a referee for the domestic squabble between the husband and wife, the officer left the following words of advice: "When you two find each other, then you'll find room for the boy."

It's 7 p.m., and the cold, damp weather gives promise of a light duty tour. The promise holds good until 8 p.m. when a cruiser is dispatched to investigate a report of four juveniles loitering in an alley. We're in the vicinity, so we meet the cruiser.

The officer tells us that four boys were reportedly "wrestling around" near a garage, but have apparently left the scene.

We continue our lonely vigil along side streets and main thoroughfares. A settlement house is closing for the night, and we note that a police cruiser glides slowly by the building; a gentle reminder to the homeward-bound youth to behave. (Our car is unmarked, so we go unnoticed).

Back to the main street we go to check places where groups of teenagers are known to congregate. All is quiet.

It's about 10 p.m. now, and most of the kids apparently are where they belong — at home.

Another police radio call dealing with a juvenile is heard. The emergency squad is taking an unconscious youth to Children's Hospital. Again we are in the vicinity, and follow the Fire Department unit to the hospital.

The boy is 16 years old. The cause of his state is unknown. He was brought home, unconscious, by two companions who told his parents they had found him in the street.

The boy bore bruised and cut knees, but no other signs of injury. Among the possible causes are poisoning, internal injury or acute intoxication. There is no odor of alcohol.

This boy is the center of much attention and grave concern. Officers from the juvenile bureau begin to fit scattered bits of information together.

They learn from the boy's father that he had had a fight the day before with another boy. They learn from the boy's younger brother the names of two of his companions of the evening. The youth's address is close to the area where the four juveniles were seen earlier in the evening.

'It's No More Trouble To Stay Out'a Trouble!'

The full story was learned through some quick police investigation. The youth and his three companions were those who had been seen earlier in the evening. They had stolen and consumed an undetermined amount of vodka, hence the lack of strong alcohol odor that otherwise would have been apparent.

The youth responds to treatment, and is to be released from the hospital. His mother is instructed to accompany him to the juvenile bureau "hangover and all" at 9 o'clock the next morning. The whole experience is one the teenager will not forget for quite some time, according to both the juvenile officers and the parents.

Back at the juvenile bureau we discuss activities with Sgt. Pat Montenaro, senior night officer.

He tells us of a 15-year-old who visited the bureau to request that he be sent to the detention home. "I hear they treat you pretty good over there," he says.

It developed, Montenaro said, that the boy had committed some property damage at home. The youngster thought he would fare better under custody of juvenile authorities than with his father. Montenaro thought correction, in this matter, could better be done at home.

Montenaro is a firm believer that a healthy degree of home discipline is the surest safeguard against the necessity for eventual court discipline.

He is an outspoken advocate of a generally tougher policy in dealing with errant youth. He does not believe in continued probation for a youthful offender who has violated a current probation. "If you tell them (the teenagers) you're going to do something, you had better do it," he says.

Montenaro believes that parents must be made to assume more responsibility; that they should supply the initial "crackdown" to avoid future and more serious trouble.

Generally speaking, Montenaro belongs to the "hard" school of thought concerning juvenile delinquency. But this fact would be hard to discern in listening to him deal personally with the youth who come to his attention.

Montenaro stressed that delinquent behavior is a factor with only about five per cent of all teenagers. He said he feels that three per cent of this group could be reached with the right type of program.

There was one element that occurred to this reporter in looking back on the many hours he had spent with several of the juvenile bureau officers; not once did any of them use the word "punk" in talking about the troubled and troublesome youth.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation and attitudes of the juvenile court.

16-Year-Old Drivers Hazard; Can Ride Bus

To The Editor:

I frequently drive down Norton-rd between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

For several months I had considered calling the superintendent of the South-Western City School District or the principal of Pleasant View High School to report some of the teenage "speedsters" I have seen.

There has been an increase in the number of cars, carrying full loads of teenagers and being driven recklessly and at a high rate of speed on this road.

Many school buses travel Norton-rd every school day and a worse accident could occur at any time, than the one last Thursday.

I was in the car behind that of the teenager who hit the school bus in the rear.

The bus, going south on Norton-rd, stopped for a stop sign then carefully and slowly turned onto Alkire-rd.

The youth's car did not stop for the sign, and plowed into the rear of the bus.

The car had "zoomed" past me and went headlong into the intersection.

I was about 10 car lengths behind.

I waited, some distance back, until the Highway Patrolman motioned for the cars to move on.

As I passed the car, the teenage driver had a "smart aleck" grin on his face as though he had done something "cute."

If the tax payers provide money for school buses, these kids do not need cars to drive to school and show off to their friends.

Fortunately, no one was injured, but with the many buses on Norton-rd every day, more serious accidents may occur, unless parents and teachers control more adequately, teenage driving.

Surely, with the recent death of four Hilliard area youths, it is time for parents to be more firm and school authorities more realistic about the hazards of 16-year-olds driving.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The Socialists and "parlor-pinks" never quit their nonsense. Year after year these benighted "divider uppers" carry on a constant attack on our American Way Of Life. Most of them are educated "so far beyond their native intelligence," as the immortal Mark Twain said.

Right this moment, we see the consummate folly of a tax cut without any honest attempt by the present administration to cut crazy spending for lots of "guff and goo" that contributes nothing to the real common good. All this insane extravagance is to inflate the growing army of parasitical "minders of other people's business."

Medicare is again in the forefront of their determination to socialize medicine and surgery and make the oldest and most honest profession into a political football. Not one single added service of genuine dedication could possibly come out of complete nationalization of our most vitally important public service profession.

The moment we allow this error to become intrenched in our body-politic, all of the incompetents who lack both skill and proper basic training, would move in and God help any unimportant private citizen who tried to clear the air about lack of attention to the individual patient.

Another area where the "dividers" are striving to hog-tie our safety and common need services is our public utilities. Gas, electricity, transportation, telephones — all operate under constant threat of terrific trouble. Floods, breakdowns, tornados, fires; all these hazards are always with us and if the Socialists ever succeed in taking command of these again God help this country.

Mr. JFK is in deeper trouble only half way through his first term than he realizes, perhaps. The real disease is the fact he is surrounded by a menagerie of longhairs who are publicly, (or secretly) determined to destroy all profit making enterprise.

Think Again About Insecticide Effects

There always are a few persons out in front of the pack.

Such a one is my friend and former neighbor, Charles Barnett, veteran house builder who lives at 859 Chestershire-rd on the Hilltop.

Years ago in summer evening porch talks, Barnett, concerned for man's indifference to his own health, would expound in great detail about the dangers posed in the reckless use of chemicals in agriculture and in prepared foods.

McPeek

Articulate and well read on the subject, Barnett's concern was about the long-range ill effects that may result in man after years of consuming foodstuffs grown with the aid of insecticides and pesticides and then packaged or canned with the aid of chemical preservations.

Did I listen to him? Sure, but more in curiosity than in alarm. Like many nincompoops, I believed that man has the physiological strength to absorb these chemicals and develop an immunity to any danger that may be inherent in them, as did some mosquitos to DDT. (Disregarded in my ignorance was the fact that it took the mosquitos many generations to develop immunity to DDT.)

Even after reading the recently published "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, a controversial book devoted to the reckless use of chemical poisons, I didn't become unduly alarmed. It was only after the uproar it created in the chemical industry that I began to have second thoughts, even third thoughts.

Each time I read a piece of propaganda released by a spokesman for the chemical industry I realized that Miss Carson's book deserved much more attention than I had given it.

Not only is most of the chemical makers' propaganda feeble and distorted, but a great deal of it is downright dishonest. Anyone with the slightest intelligence should be able to see through it.

In an effort to counteract any threat to their profitable enterprise, they have accused Miss Carson of being an alarmist, an extremist, a radical, and some have gone so far as to imply she is more than naive, she is stupid.

But not once in all of the material I read did I find a single fact or contention that should make anyone disregard Miss Carson's concern.

Let me cite a typical example of the chemical industry's propaganda. It is part of an article that appeared Jan. 21 in a large metropolitan newspaper which ran a series condensed from "Silent Spring." The article, co-authored by two chemists representing one of the nation's largest chemical makers, was printed by the newspaper as a gesture to permit both sides to present their views. The following is quoted from the article:

". . . 'Silent Spring' may do more harm than good. The general reader may not immediately recognize those faults. For instance, Miss Carson refers to residues resulting from use of some insecticides and pesticides. She cites findings of harmful results of some residues. She reports on illnesses, and even death, linked to uses of such chemicals."

The article then skips to another generalization unrelated to the foregoing remarks. I reread the article, once, twice, three times. What did it say? Where were the denials? Where were the refutations? What about the "for instances?"

There certainly were none in the article. I even went to the trouble of getting a copy of the article as released from the chemical company, in the chance that part of it inadvertently had been omitted when printed by the newspaper. But it was printed fully.

I have read other articles disputing Miss Carson's book, and frankly not one of them contained a single fact or contention that merits serious attention.

So it is quite obvious that Miss Carson, a biologist who spent four and one-half years compiling her book, must know of what she has written. And it seems to me that it behooves all of us, for our own safety and welfare, to do something about the menace of these poison chemicals.

If nothing else, we should all write to our congressmen and demand that stricter legislation be enacted to prevent reckless, if not criminal, use of poison chemicals.

Lent Is Time To Renew Things Of The Heart

Here we are in the middle of Lent. We are in the midst of a real opportunity to grow more fully in the way of Jesus Christ. Yet I hear many people ask—"What is Lent?"

Lent is a season preceding the great and wonderful festival of Easter. It is a time of self-evaluation, a time for spiritual housecleaning.

Rev. Clark

In the olden days the early church set aside 40 hours for this renewal, then the period was lengthened to 40 days (six weeks). But it wasn't long before the spirituality of the church was weakened. With time Lent became nothing more than a lifeless formalism. It became like a shell without its kernel. There has been a tendency to let ritual take the place of the real deepening and renewing of one's faith.

Yet, I sometimes wonder if many people err in the opposite direction. It is possible for us to throw out the tangible reminders of ritual so that we forget Lent altogether. In this time of spring, which is truly a time of renewal, we ought to pause in our daily activity and take time for finding God.

If you want to renew your life, why not promise to take on one or two disciplines of ritual in your church? For example, why not plan to be in your pew every Sunday from now on through the Easter season? That's not asking much of you, but it takes effort on your part. Or, why not set aside a time of quiet each day for you and God alone? During this time try to get a better perspective on life. Then, too, you can decide to study one book in the Bible between now and Easter. These are some of the rituals that can deepen and renew your faith.

The deep meaning of Lent is in this opportunity to develop your spiritual discipline and devotion. Lent is not just giving up something; rather it is taking on something for your own spiritual growth. Such growth demands your discipline and exercise.

For your renewal today and in the coming weeks add this habit and ritual of the soul: One, do somebody a good turn and keep it a secret. Next, do two things each day that you don't want to — just for exercise. Finally, be unafraid, for even if you are hurt by someone, do not show it. Show instead your loving words, your kind acts and your joyful service. If you do, Lent will not become a mere series of prescribed rituals, but it will become a renewal of the heart.

Ernest Ball was born in Cleveland. He wrote "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling".

Tell Taylor was born in Findlay. His "Down by the Old Mill Stream" will live as long as there are barbershop quartets.

In entertainment the list is long. Annie Oakley, born Phoebe Moses, was a spectacular circus entertainer long ago.

Beloved James Thurber was born in Columbus.

Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, husband and wife, will not soon be forgotten at Ohio State.

The Gishes, Dorothy and Lillian, were born in Springfield. They began their work back in the silent movie days.

Charles Frohman, show producer on Broadway, was born in Sandusky.

Bob Hope was born in England, but was raised in Cleveland.

Joe E. Brown was born in Holgate.

Roy Rogers was born in Duck Run, Scioto County. His real name is Leonard Slygh.

Here are some more:

OPTIMISTS BOOST LITTLE LEAGUERS

SOUTH OPTIMIST Club president Jim Hildenbrand (left), 4282 Mayflower-blvd, presents a check for fifty dollars to Don O'Neill, 61 Phelps-st, director of the Parsons-Scioto Trail Elementary Schools baseball league for boys between the ages of seven and 12. The club raises its Boys Work Fund through the yearly sale of license plates by its members at the Zettler Harware Store in the Great Southern Shopping Centr.

Irish Tame Wildcats; Make Quarter-Finals

Aquinas romped away to safe margin in the second half Saturday evening at the Fairgrounds Coliseum to down Hilliard, 60-44, and advance to the quarter-finals of the Central District AA basketball tournament.

The Terriers and Wildcats exchanged baskets throughout the entire first until Mike Welling's tip-in goal shortly before the intermission buzzer put the Irish ahead to stay.

A BIG 20-POINT third period solved the issue as the Aquinas quintet limited Hilliard to a bare eight points. Welling hit for three more goals in that quarter, finishing with 13 points.

Pat Mentel and Tom Hartmann took scoring honors for the Irish, however, with 16 and 15 markers respectively. Aquinas fired five more shots at the basket than did Hilliard, connecting on five more than the Wildcats.

Sports Smorgasbord From Soup To Nuts

Just as a number of people feared, the proposed point-system plan for selecting the state's top high school football champ, via post season playoff games, is in hot soup with a hatful of stumbling blocks to overcome.

Arlington coach Marv Morehead, a member of the committee working on the plan, reported Friday that "we've made some progress, but in a nutshell, there's a lot more involved here than we thought. I guess you could say we're still confused—but at a higher level."

THE SAME INITIAL problems have been magnified after meetings with the state commissioner with no ready-made solutions present on the horizon.

Biggest roadblocks still standing are (1) What type of point system should be used? (2) What kind of a differential should be used for teams scheduling a different number of games or playing too many games out of their competition? (3) Who will do the recording of the point system? (4) Would the defending state champ occupy any position in the succeeding year's playoffs? (5) In case of a tie, how would the rating be figured?

"THE LENGTH OF the season would take us past Thanksgiving. Then you have the weather to consider," Morehead said. "Since the point system would not only involve the top team but also the teams it had played, we might need an IBM setup to keep track of every football game played in the state.

"We're still hopeful that solutions to these problems can be found," Morehead concluded. The committee will bring its findings to a state board meeting during the Mar. 29-30 weekend.

Hardwood Robbery . . .

ANYONE CONSIDERED writing the Justice Department about the "Coach of the Year" selection this season? Admittedly we weren't much of a Fred Taylor man when Jerry Lucas and Co. were dropping 'em in for the Bucks.

"Who couldn't win three Big Ten titles with players like that?" was the general consensus. So what happens when 'Frantic Fred" whips up a basketball filet mignon out of what most pre-season scribes labeled "leftovers"?

Something like giving the best actress award in "Little Red Riding Hood" to the woodchopper's wife.

'It Would Kill Me' . . .

TOMMY HENRICH on the new enlarged strike zone: "Johnny Edwards (Cincinnati catcher) told me recently that the strike zone in the National League had dropped almost to the waist. The real reason this new zone was set up is to raise the ares of the strike back to its proper position. Of course, the whole matter rests with the individual umpire. He still calls the balls and strikes.

If the new zone is taken literally, I think you'll see a lot of players developing a new stance of batting and switching quickly to a crouched position. As a low ball hitter, I know one thing. The new zone would sure kill me."

Yankee Finish – 125 . . .

FOR THOSE WHO take stock in the future success or failure of a major league ball club in regard to the win-loss record of said club's farm system, here's some interesting statistics as we approach another opening day.

Most successful farm organization last season was the Detroit chain (432-337). Cleveland placed sixth in the 20-team lineup (430-395) while Cincinnati was seventh at 343-328.

Don't put too much faith in determining the pennant winner from the won-loss differences. San Francisco placed 18th (482-537) while the New York (ho-hum) Yankees pulled up solidly in last place with 385 wins and 510 losses for a W-L difference of —125.

Liston-Clay Debate . . .

ROUND AND ROUND it goes. Where it stops dept. — Sonny Liston suggested last week that Cassius Clay be arrested for impersonating a boxer. Clay retorted that he "would shut Liston's big mouth" when he took over the world's heavyweight title. Asked how long he thought he would retain the crown, Clay blandly remarked—"Oh, I'd say about 10 years. Then I'll turn it over to my younger brother. Something like the Kennedys."

Maybe—maybe not but if these two components of the spoken jab ever get around to meeting each other in the ring, the promotion boys might have to put seats in Arizona's Meteorite Hole to accommodate the crowd.

South, M-F Nab All-City Mention Tabs

South, Marion-Franklin and Aquinas combined to name six members of their '62-'63 squads to the All-City basketball selections announced early this week by loop coaches.

The Bulldogs' Fred McGhee, a senior, was named to the honorable mention list as was Red Devil sophomore John Jackson. Aquinas nailed down the remaining four spots with senior guard Pat Mentel named to the second team and Mike Welling, Tom Woodward and Tom Hartmann all granted honorable mention berths.

THE FIRST team was heavily dominated by East's CL champions. The Tigers placed all five starters — Ed Waller, Bob Calloway, Mike Hammond, Ken Fowlkes and Avery Godfrey — on the first team.

Central's Tom Fullove, the coaches' only unanimous selection, and Linden's Nelson Hunter completed the first seven selections on the number one team.

Senior Citizens' Shuffleboard Tourney Slated

Entry blanks for the tournament are at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center or Columbus Recreation Department, Room 124, City Hall. Telephone entries can be accepted up until 5 p.m. Wednesday, Mar. 20. Telephone CA. 1-6090.

Records Fall As CC Five Wins Tourney

Corpus Christi's unbeaten CYA quintet won the Central District basketball tourney Sunday, edging a talent-laden Lancaster St. Marys five, 59-57, on last-minute free throws by Mike Bryan and Jim Schmidt.

The game was highlighted by two record-breaking individual performances as Tom Richards dropped in 28 points in the finale to set an all-tourney scoring mark of 97 and Larry Roehrenbeck pulled down 27 rebounds to snap off the old record of 24, set by CC's Don Schaffer in 1961.

MIKE DIETLEIN'S 16 markers, mainly on driving layups, also helped pace the winner's attack.

Earlier in the day, Corpus downed a strong Columbus St. Ladislus quintet, 55-43, to earn the right to meet Lancaster in the finals. Dave Wenger's 10 third-period points and strong rebounding by Jerry Parker highlighted the semi-final win.

In garnering the coveted Central Diocesan crown for the second time in three years (CC did not participate last year), the Blue and Gold finished the season with an unbeaten record while Lancaster closed out with a fine 18-1 mark.

SOUTH Y WRAPUP

Five Church Quintets Survive Tourney Play

Then there were five. Yes, out of the original 19 teams that started in the South Side YMCA Junior Boys Basketball Tournament two weeks ago, only Christ Methodist, St Paul Lutheran, Bexley Methodist, St. Paul United and Ohio Ave. E.U.B. remain in contention for championship honors.

Top scorers in games played at Barrett were Carl Faris 18, Ron Ninceheiser 16, Steve Casto 13, Mark Olson 13, Bill Hylton and Roger Crum 12.

Another highlight of last week's play took place in the last Intermediate loop when Oakwood Methodist, with a real team effort, upset a previously undefeated Ohio Ave. E.U.B. five.

Other games in this division found St. Paul United winning over Williams Rd. Presbyterian; Trinity Lutheran topping Hungarian United; St. Paul Lutheran beating South Methodist and league-leading Frebis Church of God rolling on to their eighth straight victory by outscoring Southwood Church of Christ.

Larry Blanton led the league point makers with 39, followed by Mike Rickard 27, Larry Anderson 18, and Dave McGrew and Bill Howard 16.

Girls League — Emmanuel Lutheran remained undefeated in their drive for second round honors as they defeated a fine Grace United sextet, 16 - 12.

The other game on the card produced an upset as St. Paul United won over the first-round champion Ohio Ave. E.U.B. lassies. Jo Ann Dethloff, Chris Hepner, Nancy Deason, Nancy Leslein, Bing Carver and Diana Cary turned in fine games.

Senior League — Heavy rains played havoc with the adult league program, but still a champion was determined as Hope Lutheran pulled out all the stops in defeating a classy St. John United crew. Jim Richardson, Chuck Garver and Jim Apel led the champ's attack, while Don Wirtz was best for the Mound-Streeters.

Volleyball — The above mentioned rains caused two forfeits in this "Set and Spike" league, thus taking the edge off opening night thrills and enthusiasm usually present at tournaments. Capital Seminary won the only match played as they defeated St. Paul Lutheran in two straight games. Capital's success allowed them to join Scottwood Community. Livingston Methodist and Christ Methodist in semi-final action.

JIM GUEST

JIM DOUGHTY will be the guest speaker at the 29th annual banquet of the Marion District Council of the South Side Branch YMCA. The banquet will be held at the Marion-Franklin High School cafeteria at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, Mar. 20. Buckeye cager Doughty will also make 15 trophy presentations to the winners of Sportsmanship awards and take part in the championship recognition ceremonies.

Track Finals Here Another City First

The National A.A.U. Women's Indoor Track and Field Championships, to be held at French Fieldhouse Mar. 22 and 23, will mark the first time a Pan-American Games final tryout has been held in Columbus, in any event.

The first two Americans in each event at this meet will be eligible for the United States team which will compete at the fourth Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Apr. 27 - May 4.

JIM LORIMER, President of the sponsoring Ohio Track Club, expects as many as 20 teams and possibly 200 individuals to enter the two-day competition for national honors.

However, Lorimer points out, the meet also has much local interest, with members of the strong Ohio Track Club girls team figuring prominently in several events.

In the 440, Sue Knott will defend the championship she won at Louisville last year. The Ohio State freshman holds the U. S. indoor record in this event and is also the outdoor titlist. Estelle Baskerville will also be defending a title won at Louisville in the high jump. Among her closest competitors should be teammate Chris Miller.

FOR THE PAST two years the Ohio Track Club has won the 880 medley relay and will field another strong contender in the event this year. Other local girls to be watched are Sandy Fears in the dashes and Karen Davis in the 880.

Also entered in the latter event will be Sue Knott's sister, Sandy, now living in Cleveland, who was runner-up in both the indoor and outdoor meets in 1962.

Other entries have been received from as far as Hawaii, Louisiana, Texas, California, Canada, and even Brazil. Tennessee State University will bring their usual strong contingent to defend the team title.

Also present for the meet will be Wilma Rudolph, 1960 Olympic triple-gold-medal winner. However, her competitive status is uncertain, due to a recent appendicitis operation.

Because the meet is a Pan-American tryout, the discus and javelin have been added to the usual schedule of events, making a total of 14 events. Preliminaries will be conducted on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, with finals beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained from the Athletic Ticket Office at St. John's Arena.

DeCola, Trapp In Cage Lineup Vs Cow Girls

The second half of Hamilton Township's "sports spectauler" will take place Tuesday, Mar. 26 when a star-studded team of area basketball coaches take on the world-famous Texas Cow Girls on the Ranger court at 8 p.m.

A quintet, made up of Hamilton Township faculty members, defeated the All-American Red Heads earlier this year so the local all-stars will be gunning for their second win in a row over a professional girls basketball team.

The coaches lineup, which includes eight mentors from the Franklin County League, should provide stern opposition for the Cow Girls who have won 70 per cent of their games against male competition over an 11-year span.

The Cow Girls, who combine clever court ability with hardwood humor, have played in some of the nation's biggest arenas — from Madison Square Garden to San Francisco's Cow Palace. The gals have played on numerous NBC cards as well as over 150 games with the Harlem Globe Trotter organization.

The coaches lineup includes: Larry Siegried and George Hamric of Hamilton Township; Bob White, University; Harry Wolford, Reynoldsburg; Bob Miller, Canal Winchester; Ray DeCola, St. Marys; Bud Trapp, Rosary; Harry Sawdey, New Albany; Russ Gregg, Teays Valley and ex-OSU Star Gene Millard, now coaching at Bexley High School.

The Cow Girl lineup includes girls from Texas, Oklahoma and Hawaii. Program director George Hamric of Hamilton Township indicated that a preliminary game would also be included on the evening's card — probably a rematch between the Ranger male and female faculty members.

Tickets are now on sale at the Hamilton Township High School on Lockbourne-rd at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children.

Milo-Roc Sets Spaghetti Dinner For Saturday

The Milo-Roc Mendel Football Athletic Club will sponsor a spaghetti dinner Saturday from 4 until 9 p.m. at the clubhouse, 745½ Parsons-av.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the committee, officer, trustees or at the clubroom. Donation is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Door prizes and ham raffles are also included in the evening's festivities.

THE FUNDS derived from the dinner will be used to help support the organization's wide-scope sports program for area youngsters and to assist in curbing juvenile delinquency.

The Milo organization also announced plans to field a pair of baseball teams this summer. A Little League team will be formed, consisting of boys in the eight to 12 year old bracket.

A Pony League team, recruited from all parts of the city, is also planned for the boys in the 13 to 15 age group. Joe Miller and Bill Ninceheiser will serve as coaches for the Pony League team.

It takes hope and money to help crippled children. We have the hope if you will provide the money. Buy and use Easter Seals.

Daily Parade Of Troubles Hits Juvenile Bureau

(Second of a series — By FRANK RYAN)

Come along with me on a tour of duty with officers of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department. It is a good way to learn the bureau's objectives, and its position in the area of juvenile problems and delinquency.

It's about 5 p.m., and officers are questioning a 16-year-old youth. He is suspected of check forgery, an offense usually thought of as an adult crime.

The boy has no previous record of any serious offense. Oh, yes, a little difficulty due to playing hookey from school and some problems with accepting authority both at school and at home. But nothing serious enough to warrant police or court action.

The boy knows nothing about the stolen checks that were cashed. The questioning continues. It's a surprising sort of interview for one accustomed to gaining knowledge of such matters from the family "idiot box."

There is no shouting, no threatening and no bluffing. Each of the two officers who interview the youth have essentially the same approach. Basically it is this:

"A market owner has identified you as having given him one of the stolen checks . . . This is your first big trouble, but it is serious trouble. Now is when you've got to make up your mind if you want to continue to have trouble, or do something about it . . . Do you want to become a con?"

"No," the boy says, and he draws the word out for emphasis.

Now I'm not going to kid you, son," the officer continues, "you're going to be locked up tonight; not in jail, but you'll be kept at the detention home at least for tonight."

The scene was more like a father talking to a neighbor's son, than a police officer to a law violator. The boy responded.

"Really, I don't know why," he started, as he told of taking a book of blank checks from a car. "They were sitting there, and looked so tempting.

"I thought it was a big deal. I thought I could get away with it."

The youth admitted to cashing four of the checks; total amount, about $16.

He told a story all too familiar to officers; of having built a reputation in his neighborhood. "They (the other kids) think I'm a big deal."

"I don't go to church," the boy said in answer to a question, "but I'd like to." He also expressed a desire to see a psychiatrist.

Feigning or sincere, the youth obviously was confused, in need of help, and dangerously close to the point of no return. His immediate future will rest with the decision of the juvenile division of the Franklin County Domestic Relations Court.

Now it's time to witness other facets of the bureau operation. We are delivering an "informal summons," notifying parents that one of them is to appear with their son for a traffic violation hearing. In another case it's a notice for a parent to appear with a juvenile to discuss a complaint that has come to the attention of the juvenile bureau.

It's shortly after 6 p.m., and we are on our way to talk to a youth whose stepfather has requested help in bringing his stepson into line. When we get there, we learn that the boy's mother has sent him to a relative's house to spare him the interview.

After refusing to become a referee for the domestic squabble between the husband and wife, the officer left the following words of advice: "When you two find each other, then you'll find room for the boy."

It's 7 p.m., and the cold, damp weather gives promise of a light duty tour. The promise holds good until 8 p.m. when a cruiser is dispatched to investigate a report of four juveniles loitering in an alley. We're in the vicinity, so we meet the cruiser.

The officer tells us that four boys were reportedly "wrestling around" near a garage, but have apparently left the scene.

We continue our lonely vigil along side streets and main thoroughfares. A settlement house is closing for the night, and we note that a police cruiser glides slowly by the building; a gentle reminder to the homeward-bound youth to behave. (Our car is unmarked, so we go unnoticed).

Back to the main street we go to check places where groups of teenagers are known to congregate. All is quiet.

It's about 10 p.m. now, and most of the kids apparently are where they belong — at home.

Another police radio call dealing with a juvenile is heard. The emergency squad is taking an unconscious youth to Children's Hospital. Again we are in the vicinity, and follow the Fire Department unit to the hospital.

The boy is 16 years old. The cause of his state is unknown. He was brought home, unconscious, by two companions who told his parents they had found him in the street.

The boy bore bruised and cut knees, but no other signs of injury. Among the possible causes are poisoning, internal injury or acute intoxication. There is no odor of alcohol.

This boy is the center of much attention and grave concern. Officers from the juvenile bureau begin to fit scattered bits of information together.

They learn from the boy's father that he had had a fight the day before with another boy. They learn from the boy's younger brother the names of two of his companions of the evening. The youth's address is close to the area where the four juveniles were seen earlier in the evening.

'It's No More Trouble To Stay Out'a Trouble!'

The full story was learned through some quick police investigation. The youth and his three companions were those who had been seen earlier in the evening. They had stolen and consumed an undetermined amount of vodka, hence the lack of strong alcohol odor that otherwise would have been apparent.

The youth responds to treatment, and is to be released from the hospital. His mother is instructed to accompany him to the juvenile bureau "hangover and all" at 9 o'clock the next morning. The whole experience is one the teenager will not forget for quite some time, according to both the juvenile officers and the parents.

Back at the juvenile bureau we discuss activities with Sgt. Pat Montenaro, senior night officer.

He tells us of a 15-year-old who visited the bureau to request that he be sent to the detention home. "I hear they treat you pretty good over there," he says.

It developed, Montenaro said, that the boy had committed some property damage at home. The youngster thought he would fare better under custody of juvenile authorities than with his father. Montenaro thought correction, in this matter, could better be done at home.

Montenaro is a firm believer that a healthy degree of home discipline is the surest safeguard against the necessity for eventual court discipline.

He is an outspoken advocate of a generally tougher policy in dealing with errant youth. He does not believe in continued probation for a youthful offender who has violated a current probation. "If you tell them (the teenagers) you're going to do something, you had better do it," he says.

Montenaro believes that parents must be made to assume more responsibility; that they should supply the initial "crackdown" to avoid future and more serious trouble.

Generally speaking, Montenaro belongs to the "hard" school of thought concerning juvenile delinquency. But this fact would be hard to discern in listening to him deal personally with the youth who come to his attention.

Montenaro stressed that delinquent behavior is a factor with only about five per cent of all teenagers. He said he feels that three per cent of this group could be reached with the right type of program.

There was one element that occurred to this reporter in looking back on the many hours he had spent with several of the juvenile bureau officers; not once did any of them use the word "punk" in talking about the troubled and troublesome youth.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation and attitudes of the juvenile court.

16-Year-Old Drivers Hazard; Can Ride Bus

To The Editor:

I frequently drive down Norton-rd between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

For several months I had considered calling the superintendent of the South-Western City School District or the principal of Pleasant View High School to report some of the teenage "speedsters" I have seen.

There has been an increase in the number of cars, carrying full loads of teenagers and being driven recklessly and at a high rate of speed on this road.

Many school buses travel Norton-rd every school day and a worse accident could occur at any time, than the one last Thursday.

I was in the car behind that of the teenager who hit the school bus in the rear.

The bus, going south on Norton-rd, stopped for a stop sign then carefully and slowly turned onto Alkire-rd.

The youth's car did not stop for the sign, and plowed into the rear of the bus.

The car had "zoomed" past me and went headlong into the intersection.

I was about 10 car lengths behind.

I waited, some distance back, until the Highway Patrolman motioned for the cars to move on.

As I passed the car, the teenage driver had a "smart aleck" grin on his face as though he had done something "cute."

If the tax payers provide money for school buses, these kids do not need cars to drive to school and show off to their friends.

Fortunately, no one was injured, but with the many buses on Norton-rd every day, more serious accidents may occur, unless parents and teachers control more adequately, teenage driving.

Surely, with the recent death of four Hilliard area youths, it is time for parents to be more firm and school authorities more realistic about the hazards of 16-year-olds driving.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The Socialists and "parlor-pinks" never quit their nonsense. Year after year these benighted "divider uppers" carry on a constant attack on our American Way Of Life. Most of them are educated "so far beyond their native intelligence," as the immortal Mark Twain said.

Right this moment, we see the consummate folly of a tax cut without any honest attempt by the present administration to cut crazy spending for lots of "guff and goo" that contributes nothing to the real common good. All this insane extravagance is to inflate the growing army of parasitical "minders of other people's business."

Medicare is again in the forefront of their determination to socialize medicine and surgery and make the oldest and most honest profession into a political football. Not one single added service of genuine dedication could possibly come out of complete nationalization of our most vitally important public service profession.

The moment we allow this error to become intrenched in our body-politic, all of the incompetents who lack both skill and proper basic training, would move in and God help any unimportant private citizen who tried to clear the air about lack of attention to the individual patient.

Another area where the "dividers" are striving to hog-tie our safety and common need services is our public utilities. Gas, electricity, transportation, telephones — all operate under constant threat of terrific trouble. Floods, breakdowns, tornados, fires; all these hazards are always with us and if the Socialists ever succeed in taking command of these again God help this country.

Mr. JFK is in deeper trouble only half way through his first term than he realizes, perhaps. The real disease is the fact he is surrounded by a menagerie of longhairs who are publicly, (or secretly) determined to destroy all profit making enterprise.

Think Again About Insecticide Effects

There always are a few persons out in front of the pack.

Such a one is my friend and former neighbor, Charles Barnett, veteran house builder who lives at 859 Chestershire-rd on the Hilltop.

Years ago in summer evening porch talks, Barnett, concerned for man's indifference to his own health, would expound in great detail about the dangers posed in the reckless use of chemicals in agriculture and in prepared foods.

McPeek

Articulate and well read on the subject, Barnett's concern was about the long-range ill effects that may result in man after years of consuming foodstuffs grown with the aid of insecticides and pesticides and then packaged or canned with the aid of chemical preservations.

Did I listen to him? Sure, but more in curiosity than in alarm. Like many nincompoops, I believed that man has the physiological strength to absorb these chemicals and develop an immunity to any danger that may be inherent in them, as did some mosquitos to DDT. (Disregarded in my ignorance was the fact that it took the mosquitos many generations to develop immunity to DDT.)

Even after reading the recently published "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, a controversial book devoted to the reckless use of chemical poisons, I didn't become unduly alarmed. It was only after the uproar it created in the chemical industry that I began to have second thoughts, even third thoughts.

Each time I read a piece of propaganda released by a spokesman for the chemical industry I realized that Miss Carson's book deserved much more attention than I had given it.

Not only is most of the chemical makers' propaganda feeble and distorted, but a great deal of it is downright dishonest. Anyone with the slightest intelligence should be able to see through it.

In an effort to counteract any threat to their profitable enterprise, they have accused Miss Carson of being an alarmist, an extremist, a radical, and some have gone so far as to imply she is more than naive, she is stupid.

But not once in all of the material I read did I find a single fact or contention that should make anyone disregard Miss Carson's concern.

Let me cite a typical example of the chemical industry's propaganda. It is part of an article that appeared Jan. 21 in a large metropolitan newspaper which ran a series condensed from "Silent Spring." The article, co-authored by two chemists representing one of the nation's largest chemical makers, was printed by the newspaper as a gesture to permit both sides to present their views. The following is quoted from the article:

". . . 'Silent Spring' may do more harm than good. The general reader may not immediately recognize those faults. For instance, Miss Carson refers to residues resulting from use of some insecticides and pesticides. She cites findings of harmful results of some residues. She reports on illnesses, and even death, linked to uses of such chemicals."

The article then skips to another generalization unrelated to the foregoing remarks. I reread the article, once, twice, three times. What did it say? Where were the denials? Where were the refutations? What about the "for instances?"

There certainly were none in the article. I even went to the trouble of getting a copy of the article as released from the chemical company, in the chance that part of it inadvertently had been omitted when printed by the newspaper. But it was printed fully.

I have read other articles disputing Miss Carson's book, and frankly not one of them contained a single fact or contention that merits serious attention.

So it is quite obvious that Miss Carson, a biologist who spent four and one-half years compiling her book, must know of what she has written. And it seems to me that it behooves all of us, for our own safety and welfare, to do something about the menace of these poison chemicals.

If nothing else, we should all write to our congressmen and demand that stricter legislation be enacted to prevent reckless, if not criminal, use of poison chemicals.

Lent Is Time To Renew Things Of The Heart

Here we are in the middle of Lent. We are in the midst of a real opportunity to grow more fully in the way of Jesus Christ. Yet I hear many people ask—"What is Lent?"

Lent is a season preceding the great and wonderful festival of Easter. It is a time of self-evaluation, a time for spiritual housecleaning.

Rev. Clark

In the olden days the early church set aside 40 hours for this renewal, then the period was lengthened to 40 days (six weeks). But it wasn't long before the spirituality of the church was weakened. With time Lent became nothing more than a lifeless formalism. It became like a shell without its kernel. There has been a tendency to let ritual take the place of the real deepening and renewing of one's faith.

Yet, I sometimes wonder if many people err in the opposite direction. It is possible for us to throw out the tangible reminders of ritual so that we forget Lent altogether. In this time of spring, which is truly a time of renewal, we ought to pause in our daily activity and take time for finding God.

If you want to renew your life, why not promise to take on one or two disciplines of ritual in your church? For example, why not plan to be in your pew every Sunday from now on through the Easter season? That's not asking much of you, but it takes effort on your part. Or, why not set aside a time of quiet each day for you and God alone? During this time try to get a better perspective on life. Then, too, you can decide to study one book in the Bible between now and Easter. These are some of the rituals that can deepen and renew your faith.

The deep meaning of Lent is in this opportunity to develop your spiritual discipline and devotion. Lent is not just giving up something; rather it is taking on something for your own spiritual growth. Such growth demands your discipline and exercise.

For your renewal today and in the coming weeks add this habit and ritual of the soul: One, do somebody a good turn and keep it a secret. Next, do two things each day that you don't want to — just for exercise. Finally, be unafraid, for even if you are hurt by someone, do not show it. Show instead your loving words, your kind acts and your joyful service. If you do, Lent will not become a mere series of prescribed rituals, but it will become a renewal of the heart.

Irish Tame Wildcats; Make Quarter-Finals

Aquinas romped away to safe margin in the second half Saturday evening at the Fairgrounds Coliseum to down Hilliard, 60-44, and advance to the quarter-finals of the Central District AA basketball tournament.

The Terriers and Wildcats exchanged baskets throughout the entire first until Mike Welling's tip-in goal shortly before the intermission buzzer put the Irish ahead to stay.

A BIG 20-POINT third period solved the issue as the Aquinas quintet limited Hilliard to a bare eight points. Welling hit for three more goals in that quarter, finishing with 13 points.

Pat Mentel and Tom Hartmann took scoring honors for the Irish, however, with 16 and 15 markers respectively. Aquinas fired five more shots at the basket than did Hilliard, connecting on five more than the Wildcats.

Sports Smorgasbord From Soup To Nuts

Just as a number of people feared, the proposed point-system plan for selecting the state's top high school football champ, via post season playoff games, is in hot soup with a hatful of stumbling blocks to overcome.

Arlington coach Marv Morehead, a member of the committee working on the plan, reported Friday that "we've made some progress, but in a nutshell, there's a lot more involved here than we thought. I guess you could say we're still confused—but at a higher level."

THE SAME INITIAL problems have been magnified after meetings with the state commissioner with no ready-made solutions present on the horizon.

Biggest roadblocks still standing are (1) What type of point system should be used? (2) What kind of a differential should be used for teams scheduling a different number of games or playing too many games out of their competition? (3) Who will do the recording of the point system? (4) Would the defending state champ occupy any position in the succeeding year's playoffs? (5) In case of a tie, how would the rating be figured?

"THE LENGTH OF the season would take us past Thanksgiving. Then you have the weather to consider," Morehead said. "Since the point system would not only involve the top team but also the teams it had played, we might need an IBM setup to keep track of every football game played in the state.

"We're still hopeful that solutions to these problems can be found," Morehead concluded. The committee will bring its findings to a state board meeting during the Mar. 29-30 weekend.

Hardwood Robbery . . .

ANYONE CONSIDERED writing the Justice Department about the "Coach of the Year" selection this season? Admittedly we weren't much of a Fred Taylor man when Jerry Lucas and Co. were dropping 'em in for the Bucks.

"Who couldn't win three Big Ten titles with players like that?" was the general consensus. So what happens when 'Frantic Fred" whips up a basketball filet mignon out of what most pre-season scribes labeled "leftovers"?

Something like giving the best actress award in "Little Red Riding Hood" to the woodchopper's wife.

'It Would Kill Me' . . .

TOMMY HENRICH on the new enlarged strike zone: "Johnny Edwards (Cincinnati catcher) told me recently that the strike zone in the National League had dropped almost to the waist. The real reason this new zone was set up is to raise the area of the strike back to its proper position. Of course, the whole matter rests with the individual umpire. He still calls the balls and strikes.

If the new zone is taken literally, I think you'll see a lot of players developing a new stance of batting and switching quickly to a crouched position. As a low ball hitter, I know one thing. The new zone would sure kill me."

Yankee Finish – 125 . . .

FOR THOSE WHO take stock in the future success or failure of a major league ball club in regard to the win-loss record of said club's farm system, here's some interesting statistics as we approach another opening day.

Most successful farm organization last season was the Detroit chain (432-337). Cleveland placed sixth in the 20-team lineup (430-395) while Cincinnati was seventh at 343-328.

Don't put too much faith in determining the pennant winner from the won-loss differences. San Francisco placed 18th (482-537) while the New York (ho-hum) Yankees pulled up solidly in last place with 385 wins and 510 losses for a W-L difference of —125.

Liston-Clay Debate . . .

ROUND AND ROUND it goes. Where it stops dept. — Sonny Liston suggested last week that Cassius Clay be arrested for impersonating a boxer. Clay retorted that he "would shut Liston's big mouth" when he took over the world's heavyweight title. Asked how long he thought he would retain the crown, Clay blandly remarked—"Oh, I'd say about 10 years. Then I'll turn it over to my younger brother. Something like the Kennedys."

Maybe—maybe not but if these two components of the spoken jab ever get around to meeting each other in the ring, the promotion boys might have to put seats in Arizona's Meteorite Hole to accommodate the crowd.

South. M-F Nab All-City Mention Tabs

South, Marion-Franklin and Aquinas combined to name six members of their '62-'63 squads to the All-City basketball selections announced early this week by loop coaches.

The Bulldogs' Fred McGhee, a senior, was named to the honorable mention list as was Red Devil sophomore John Jackson. Aquinas nailed down the remaining four spots with senior guard Pat Mentel named to the second team and Mike Welling, Tom Woodward and Tom Hartmann all granted honorable mention berths.

THE FIRST team was heavily dominated by East's CL champions. The Tigers placed all five starters - Ed Waller, Bob Calloway, Mike Hammond, Ken Fowlkes and Avery Godfrey -- on the first team.

Central's Tom Fullove, the coaches' only unanimous selection, and Linden's Nelson Hunter completed the first seven selections on the number one team.

Senior Citizens' Shuffleboard Tourney Slated

The third annual county-wide Senior Citizens' Shuffleboard Tournament will be held Tuesday, Mar. 26, 9 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Recreation Center, 275 McDowell-st. The tournament is open to anyone 60 years of age or over. Beginners are welcome.

Entry blanks for the tournament are at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center or Columbus Recreation Department, Room 124, City Hall. Telephone entries can be accepted up until 5 p.m. Wednesday, Mar. 20. Telephone CA. 1-8090.

Records Fall As CC Five Wins Tourney

Corpus Christi's unbeaten CYA quintet won the Central District basketball tourney Sunday, edging a talent-laden Lancaster St. Marys five, 59-57, on last-minute free throws by Mike Bryan and Jim Schmidt.

The game was highlighted by two record-breaking individual performances as Tom Richards dropped in 28 points in the finale to set an all-tourney scoring mark of 97 and Larry Roehrenbeck pulled down 27 rebounds to snap off the old record of 24, set by CC's Don Schaffer in 1961.

MIKE DIETLEIN'S 16 markers, mainly on driving layups, also helped pace the winner's attack.

Earlier in the day, Corpus downed a strong Columbus St. Ladislus quintet, 55-43, to earn the right to meet Lancaster in the finals. Dave Wenger's 10 third-period points and strong rebounding by Jerry Parker highlighted the semi-final win.

In garnering the coveted Central Diocesan crown for the second time in three years (CC did not participate last year), the Blue and Gold finished the season with an unbeaten record while Lancaster closed out with a fine 18-1 mark.

SOUTH Y WRAPUP

Five Church Quintets Survive Tourney Play

Then there were five. Yes, out of the original 19 teams that started in the South Side YMCA Junior Boys Basketball Tournament two weeks ago, only Christ Methodist, St. Paul Lutheran, Bexley Methodist, St. Paul United and Ohio Ave. E.U.B. remain in contention for championship honors.

Top scorers in games played at Barrett were Carl Faris 18, Ron Nincehelser 16, Steve Casto 13, Mark Olson 13, Bill Hylton and Roger Crum 12.

Another highlight of last week's play took place in the fast Intermediate loop when Oakwood Methodist, with a real team effort, upset a previously undefeated Ohio Ave. E.U.B. five.

Other games in this division found St. Paul United winning over Williams Rd. Presbyterian; Trinity Lutheran topping Hungarian United; St. Paul Lutheran beating South Methodist and league-leading Frobis Church of God rolling on to their eighth straight victory by outscoring Southwood Church of Christ.

Larry Blanton led the league point makers with 39, followed by Mike Rickard 27, Larry Anderson 18, and Dave McGrew and Bill Howard 16.

Girls League — Emmanuel Lutheran remained undefeated in their drive for second round honors as they defeated a fine Grace United sextet, 16 - 12.

The other game on the card produced an upset as St. Paul United won over the first-round champion Ohio Ave. E.U.B. lassies. Jo Ann Dethloff, Chris Hepner, Nancy Deason, Nancy Leslein, Bing Carver and Diana Cary turned in fine games.

Senior League — Heavy rains played havoc with the adult league program, but still a champion was determined as Hope Lutheran pulled out all the stops in defeating a classy St. John United crew. Jim Richardson, Chuck Garver and Jim Apel led the champ's attack, while Don Wirtz was best for the Mound-Streeters.

Volleyball — The above mentioned rains caused two forfeits in this "Set and Spike" league, thus taking the edge off opening night thrills and enthusiasm usually present at tournaments. Capital Seminary won the only match played as they defeated St. Paul Lutheran in two straight games. Capital's success allowed them to join Scottwood Community, Livingston Methodist and Christ Methodist in semi-final action.

JIM GUEST

JIM DOUGHTY will be the guest speaker at the 29th annual banquet of the Marion District Council of the South Side Branch YMCA. The banquet will be held at the Marion-Franklin High School cafeteria at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, Mar. 20. Buckeye ragger Doughty will also make 15 trophy presentations to the winners of Sportsmanship awards and take part in the championship recognition ceremonies.

Track Finals Here Another City First

The National A.A.U. Women's Indoor Track and Field Championships, to be held at French Fieldhouse Mar. 22 and 23, will mark the first time a Pan-American Games final tryout has been held in Columbus, in any event.

The first two Americans in each event at this meet will be eligible for the United States team which will compete at the fourth Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Apr. 27 - May 4.

JIM LORIMER, President of the sponsoring Ohio Track Club, expects as many as 20 teams and possibly 200 individuals to enter the two-day competition for national honors.

However, Lorimer points out, the meet also has much local interest, with members of the strong Ohio Track Club girls team figuring prominently in several events.

In the 440, Sue Knott will defend the championship she won at Louisville last year. The Ohio State freshman holds the U. S. indoor record in this event and is also the outdoor titlist. Estelle Baskerville will also be defending a title won at Louisville in the high jump. Among her closest competitors should be teammate Chris Miller.

FOR THE PAST two years the Ohio Track Club has won the 880 medley relay and will field another strong contender in the event this year. Other local girls to be watched are Sandy Fears in the dashes and Karen Davis in the 880.

Also entered in the latter event will be Sue Knott's sister, Sandy, now living in Cleveland, who was runner-up in both the indoor and outdoor meets in 1962.

Other entries have been received from as far as Hawaii, Louisiana, Texas, California, Canada, and even Brazil. Tennessee State University will bring their usual strong contingent to defend the team title.

Also present for the meet will be Wilma Rudolph, 1960 Olympic triple-gold-medal winner. However, her competitive status is uncertain, due to a recent appendicitis operation.

Because the meet is a Pan-American tryout, the discus and javelin have been added to the usual schedule of events, making a total of 14 events. Preliminaries will be conducted on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, with finals beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained from the Athletic Ticket Office at St. John's Arena.

DeCola, Trapp In Cage Lineup Vs Cow Girls

The second half of Hamilton Township's "sports spectauler" will take place Tuesday, Mar. 26 when a star-studded team of area basketball coaches take on the world-famous Texas Cow Girls on the Ranger court at 8 p.m.

A quintet, made up of Hamilton Township faculty members, defeated the All-American Red Heads earlier this year so the local all-stars will be gunning for their second win in a row over a professional girls basketball team.

The coaches lineup, which includes eight mentors from the Franklin County League, should provide stern opposition for the Cow Girls who have won 70 per cent of their games against male competition over an 11-year span.

The Cow Girls, who combine clever court ability with hardwood humor, have played in some of the nation's biggest arenas — from Madison Square Garden to San Francisco's Cow Palace. The gals have played on numerous NBC cards as well as over 150 games with the Harlem Globe Trotter organization.

The coaches lineup includes: Larry Siegried and George Hamric of Hamilton Township; Bob White, University; Harry Wolford, Reynoldsburg; Bob Miller, Canal Winchester; Ray DeCola, St. Marys; Bud Trapp, Rosary; Harry Sawdey, New Albany; Russ Gregg, Teays Valley and ex-OSU Star Gene Millard, now coaching at Bexley High School.

The Cow Girl lineup includes girls from Texas, Oklahoma and Hawaii. Program director George Hamric of Hamilton Township indicated that a preliminary game would also be included on the evening's card — probably a rematch between the Ranger male and female faculty members.

Tickets are now on sale at the Hamilton Township High School on Lockbourne-rd at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children.

Milo-Roc Sets Spaghetti Dinner For Saturday

The Milo-Roc Mendel Football Athletic Club will sponsor a spaghetti dinner Saturday from 4 until 9 p.m. at the clubhouse, 745½ Parsons-av.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the committee, officer, trustees or at the clubroom. Donation is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Door prizes and ham raffles are also included in the evening's festivities.

THE FUNDS derived from the dinner will be used to help support the organization's wide-scope sports program for area youngsters and to assist in curbing juvenile delinquency.

The Milo organization also announced plans to field a pair of baseball teams this summer. A Little League team will be formed, consisting of boys in the eight to 12 year old bracket.

A Pony League team, recruited from all parts of the city, is also planned for the boys in the 13 to 15 age group. Joe Miller and Bill Nincehelser will serve as coaches for the Pony League team.

It takes hope and money to help crippled children. We have the hope if you will provide the money. Buy and use Easter Seals.

Another AUBLEGRAPH

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

'Vaud-Villities 1963' Is Coming; Need I Say More?

Vaud-Villities '63 publicity bounced into the office again this year with the soft-sell likened to a two-ton locomotive, and, after checking the press releases, this year's show seems to be the greatest thing for tired blood since "Nature's" spelled backward.

The show, this time entitled "Broadway Springtime!" will be offered Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, in Vets Memorial. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

There's something about Vaud-Villities '63 publicity sheets. Simply calling them "news and information releases" falls short in description.

The pages seem to buzz with the excitement of footlights, the melodious hum of vaudevillian favorites like "By The Light Of The Silvery Moon," the smell of heavy make-up and the thrill of a circus overture.

This is quite unlike the type of thing you expect in the gloomy Monday morning mail.

Instantly you're hit with the phrase, "an achievement in magic with music." If that isn't enough to start you waving flags, they come back with lines like "melodie, beauty, color, fun for everyone" or "Come and be enchanted!"

One of the biggest selling points of the show, of course, is the fact that all the talent comes from Franklin County residents. The down-home flavor of this 21st anniversary show is heightened when you consider that 47 different churches are represented by cast members.

Lowell Riley is musical director this time. Robert Murphy and Sarah Smith direct the show, and Richard Fulmer and David Denning handle production.

The 300-member cast has been in rehearsal since January at First Community Church for this presentation.

All profits will go to charity, church-sponsored charities and to show properties.

Actually, gang, you don't need the fancy press releases to sell Vaud-Villities '63. The public has demonstrated that to you in the past. Just let them know the date and curtain time — that's all. They'll do the rest.

Civic Ballet Readies Show

The Columbus Civic Ballet Company will appear Saturday, Mar. 23, 8:30 p.m. at the Hartman Theatre. A program of three ballets, "Hommage A-Glinka," "The Story Of Celeste" and "The Wedding Cake," will be presented.

Tickets for the performance are available at Summers and Son box office, 114 E. Broad-st. All seats are $2.

Eagles Plan For Dinner, Dance

The Drill and Ritual Team of Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, has announced plans to sponsor a chicken a la king and steak Italian dinner Sunday, Mar. 17, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families. Donations are $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

A St. Patrick's Day dance will follow the dinner from 7 to 10 p.m.

WHO COULDN'T succeed in business without really trying with inspiration like Hedy LaRue. She's really Maureen Arthur, one of the stars in "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," which opens at Vets Memorial for a week starting Monday, Mar. 18. She's flanked on the left by male lead Dick Kallman and on the right by Willard Waterman of "Great Gildersleeve" fame.

'How To Succeed In Business' Is Superb . . . Without Really 'Lying'

By JOHN AUBLE Jr.
Entertainment Editor

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The wacky world of carbon paper and steno pools came alive here last week during a press preview showing of "How To Suceed In Business Without Really Trying" prior to its one-week stand in Columbus beginning Monday, Mar. 18.

The musical comedy should prove the greatest thing for Vets Memorial since "My Fair Lady" — if not the greatest thing for Columbus since its sesquicentennial.

It doesn't take much effort to realize that most of the credit for this Pulitzer prize winner goes to its author, Abe Burroughs, who has delightfully managed to grab slices from everyone's office life — without much exaggeration at all.

"Play It the Company Way" is not only the scheme of how to get ahead but also one of the featured melodies. Don't misunderstand, it's not the type of musical you come away from whistling show tunes. The music is too cleverly woven into the plot for that.

Not only is the music well-woven, but the cast is such a tightly-knit group that it resembles the finest knit 1, purl 2 work of grandma.

When it comes to big stars, the show boasts Willard Waterman, whose most popular characterization was that of the Great Gildersleeve. But likable Dick Kallman, who plays the lead, is no pill either.

Nor is comely Maureen Arthur or Dyan Cannon, who carry the female roles of Hedy LaRue and Kallman's gal friend — in that order.

William Major plays the monkey wrench in Kallman's rise in business while Pat McEnnis and Joe Cowan come in with strong supporting offerings.

The twinkle and shine cast members are part of the National Company of the show, the Broadway cast of which won the New York Drama Critics award and played to more than 574,600 theatergoers.

A comparison between this touring company and the home-towners is almost impossible after viewing the finese and talent of this road group.

If anything, the company enroute to Columbus offers a fresher, livelier approach to the show, since, as with most long-run Broadway productions, the boredom of routine takes its toll.

As far as any "moral lessons" in this presentation, you're safer if you don't look for any. It falls under the bright, bold heading of "entertainment" with a capital "E".

It's a satirical look at the American social system and so up-to-date that Burroughs even slipped in the "Greasy Kid Stuff" line during a scene in the executive's washroom.

A slap at television quiz shows was included with World Wide Wickets company presenting a give-away, which leads up to the funniest line in the show.

Shapely Miss LaRue is billed as the "Treasure Chest Girl" and, before she gives clues to where the loot is hidden, she's asked to take an oath on the Good Book. "Is this a real Bible?" she asks to assure authenticity.

Performances at Vets will be Monday through Saturday at 8:15 p.m. with matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office Mail orders should be ac- (Richman's), 37 N. High-st. Mail orders should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It's a Small World

It is really a small world when you tune in your TV and have an old friend drop in out of a clear sky. And it is even more delightful to enjoy a series of good healthy belly laughs while you watch the antics of the friend.

This all happened last week on the Perry Como show when former localite Gene Sheldon appeared with his well known banjo, and reminded us of the time years ago when Gene appeared as a special guest on the old Hilltop Minstrel show I directed for some 12 years.

A laugh is a good tonic.

How's the Water Level?

I recently read that winter is the best time to inspect a house you are about to buy. If there is anything wrong with it this is the time it will show up.

Along this line it is good advice to take advantage of our flood season to look at houses or house locations.

Some of the wonderful beauties of a hot summer are soon forgotten when a spring flood comes in your front door or fills your basement.

that about 36 contacts have been established in both Ohio and Pennsylvania, while the response in Michigan has been "much less."

Interviews for prospective applicants were conducted in a downtown Columbus hotel. The visits were announced through advertisements in local newspapers.

Rose said Indiana will recruit in all neighboring states. He said the one-day Ohio stop resulted in more than 30 contacts.

Many of the potential engineering candidates were interviewed for both West Virginia and Indiana vacancies, the personnel men said.

There was no apparent connection between the recruiting visits and the current austerity program in state government.

"Frankly, I didn't know about the governor's austerity program," Rose said.

Both agreed that the jobs affected by the austerity program "are not the type we're trying to fill."

"Engineers Affected Little"

Ohio Highway Director Pearl Masheter did not hold out much hope to his competition for finding a "happy hunting ground" in Ohio.

"Our layoffs have not affected engineers," he said, "except for appointive jobs such as director and field division deputy directors.

"I don't suppose we have separated half a dozen engineers (outside appointive posts), and those for cause."

Masheter expressed the belief that the recruiting visits from the neighboring states was a tribute to the caliber of engineering personnel within the Ohio Highway Department. "We've got a lot of good people," he said.

The highway director did not seem concerned that he would lose any appreciable number of employes.

"I don't believe they can offer anything that we can't," he said.

TO MAKE ALTERATION

George Christ, 2239 W. Broad-st, has received a building permit to alter a brick dwelling at 1206-1210½ S. High-st. Buckeye Wire and Iron Co. will make the alteration valued at $500.

Senior Citizens Begin Move To New $.3 Million Center

It's a red letter week for Franklin County's shuffleboard set.

The Senior Citizens Recreation Center is being moved from the basement of Old Memorial Hall to a spanking new $330,000 building at McDowell and Sullivant-avs.

Final inspection on the unique facility was to start at 10 a.m. Wednesday by representatives of the Columbus Recreation Department, the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, contractors and architects. And, barring any unforeseen hitches, the big move is to start immediately.

No dedication ceremony will be held yet, but at least 1100 perky citizens, ages 60 and over, have their regular weekly forum all set for presentation in the new auditorium this Friday. At least 300 are expected to be on hand when the doors open at 1 p.m.

The new recreation center is one of two buildings occupying a 3.71 acre garden-type complex just north of Sunshine Park, valued at $2,257,000. An 11-floor apartment building west of the recreation center will open in May, boasting 118 units of low-rental housing for the elderly. It was built with matching funds from the city and federal governments. The recreation center will not be restricted to residents of the high-rise apartment, but will be open to all of the county's older population—just as the present downtown center is.

The two-building complex is believed to be the only one of its type in the country. The recreation center is one of the largest. Encompassing 25,000 square feet on two floors, it includes an auditorium seating 450 and stage, a kitchen dining room, lobby, three craft rooms, music room, office, first aid and meeting rooms, and a paneled lounge with five-foot fireplace.

The ground floor includes rooms for cards, billiards, woodcraft and photography. Outside are patios, two grills and a shuffleboard court.

Melvin Dodge, city recreation supervisor, said the present Senior Citizens Center staff of 10 full and part-time workers will be upped about one-third in the next two weeks. A full-time coordinator of volunteer committees will be hired as will instructors for wood carving and workshop. Mrs. Frances Fowler, director of the center, is regularly assisted by a number of outside volunteers. The Pilot Club (professional women's group) in particular spends many hours furnishing the center, and organizing dances, birthday parties and other seasonal activities.

Hope For Library Branch

Dodge said it is quite likely that the Columbus Public Library board will establish a branch at the new center. He said Chief Librarian Edward B. McDaniels indicated he is interested in placing about 1600 volumes in a room provided. McDaniels hopes to allot 200 volumes to persons specializing in geriatrics. He is also interested in supplying magazines and newspapers for the lounge. The library board is expected to firm up its plans some time this week.

Dodge said the new center will observe its present hours, until the need for extended hours is seen. Doors will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. On Wednesdays and Fridays the hours are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Bus Stops Announced

Persons using City Transit buses to reach the center should get off the Mound-st line at McDowell and Richsts, a half block from their destination. The Sullivant-av buses stop at Town and McDowell, a block and a half from the center.

Friday's Program

Following is the program for 2:30 p.m. Friday, Mar. 15, the first planned in the new auditorium:

Piano duets — Mrs. Robert Draper and Mrs. A. L. Greenspun.

"America The Beautiful," sung by the Senior Citizens Chorus, led by Mrs. F. Minturn. The chorus is composed of center members and two representatives from each of the city's Golden Age clubs—about 48 in all.

Prayer.

"Bless This House," by the chorus.

Address by Rabbi Nathan Zelizer, chairman of the SCRC Advisory Council.

Doxology.

resentatives of various civic groups in the South Side) are not fulfilling their obligations in reporting the work needed to be done in the area.

One area for improvement, as far as inter-club beefing-up is concerned, is a change from a one-year council presidency term to a two-year stay, Mileusnich said.

"A guy just gets in and gets his feet wet when he's replaced and the orientation starts all over again for the new president," he claims. "I'm sure we can be more effective if the president can serve a two-year period."

Both the stret lights and th the term item will headline the meeting tonight. Sharing that headline, however, will be Columbus Safety Director Albert Giles, who is scheduled to speak to the group.

"Giles is an interesting speaker and it will be well worth the time to hear his message," Mileusnich commented.

Chief Hall In Yokosuka, Japan

Navy Chief Warrant Officer James A. Hall, son of Mrs. Jane Hall, 57 Reeb-av, is serving with Beach Master Unit One, at Yokosuka, Japan, part of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, which celebrates its 21st anniversary this month.

The force, with units spread throughout the Pacific area, was established in 1942. It landed troops and equipment on islands throughout the Pacific theater in a revolutionary scale of amphibious

Seidlertz Trains In Germany

Specialist Five Victor Seidlertz recently took part in the annual winter training of the 4th Armored Division at Grafenwohr, Germany.

The training tested the unit's combat readiness and included problems in night fighting, communications, nuclear and special warfare.

Specialist Seidlertz, a tank gunner in the 1st Medium Tank Battalion's Headquarters Company of the division's 37th Armor in Crailsheim, Germany, entered the army in June, 1960, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas the following November.

The 26-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Seidlertz, 465 Jackson-st, is a 1957 graduate of South High School.

The Shamrock Glee Club will sing, and Irish dances will be given by teenaged children of the members under the direction of Miss Kay Lehman.

This group, composed exclusively of members of the Catholic Church who are of Irish descent, was formed after World War II, and holds no ties with any other organization.

In April a meeting is called for the election of officers, and in the summer the members hold a picnic at Murphy's Barn (where else?). The men also work with St. Vincent's Orphanage during its annual Homecoming.

But, as for the Sons of Ireland, Downey explained, St. Patrick's Day is the BIG DAY.

Michael Moriarity is the chairman of the procession, and Emmet Bain heads the breakfast committee.

ideals which are promoted there and have seen first hand how it works with and for young people in this area.

OSCAR WIECHERS—When you have been born, raised and spent a life time in the South Side, it is easy to find a little time to do membership work for the South Side Branch YMCA. As chairman of last year's charter membership drive, I saw the community rise to the occasion and completely furnish the new building. Now I think everyone will want an annual membership to serve the youth of our community and maintain this beautiful building.

CARL SNEDEKER—I've lived within three blocks of the new South Side Branch YMCA for some 40 years and have seen how this organization really works for the youth of our community. I feel tthat the new "Y" is the nicest thing that's been done in the South Side, and I urge everyone to support it by taking out one or more memeberships.

FRED ERFURT—Our South Side youth are entitled to the best health and character building available. A successful membership drive will guarantee that all important program. We're only fooling ourselves if we think there's anything more important to our community and to our world than its young people.

JIM HILDENBRAND—Since so many have toiled and labored in the past to help the youth of the South Side through the "Y" program, I feel any effort that I am able to make at this time is only a small token of appreciation of what I owe our community.

MICHAEL LOWER—School men are naturally interested in young people. The South Side Branch of the YMCA has always been close to youth of our area. I consider it a privilege to make a contribution to further the fine work that they are doing.

CLIFF OLSON—Remembering what an important part the "Y" played in my own growing-up days, I am thankful for this opportunity to be of service in whatever way I can in an effort to provide facilities and programs for youth. This is the payment for an obligation which I sincerely enjoy and which is long overdue.

The division leaders will work in a directive capacity, and supervise and recruit many 25-member teams who'll be soliciting (mostly through appointment) throughout the South Side area.

Stork—

responsible for civic improvements in the Columbus area such as:

- Sponsoring and designing the Master Plan for the Columbus Zoo.
- Preparing text and maps for county-wide zoning.
- Writing the entire text for Regulations for Land Subdivision for the city.
- Consulting in planning the Park of Roses.
- Designing a flood protection plan and a plan for beautifying the city's river and water reservoir areas.

Besides this, Stork had a hand in the selection and purchase of a site for the city's second sewage treatment works; construction of millions of dollars worth of new trunk sewers, water lines and city streets, and rehabilitation of the municipal power plant.

What does Stork see in the future for Columbus and Franklin County?

One of his most cherished ideas is the construction of a mall on the near West Side, as a complex of federal, state, county and city office buildings along W. Broad-st, on the West Side of the Scioto River.

Another goal is to annex the township "islands" within the city. Although a somewhat controversial view, he feels that better service could be given to these areas, were they part of the city.

Probably the most spectacular of Stork's ideas is an elevated freeway, over Sandusky-st, to handle the increased flow of traffic in that area.

As for retirement, evidently that thought hasn't crossed his mind—at least he doesn't bother to mention it.

Ernie retired for three years from city employment, but spent those years as development consultant for the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce and as chief engineer for the State Office Building Commission.

But, after his short tenure as a "retiree," he was drafted by incoming Mayor Westlake as City Service Director in 1960.

Being on 24-hour call doesn't give Stork much of a private life. He does like to relax at home with his wife Clara, and do some gardening.

He has a son, Richard, 35 "same age as the city hall," says the director, who lives want to know something, ask someone who is right in the middle of the situation and they can give you a better answer than some guy who has no feeling, other than to make money," he theorized.

Evidently that is the way most people feel about Stork —"if you can't find it here, ask Ernie—he'll know."

That is the tribute most often paid to Columbus' Ernie Stork—the man with a vision.

in Cleveland, and a daughter, Mrs. H. A. Dorsey, in Mexico City.

The Storks, who live on Cooke-rd in the far North Side, are members of Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church.

He was born on E. Mound-st, in what now is the Market-Mohawk Urban Renewal Project area.

"It gives you a funny feeling to know you and the city are getting older and they are tearing it down to do it over again," he said of his childhood community.

Considered an expert in his own right, Ernest Stork doesn't have much use for "out-of-town experts," because they "don't feel the pulse of the people. If you

Four Women Nominated For Settlement Links' Offices

Four area women are among those nominated as officers for the Links of the South Side Settlement. The election will be held on Wednesday, Mar. 20, at the Worthington Church.

Listed on the slate are Mrs. W. C. Steinmetz for president, a member of Livingston Methodist Church; Mrs. George R. Giles, a nominee for corresponding secretary, a member of Oakwood Methodist Church.

Executive Board nominees are Mrs. Anthony Crist, from Thurman-av Methodist, and Mrs. John Wright, Oakwood Methodist Church. The day's program will be presented by the Rev. Roland Perkins, of Livingston Methodist Church, who will narrate pictures of a recent trip to the Holy Land.

Mrs. Elmer Jauch, special gifts chairman of the Links, is still accepting donations for the "Jeep" campaign of the South Side Settlement's Triple S Camp. The resident of 1451 Wilson-av may be reached at HI. 4-7987.

A South Side resident, Martin Tischler, 492 Reinhard-av will present a woodcarving demonstration for the Friday Nighters Club of the YWCA for their meeting tomorrow. Also on the program will be "The Story of Counterfeiting," as told by Kenneth E. Balge. On Monday, Mar. 18 at the YWCA, Dr. Ralph Sockman will be the speaker for the 12:30 Lenten luncheon, as a membership special event.

Meetings here and there:

The March meeting of the WSWS Circle of Washington-av EUB Church will be held Thursday, Mar. 14, at 7:30 p.m. The election of officers will be held, and Rev. C. R. Butterbaugh will conduct the installation.

The Ladies Bible Class, also of Washington-av EUB, will meet on Monday, Mar. 18, 7:30 p.m. The social meeting of the St. Paul Lutheran League will be held on Sunday, Mar. 17. The Loyal Men and Women's Class of Southwood Church of Christ will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 19, at 6:30 p.m.

There will be two sessions of the DVBS workshop held at the YWCA, on Tuesday, Mar. 19, one at 1:30 p.m.; the other at 7:30 p.m. The Kings Workers Class of South Methodist Church will meet at 7:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Mar. 19. Hostesses will be Mary Borror, Effie Allen, Susie McIntyre, Erma Daugherty. Arlene Boso will lead the devotions while Alda Carlisle is in charge of the entertainment.

"School Bells vs Wedding Bells" is the theme of the South High PTA meeting on Tuesday, Mar. 19, at 7:45 p.m. A social hour will conclude the evening's program. The Schiller Park Golden Age Club will celebrate the sixth anniversary of its founding with a spaghetti luncheon on Monday, Mar. 18 at noon. Members will provide a program of entertainment.

Group B, OSU Mother's Club will hold its March meeting Tuesday, Mar. 19, at noon at the South Methodist Church. A dessert luncheon will be served.

Southern Way Chapter 467, OES, meets tonight (Mar. 14), at 7:30 p.m. at the South Gate Masonic Temple. WSCS of Thurman-av Methodist Church was to meet at 10 a.m. today. The church's Mary-Elizabeth Circle was to meet at 1 p.m. today in the church parlor. Susannah Circle will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Mar. 20, in the home of Mrs. Paul White, 1113 Oakwood-av.

Heartiest congratulations to the younsters, who are still young enough to enjoy the thoughts of having a birthday: Clifton May, Elma Holloway, Gary Fox, Patricia Absten, Mark Saunders, Eva Reed, James Schneider, Daniel Blakeman, Michael Workman, Carol Fitzpatrick, Mary Hill, Susie Schodorf and Jerry Lee Bush.

Teenagers to be congratulated include Lynn Chambers, Jimmy Doran and Sharon Dunkle.

Our "birthday" adults are Jane Harris, Gladys Hill, John Tabor, Bud Merriman, Herb Hampton, Isabelle Coslett, "Bert" Rigot, Shirley Key, Ruth Martin, Pat Windmiller, Madeline Oakley, Scott Buller, Richard Jones, Edna Strauss, Dick Merriman and Hanna Chapman.

Wedding anniversaries will be celebrated by Paul and Elizabeth Gage on Mar. 16, and by their son and his wife, Paul and Carol, on Mar. 19. Belated congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Y. P. Barrick for their 40th anniversary.

The WSCS of Livingston Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Mar. 15. Members are asked to note this is a change of regular date. Miss Anne Mayer will present the topic "The Challenge of the Cross." On Sunday, Mar. 17, Livingston Methodist Church will be the scene of a city-wide Young Adult Fellowship meeting at 6 p.m. Fora Calvill is to be listed among the Columbusites who has enjoyed Florida weather the past few weeks.

A chicken and noodle luncheon will be served by the Ruth Circle of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church on Wednesday, Mar. 27. The chicken and noodles may also be purchased by the quart, by those desiring to do so.

The Capital University Concert Band will present two programs on Sunday, Mar. 17, at Mees Hall. One will be held at 3 p.m., the second at 8 p.m. Capital's Faculty String Quartet will perform in the Toledo Room at 8:15 p.m., on Tuesday, Mar. 19.

Kenneth Albert, Barrett Junior High principal, will be the guest speaker of the Reeb-av PTA meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Mar. 19.

The traditional Backward Ball of South High School will be held tomorrow night (Mar. 15).

The Helping Hand Class of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m Tuesday, Mar. 19.

Two training sessions will be held at the South Side YMCA, for workers of the membership campaign. Div. 1-4 will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Mar. 18, while Div. 5-8 will report Tuesday, Mar. 19, also at 8 p.m.

The Wesley-Wed Class of South Methodist Church will meet Wednesday, Mar. 20, 7:30 p.m.

The "Magic Man" will be the special program when the Lydia Wesleyan Service Guild of Livingston Methodist meets on Tuesday, Mar. 19, at 7:30 p.m. The Mohawk PTA Executive Board will meet today at the school.

The Moosehaven Committee will be in charge of the 8 p.m. Chapter Night Program tonight. Charlotte Matheny is chairman of the Moosehaven Committee. Mary Conn, chairman of the library committee of chapter 206, is in charge of that committee's bake sale, which will be held at 36 N. Sycamore-st.

The chapter's marching unit will be in charge of the weekly Wednesday dinner served on Mar. 20 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Moose Lodge. Gertrude Larson, chairman, has chosen to serve steak and mushrooms (or fish), mashed potatoes, Harvard beets, fruit jello with whipped cream, and coffee. Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

It will be Fathers' Night at the Deshler-av PTA meeting Tuesday, Mar. 19. The election of the nominating committee will be held at the 7:30 p.m. session. The South Side YMCA Mother's Club will not meet on Tuesday, Mar. 19, members are asked to take note.

A speaker from the Big Brother Organization will be the featured attraction at the Tuesday, Mar. 19, meeting of the Emmanuel Lutheran Brotherhood. The Belles of St. Marys have invited the Beaus of the parish to join them in presenting the third annual production of the show this year. The show will be presented on Apr. 19 and 20, Apr. 26 and 27, at 8 p.m. in the school gym, 700 S. Third-st. Title of the presentation will be "Seems Like Old Times." Profits from the show will be used for the 1965 Centennial Celebration. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Camp Fire Girls leaders are reminded that the Indian Lore workshop will be held at the Charity Newsies meeting room Wednesday, Mar. 20, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Reservations should be in by Friday, Mar. 15.

Juliette Low Commemorated By Ashville Girl Scouts

News Of Ashville

• Sandy Trimble
YU. 3-5291

Mar. 10 was Girl Scout Sunday and the Scouts put flowers on the altars of churches and also finished boutonnieres for the services. The Brownies and Scouts were in uniform and made a nice appearance in our churches.

In the afternoon the "Girl Scout Thinking Day Program" was held at the Teays Valley High School. This was a day to remember Juliette Low, the founder of Girl Scouts, and to bring their dimes to open wider the advantages of International Friendship of Scouting.

Each group participated in a colorful pageant of girl guides dressed in costumes of different countries. The girls then had a grand march, putting Dimes for Daisy in a Big Daisy Coin Holder, and formed a friendship circle around their parents. Taps was then sung.

A film, "Journey Into Friendship," was then shown and was followed by punch and cookies at a table decorated with green and gold, the Scout colors.

Most of the Brownies and Girl Scout troops of Ashville and Pickaway County went to Lazarus Saturday for a Lazarus birthday party, which they sponsor every year for Scouts on their birthday.

Next Sunday, Mar. 17, the Ashville Methodist Church Fellowship class will meet in the church basement. That same day from 3 to 5 p.m. Rising House, Lancaster District, will ppuesnt "Conversations On The Ministry." High school and junior high students are invited.

The Teays Valley Vikings, Managers, Cheerleaders and Coaches went out to dinner after last week's loss with Columbus Central at the "Explorers" Restaurant.

The Ashville Women's Club met last week at the Ashville Lutheran Church. Guests were Ralph Starkey, juvenile officer; Guy Cline, probate and juvenile judge; Walter Spangler, sheriff; James Brown, guidance counselor at Teays Valley; Dick Bozeman, mayor; and Ed Irwin, Lawrence Fullen and Charles Love, teachers at Ashville Grade School.

They had a very interesting discussion, headed by Mrs. Felix Dore on juvenile problems—how they start and how they can be stopped.

The club will sponsor a style show that will be held Mar. 26 at the Teays Valley cafeteria.

The Walnut PTA will sponsor a Jitney Supper Friday, Mar. 15 at the school auditorium. Serving will start at 5 p.m. At 8 p.m. there will be a men's comic style revue. Afterwards there will be an auction.

The Teays Valley women's faculty have been playing volley ball at noon. They have challenged the top girls teams in the volleyball tournament and have not been defeated yet.

Those participating are Mrs. Ann Cook, secretary; Miss Fuge, typing teacher; Miss Irwin, shorthand and bookkeeping teacher; Miss Boggs, typing teacher; Miss Gaskella, music teacher; and Mrs. Collins, physical education teacher.

French explorer LaSalle reached Niagara Falls Jan. 8, 1679.

Obetz Considers New Roto-Rooter

When the Obetz Council met last week the members authorized the purchase of a roto-rooter for village use.

If the four-horse power, self-propelled unit is bought, it will be used to clean out sewers and remove root fragments and other foreign matter.

Mayor Lloyd Peck emphasized that authorization does not necessarily mean the purchase will be made, and the councilmen may not follow through at this time.

Blackbird Pie

Sing a song of sixpence,
A pocket full of rye
Four and twenty blackbirds
Baked in a pie.

If the blackbird pie appears on the menu think nothing of it. . . Saturday about 5 p.m. enough blackbirds flew over our place to make enough pies to feed all Central Ohio.

For nearly five minutes the skies were black with birds headed east and north.

Surely — Had the maid been in the garden
Hanging out the clothes
Along would have come a blackbird
And nipped off her nose.

Today's Riddle

Bennett Cerf has a little book called "More Riddles" and the first subject shown is an elephant sitting on a rug. Below is printed, "What is the best way to get something out from under an elephant?"

The answer is: "Wait for the elephant to go away."

Today every American finds himself being "sit" upon by an elephant — our huge federal, state and local tax extortion.

Right now a lot of foolish people are being encouraged by the New Frontiersman that the elephant can be moved—that a tax cut can be brought into being.

Let's not forget what the elephant really is. He can't move until he gets smaller and he just won't get smaller so long as we feed him more while he sits on us.

South Sider Singing With OSU Glee Club

A South Side resident, Arnold White, 1015 Bulen-av, will appear with the Ohio State University Men's Glee Club during its annual Home Concert on Sunday, Mar. 31, at 3 p.m. in Mershon auditorium.

The concert is staged shortly after the club returns from its spring concert tour. This year's tour took the glee club to schools and colleges in Ohio, West Virginia, North and South Carolina.

Admission is free.

Safe Torched

Burglars used an acetylene torch from George Shustick and Sons, Inc., 756 Parsons-av, to burn open the firm's safe and take $600 in cash Thursday.

TB Society Lists Test Results

Thirteen positive reactors were found through free TB tests given in schools, the Tuberculosis Society reported today. A total of 1516 first graders recently received the free tests.

C. Edward Harrison, Society director of case-detection, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active, contagious tuberculosis. It does mean he has been in close contact with someone who has active TB.

Area schools and the number of reactors given follow-up x-rays are Beck Street, 0; Mohawk, 0; Fulton Street, 1; Stockbridge, 1; Clarfield, 4; Helmandale, 0; Fornof, 0; Southwood, 0; Reeb, 1; Lincoln Park, 0; Deshler, 0; Heyl, 0; Siebert, 0; Fairwood, 0; Kent, 2; Ohio, 0; Main Street, 0; Livingston, 2; Alum Crest, 0; Smith Road, 0; Watkins, 0; Parsons, 2; Scioto Trail, 0; and Stewart, 0.

DELBERT SWAIN

Swain Sees YMCA As 'Great Force'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by H. Delbert Swain, principal of South High School and unofficial "dean" of South Side School officials. In it, he gives his reasons for buying a membership in the current South Side Branch YMCA campaign. Swain is a member of the "Y" Community Program Council and works actively to promote Hi-Y and other related YMCA efforts. His testimonial follows:)

The Young Men's Christian Association has been and continues to be a great force for good throughout the world. Millions of young people have been influenced by dedicated YMCA personnel.

South Side youth through the years have been privileged to share in the program of this organization through the South Side Branch. The new building at Southwood and Sixth is now prepared to offer an expanded program to serve a greater number of young people.

If an increased number of young people are to receive these benefits, then parents, and citizens in general, must support the program by giving encouragement. Adults can become members, provide membership for their children or other young men and women in the community.

The present South Side Membership Campaign is important because its success will determine the nature and extent of the program as well as the number of young people who will have an opportunity to participate.

Every YMCA membership has the potential of returning many times its cost to the community.

If we are really serious about wanting to develop and maintain a good, strong reputable and influential community, we can take positive steps in that direction by actively supporting the membership campaign of the South Side Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Plan Zoo Show

A speaker form the Columbus Zoo will visit Schiller Recreation Center on Monday, Mar. 25, 4 p.m., during Party Time, which is primarily for pre-teens. Small live animals will be brought with the speaker if weather permits. All youngsters ranging in age from 6 to 12 are welcome.

★ WILL FIRE 'EM UP AT DINNER ★

South 'Y' Membership Drive Begins Tonight

Any resemblance between tonight's (Thursday) launching pad dinner at the South Side YMCA and a high school pep rally will be more than coincidental.

It took work on the part of the South Side YMCA's membership campaign officials to make it that way—to plan it in such a way as to "fire up" the campaign workers.

Olbert

Tonight's dinner, beginning at 6:15 with a box lunch, will begin an 11-day drive for members and will serve to inspire solicitors, according to campaign chairman Kenneth Olbert.

All division leaders, captains and callers are urged to attend the dinner since it will be at this time when prospect cards will be distributed.

"Each campaigner will be given 10 prospect cards," Olbert explained, "in order to give them something to work on in face-to-face contact throughout the community."

Actually, the drive is already off to a fired-up start since Olbert reported that over $1500 has been received in cash and pledges from the callers themselves.

Included in that figure are gifts from organizations, some totaling as high as $600, according to advance visits committee chairman Jim Woodyard.

But, even this is a long way from the goal. Olbert says his committee must take in $13,000 before the venture can be labeled a success.

This means that some 1550 members must be signed up — a respectable number since the potential in the South Side is somewhere between 16,500 and 17,000 residents.

Membership rates are as follows:

Youth (under 18 years), $5; Adult (18 years and up), $10; Family, $20; Y-Park only (Family), $10; Y-Park only (Individual), $5, and Partner-In-Youth, $10 (and up).

The "Partner-in-Youth" category is specifically for persons or firms out of the immediate South Side area who would care to contribute money to help finance memberships for youths who cannot afford them.

The most encouraging note to the entire campaign, as Olbert sees it, is the response from the community to work on the project. Originally, 200 callers were sought. As of last Tuesday, 176 signers had signed up. This prompted Robert C. Cooper, secretary of the Columbus YMCA, to term the effort a "phenomenal showing of community spirit in action."

Roland Hepner, an active "Y" leader, is in charge of banquet arrangements. Dr. Harry Shadler and Augie Graumlich are in charge of tonight's program.

Hepner also heads up the training session aspect of the drive and, with Olbert, gave instructions to the callers during group meetings both Monday and Tuesday evenings.

"We're ending the dinner early enough," Olbert concluded, "so as to enable any callers who so desire to make a few visits right after the program."

CLEO DUMAREE

School Man Dumaree In 'Y' Appeal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Cleo L. Dumaree, now assistant superintendent for the Columbus City School System, has been an active leader in South Side YMCA activities. He has been a member of the Board of Management since 1948 and served as president of that group in 1951-'52 and '53. He's a former principal of Barrett and South High schools. His reasons for supporting the "Y's" membership campaign follow:)

At last we have a permanent home for the South Side Branch YMCA. For the past

MALE CAST

Woody Will Deliver A PTA Speech

Wayne Woodrow Hayes will leave his Ohio State University football coaching duties long enough to make an appearance at Barrett Junior high PTA meeting tonight, Thursday.

Hayes

The announcement of Hayes' rare visit to the Soputh Side school was made last week by Barrett's principal, Kenneth Olbert, who was a fraternity brother of Hayes in college.

The meeting staged for tonight at 7:30 is altogether different from most PTA gatherings in that it will feature a strictly male cast. The women, usual PTA promoters, are taking a back seat for this one evening.

Theme of the meeting is "Rapport" and it's being designed so as to be of particular interest to fathers and sons of Barrett Junior High. Capacity of the school's auditorium is 550 and Olbert reports if Barrett males don't fill the seats, he will throw an invitation open to men in

Famous For 'Inter-Clubbing,' Muncie Kiwanis Pays Visit To South Siders

SARA CARR, noted Columbus artist, puts the final touches on her wedding present for her daughter, Cherie, who was married Mar. 16. The large painting took more than three weeks to complete.

To most civic organizations, the word "inter-club" means the practice when one club attends a meeting of another club across town to see how they conduct meetings.

In Kiwanis, however, the word took a larger meaning Tuesday in the South Side. The Kiwanis Club of Southern Columbus was paid an inter-club visit by the daddy of all inter-clubbers . . . Muncie, Ind.

The club from Muncie ranked second in the United States for Kiwanis inter-clubbing last year — having made over 115 visits.

Bear in mind that, unlike most mixings, this club didn't come from across town. The jaunt from Muncie registers about 157 miles on the best speedometers.

The Hoosiers almost have inter-clubbing down to a science. They like 150-mile trips and take them with ease during their lunch hour.

How? By airplane. Several of the club members own private planes and think nothing of flying a 200-mile round trip at noon and making it back in time to work the afternoon at the office.

Due to hazardous weather Tuesday, however, the Delaware-Muncie club couldn't get ground clearance. Did they call the whole thing off? No they did not.

Four of the members hopped in their automobile and drove the distance anyway. Vernon Freeman, Boyd Haisley, Bob Showwalder and Clarence Goyan arrived at the downtown Kiwanis office at 11:30 a.m. sharp, ready for lunch with the Southern Club.

To top it off, they even brought the afternoon's program . . filmed highlights of the famed Indianapolis 500 race.

Arrangements for the visit were handled by Ed Gearhart, Columbus School Board official and charter member in the Southern Club.

He happened into Muncie some months ago while looking for teachers and stopped off for a club meeting.

Gearhart was inter-club chairman for Southern three

PORTRAIT 'GIFT OF LOVE'

Mother Gives Daughter-Bride Most Unusual Wedding Gift

By JOHN AUBLE, JR. and BETTY DAFT

The usual wedding gifts from a parent to a bride, like a television set or a washing machine, just wouldn't do for Sara Carr, who operates the Sara Carr Art Studio, 209 S. High-st.

It had to be something more than that, Mrs. Carr stated. Something very personal, a gift of love, that no one else could give.

With this thought in mind, Mrs. Carr decided it should be a portrait. A logical assumption, actually, since this South Side woman has been painting for more years than her recent daughter-bride is in [illegible].

The bride is Sara (Cherie) Margaret Carr, a 1961 graduate of South High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Carr, 612 S. 18th-st.

On Mar 16 she exchanged wedding vows in the Broad Street Methodist Church with Harry Thomas, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, Sr., 3305 Towers Court N.

The portrait of Cherie is the most ambitious (Mrs. Carr says) of all of the pictures she's painted of her daughter. In size, it's 28 by 36 inches and took over three weeks to complete.

Hardest part, perhaps, was finding time when Cherie could pose for the painting.

Free Easter Day Hams Available To Readers Of This Newspaper

It's Easter ham time again! That's right . . . Hartley Newspapers and the merchants and business people in this area are again cooperating to give away dozens of Swift Premium Hams in time for your Easter dinner.

Everyone reading this newspaper, over 16 years of age, is eligible to win one of the free Swift's hams merely by filling out a coupon. There's nothing to buy and there is no cost for the coupon.

Today you will find a page of coupons in this newspaper. Just fill in your name, address and phone number and clip out the coupons. Then deposit them in the special box provided in the place of business of the merchant whose name appears on the coupon.

A drawing will be held Monday, Apr. 8, at each store participating. At that time they will present one of these hams to the name drawn. You do not have to be present to win. The list of all winners will appear in that week's issue of this newspaper.

Merchants have additional coupons in the event you have a friend or neighbor that would like an Easter ham and wants to join the fun.

Turn now to the Ham promotion page in this newspaper and read the full details. Then start clipping today's coupons. Visit every store and deposit your coupons in order to get as many chances to win your ham as possible. Be sure and drop the proper coupon in the correct store.

The following firms from this area are participating:

Hoermle's Appliances, 1894 Parsons-av; Coney Island, 1911 Parsons-av; Fountain Drug Store, 1846 Parsons-av; Whitacre Flowers, 158 Southwood-av; Thrifty Shopper, 1914 Parsons-av; H and S Hardware, 1683 Parsons-av; B. F. Goodrich Store, 1942 Parsons-av.

STEWART-AV PTA SEEKS INSTRUMENTS

Stewart Avenue PTA officials report this week that they are making an effort to get musical instruments for the school's use.

"We cannot afford to buy new ones," a spokesman said, "but could possibly pay to have some repaired if South Side residents have any they would care to donate."

Anyone who "recovers" musical instruments that are, perhaps, shoved back in the attic, can offer them by phoning Mrs. Richard Waller, 38 Thurman-av, or contacting Stewart Avenue School.

ANOTHER SIGN OF SPRING

EVIDENTLY these guys feel that spring is upon us, as they go about checking Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. poles along Rt. 40, west of Columbus, for any damage they might have incurred through the winter. John Ryan, of 3136 Hilligate-rd is pictured in the bucket about to check insulators on the pole. Bill Allen, 160 S. Huron-av, taps into the pole to see if it has been broken or rotted. Note the litter near the bottom of the pole that has accumulated from careless "litterbugs." Both men are employes of CSOE and the "pole check" is a spring routine which they consider rather enjoyable—in weather like we had last Friday, that is.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS CONFERENCE . . .

Social Morals To Be Topic Of Teenage Session At YW

"Should I?" is the theme for the public affairs conference sponsored by the Senior High Y-Teens Saturday, Mar. 23, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st.

The conference is open to all senior high school girls, who must register through the Y-Teen Club in their school or by calling the YWCA. Registration fee of $1 includes a buffet lunch.

Drinking, sexual relations, cheating and social morals of teenagers will be topics of discussions.

A film, "Of Roses, Nightingales and Other Lovely Things," a story of unwed mothers, will be the "kick-off" of the conference. The girls will meet in small discussion groups, with no adult present, talking "just between us girls," later to be joined by well-qualified adults representing many professional fields.

The topic, "Mother Didn't Tell Me," will be presented by Miss Bonnie Hammock, a teacher in Columbus Public Schools.

Mrs. Rosalind Bandman, director of social services at Children's Hospital, will moderate a panel discussion on social morals.

The conference will close with an address by Dr. Herbert Manton, psychiatrist, Columbus Receiving Hospital.

Miss Audrey Norman, an East High School Y-Teen member, is general chairman of the conference with Vicki Howe, Bexley, and Meg Schultz, Worthington, as committee members. Mrs. John Gingerich, YWCA staff member, and Mrs. Bandman have worked with the girls.

At the beginning of the year the Y-Teen Public Affairs Committee was asked to draw maps, local, national and international, indicating major problems of each area.

On all maps, youth and behavior was shown as a problem, and the girls spent a meeting exploring this subject and how it affected their lives, and as a result chose the topic for the conference.

Recollection Day Planned At St. Leo

St. Leo's Altar Rosary Society will held a day of recollection Sunday, Mar. 24 for all men and women of the parish, conducted by Msgr. Gilbert Schmenk.

The day will begin with Mass at 10 a.m., and end with way of the cross and benediction at 4:30 p.m.

Fee includes breakfast and lunch. Advance registration may be made by calling Mrs. Anthony Ebelberger, HI. 4-0795, or Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, HI. 4-9711.

BLUE STAR SALE

Ralph E. King Chapter 61, Blue Star Mothers of America, will hold a rummage sale Wednesday, Mar. 27, at 620 E. Livingston-av. Mrs. Clifford Wilson, 202 Topafield, is chairman.

Car Tags Benefit Patients

Cancer Rays' drive to collect old auto tags will continue through Apr. 6. Defaced plates may be placed in the bright orange trailers parked at shopping centers.

Plates will be sold for scrap, and the proceeds will go to the Columbus Cancer Clinic for out patients of Franklin County.

The city, county, Upper Arlington, Grandview and Minerva Park sanitation departments will pick up old plates at homes. Place defaced plates separate from other refuse.

UN Correspondent To Speak At International Luncheon

The American Association for the United Nations will hold an international luncheon Thursday, Mar. 28 at noon, at the Neil House. There will be a reception and open exhibits at 11:15 a.m.

The speaker will be Miss Kathleen McLaughlin, New York Times correspondent to the United Nations. Miss McLaughlin has written several books and magazine articles in addition to journalistic work.

She began her career as a reporter for the Daily Globe at Atchison, Kan., worked for the Chicago Tribune, and in 1935 went to the New York Times as a foreign correspondent.

She covered all phases of the post-war era in Europe, and in 1951 was assigned to the United Nations coverage. Miss McLaughlin has three times won the annual award for best stories given by the New York Newspaper Women's Club.

An international wig and hair style show will be presented by Tiberi. Latest international styles will be featured.

Tickets are available at the AAUN office, 65 S. Fourth-st, or at the desk in the lobby of the YWCA.

Christian Women Plan Luncheon

The Columbus Christian Women's Club will hold a luncheon meeting Monday, Mar. 25, 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Southern Hotel.

Featured will be an Easter egg tree, made from hand-decorated, hollow eggs, using sequins, lace and beads, shown by Sally Hancox. Music will be by Mrs. Mary Offenberg, vocalist.

Henry Ruegg, president of Columbus Council of Churches, will speak.

Reservations should be made by Mar. 22 with Mary Price, BR. 4-2008.

Sale Will Benefit Cerebral Palsy Center

The parents of the handicapped persons who attend the United Cerebral Palsy of Columbus and Franklin County Center, will hold a rummage sale Saturday, Mar. 23, 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. at the center, 1036 E. Hudson-st.

Anyone who has items to contribute for the sale is asked to call BR. 4-8850 or BR. 9-5120 for pick up.

Goodwill Auxiliary Plans March Program

Women's Auxiliary of Columbus Goodwill Industries will meet Tuesday, Mar. 26, 12:30 p.m. at 1331 Edgehill-rd. Those attending will bring their favorite dish and the recipe.

A white elephant silent auction, business meeting, social hour and tour of the building are planned.

Hat Sale Slated At St. Mary's

St. Mary's PTA will hold a hat sale with spring and summer styles Tuesday, Mar. 26, in the school gym, 1 until 3 in the afternoon, and from 7 until 10 in the evening.

The school is located at 700 S. Third-st.

Members of the PTA will model the hats and Johnny Jones of the Columbus Dispatch will comment on them from 8 until 9 p.m.

The sale is open to the public.

'FATHER TIME' WEARY

Viking Swimming Trio Won't Let Marks Rest

There might be a lot of truth in the baseball barber's slogan about "you can't tell the player without a program" but if you didn't bring a stop-watch with you to the spectators' gallery at Columbus Academy's swimming meets this past season, you just weren't in style.

Checking the time on the splashing dashes of three Viking tankers in particular should have been a popular pastime at poolside.

ACADEMY'S Miller - Westwater - Richter trio rewrote the record books with such regularity it seemed Coach Frank McGraw might be using a hungry crocodile as a pacesetter.

Maybe it's true that swim records can't withstand the test of time as compared with other sports, but the statistics compiled by Dennis Miller, Henry Richter and Hugh Westwater this past season aren't exactly the type to be taken lightly.

For instance, between the three tankers, every school record with the exception of the free-style rela, mark had gotten a facelifting when the ledger was closed on the Viking's regular season a couple of weeks ago.

RICHTER, a junior, was responsible for four of the marks, establishing new school records in the 50-yard free-style (23.6), the 100-yard free-style (52.6), the 100-yard butterfly (59.0) and the 200-yard free-style (2:01).

As Coach McGraw pointed out, Richter bettered his time in one of the four events each time he competed during the Viking's regular eight-week season.

Year-to-year improvement, which is strongly regarded by swimming mentors, was also prevalent in Richter's performance this year as Henry bettered his time in all four events — particularly the grueling 200-yard free style test (nine-second improvement).

Richter's showing in the district swim meet this year earned him a qualifying spot in both the 50-yard free-style and the 100-yard butterfly.

ANOTHER success story comes in the form of senior co-captain Hugh Westwater who in the words of McGraw, "really has come a long way since his freshman season."

Westwater's claim to fame is the 100-yard breast stroke event. Hugh reshaped the record four times during the past season with his best time set presently at 1:07.7. The Viking tanker also qualified for the state meet in his specialty and has bettered his time during a four - year span by an amazing 20 seconds.

THE THIRD member of Academy's talented trio is a junior swimmer Dennis Miller, who didn't appear to have much difficulty keeping up with teammates Richter and Westwater in the record-smashing assault during the past three months.

Miller's top venture is the 200-yard individual medley which qualified him for the state meet. Denny, who snapped the mark four tmes this season, improved his time in the event by five seconds his first year — cutting that by nine additional seconds this first time around.

Miller's best time in the medley event stands at 2:17.4 but longer distances seem right up Denny's lane as his name also graces the Viking record book in the 400-yard free-style category at 4:43 4.

WESTWATER, RICHTER and Miller team up with teammate Ross Shepard when McGraw calls on his 200-yard medley relay team which also qualified for the state meet. Best time for this effort was 1:50.5.

Richter and Miller will be back for another try next season and McGraw can also look to several record-breaking freshman swimmers to fill in some of the tank berths vacated by graduation.

Naturally it wouldn't be fair or even accurate to suggest that Westwater, Richter and Miller are the whole story of Academy's swimming success this past season.

But on the other hand it would be rather hard to find anyone from McGraw to the clock-watchers in the stands deny that it's kinda nice to have three guys like that splashing around in your pool.

the South Side to hear Woody speak.

Hayes is scheduled to talk on "Christian Living."

The PTA husbands will conduct a brief business meeting at the opening of the program and the school's Boys' Glee Club will sing under the direction of Herb Germain, Barrett's music instructor.

After Woody's talk, refreshments will be served by PTA men and male teachers.

Admission to the event is by ticket only, said Gilbert, but all tickets are free and available to Barrett fathers and sons on request.

If a Barrett boy who does not have a father, desires to go, he should contact Olbert and a male escort will be arranged.

This is the first Father-Son Night for the PTA at Barrett, and Olbert believes that it might be a unique thing in Central Ohio.

45 years this Christian fellowship has done so much for so many people both physically as well as spiritually.

Now is an opportunity for all of us to support the "Y" program in its new headquarters by becoming a member.

The first annual membership drive is now underway to enlist the active support of its friends.

I know that all who believe in the work of the "Y" will join me in purchasing a membership in this greatest of all Christian organizations dedicated to working with and for youth.

Let us all join hands in support of the South Side "Y" membership drive and become a stockholder in youth.

He happened to mention this fact at the Muncie meeting and the Indianians did the rest.

Tuesday was a kind of field day for Southern Kiwanis Besides the Indiana group, visits were paid by both the West Franklin and the West Side Kiwanis Clubs.

Seven high school keyclubbers also attended.

"We were very pleased to host the out-of-state visitors," Georhart said this week. "Their spirit for Kiwanis was quite a lesson for all of us."

patient about it," Sara said "She was very sweet and smiling, "especially when you consider all the things she had on her mind with an approaching wedding."

Mrs. Carr gave the same type of wedding gift to her older daughter, Elaine, some five years ago.

"This painting of Cherie was, perhaps, the most difficult thing I've ever undertaken. I just couldn't feel satified about it. In fact," she related, "one day I came down to the studio and scrubbed the whole thing off and started over again."

This is unusual, too, when you realize that Mrs. Carr has done hundreds of portraits, and is considered among the more talented female artists in the greater Columbus area.

Even the actual wedding ceremony was a bit unusual. It was performed by two ministers, Rev. Richard Yeagley (Cherie's brother-in-law) and the Broad Street Methodist minister, Rev. David Skeen, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride chose a taffeta gown fashioned along princess lines with a scoop neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The front panel was delicately appliqued with silk thread and pearls, and the full-pleated back skirt continued from a bow into a chapel train.

Miss Judith Mosley served as maid-of-honor. She and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann Schmidt, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Susan Ellen Thomas, wore indentical misty green taffeta gowns, styled with scoop necklines, brief sleeves and dome - shaped street-length skirts. The floor length overskirts were designed with asymetrical drapes caught to side bows.

Mr. Dean S. Brown served as best man, and guests were seated by Mr. Al G. Jackson, Mr. N. Douglas Pritt, Mr. Paul E. Neal and Mr. John N. Lattimer. Ernie Patrick Yeagley served as ring bearer.

The new Mrs. Thomas attended Ohio State University after graduation from South, and is now employed with State Auto Insurance Co.

Mr. Thomas was graduted from South High School and attends Ohio State University Twi-Light School. He is associated with the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Following a week-long trip through the south, the couple will be at home at 773 Seibert-st after Mar. 23.

Jon Ellefritz Is Spending 'Junior Year' In Japan

Jon Ellefritz is finding life in Japan a satisfying experience while spending a "junior year abroad" as a college student.

Since Jon writes so well, the rest of this account will be in his own words:

"Spring is just around the corner and it's supposed to be the best season here in Japan. In some nearby places the plums are already blossoming.

"The family I'm staying with have been really wonderful. The mother and a 14-year-old daughter don't speak English but understand a few words. My Japanese father and brother (he's my age and goes to a different university) both speak English, though they both speak Japanese to me until there's something I can't understand. Sometimes this happens very quickly—after the first word. It certainly helps to be taking a course in the language at school.

"I've gotten used to most of the food. In fact there are many Japanese dishes that I really enjoy, including raw fish and squid. Tuna is my favorite kind of raw fish. Maybe this is logical or natural, since at Miami (of Florida) I sometimes seemed to be living entirely on tuna fish salad sandwiches.

"There are few things that I rebel at, especially natto (fermented soybeans) and nomako (raw sea slugs) which are crunchy, slimy and taste like soap.

"At the International Christian University, we have three and a half weeks of spring vacation. I intend to stretch it to a month, but it still won't be as long as that of most Japanese universities which have 50 to 60 days. I'll be travelling all over southwestern Japan, with a week or so on an art trip in the old capitals of Kyoto and Nara.

"Train travel isn't very expensive, as long as you're a student and travel second class. The second class travel has its disadvantages, since the cars are usually equipped with seats whose backs are made of hard wood, are completely vertical and non-reclining.

"ICU has three terms in the year, which is quite a change from Miami. Everything is so compact. It's difficult to believe that midterms were over two weeks ago, and finals are just two weeks away.

"It might interest you to know that I'm considering switching to journalism. Haven't made any absolute decisions yet, but I'll probably change my major to political science (my main interest in the journalism field) after returning to Miami."

Jon says, as do all persons far from home, that mail from the States is greatly appreciated by him. He would be happy to hear from his school friends and teachers, so we'll give his address: In care of Mr. Ikebe, 3-884 Kitamchi, Ki-Chijuji, Musashino-shi, Tokyo, Japan.

The gustiness of March should be abating a little, but the only "weather" that bothers these youngsters is "whether" they'll have a nice birthday. Ronald Griffin, Brenda McKnight, Walker Caldwell, Ronald Hayes, Charles Kennedy, Sally Larimer, Sandra Ratliff, Pamela Bayes, Rebecca Adams, Linda Sue Bush, Richard Scholz and Linda Theado.

The teenage segment of birthdayites includes Ruth Groezinger, Sue McNutt, Barbara Johnson and Don Murnane.

Happy birthdays are wished for these adult friends and neighbors: Elizabeth Gage, Charles Mason, Betty Obert, Robert Gireffre, Dorothy Germaine, Joan Butler, Mary Buck, Mary Jane Aschner, Dorothy Weakley, Margaret Spiker, Pat Nailberger, Jean Ward, Virginia Leonard, Mary Leist, "Doc" Crary and Marianne Spohn. Belated greetings to Fred Gambaugh, who was 90 on Mar. 19.

A chicken and noodle luncheon will be served by the Ruth Circle of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church on Wednesday, Mar. 27, from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Included on the 80 cent menu are slaw, bread, coffee and home-made pie. The chicken and noodles may also be bought for take-home consumption.

New officers of the South Gate Optimist Club are Mrs. Robert Ward, president; Mrs. William Cook, Jr., secretary; Mrs. Ollie Reeves, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Charles Clifton, treasurer. Trustees are Mrs. Willard Hamilton, Mrs. George Meyer and Mrs. James Lines.

Meetings here and there:

The Men's Council of Livingston Methodist Church will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26, at 6:30 p.m. "The Roaring Sixties" will be presented by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., as the evening's program.

The Junior Luther League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold its final meeting until May on Sunday, Mar. 24, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Members are urged to be present. A covered dish luncheon will be held by the WCTU at Washington Avenue EUB Church today, Mar. 21, at noon.

The Fidelis Class of Southwood Church of Christ will hold a corn bread and bean supper at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, Mar. 23.

Circle 4 of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Mar. 26. Martha Circle of South Methodist Church will be the hostess group when the WSCS of that church meets on Wednesday, Mar. 27 at 7:45 p.m. The Mission Circle meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26 at 8 p.m. Devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Karl Duerler. Hostesses will be Mrs. Hugo Schweizer, Mrs. Marie Moore and Mrs. John Fell.

The Southwood Church of Christ Mother's Club will hold a "Come As You Are Party" on Tuesday, Mar. 26 at 8 p.m. Hostess for the event will be Marilyn Clark, 1983 Fairwood-av. Mr. Dumaree, the assistant superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, will be the guest speaker of the Mohawk PTA meeting tonight, Mar. 21, 7:30 p.m. The traditional Mothers Weekend will be held at Capital University, Friday, Mar. 22, and Saturday, Mar. 23.

The Heyl Avenue Parent and Family Life Education Meeting will be held at 1:30 this afternoon. The subject is "Study Habits, Threefold." The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will meet Saturday, Mar. 23 at 6:45 p.m. at the Chittenden.

The Moose - sponsored Boy Scout troop will benefit from a dinner on Wednesday, Mar. 27, 5 to 7 p.m. at the Moose Lodge, 36 W. Sycamore-st. Co-chairmen Helen Sailor and Carol Weaver have chosen to serve roast turkey with dressing (or fish) mashed potatoes and gravy, a vegetable, dessert and coffee. Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Bill and Fran Paulus, 68 E. Welch-av, took advantage of the OSU semester break for daughters Sally and Nancy, to enjoy a vacation in Florida. The foursome are guests of relatives who live near Ft. Myers.

The Senior High Youth Fellowship of Livingston Methodist Church is sponsoring a Family Night on Friday, Mar. 22, at 6:30 p.m. This is in preparation for the Taylor Youth Conference.

Cloverleaf 2 of St. Anthony Hospital will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26, in the home of Mrs. Theodore Miller, 690 Mithoff-st.

The Membrship Committee of the South Side YMCA will meet for a Kick-Off Dinner tonight, Mar. 21, 6:15 p.m. Kits will be distributed to team member callers. Drop-in reports will be held next Monday and Thursday.

The Brotherhood of Hope Lutheran Church will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26. Rev. H. Lindberg will be the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oberkonz, Jr., Columbus residents until last September, were visitors in their old home town this month. They now make their home in Leehigh Acres, Fla. Especially glad to see them were Otto's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oberkonz, Sr., 60 E. Jenkins-av. The vacationers enjoy their new home so much that they are trying to persuade the senior Oberkonzes to also make the move.

PEBS, Chapter 2, will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26, for a noon dessert luncheon. The hostess will be Mrs. August Husse, 95 E. Deshler-av.

Despite a recent hospital trip and surgery, Margie Seakman, 820 S. 3rd-st, is once again planning to continue her Easter project of filling Easter baskets to give the patients of Orient State Institute.

She will be most grateful for donations of cottage cheese cartons, candy, Saran wrap, etc. If she recovers sufficiently, she hopes to bake cookies for the baskets, as she has done in past years. A call to HI. 4-0832 will enable interested donors to learn complete details about this worthwhile project. Margie has been kind enough in past years to let this writer help in the final assembly, and it is quite a thrill to see the many colorful baskets.

Bill and Dorothy Fornof, 103 Fornof-rd, enjoyed an early spring vacation in Florida. The busy couple visited with Bill's parents, who now reside in the southern state.

The Loyal Workers' Class of Gates - Fourth Methodist Church will meet on Tuesday, Mar. 26, 8 p.m.

The ailing list includes Anna Stertzer, Mrs. Ida Bosworth, Elizabeth Shaffer, Mrs. Howard Pfeifer, Mrs. Harry Factor, Mrs. Cherie Kovach, Bob Miller, Keith Groom, Jean Wolfe and Mrs. John Tope, Sr.

The Luther League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church is sponsoring a Variety Show to be held on Sunday, Mar. 24.

Dec. 20, 1803, the U. S. took possession of Louisiana from France at a cost of $15 million.

Trained In Field

Army Specialist Four Joseph A. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew D. Ford, 1306 Oakwood-av, recently took part in a four-week field training exercise with other members of the 3rd Armored Division near Grafenwohr, Germany.

The training included varied types of range firing and day and night maneuvers.

Specialist Ford, an assistant gunner in Battery A of the division's 6th Artillery in Gelnhausen, entered the Army in October, 1959 and arrived overseas in May, 1962 on this tour of duty.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of South High School.

News 'n' Notes of Camp Fire Girls

By PRISCILLA LENOX
HI. 4-1051

Camp Fire Girls of the Southeast District will observe the 53rd anniversary of the organization by attending a vesper service at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Mar. 22, in the Eastminster Presbyterian Church, 3100 E. Broad-st.

The Rev. Robert Batz will address the girls.

An election of officers was held by the Wa-Ta-Kan-Yas Camp Fire Girls. Officers for the next two months will be:

President, Kristine Parker; vice-president, Jean Yenichek; secretary, Nancy Holleran; treasurer, Becky Ebright, and scribe, Linda Theado.

Members of the group received their first honor beads at a recent ceremonial. They used the beads to decorate their jackets. These ceremonial jackets are being worn this birthday week at school.

On Sunday, Mar. 17, the girls attended church in a group then returned to their leader's home for breakfast. Mrs. Herman Naezele is the leader. On Tuesday, Mar. 19, a tour was made of the Main Post Office.

On Friday, Mar. 15, honor beads were awarded the Wa-Lo-Wa-Tom Camp Fire Girls in the home of their leader, Mrs. G. C. Miller, 51 Frebis-av. The girls earned most of their beads in Citizenship, which denotes service to church, community and school. The girls will wear their beaded jackets during this birthday week at St. Leo's where they attend school.

Members receiving the honor beads were Nancy Kerscher, Pamela Fickle, Debbie Miller, Christine Ochs, Mary Ann Ochs, Christine Plank, Rosemary Riat, Christine Sauer, Roseanne Schneider and Patty Treneff.

Miss Cannon Is Loud And Clear In 'How To Succeed'

Attention local offices of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith:

One of your alumns is in Columbus.

She's Dyan Cannon and worked in your Phoenix, Ariz., office for six months. She's not, however, in Columbus to manipulate the stock quotation boards.

Instead, she's manipulating audiences at Veterans Memorial in the delightful "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," which opened there last week and will run until a Saturday matinee.

"This is the first time I've ever been in Columbus," she smiled, tugged at a long string of pearls around her neck and lit a cigarette (not necessarily in that order).

Actually, with the long list of shows (over 300 TV spots) packed into her mere 23 years, you'd think Miss Cannon would become rather blase about just another show like "How to Succeed."

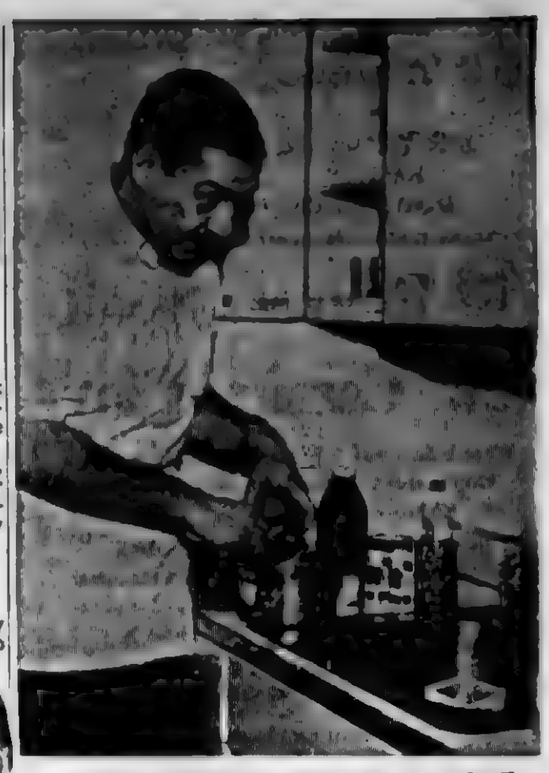
"Oh, but this is not just another show," she said. "This is one of the best musical comedies in the country. No wonder I'm excited about it."

Damsel Dyan plays the female lead (Rosemary) in the refreshing show, opposite young up-and-comer Dick Kallman and Willard Waterman of Great Gilderaleeve fame.

In an opening number, "Happy to Keep His Dinner Warm," Dyan shows her vocal chord prowess. It's easy to take.

The Late Great On TV Tuesday

"The Tall American—Gary Cooper" will be a tribute to the late movie giant, on Tuesday, Mar. 26, in an hour-long "Project 20" program on WLW-C, TV 4.



Cooper

He will be portrayed as representing "something peculiarly American" in the show which will draw upon many sources, including archive news film, home movies made available by Mrs. Cooper and footage from some of the late star's best-known motion pictures.

Perhaps Audrey Hepburn summed up "Coop" best when she said about him, "He's got such an American face—like a cowboy, or Abraham Lincoln."

ALL PRETTY girls use a telephone for a prop at one time or another, but few have put Alexander Graham's brainchild to better use than pixie-ish Dyan Cannon who has the female lead in "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying."

Jack Denton Tries Hard To Please

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

Smiling (outwardly), pleasant (abundantly) and funny (professionally), John William Deindorfer (that's German for Jack Denton) works hard at pleasing Columbus audiences (impressively).

That's no easy task when you consider that most of Denton's 9 to 10:25 a.m. audience tunes him in on WLW-C, TV-4's "Jack Denton Show," in the midst of clearing the breakfast dishes.

"Sure, it's hard to be funny — even pleasant — on some mornings at 9 a.m.," he said during a talk in the station's darkened Studio B on the Olentangy River-rd. "Sometimes, strangely enough, it's even harder to keep from being overly syrupy."

If nothing else, Denton tries hard to please. It got so bad at one point in his life that it took a psychiatrist to tell him that it's really not important that everybody likes him — advice he's taken wisely.

In his efforts to please Columbus audiences, the 38-year-old veteran showman changed his style. Constant viewers of the Denton show have probably noticed this: the emphasis on comedy has been de-emphasized with finese unattainable by Ohio State football opponents.

Anyone who's known Denton for any length of time —before he came to WLW-C on Oct. 23, 1961, can spot the change at first glance.

When Denton was on the road, seeking bookings coast-to-coast, he had hand-out sheets, as most performers do which gave a brief summary of his talents. His slogan on this sheet sums up the change best — "The Scream of the Crop" it reads.

That was the old Denton. That was the Wow-Eee-Wow, knock 'em dead, stand-up comic in the best tradition of Milton Berle, for it was Uncle Milty that Denton aspired to —even going as far at age 16 as to steal material from the granddaddy of all joke stealers.

"I was a hero-worshipper then — still am, I suppose. Every performer starting out imitates to a certain degree. Milton Berle is the greatest comedian in the world in person and I wanted to be like him," Denton remembered.

The deep-toned entertainer got started in comedy in 1943 when he went on an amateur show using Berle's jokes. Milton was playing the same theater, caught Denton's act and, two years later, hired him as a writer.

The Denton web was beginning to weave itself.

It spun in and out of countless night club appearances, with Denton an accomplished drummer, too. It expanded to comedy writing for Red Skelton and "My Friend Irma" radio show and later to doing Parr Show appearances, "Naked city," and a Mort Sahl TV special, among others.

He's come a long way from Aurora (song cue) and working under agent's orders to audition for two-bit night clubs. Even those days, however, were fun days for Denton.

"I remember one time when our trio had something like 17 auditions in one week," he related. "We got to like going from club to club and one day, in our hotel room, a club owner called us on a job offer.

"'Can't make it,' the bass player told the caller. 'We've got four more auditions this week,' he said, and hung up."

Now it's Jack Denton today, Mar. 21, 1963 — a new Jack Denton, this time more sophisticated, quicker with the ad-lib and distilled with a pleasantness that would make a Sunday stroll through Franklin Park as unpleasant as an air raid attack, in comparison.

But, it's not a particularly satisfied Jack Denton. Oh, he's fond of Columbus, all right, and enjoys the freedom of his seven and one-half hours a week before the cameras. The lure of bigger things, as always, shines brightly, though.

He came closer than many people realize to being the Paar Show replacement when Jack took his first walk. "Maybe this is what I'm shooting for," he commented. "I do know that this is something that I'd really like to do."

There are those who feel he'd do well at it, too.

JOE FAN JR. AND FRIEND

WHEN YOU'RE 12 years old, basketball games aren't all cheers or a pounding heart as young Kenny Weimer of RR 2, London, displays as he intently watches the action in Saturday evening's AA district tourney finals from his special private box at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. When questioned about his allegiance during the fray, Kenny calmly remarked that he didn't particularly care who won. He simply loves basketball — and cotton candy.

Vet-Loaded South Nine Opens April 3

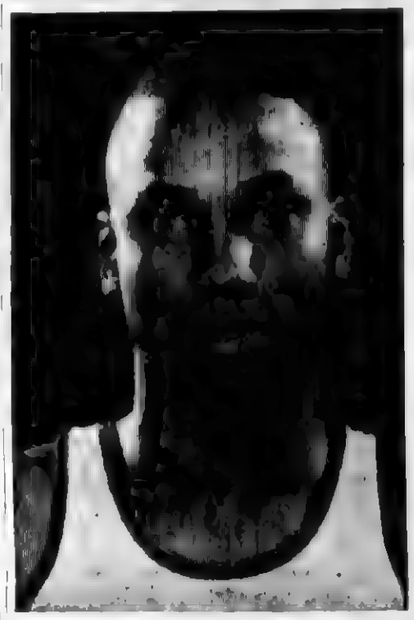
By ART KIENZLE

With the basketball season over, high school baseball coaches are in the process of putting together their prospective baseball nines.

At South High School, new diamond coach Robert Noland has already gathered his troops for workouts in the Bulldog gymnasium after school.

THOSE BOYS who were interested in trying out signed up some weeks ago and, according to Noland, there were about 80 boys interested. Most of the new boys (10th and 11th graders) will not get into action until the weather breaks.

Coach Noland has a returning letterman for each position on his team and consequently South's 12 lettermen are working out in preparation for their first game of the season, Apr. 3, at St. Charles.



This season's 12 lettermen are pitchers Bob White and Jerry Robinson, catcher Joe Middendorf, first baseman Herb Klopfer, second sacker Bob Scott; shortstops Andy Poczik and Tom Scheiderer; third baseman Rock Roshon and outfielders Bill Howard, Rick Coverdale, Gary Kipp and Mike Rickard.

Roosevelt Five Is Runnerup

Team statistics showed last week that the Roosevelt Junior High cagers completed their '62-'63 season in good order, closing with a 9-4 mark which included seven league wins in nine tries, good enough for the sectional run-

NEWMAN BIGGEST 'NEWS'

Seven Records Fall As Cards Win Meet

High school track fans around the area got a "sneak preview" of things to come this spring at the Greater Columbus Indoor Meet Saturday afternoon at OSU's French Field House.

Worthington's fleet-footed Cardinals topped the 26-team field with a total of 31 points, nailing down their second straight preview title.

SEVEN OLD MARKS were shattered during the course of the meet which saw approximately 350 schoolboy runners competing for honors.

Biggest news of the meet was the high jump mark set by 6-5, 190-pound Bill Newman of Hilliard. The Wildcat senior, who turned in his basketball togs for track shoes just one week before, sailed through space for six feet, six inches to eclipse the old record by three inches.

Most amazing factor in Newman's performance was the fact that he engaged in only one practice session before the meet and then bettered the state mark in the event by a split inch.

STANDARD BEARER Worthington was responsible for four of the other records as the Cardinals smashed the old mark in the distance medley event and sent three individuals through the ribbon in top times.

Gary Hazlett cracked the 440 record; Jeff Echert set the pace in the mile event and Russ Cellars outdistanced the field in the 880 event to complete the Worthington string.

South's Willie Thompson picked up the remaining two records, streaking to victory in both the low and high hurdles events.

ANOTHER FINE individual performance was turned in by East's Fred Lundy who piled up the most points at the meet by taking blue ribbon honors in both the broad jump and 60-yard dash before anchoring the Tiger's winning 880-yard relay quintet.

East and Whitehall provided Worthington with most of its competition as the two East Side schools deadlocked in the runnerup position with 23 points apiece.

Other team scores were: Central, 19; Gahanna, 15; Hilliard, 14; Eastmoor, 13; South, 13; North, 11; Linden, 10; Arlington, 9; Westerville, 7; Whetstone, 6; Brookhaven, 4; West, Groveport and Ready, 3.

Bexley, Hartley, Dublin, Grove City, Mifflin, Pleasant View, St. Charles, University and Walnut Ridge also participated in the meet but failed to score.

Here are the individual results:

Summaries

South Gals Win Bowling Match

The South High girls' bowling team won the recent Invitational Bowling Tournament sponsored by Bishop Hartley and held at Main Lanes.

South blasted a team total of 1,556 to top the 10-school field. Bexley (1,390) and Walnut Ridge (1,330) finished in the second and third place spots.

DONA CARTER paced the gal keglers with 356 pins spilled while Diana Gary was close behind with 348. Other South participants were Larry Dixon, Sharon Hahn and Mary Jane Gannon.

Other participating schools were DeSales, Grandview, Hartley, Ready, Pleasant View, St. Mary and St. Mary of the Springs.

Will Regress Spoil 'New' Cassius Clay?

When ballads and folk songs sing of that day,
They'll speak of the decline of a pretender called Clay.
It was billed to be violent and over in four,
Now Cassius is silent 'cause it lasted six more.

By the time the last catcall had been absorbed into the rafters of Madison Square Garden last week, a very disillusioned young pugilist named Cassius Marcellus Clay had discovered (apparently to no one's surprise but his own) that except for a handful of loyal supporters, he didn't have a friend in the world.

IT MUST HAVE come as a bitter blow to the 21-year-old showman who might have figured that his boosting poetic quips had endeared him to the sporting world.

But the ex-Olympic champ with the Roman handle and the Castro-style cockiness apparently had overlooked two prime elements.

One, American sports fans take to the underdog like mustard to the hot dog. Clay has done everything in his power to blur that kind of personal image.

SECONDLY, PEOPLE silently endure the mouthy bravados of the aspiring contender only as long as he can produce. Cassius didn't produce last week and he didn't have to go beyond the fourth round to be reminded of the fact.

Probably the soundest observation Clay ever uttered came in his bitter post-fight comment that "they came to see me whipped." That, young gladiator, they did. Even our boss, who isn't the blood-thirsty type, expressed his pre-fight desire to see Clay humbled.

THE CLAY PEDESTAL took a severe shaking in the Garden last week. The fight boys have even begun to write the result off as a modern requiem for a heavyweight contender.

Maybe the humble pie that was forced into the Clay cavity was a blessing in disguise. Cassius has sworn off the predictions and apparently is satisfied with re-opening the poetry field for Carl Sandberg.

Maybe we're wrong, but we think we'll be hearing more from a reformed Mr. Clay — and we don't mean on a boosting basis. Could be the whole bit is a clever psychological smoke screen.

If it isn't, at least Clay's "whooping mouth" disease seems to be communicable. Sonny Liston is talking about "manslaughter" charges in references to Cassius and guess who's making predictions now? Sonny says, "It's over and done. Clay in one."

SOUR GRAPES DEPT. — One of our most pro-Ohio State friends, still unable to swallow the Indians loss after two and a half weeks, suggested the other day that the nation's sportswriters honor Hoosier fans with their third consecutive "sportsmanship trophy."

JET STREAMS — Just a reminder that the ninth annual Columbus Jet Book Ticket Drive is now in progress. Ticket chairman, Bob Grueser, has indicated the importance of the drive by pointing out that advance sales provide the local club with half of its pre-season income.

No increase in price, incidentally — still just $10 for 10 general admission tickets—a $2.50 savings. Book tickets may be purchased at the Jet Stadium Office on W. Mound-st from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. up until opening night (Apr. 18).

Remember — the annual Book Ticket Drive is the major medium through which individuals in the Central Ohio area can insure the continued success of their community-owned, non-profit Jets baseball club and Youth Foundation.

RUNWAY TEE OFF?—And you think you got problems? Consider one of the difficulties involved with the city's plan to add a second municipal golf course to the local landscape.

The city owns 135 acres of land under the approach to Port Columbus directly east of Hamilton-rd. The problem, in part, involves patronage. Will Pop tee off number six with flight 808 bearing down overhead? That's the $200,000 question.

If the other problem (possibility of federal government use of the land) is solved, this item is apparently the only stumbling block.

CITY RECREATION Director Nick Barack is hoping that the "public support" question can be answered by feeling out a number of local golfers and professional swingers.

"A lot of golfers demand complete silence," Barack said. "If this site isn't suitable, we'll have to start looking elsewhere. This would involve the purchase of additional land and that's an expensive item."

Barack knows of a similar situation where a city recreation department constructed a golf course in close proximity to an airport. "I plan to write them and find out what their experience has been," Barack said. "We've got to be sure before we go ahead. This has to be a self-sustaining operation."

Nick's right, of course, but his problem set us to thinking. After four years of dodging hooks and slices, we wonder who would be irritated more—the golfers or the approaching aircraft?

PLAY FOR 'FULL HOUSE'

THOSE AREN'T pasteboards, but Jet ticket books these two gentlemen are holding but the best hand both ticket drive chairman, Bob Grueser (right), and Jet Business Manager Chuck Wareham are hoping for this season is a "full house." The Jets' annual pre-season book ticket drive is currently in progress. (See Wit 'n Wisdom column).

DOUBLE TROUBLE during the past four seasons for athletic opponents of St. Marys have been this last taste of the Sauer vintage at the Rambler school. Twins Tim (kneeling) and Tom Sauer will close out a 12-year period which included five brothers competing for St. Marys when they graduate this June.

WON'T BE THE SAME

'Last Of Sauers' Gone From Ram Sports Pic

For the first time in 12 years, there will be something missing from the athletic program at St. Marys High School when the '64 football season gets underway next September.

When Rambler fans check out the grid roster, they might be surprised to note the absence of a name that has graced the sporting scene at the South Side school as long as this present generation can remember.

THERE WILL be no more Sauers playing ball at St. Marys. The last of the Sauers, twins Tim and Tom, close the books with graduation this June.

The story began in 1951 when Jim Sauer, the oldest of five sons of Edward Sauer, 760 S. Third-st, first donned a Ram football jersey. Jim turned his attention to the hardwood when the grid season was completed, completing the first chapter of the tale with graduation in 1955.

The following fall, brother John took up the Sauer banner at St. Marys, becoming an important part of the Rams' athletic success in four sports (football, basketball, baseball and track) before accepting his diploma in 1960.

BY THE TIME John had headed on to college, three more brothers were making their presence known on the athletic field. Brother Steve was already following in John's footsteps as a sophomore while Tim and Tom were learning the ropes as freshmen.

Steve competed in football, basketball and baseball before turning the family reins over to the twins in 1962.

As in the past, Tim and Tom wasted little time picking up where the three previous Sauers had left off. Both boys filled berths on football, basketball, baseball and track teams at St. Marys —and needless to say—filled them quite capably.

TO BRING the story right up to date, halfback Tim and guard Tom helped the Rams to their most successful football season in several years last fall, working toward St. Marys outstanding 14-5 cage mark this past basketball season as forwards.

With the hardwood season wrapped up, Tim will close out his sports activities at St. Marys as a member of the track team while Tom is holding out in hopes of a Ram baseball squad.

To set the record straight for the present, Jim is now married, the father of three girls, and employed by the Columbus Dispatch. John recently transfered to Ohio State after spending two years at St. Joseph College (Indiana). Steve is currently in the Marine Corps in California.

TIM'S FUTURE plans include college (probably Ohio State) while Tom hasn't made up his mind yet in regards to more learning. Incidentally, it isn't an all-male household at the Sauer residence. The five brothers have three sisters.

The "Sauer dynasty" at St. Marys is drawing to a close. Of course, with Jim married and John engaged, it isn't too unlikely that the name will be back on the Ram roster in the not too distant future.

By the way, all five brothers happen to come by their athletic prowess quite naturally. Their father, Ed, was quite a football and basketball star in his own right.

If you're wondering where Papa Sauer cut his sporting teeth, we're only giving you one guess. You see, the names Sauer and St. Marys were even synonymous in those days.

Lloyd Pate Reb Captain

By DOROTHY DAVIES

Members of the South High '62-'63 basketball teams were honored by their coaches, the student body and guest speaker "Whitey" Regan at a Recognition assembly last week.

Regan, head basketball coach at Capital University, told the student body that they should be proud to be a part of South High School for the school has many successful graduates.

HEAD COACH John Colmery announced the recipients of awards at the assembly. Fred McGhee was elected "Most Valuable Player" and Bill Bullock was named most valuable substitute by his teammates.

The free-throw champion for the season was Dick Schunlemier, who hit on 79 per cent of his foul line attempts. Highlight of the assembly was the selection of Lloyd Paten as the Bulldog's '63-'64 captain.

Two year awards were presented to Fred McGhee Dick Schundlemeier, Tom Hayes, Paul Hunt and Joe Middendorf. First-year awards went to Bill Bullock, Homer Bivens, Marion Iverson, Paul Pate, Lloyd Pate and Jim Walker.

Coach Robert Jackson introduced assistant reserve basketball coach Ted Maley and Maley introduced the reserve team. John Doyle, team photographer, showed film clips, reviewing the past basketball season.

South 'Y' Calls Softball Meeting

In answer to many recent inquiries, the South Side Branch YMCA has announced that a softball organizational meeting for South Side churches will be held, Monday, Apr. 8 at 7:30 in the new "Y" building on Southwood-av.

All churches desiring to field teams in the "Y" Leagues this year are requested to have representatives present at the meeting. Leagues will be formed in the following classifications: Junior Boys (14 and under), Girls (18 and under), Intermediate Boys (15-17) and Senior Slo-Pitch (men, 18 and up).

ADULT HOMEMAKER CLASSES SLATED

There's Always An Easier Way To Tackle An Old Job

By Jane Robinson

No one expects a young woman to jump into an automobile and take off without having received some instruction on how to drive.

But thousands of wives are put in the driver's seat of their homes without even rudimentary training.

Believing that it takes more than a magic wand to help today's wife meet multiple roles thrust at her, three state and city boards have invited local women to an open house Friday, Mar. 22, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The sponsoring organizations have set up a homemaking exhibit in the family living center of Lincoln Park Homes, 1700 S. Twentieth-st. The Home and Family Living Program, in which free classes will begin next Monday and Tuesday, will be introduced.

The Columbus Board of Education has employd Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to coordinate the program, and the Columbus Metropolitan Housing authorities have equipped the former nursery building to the needs of the project.

The Vocational Home Economics department of the Ohio State Board of Education is financing the instruction program.

Two classes are being introduced to initiate the pilot program. A series of 25 sessions will be held twice weekly through June.

Mrs. Sigler and Mrs. Lavon McCullough, both of whom hold master's degrees, will conduct the class entitled "Stretching the Dollar."

"Our instruction will be flexible," the coordinator stressed.

She mentioned that personal tastes, family income and size of the family unit must be considered rather than hidebound rules that might be wonderful for the Joneses but impractical for their neighbors.

Mrs. Alice P. Johnson, former clothing teacher at Ohio State, will hold the sewing classes, which will show how not only to make and remake clothing, but will explain its care.

Fabric values will be discussed and other skills, such as slip covering and drapery making, will be included.

Earl Ross, management assistant at the Metropolitan Housing Board, emphasized that it is the job of the organizations to create interest in this program that is being pioneered in Ohio.

"A similar plan has proved enormously successful in Dallas, Tex.," he mentioned.

Though the administrators expect to draw enrollment from Lincoln Park, they pointed out that it is open to anyone who wishes to take advantage of it.

Suggestion sheets have been circulated asking homemakers to indicate the problems of the home with which they need help.

A few to catch the eye are as follows:

Making our money last through the month.

Getting my housework done without being worn out.

Getting my children to eat foods good for them.

Getting my family to help with the home chores.

Making friends with neighbors.

If the answers to these and other facets of homemaking are found, certainly the homes of Columbus will become better homes with fewer mothers exhausted by their battle to function as family bookkeeper, cleaning woman, laundress, chief cook and bottle washer, nurse, kindergarten teacher, civic leader, purchasing agent, interior decorator, gardener, chauffeur and amateur psychologist.

IMAGINATION, NOT COSTLINESS is the guide to these homemade toys made by members of the sophomore Home Economics class at Canal Winchester High School, which will be exhibited at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center open house this Friday. Shown on the left is Agnes Bigerton with Lani Day. The girls worked under the direction of Miss Rita Higgins, student teacher.

UNUSUAL STORAGE IDEAS are shown by Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to Earl Ross at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center. Mrs. Sigler will coordinate the Adult Education program being pioneered Monday. Ross represents the Columbus Metropolitan Housing board, which has equipped the former nursery building.

EIGHT TO 10 women of Lincoln Park homes have worked with Mrs. Evelyn Gill, above, to make the draperies for the windows of the newly decorated Family Living Center on S. Twentieth-st. Mrs. Gill is president of Lincoln Park Community Council as well as of the PTA.

WOSU To Air School Problem

Minds and money — plenty of the first and not nearly enough of the latter — are the problems scheduled for discussion on Suburban Viewpoint Thursday, Mar. 21, at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 34, WOSU-TV.

Students and the facilities needed for their education in Groveport and Canal Winchester will be studied by James Brandau, Canal Winchester superintendent of schools, and Paul Williams, executive head of the Madison Local School District, with Winston W. Hill, producer-host of the program.

Facts Available On Air Reserve

Information on Naval Air Reserve participation is available to interested ex-servicemen with Group 9 ratings and 17-year-old high school students in their junior or senior year.

For details contact Chief Paul Sherman, ADRC, or David Webb, ADR 1, at Port Columbus, 653 N. Hamilton-rd, BE. 7-6218.

Easter Seals will be mailed on Mar. 6. Watch for your seals in the mailbox. Then use them.

TB Society Lists Test Results

Ten positive reactors were found through free TB tests given in Canal Winchester, Madison and Hamilton District schools, the Tuberculosis Society reported. Eight hundred forty-eight first, seventh and 11th graders recently received the free tests.

C. Edward Harrison, society director of case-detention, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active, contagious tuberculosis. It does mean he has been in close contact with someone who has active TB.

Area schools and the number of reactors given follow-up X-rays are: Canal Winchester, 1; Groveport Elementary, 1; Brice, 0; Edwards, 0; Groveport High, 1; Hamilton South, 4; Hamilton Central, 0; Obetz, 0; and Hamilton High School, 3.

MIGHTY POOR PARKING

ONE OF MANY who wondered how the driver got out with a mere bloody nose, Bob Green, 160 Colvin-rd, peers at the wreckage of the car straddling a sewer ditch on Williams-rd. A/20 Gary L. Cisney failed to see the barricade guarding the sewer site Saturday night and skidded into the crane at the edge of the pit and flipped into his unusual "parking place." The right-hand door and fender of the vehicle still hung on the boom Sunday afternoon. Cisney crawled from the wreckage.

FFA-FHA Announces King And Queen At Banquet

Chuck Schultz and Nancy Thorton ruled as king and queen at the annual FFA-FHA banquet at Canal Winchester last Saturday night.

Nancy Thorton was the FHA member selected as the senior to receive the outstanding class award. The FFA does not announce the senior member receiving the like award until achievement day later in the spring.

Other award winners are juniors, Richard Brenner and Joan Solt; sophomores, Bill Haynes and Marilyn Brenner, and freshmen, Jeff Reinhard and Marsha Leupold.

These awards were based upon accomplishments in vocational fields, scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

The FFA also gave five awards for the farming efforts of the past year. These were won by Kenny Simpson, crop; Chuck Schultz, swine; Jim Fogle, sheep; Richard Brenner, dairy, and Chris Hockman, beef.

Darrell Parks and Mrs. Olive Woodyard are the FFA and FHA advisors.

Only Jets Now At Lockbourne

The era of piston aviation at Lockbourne AFB ended Thursday, Mar. 14, when the last of Lockbourne AFB's propeller-driven KC-97 air refuelers was flown to Guam for new duty in the Pacific.

The last four-engine, gas-powered tanker, tail No. 609 of the 321st Air Refueling Squadron, was flown out by a Strategic Air Command crew from Guam to make way for arrival of the first sleek, faster, all-jet KC-135 Stratotanker due in next month. The KC-135 is the military version of the Boeing 707.

ALTHOUGH IN this country only a matter of months, these Israel immigrants are making quite a name for themselves putting on folk dance exhibitions from their native land. Standing, from left, are Uri Katz and Yaacov Davidovitch. Seated is Uri's recent bride, Nili, who designs and makes the costumes. They're all Ohio State University students.

Trio Working Way Through Ohio State With Israeli Dance

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

A trio of Ohio State University students — recent immigrants from Israel — highlighted a recent dance and music festival sponsored by Hadassah at the Jewish Center.

The unique thing about this group, known as the Sabra Trio, is that they're attempting to work their way through school by staging dances of their native land.

Included in the trio is Yaacov Davidovich, 1034 Neil-av, who came to this country six months ago. The dance team was actually formed by Uri and Nili Katz, 107 Chittenden-av, who immigrated a mere three months ago.

Both Uri and Yaacov are in mechanical engineering, while pretty, blond Nili is studying interior decorating. With the group, Nili contributes by designing and making all of the seven costumes used by the two talented lads.

Their appearance at the Jewish Center marked the 51st birthday of Hadassah.

Also featured on the bill were Rikdu Eetanu, Hadassah's own contribution to Israeli dance in Columbus and Rakdanim, the teen-age dance group which recently affiliated with the Jewish Center.

Both Rikdu Eetanu and Rakdanim are directed by Mrs. Jack Zeff, a pioneer in the Jewish folk dance movement in the greater Columbus area. In fact, she brought the first folk dance classes to the Jewish Center.

She pointed out the uniqueness of the Sabra Trio, citing them as "practically alone in their field" in the United States.

And they have impressive credentials.

Uri has been dancing since his early teens. In 1957 he was part of an Israeli student dance group which performed in Moscow as part of a Zionist delegation.

The group won first prize for their performance of "Debka Rafiach," which was one of a series of Debkas presented by the trio at the Jewish Center.

In 1960, Uri toured with a student folk dance group through Europe for three months, participating and winning prizes in festivals in France, Italy, England and Belgium.

Davidovich has appeared before Columbus residents several times in the few months he's been in this country. He teaches Israeli dance at Hillel and has directed the Hillel dancers in many performances this fall—including a TV shot.

Both he and Katz participated in the 1959 Dahlia Festival, the National Dance Arts Festival in Israel.

Their program for Hadassah had the finesse of dancers much older. Both Davidovich and Katz work well together as a team and do equally well solo.

If there is a market for Israeli dancing in this city, things should be bright for this talented threesome.

nerup position behind champion Marion-Franklin.

On an individual basis, Roosevelt's Gil Mathews was named to the first team on the All-Section five. Other players who received honorable mention recognition were captain John Wright, Danny Kauffman, Joe Peterson and Cliff Monford. Mathews led the team both in rebounds and total points scored.

According to Coach Zoog, all boys moving up from his '62-'63 squad to the high school courts next season have good cage potential.

Kennys, Ontario Fix Playoff Tilt For Center Title

Ontario cleared its last hurdle to tie Kenny's Loan for second round honors in the Adult Basketball League at the Jewish Center with a resounding 64-53 win over Raybo Vending last week.

Bob Grad led Ontario with 24 points. Jim Mackin followed Grad with 20 points. Mark Topolosky hit for 21 points for Raybo.

ONTARIO was never headed as it utilized its height advantage to build up a 27-18 half-time lead. The win gives Ontario a 4-1 record for the round, necessitating a playoff with Kenny's Loan.

In the event Ontario defeats Kenny's, a second game will be played for the league championship.

IN THE OTHER game of the evening, Bonnie Builders blasted Duratile, 87-74.

Preston Gurwin led Bonnie with 28 points as Irv Galan and Dick Eschelman hit for 20 and 18 respectively. Bill Mackin again led Duratile with 29 points.

Ontario: Bob Grad 11-2-24, Jim Mackin 7-6-20, Merv Metersky 0-0-0, Mike Stein 1-0-2, Vince Mercurio 4-1-9, Ron Erkis 2-4-8.

Raybo Vending: Mark Topolosky 10-1-21, Milt Lewin 0-1-1, Dick Neustadt 2-2-6, Gary Cheses 2-0-4, Irv Flax 4-2-10, Herb Urell 4-1-0.

Bonnie Builders: Preston Gurwin 11-6-28, Dick Eschelman 9-2-20, Bernie Schutzberg 2-1-5, Dale Raffeld 2-2-6, Irv Galan 5-8-18, Herb Grodner 4-0-8.

Duratile: Bill Mackin 11-7-29, Mike Honigberg 3-0-6, Zal Rosenfeld 5-0-10, Howard Banchefsky 2-1-5, Lenny Chetkin 6-13-25.

Juvenile Court Emphasis On Rehabilitation

(Third of a series by FRANK RYAN)

"This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago," said Juvenile Court Judge Clayton W. Rose. He was talking about a 17-year-old admitted burglar.

The youth is in serious trouble. He had participated in two burglaries of a home with two companions. Articles taken were valued at more than $3,000.

The court must choose among several alternatives in attempting to balance the scales between protection of society and rehabilitation of the offender. He can be bound over to the Franklin County Grand Jury and treated as an adult. The court may also choose to treat him as a juvenile.

Judge Clayton Rose

As a juvenile offender, the teenager could be committed to the Boys Industrial School, referred to an agency such as the Juvenile Diagnostic Center or the Training Institute of Central Ohio, or he could be placed on probation.

Commitment would not be a new experience for the boy. He spent several months in a West Virginia training school as the result of a previous offense in that state. He responded well to training in woodwork and machine operation.

Review of a case history on the boy does not provide a clear-cut course of action. He is the product of a broken home; his parents were divorced when he was five years old, and he has moved back and forth between them.

His formal schooling ended after the eighth grade. While there appeared to be no friction between the boy and either of his parents, there was an equally disturbing element — parental indifference.

The boy shows no remorse for the crime he has committed. He told of a previous "experience" with the victim of the burglary. If the experience as he states it is true, it may constitute a mitigating circumstance — at least for the lack of remorse.

If the report on the boy ended here, the hope for rehabilitation would not appear bright. But the background is not complete at this point. In fact, it takes a more hopeful turn in one brief passage, that says the youth is intelligent, communicative and capable of making friends.

What method should be applied — punishment, custodial care, or rehabilitation?

"The simplest thing for a judge to do," says Judge Rose, "is to pronounce commitment. Rehabilitation efforts are more difficult."

In general, Judge Rose favors employment of every reasonable means of effecting rehabilitation. Commitment to a state institution, Judge Rose feels, should be viewed as a means of training and rehabilitation, rather than punishment and exile from society.

What is the court's attitude concerning an apparent rise in public sentiment for more commitments and less probation? Judge Rose says:

"When I get to the point that I send a child to BIS because of pressure, or when a child is returned to the home time after time for the same reason, I am not being honest with myself.

"If we had better training facilities," Judge Rose continued, "we would, perhaps, take advantage of these facilities. We grant probation at times when, if we had proper training facilities, we would prefer training."

Providing of proper facilities and adequate staffs to assure a workable program of youth training and rehabilitation is a state responsibility, and "they are not providing adequate facilities," Judge Rose said. "It is the duty of the state to administer, and of the legislature to appropriate money," he asserted.

Judge Rose believes that a strong state program in the field of juvenile correction should include appointment of a director of juvenile correction who would have cabinet-level status, and who would be responsible directly to the governor.

While chiding the state for its shortcomings in the field of juvenile correction, Judge Rose did not absolve parents of the prime responsibility for prevention of juvenile delinquency.

"We are expected to step in and do the job that parents are supposed to do," he said. "Many of us, as parents, are giving too much time to civic responsibility and not enough to home."

The court is considering various methods of requiring family activity as a requirement of probation. A probation proviso might require a parent to enroll his son or daughter in a church or school-related activity. The parent would be responsible for transporting the child to and from the activity.

"It taks a lot of patience to be a good parent," Judge Rose said, "and it takes a lot of patience to be a good judge."

At the beginning of the interview, Judge Rose cited a specific case with the words: "This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago."

He might well have made the same comment in discussing almost any case that comes to his attention.

Guest Pulpit . . .

Make The Crown Of Immortal Life Your Goal

From babyhood to old age we are constantly confronted by goals.

These goals are varied—varied in the effort which is necessary to achieve them; varied in the length of time necessary to meet them.

Pastor O'Ffill

The child, after having achieved his goals of crawling, walking and talking, begins to look forward to going to school.

The young man or woman sets his or her goal on a high school diploma, then the prospects of college, of choosing a life's work, of marriage and of parenthood.

Then, through the years, there is the important goal of succeeding and prospering in business, fulfilling the injunction, "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might" (Ecclesiastes 9:10), and the also very important goal of raising children to be good citizens and well prepared to take their places as tomorrow's leaders.

The Apostle Paul, as his life was drawing to a close, wrote, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith" (II Timothy (4:7).

His life had been filled with many hardships, beatings, stonings, imprisonment and rejection.

Yet Paul was able to write that he had finished his course. Why? Because the goal that was his all-consuming desire was to obtain a crown of righteousness which God the righteous Judge would give him.

This was the goal that was ever before him. And failures in other areas were unable to cloud that goal.

In I Corinthians 9:24 (last part) we are admonished, "So run that ye may obtain." The goal implied here to be obtained does not refer to any earthly prize, for we are realistically aware that many goals in this life are left unattained.

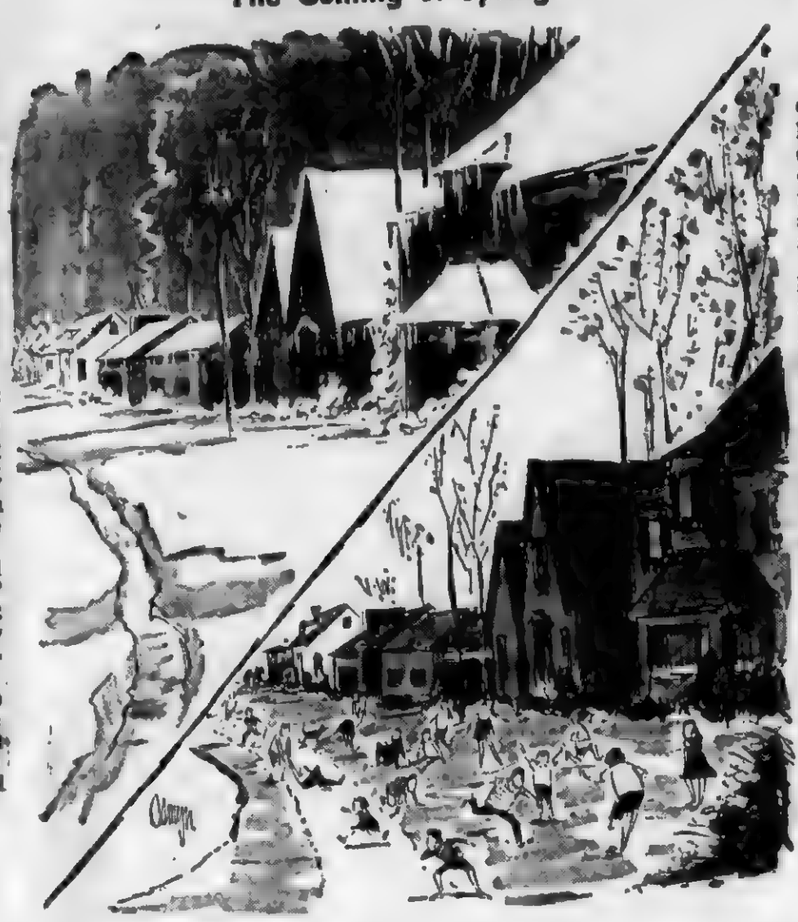
But set before each one is the goal of eternal life, purchased at Calvary by the Son of God that "whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

Yet this life is full of trials and hardships for "your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (II Peter 5:8).

Temptations surround us, allurements of the world beckon us. Yet we know that Christ, Who was victorious over the devil and Who now intercedes for us, is "able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

Paul compares the Christian race of faith to the ancient Roman games in which young men raced one another to win an olive-branch crown. The young Romans trained diligently.

They denied themselves luxuries that might make them lose fitness; they denied themselves pleasures.



While others were banqueting and enjoying frivolous times, they were practicing for the race which was coming — the goal was before them.

Jesus is coming soon to "reward every man according to his works" (Matthew 16:27). May God grant that our day by day, moment by moment goal will be Christ-likeness.

And then when He comes we shall receive not a crown of olive branches that withers away but the crown of immortal life to which the Apostle Paul looked forward.

—Pastor Richard W. O'Ffill
Grove City Seventh Day Adventist Church

The Coming of Spring

Variety . . .

by I. F. Howell

Each spring over earth millions of Christians observe Lent and Easter. From the beginning, the Cross has been the symbol of Christianity. It is made and pictured in various forms. In addition, several other objects are used as symbols of Eastertide.

The bursting pomgranate: The Resurrection, the bursting forth from the Tomb.

The lily: Another symbol of the Resurrection because it blooms at Eastertide.

The phoenix: A legendary bird that is burned, then rises again always.

The butterfly: Its three stages represent the three stages in the life of a Christian; the larva, man's condition unredeemed; the chrysalis, man in the grave; and the pupa, bursting forth from its shell, the Resurrection again.

The Greek Cross with the monogram IC, the first and last letters of the name Jesus.

XC: the first and last letters of the Greek word for Christ.

NIKA: The Greek word for conquerer, Christ overcoming death.

The Cross in Glory: The rays represent the rising sun behind the Cross on Easter morning.

The quatrefoil: Its four leaves are symbolic of the Four Evangels.

It says here . . . . . Facts are for the mind. Symbols are for mind and spirit.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Beef, Pork Prices At Low Point For The Year

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, pineapple.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, green onions, celery.

Protein Foods — Beef "specials," pork roasts and chops, spareribs, frozen fish, fryers, cottage cheese.

When is the best time to buy meat for the home freezer or locker storage?

Now through mid-May, according to meat marketing specialists. They say prices on both beef and pork will be at their lowest level of the year during this period.

As part of this year's record production beef supplies are at a high level. Marketings of fed cattle during the March-May period are expected to show a six to eight per cent increase over last year. Also, the average market weights of the animals are running heavy.

Mrs. Franks

Live cattle prices are down. On choice steers prices have been dropping since early January and are now lower than anytime in several years. Wholesale prices on both hindquarters and forequarters have dropped five to six cents a pound since the first of the year, and are now three to four cents below a year ago.

Also in your favor now is the high quality of the beef. The finest cattle of the year are coming to market; it's grain fed. And, the lowering of beef prices has been mostly on the top grades, since the supply of cow beef and other lower grades of beef are not plentiful at this season.

You can also take advantage of the present seasonal low demand for steaks and rib roasts and store away extra packages of these cuts while prices are low and quality is high. Prices on all short-cooking cuts are sure to go higher when outdoor barbecuing starts.

As for pork, recent production has been about seven per cent above last year and will continue that way through early spring. The current wholesale market is below last year on all cuts. Pork loins are about three cents below early January and the lowest since last December.

So from now until early June is a good time to purchase a half or whole hog, if you have freezer space and can use that much within a period of six months or less. Or you may want to purchase whole loins and have them cut to suit your family's preferences.

At retail, expect good buys on loin roasts and chops, Boston butts, bacon and cured picnics. A few packages of spareribs purchased at 39 cents a pound will taste fine from the barbecue when prices go much higher next summer. Cured hams are in good supply but will receive less emphasis from now until Easter week when they will be featured at low prices.

Poultry And Eggs

Broiler supplies through late March and early April will be almost at the same level as a year ago. Current wholesale prices at 28½ to 29 cents per pound are two to three cents lower than a year ago. Lower prices and more frequent specialing can be expected as the supply increases.

Egg prices at both farm and wholesale levels have dropped four to five cents per dozen in the past three weeks. Some further decline is likely through spring as production increases. The current price spread between large and medium size eggs is very narrow — only two to three cents per dozen, making the large size the most economical on a weight basis.

Are You Really Doing A Dad's Duty?

Rather than to seek someone to blame for the juvenile problems of this community, why not look for a remedy — or starting place for curing it?

"Dad" might be just the person needed to help a troubled boy and keep him from going astray.

Churchill

Who else can so easily win the respect of a young boy and have such a great influence on that child's behavior?

But, maybe Dad is letting himself become too involved in less important matters, outside the family.

Maybe, because of that special club or that extra tough assignment at work Dad is "just too tired and too busy," and takes for granted one of his most important missions — being a father.

From experience, I know how pleasing it is to have a father share the joys of accomplishment and lend a hand with a project that may be a little too big.

Don't overlook this duty, Dad, and don't pass up the opportunity to experience some of the most heart-warming moments of your life.

Fatherless families have special problems that need to be solved. Some devoted individuals and groups such as the Big Brothers and Optimists are doing a great work for people in this situation.

Take that boy of yours out in the yard and play catch or shoot a few baskets with him. Take him along for an afternoon of golf, or fishing.

Teach him to be a sport. Give him moral support when he is glum, and share his joy when he's happy.

Encourage his desire to learn how to work; take him to church.

Be a "Dad"—you won't regret it — and your son may "do you proud" because of it.

'Don't Phone Me . .'

To The Editor:

I wish to commend the businessmen who solicit new customers through ads in your fine paper, rather than harassing them by telephone.

I speak for the mothers whose pre-school children must nap in the early afternoon. Seldom does a day pass without a telephone solicitation during the nap period, waking the children and ruining any chance a tired mother might have of that rare luxury — an undisturbed hour of work or rest.

Never will I patronize businesses that solicit by telephone! I'd love to ask the name and phone number of the solicitor (plus maybe those of her employer!) and some time when they logically might be resting I'd return their calls.

Again, thanks to your advertisers who don't call me. They're the ones who'll get my business.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The simple life costs so little and pays off so much that liberated folks who have learned how to live are astonished at those who still believe that keeping up with the Joneses is the secret of all happiness.

The constant "belittlers" are a poisonous poultice on the souls of other human beings. Many men and women who have made a great success of their lives have done so in spite of the "small-potato" minds and souls and personalities that surround them.

* * *

The capitalistic system, based on the profit incentive motive, is the only system that will build any country, or create free men in a free land, where equality of opportunity is guaranteed under law.

* * *

We hear so much these days about "human relations" developing as a scientific research area of interest. The tragedy is that so many human relations are most inhuman, and make so many people miserable.

* * *

No man or woman "on the way up" ever makes it alone. Nor can they ever pay in full the goodwill debt that they owe to all who have been kind in some darkest hour.

Speaker Seeks Parity Between Governmental And Industrial Wages

Warning that no administration will give civil service employes anything except what they take "with muscles," E. C. Hallbeck spoke before almost 500 government employes last Saturday night.

Hallbeck, who is the national chairman of the Government Employes Council, was the principal speaker when members of the federation from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana gathered at Lockbourne AFB to celebrate the 80th anniversary of Civil Service with a buffet supper and dance.

He denounced the lack of parity between salaries of industry and those of government employes, pointing out that an average increase of $250 a month is needed to bring civil service pay scales up to that of private enterprise.

Noting the large number of women present, Hallbeck stated that congress has a great fear of organized women.

If a half million women would unite and tell Congress to jump, the speaker stated that the only question it would ask would be "How high?"

Also emphasizing the need for determination on the part of the federation, Mrs. Maggie Reimann, national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Federation of Postal Clerks, spoke.

To bring out her contention she read an amusing verse asking, "Where Has Your Get Up and Go Gone."

Donald Waites, secretary and treasurer of the local chapter of the postal clerks, served as master of ceremonies.

He introduced Capt. James Jordan, chaplain at the AFB, who gave the invocation.

Col. Ridgely Ryan, deputy commander of Lockbourne AFB, spoke briefly, welcoming his guests and explaining to them that living on the base were 20,000 persons, scattered over an area of 4,000 acres. Representing the Columbus Construction Supply Centers were Col. and Mrs. H. E. Jenks.

Local lodge presidents attending were Everett Shriver, Lockbourne AFGE 1435; Mrs. Frances T. Allen, DCSC RFGE 1148; Richard Mullens, United Federation Postal Clerks Local 232, and Williams Stansbury, local chairman of Government Employes Council Federation Postal Carriers local.

Mrs. Allen expressed the committee's appreciation of the floral decorations and corsages furnished by Sims Florists of Groveport. The theme was that of St. Patrick's Day.

Music for the dancing after the banquet was played by Johnny Rogers.

READY TO WELCOME his guests, Col. Ridgely Ryan, deputy base commander at Lockbourne AFB, receives the applause of E. C. Hallbeck last Saturday night. Hallbeck, national chairman of the Government Employes Council called on members of the federation to work toward wages comparable with those paid by the industry.

Art Featured At Services

"Ecce Homo" (Behold the Man!), a masterpiece of art by Ciseri, will be projected on a screen and explained at the Lenten services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 322 Stewart-av, Wednesday, Mar. 27, 6:30 and 7:45 p.m.

The pastor, Rev. John O. Lang, will speak on, "Pilate's Wife."

"Stretch forth thine hand..." And the withered arm that stretched forth toward Him was made whole.

Today, the hands of Protestants reach forth...with help...to their brothers in countries over seas.

And doctors in many lands, supported by your Church, reach for the stretched arm of the sick child ...and quickly the child receives a life saving serum or anti-biotic.

This Sunday, March 24th, stretch forth your hand...to help. Give and give generously during One Great Hour of Sharing.

FLIGHT . . . of Faith

The faith of a boy that a slender string shall hold high his kite — that when he extends a little more string his kite will go a little higher — shows that this flight is a flight of faith.

As the boy has faith in the string so must we have faith in our Lord, and the more faith we extend, the higher and more abundant our lives will be. It is written in Romans 1:17, "The just shall live by faith." Attend Church this Sunday and receive inspiration from those who share your faith, that you may, as the Apostle Paul said, "be comforted together by the mutual faith of you both."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of the demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the laws of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Relaxed Atmosphere, Soft Lights, Music Are Now Featured At New Lake View Inn

Completely remodeled, redecorated and newly furnished, the Lake View Inn, on S. High-st just south of Frank-rd, offers the finest in food and entertainment to its growing list of customers.

Opened Feb. 19, Lake View Inn is located near the center of a 10-acre tract of land covered with trees. A winding drive extends from S. High-st through the trees to the inn, located far enough from the street to give the customer the feeling that he is "getting away" from the hustle and bustle of city activity. Ample parking space is provided near the main building.

During the evening hours the soft organ music of Wally Frazee adds to the relaxed atmosphere of thick carpets and soft lights. At various times Frazee will play a soft, muted trumpet to his organ accompaniment.

Dining facilities will accommodate 130 patrons at the present time, and future plans call for the addition of a party room to take care of an additional 175 customers.

Other plans call for construction of a patio in the rear of the building for patrons who prefer to dine out-of-doors.

On Weekends Joe Weisberg and his group are the featured musical attraction, playing music in the Count Basie style. Dancing to the Weisberg music is a main attraction at the Lake View Inn on Saturday nights from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Food specialties include steaks, chops and sea food, with the house specialty, prime ribs, as the main feature. A special salad is served with all meals made from a private recipe. It is described as "a combination of fresh garden greens, tangy cheese and crisp croutons, tossed to perfection at your table with a special dressing."

The inn opens at 11 a.m. each weekday and closes at 2 a.m. the following morning. Saturday hours are from 11 a.m. until 1 a.m. Sunday, and closed the remainder of Sunday.

According to Lake View manager Ron Rodgers, the remodeling of the building cost nearly $100,000. The architect responsible for the new design was Glen Wisecarver of Columbus.

Owners of the new inn include Bob Reed, Orville Conrad and C. V. Perry. Food is prepared and served under the supervision of Diversified Food Services, Inc., Dick Williams, president.

Manager Rodgers stated that many of his new customers were coming from sections of Columbus and central Ohio, other than the South Side, and added that with the convenience of the new freeways, Lake View Inn is not more than about 20 minutes driving time from any part of Columbus.

A WINDING DRIVE through stately trees leads to Lake View Inn on S. High-st, just south of Frank-rd, where fine food and entertainment are featured nightly. The newly remodeled building will soon feature a party room and outdoor patio. Present facilities can accommodate about 150 patrons. Lake View Inn has been open for about four weeks and has already been successful in drawing customers from all sections of Central Ohio, including the South Side of Columbus.

Spring Horse Show Coming Next Month

Seven years ago the Spring Horse Show, presented by the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, held its first meet on a high school football field. Reports state, "the show had few entries and probably fewer spectators."

This year the show will play four days, Thursday, Mar. 21, through Sunday, Mar. 24, at the Ohio Exposition Center. More than 2000 entries in 148 classes will show to an expected crowd of over 10,000 spectators.

The program is presented for the benefit of the Kidney Disease Foundation of Central Ohio. The foundation's members, along with those of the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, have volunteered both time and labor for the past several months in preparation for the event.

Feature attractions of this year's show include a pair of talented Border Collies, to perform tricks along with the horses, and a fast stepping exhibition of teamwork and skill by the Victor Comptometer Corporation Six-Pony Hitch, made-up of six matched Shetland ponies.

Tickets may be purchased at the gate on the days of the performance.

Named Goodwill Worker Of Year

Sherrie Tope, 1350 Elmore-av, was presented with the Goodwill "Oscar" for 1962 from Morris D. Gareck, outgoing president at the Goodwill Industries' banquet Mar. 14.

According to the award, Sherrie was shy, withdrawn and lacked self-confidence when she first came to Goodwill and lacked the endurance for working an eight-hour day. Going to work was a painful experience for the young lady, since she suffered from an arthritic condition.

By the time she was placed in competitive employment, said the award, she had gained poise and confidence to work as a switchboard operator and receptionist, following office training and employment at Goodwill Industries.

Sherrie's future plans call for taking a Civil Service exam for state employment this fall and enrolling in bookkeeping courses at a Columbus business college.

SPECIAL CLASSES

TWO SISTERS, Beverly Lee and Pearl Mae Seagraves, 473 Morrill-rd, both handicapped with a birth defect, find that the kindergarten class for children at the Treatment Center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children gives them a chance to try out for artistic abilities. The classes, meeting both mornings and afternoons (five days a week), are one of the direct services maintained by Easter Seal funds.

Society Reports Suspected TB

Fifteen cases of suspected tuberculosis were reported from Christmas Seal chest X-rays offered in 21 industries during February, the Tuberculosis Society reported. A total of 39 cases of suspected TB has been reported from industrial X-rays since January.

The X-ray survey is part of the overall industrial and special location program offered by the society each year from January to May. Free X-rays are available for any firm employing more than 40 persons.

Power Co. Head Sees Good Year

"Prospects in 1963 are for continued progress in the company's growth and earnings," Harry M. Miller, president, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, told his shareholders in the annual report.

Miller also pointed out that "Good gains were experienced in both sales and revenues during 1962, but higher depreciation rates and increases in other costs of operations resulted in expenses which more than offset the revenue gains."

According to the report, residential sale of electricity was up 11.6 per cent, and sales to commercial and industrial customers increased 10.9 per cent over the previous year.

Net earnings for 1962 were equal to $3.54 per share on the 2,800,000 common shares outstanding.

Police Report On Traffic Violations

Four South Side areas were listed on the recently issued Police Selective Enforcement Bulletin for the first 15 days of March.

Increased enforcement was desired for left of center violators and illegal turning of motor vehicles from James-rd and Main-st to Broad. Peak traffic hours were listed as 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The area of Livingston-av and Barnett to Yearling was listed for violations of stop signs and speed, and increased law enforcement was desired in this section.

Other South Side areas mentioned for increased enforcement of traffic laws included the area of Livingston-av and Miller to Bulen-av for intoxicated drivers and speed and from S. High-st and Thurman to Welch for stop sign violations and reckless driving.

The bulletin concluded that increased enforcement in these areas is for the purpose of improving certain bad driving habits which have been prevelent.

TO BUILD GARAGE

Ralph Armstrong, 328 Sheldon-av, has received a building permit to erect a one-story concrete block garage. Valuation is $1,200. Priestas Brothers, 4464 Danforth-dr, are the contractors.

2 Teenagers Being Held

Two South Side teenage boys, 16 and 17 years of age, were held in the Juvenile Detention Home Friday after a far-ranging, week-long housebreaking spree.

The pair left their homes Mar. 4 in a car belonging to the 17-year-old's parents. They broke into at least six homes, including two in Athens and one in Westerville in the next five days, police said.

They were apprehended near Athens by the Ohio Highway Patrol Mar. 12. The boys were returned to their parents, who noticed the stolen articles in the car and in turn notified authorities.

Two Airmen Reassigned

Two South Side men are being reassigned to new bases to attend technical training courses following completion of United States Air Force basic military training.

Airman Basic Stephen A. Naegele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Naegele of 601 S. Ninth-st, will attend a course for personnel specialists at Greenville AFB, Miss. He is a 1962 graduate of Aquinas High School.

Airman Basic Michael W. Ferguson, son of Mrs. Ruby M. Ferguson of 673 Welch-av, is going to Sheppard AFB, Tex., to attend a course for aircraft maintenance specialists. He is a 1962 graduate of South High School.

Soldier Training

Army Pvt. Steven E. Routte, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert E. Routte, 144 Cedar-st, recently completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Polk, La.

Routte entered the Army in October of 1962 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He attended South High School and was employed by Dickerson Shoe Company before entering the Army.

On Carrier

J. B. Fowler, Jr., airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Anderson, 330 Southwood-av, and James A. Hawley, electrician's mate second class, husband of former Donna M. Coleman, 205 E. Innis-av, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Independence, currently at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth, Va.

Ends Training

Howard L. Mugrage, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Mugrage, Sr., of 851 Heyl-av, completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Is Promoted

Larry E. Hensler has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force. He is the son of Mrs. Celia Hensler of 463 Hanford-st and attended South High School.

South Side Parochial School Students Tuberculin Tested

Seventh and eleventh graders in South Side parochial schools were offered free Christmas Seal tuberculin tests last week by the Tuberculosis Society.

Schools tested were St. Joseph Academy, St. Mary, St. Leo, St. Ladislas, Corpus Christi and St. John.

The tests, offered school children are the Mantoux, needle-type tests according to C. Edward Harrison, case-detection director for the society.

Given by qualified medical personnel, the tests signal positive reactors who have TB germs in their bodies.

"A positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active tuberculosis," Harrison explained. "It does mean that he has been near someone who did have TB that is catching and that TB germs have entered his body.

In Exercise

Marine Lance Corporal R. Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Rodgers of 142 Betz-rd, served with Marine Air Control Squadron One, a Pacific Marine Force unit, which participated in a major amphibious exercise held off the coast of Southern California.

S. SGT. WENDELL E. ROMAINE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bartless H. Romaine, 226 Thurman-av, demonstrates the proper method of trapping a five-foot iguana as taught at the U.S. Air Force Tropic Survival School in the Canal Zone. Sgt. Romaine, chief instructor at this Caribbean Air Command school, directs the training of United States and Latin American aircrews in jungle survival methods. A graduate of South High School, the sergeant is married to the formed Rita J. Nichols of Columbus.

In Wintersnap II

Pvt. Luther S. Hayes, Jr., whose parents live at 335 Miller-av, recently took part in Exercise "Wintersnap II," a cold weather field training maneuver in Korea, with other members of the Seventh Infantry Division. He attended East High.

Hearing Set

A public hearing will be held before the Board of Zoning Adjustment in room 228, second floor, City Hall, on Mar. 29 at 2 p.m. for Dr. Roy E. Swenson, 1460 S. High-st, who is seeking a variance to the building setback regulations to erect an addition to his office.

BUILDING PERMIT

Geneva M. Shaw, 2690 Burnaby-dr, has received a building permit to construct a one story concrete block building at 635 Parsons-av. Construction is valued at $1,200. Contractor is Howard Shaw.

Suspicious Persons Take Notes:

'Instant Police,' Whitehall Specialty

Now I ask ya, Mr. Editor, what's a fella supposed to do when he can't even wait for the mailman without coming to the attention of the local gendarmerie?

I won't tell my full name, cause I don't want no notoriety, or publicity, or none of that jazz. But I think it's only fair that other fellas that like to hang 'round mailboxes ought to know that it ain't safe to do it in Whitehall.

Now what I'm gonna tell ya is the truth.

It's Sunday night, a little past 10, and I'm hanging 'round the mail box at the Whitehall Post Office. I got a couple special deliveries I got to mail, and I want to see how late the guy gets there to pick them up after the time it says on the box. (After all, I got 70 cents tied up in this deal).

Mind you, now, I ain't doing nothing except maybe trying to look inside the mailbox a couple times.

Pretty soon this car with two guys in it pulls around the post office driveway, and I back off from the box so as not to crowd their action. The guy at the wheel drops something in the box, and, as they drive off, I move back to my "box watching."

Well, it ain't two minutes later till this white car with the red light on top comes sliding into the driveway. "Oh, oh," says I, "it's the fuzz." And it was.

Well, this very friendly-looking officer says to me: "What is your name." Well, I seen that show on television many times, but I don't think that's what he wants to play, so I decide 'To Tell the Truth."

Now this officer don't seem like he's in a big hurry to believe me, and he asks me my address and what I'm doing. So I tell him both in the same order.

Then he wants to look on the envelopes I got to see if they got the same address. I got him there—they do.

Then he wants some identification, like on a card or something. Boy, I sure got him there, I think, cause, when I'm not hanging 'round mailboxes, I write stories for newspapers. So I hands him this impressive looking "press" card and wait for his apology.

He ain't impressed—and he don't apologize. Instead he wants to know if I got any letters I'm mailing that got both my name and address on it.

Thank goodness my wife's still paying bills, and I got a couple with me she gave me to mail two weeks ago.

So the friendly officer says: "You don't mind me checking you out, do you?" And I says "Heck, no" (I figured if I said, "heck, yes," I might get in out of the cold quicker than I wanted).

Well, anyway, the fuzz buzzes, and I go back on patrol by the mailbox.

Just when I get ready to call the whole thing quits, this dark station wagon pulls around the drive toward the mail box. Now I can't see no lettering (because it's pretty dark), but I figure this has got to be my mailman making the pick-up.

So I start to walk toward the wagon. But the guy who's driving it doesn't get out; he doesn't even drop in a letter. As soon as he sees me, he takes off like a scairt bird.

Well, sir! I don't want no more of that suspicious person jazz with the Whitehall system of instant police. So I take off in the opposite direction for home, warmth and safety from people who think I'm suspicious.

Sincerely,
Louie

Hartley Newspapers To Make "Confederate" Cash Good As Go!d With Weekly Awards

Many Local Merchants To Redeem Rebel Money Starting This Week

Shades of Jefferson Davis! Who said Confederate money isn't worth a "Continental"? That "Confederate" cash you can receive by carefully reading your Hartley Newspaper is as good as gold . . . It's like having a rich father-in-law.

Sound a Confederate war whoop and dust off the old gray and gold uniform that granddaddy wore, because starting this week you can earn many "Confederate" dollars by simply reading the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

Beginning today some of the papers will contain ads with either of two insignia shown, always printed in a color other than black.

You can bet your brass buttons that if one of the insignia turns up in your paper it is worth "Confederate" cash to you.

Here's how it works:

Bring or mail entire newspaper, containing ad and insignia to the Hartley Newspaper Office, 2465 W. Broad-st, anytime prior to noon, Monday following publication.

If you have the insignia containing a "one" it's worth one "Confederate" dollar.

If you have an insignia containing a "five" it is worth five "Confederate" dollars unless, and get this, you are a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper. In that case you also get the "Jackpot". During the first week the jackpot is worth 25 "Confederate" dollars. If it's not claimed, it and all other "Confederate" money not claimed will be added together for the next week's "Jackpot".

There is a good possibility that the "Jackpot" could contain more "Confederate" bills than grandpa used to paper the house in the spring of '75, because each week the big money that isn't claimed will add to the following week's pot.

So you don't have a house to paper! In that case you can spend your "Confederate" cash at any business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper the week you want to spend it.

Any Hartley advertiser will be happy to take your "Confederate" money and in turn give you full value in merchandise or services.

Each Reader Should Watch For 'Confederate' Money Sign Weekly

So shine up your reading glasses and start checking your Hartley Newspaper this week. Nothing to buy, nothing to write, no contest to enter.

How can you lose? Beside the usual good buys you always find in the ads, you could also find some "Confederate" money insignia . . . and that's good cash, son . . . . Hartley Newspaper "Confederate" cash, that is.

All Hartley Newspapers "Confederate" money turned in to merchants for redemption will be accepted by Hartley Newspapers for good old American cash. The money will be redeemed by Hartley Newspapers only if the merchant is an advertiser in one of the Hartley Newspapers the week in which he accepts "Confederate" money.

Important: Jackpot or $5.00 winner must bring his full newspaper into office with proper identification.

Sawdust Sandwiches

We have long contended that if Johnny didn't learn to read it was because we changed our teaching methods.

Now comes our good friend Jenkin Lloyd Jones with an article in the March 25 issue of U.S. News and World Report entitled "Time to Get New School-Books," in which he berates our modern schoolbooks in a way that is long overdue.

He contends that it is time to give our children something other than "sawdust sandwiches." Amen!

How's Your Figure?

A South Dakota newspaper dating back to 1917 carries this interesting column of advice to gals who would do something for their figures and their complexions. Any takers today, girls?

"You can have a beautiful complexion by steaming your face over a washtub. Wringing out the clothes makes the arms plump, and hanging the clothes on a line increases the bust measurement.. stooping to pick up the clothes makes the waistline smaller, and carrying the clothes out into the yard makes the legs firm and shapely.

"So throw out the washer and dryer, girls, and take to the washboard if you want. I'll stay plump with flabby arms, thick waistline and non-shapely legs. How about you?"

NHS Taps 32 From South High

Thirty-two seniors from South High were tapped for membership in the National Honor Society at an assembly held recently in the school's auditorium.

Membership in the society, is based on rigid requirements. Members must be among the top third of their class, have achieved at least a 3.0 cumulative average, given some type of service to their school or community and demonstrated qualities of leadership.

Kenneth Olbert, principal of Barrett Junior High, was the guest speaker for the assembly. Alumni guests conducted the tapping ceremony.

Guests included Bill Bugh, Charlene Jordan, Tom Scha-

★ OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY ★

Tuesday Is Final Day In South Side 'Y' Members Drive

MAKING FINAL checks on the South Side YMCA's membership campaign are Oscar Welchers (left) member of the Board of Management, and Jim Wagner, executive secretary of South Side "Y." The campaign ends Apr. 2.

So you've been approached by a South Side YMCA campaign worker for a membership. And you buy one but you can't help wondering where your money will go?

Or you held off buying one because you just weren't sure what good it would do since you don't particularly care to lift weights on weekends.

Then you're the type of person that the South Side YMCA staff, at 190 Southwood-av, would like to shake hands with and answer a few questions for.

They're making it easy, too.

An open house has been planned for this Sunday afternoon (Mar. 31) from 1 to 5 p.m., at which time the public is invited to take a stroll through the new, ultra-modern facility.

More important, it's a chance for competent "Y" personnel to answer any questions you may have about the "family-type" program carried on there or about how much your membership dollars will aid the "Y" in offering a program with impact for the South Side.

Besides this, the new facility is also open each weekday evening, starting Monday and running until Apr. 2, until 9 p.m. for those who care to visit.

If you like refreshments with your tour, however, you'll be better off coming on Sunday since Executive Secretary Jim Wagner promised that there'd be coffee offered to visitors.

But the "Y" staff emphasized that the new program is designed for the entire family, and Wagner urges residents to bring the whole group down for a look-see.

According to membership campaign chairman Ken Olbert, the drive is — to date — "doing fine," although no totals have been made as yet.

A report meeting was held Monday night and another is scheduled for this evening (Thursday) from 1 to 10 p.m., when workers are urged to turn in "progress reports" of work so far. Coffee and fellowship will be served, Olbert said.

"Tremendous support from residents is already evident from early results," sail Olbert hopefully. "We're off to a really fine start." The 10-day drive ends officially at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, Apr. 2. The goal is $13,000.

Olbert urged campaign workers to follow through on calls and asked the community to keep in mind that Apr. 2 is the wind-up.

If any resident is missed by a campaign "salesman," they are asked to either call Olbert at Barrett Junior High or the "Y" office, HI. 4-2151.

What Is 'Checkmate'?

Time Is Squeezin' Olbert

The first-ever South Side YMCA membership campaign will come to a close Tuesday, Apr. 2, which means that Chairman Ken Olbert's hourglass has just about run out.

He's got ten days in which to raise $13,000 to enable the new South Side Branch YMCA, 190 Southwood-av, to operate during the coming year — $5000 of which is earmarked to hire a new full-time staffer to keep the "Y" open evenings and Saturdays.

He feels sure he'll make his goal.

So do 193 men and women who are canvassing the South Side for memberships. Their efforts were termed "tremendous support" by Olbert.

A recognition dinner for workers and a campaign round-up get-together will be held on Apr. 2 at the "Y" at 8:15 p.m. This is a shift from the originally planned 6:15 p.m. dinner and enables the workers to have more time on final calls.

Schiller To 'Show Off' Next Week

Next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Apr. 3, 4, and 5, Schiller Recreation Center will hold Open House from 2 - 10 p.m. each day.

During these three days the center will show off the results of various activities which have been taking place there through the fall and winter.

Many displays, demonstrations and exhibitions will be presented each day. The Schiller Golden Age Club Hobby Show and the Arts and Craft Show will run throughout the entire three days. The schedule includes:

WEDNESDAY

A physical fitness demonstration at 4 p.m. in both gymnasiums and a dramatics demonstration in the auditorium. At 7 p.m., the evening activities will start off with the "Parade of the Champions" in the east gym. At this time awards and trophies will be presented to winning teams and individuals from the Schiller athletic program.

Following this presentation will be a basketball game between the Junior Girls (Amazons) and the Junior Boys (Pygmies). At 8 p.m. in the west gym there will be a demonstration of adult gymnastics.

THURSDAY

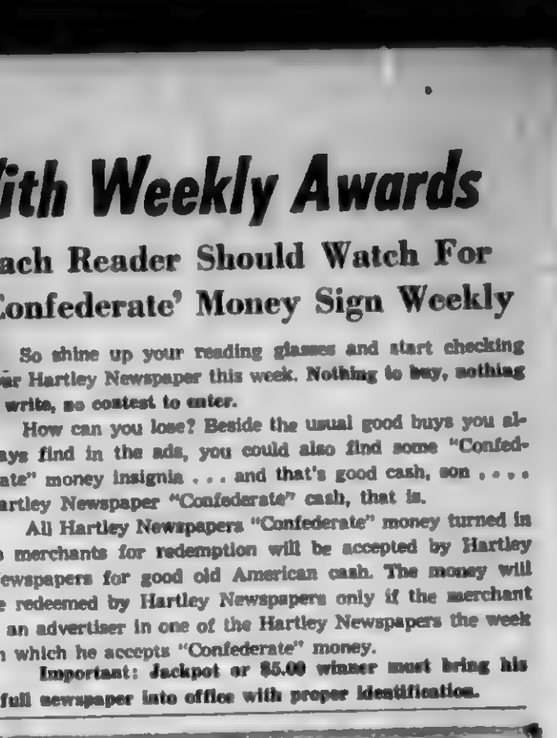
Starting at 2 p.m. there will be the hobby show in the dining room, followed at 3 p.m. by an arts and crafts demonstration.

At 4 p.m. in the auditorium will be a demonstration of baton twirling. At this same time, a ceramics demonstration will be held in the craft room and physical fitness demonstrations in both gyms.

The evening activities will get under way at 7:30 with a wrestling exhibition in the west gym. Also at 7:30 there will be a demonstration of adult ceramics in the craft room.

In the east gym, a novelty volleyball game will be presented between the intermediate boys and girls, the boys playing with boxing gloves on their hand and the girls wearing the oldtime gym costume of bloomers and blouses.

At the conclusion of this game, the senior girls and boys will play a game of volleyball using a ball approximately three feet in diameter.



FRIDAY

The afternoon activity will start with a hobby show at 3 p.m. and at 4 p.m., in the auditorium, the puppetry class will present a puppet show, "Cindy-Ella". Both gyms will have a demonstration of physical fitness.

The evening program will start off with the dramatics department presenting the play "Alice in Wonderland" at 7:30 and will be followed at 8:30 by the annual tumbling and gymnastic show.

The public is invited to attend each of the events during the Open House program which is a part of over all Open House being presented at each of the centers operated by the Columbus Recreation Department.

There is no admission charge for any of the events.

UP TO 40 letters a day are written on that typewriter by Stelios Stelson, a 54-year-old Greek immigrant who works tirelessly for world peace. He's established three overseas projects to try to create mutual understanding and stronger ties between the United States and foreign countries.

NOW INCORPORATED

Local Man Waging One-Man Battle On Communism

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

For Stelios Stelson, a one-man war against Communism is as near as his borrowed typewriter.

The 54-year-old Greek immigrant single-handedly carries on three gigantic "good will" projects from 45 Franklin Park, West, Apt. 4, a neat but skimpy one-room flat.

He works full-time as a supply clerk at the Columbus General Depot and pursues his "extra-curricular" projects from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.

In essence, Stelson's Communist fighters include (1) an art exchange, (2) a pen pal exchange and (3) a book exchange. This activity, Stelson says, has promoted good will (mainly for the United States) in 16 countries.

The highlight of Stelios' life came last week when he formed his International Friendship Foundation, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Incorporators were Dr. Thomas Ludlum, head of the department of speech, Capital University; George Brown, who operates a Columbus accounting firm; Bill

Council To View New Aids

"Adventuring With Teaching Aids" will be the theme of the Columbus Council of Parent-Teacher Associations' meeting Thursday, Apr. 4, 1:30 p.m. at Central High School.

John Sittig, director of the audio-visual department, Columbus Public Schools, will demonstrate some of the new techniques and latest equipment being used in public schools.

Film strips, language laboratories, recordings, teaching machines and electronic training devices are a few of the audio-visual aids used in schools today.

DAVID'S CHURCH GUILD TO ELECT AT LENTEN RITE

Women's Guild of David's United Church of Christ, Evangelical and Reformed, Canal Winchester, will not meet on its regular meeting night in April, but members will attend the pageant, "The Chancel Lily," Thursday, Apr. 4, 7:30 p.m.

A business meeting will follow the Lenten service and officers will be elected.

BEYERS TO MARK 50th ANNIVERSARY

MR. AND MRS. CARL H. BEYER

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Beyer, 658 Southwood-av, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday, Apr. 2, with a reception at the Universalist Church on 16th-av, given by their four children, Fred Beyer, of Massillon, Clara Ryerson of Stockton, California; Carolyn Driggs of Wedgewood-dr, and Carl K. Beyer of Mithoff-st.

Mr. Beyer was born in Germany in 1883. His father had a paint factory there, where Mr. Beyer studied paint chemistry. He left Germany in 1907 for the United States and studied dairy and butter making for three years in Denver, then came to Columbus and studied Dairy Technology at OSU.

He married May Knapp of Plain City, in 1913. Their wedding was postponed from Mar. 26 to Apr. 2 because of the flood of 1913.

They were married in Columbus at the University Church.

They lived first in Pleasant Corners, then moved to Monroeville where Mr. Beyer started a creamery. In 1923 they moved to Norwalk, where he bought a large dairy.

During the depression years they moved back to Columbus, and have resided on Southwood-av for the last 23 years.

Mr. Beyer has been active in the Auxiliary Police and Southside organizations for many years.

Styles Seen At Penney's

Penney's is making fashion news this week showing Mary Quant fashions in all seven Columbus stores.

Miss Anita Paul, fashion advisor for women's sportswear in Penney's New York office, is visiting the stores this week and modeling a few outfits from the Mary Quant collection.

Mary Quant, one of England's newest popular designers, is noted for freshness of style and distinction of line. The look of this latest spring assortment was inspired by the Chelsea section of England, an area similar to Greenwich Village in New York.

The collection includes several jumpers and blouses, as well as skirts, slacks, Bermudas and a vest.

These Mary Quant fashions have been designed especially for Penney's and are priced to fit the modern gal's budget. They will be featured at all seven Columbus and Penney stores for the next two weeks.

A Salute To Dr. Morrison: An Educator's Educator

Four years ago, when this writer was compiling the history of the then 25 year class of South High School, one career appeared with regularity on the questionnaire that had been sent to members of the 1934 class. The most-entered profession was in the education field.

This "Outstanding Personality" was numbered among those who answered the 1959 questionnaire in that manner.

Hugh S. Morrison, who lived at 38 E. Welch-av, while a Columbus resident, is the area resident deserving recognition for his accomplishments. Hugh is completing his fifth year as superintendent of the Lucas County Schools.

He is in charge of six local school districts, which include 38 buildings, 811 teachers, and 20,169 pupils. He recently facilitated completion of study of courses of study in four major academic areas and vocational education survey relative to Lucas County schools.

While still residing in his home town, Hugh was very active in his church, South Methodist, and in the South side "Y" program, where he still retains a membership.

His home ties are strong, for only last year he was one of a group, with Cap Hoover, who went on a fishing trip on Lake Erie. He reports he enjoyed the trip, but left the fish population the same as he found it.

The Toledo resident earned all three of his degrees at Ohio State University, as with so many young men at that time, World War II and the Korean Conflict lengthened the intervals between degrees. He received his first degree in 1940, his Master's in 1953 and his Doctor's or Ph.D., in 1957.

Dr. Morrison, his rightful title, also served three and a half years in service in WW II and 18 months during the Korean Conflict. He also spent four years with the Veterans' Administration, in the educational retraining and rehabilitation program. He has been a lecturer in education during three summer sessions at the University of Toledo.

His activities in education are many, as for example, president of Ohio County Superintendents' Association; president of Northwest Ohio County Superintendents' Association; secretary of Toledo-Lucas County Safety Council, Inc.; member Evaluation and State Department of Education Liaison Committee of Ohio Association of School Administrators; member of State and Northwest Ohio Educators Advisory Committee of Ohio Civil Rights Commission; Advisory Committee for Lucas County Retarded Children's Program; member Toledo Area Manpower Development and Training Advisory Committee; member School Safety Coordinating Committee of Toledo.

The educator was married in 1954 to the former Peggy Baker, also an OSU graduate who lived at 657 Montrose-av. The couple has two sons: James, four, and Robert, two.

Hugh's mother, Emma Morrison, still resides in the Welch-av homestead. She should take great satisfaction in the accomplishments of her three sons, all in education. In addition to Hugh, the youngest, she has Paul, a professor of georgraphy in Michigan State University, and Dave, an educational consultant for the Armed Forces in Korea. The two older brothers also are South High and OSU graduates. In addition, Dave taught at South for several years.

Paul was in South High's 1924 "new building" graduates, while Dave received his high school diploma three years later. The three brothers are anticipating a reunion this spring, as Dave will have a two month leave from his Korean duties.

March gives way to April within the week, a harbinger of "birthday time" to these youngsters: Cynthia Annetta, James Fitzpatrick, Neal Borror, Jimmy Heinlein, Helen Fitzpatrick, Ronnie Romonsky, Joann Murnone, "Skipper" Young.

Teenagers who celebrate birthdays within the week include Larry Kuson, Linda Topis, and Pat Williams.

Friends and neighbors to receive natal day congratulations include Nellie Kaufman, Jim Robison, Jo Anne Young, Ray Shaffer, Marg Turner, John Brandum, Deanna Brewer, Howard Pfeifer, Selma Murnone, Rose De Matteo, Emme Horcher, Florence Franz, Otto Oberkranz, Anna Larimer, Helen Allison, Barbara Holliday, Elda Turvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oberkronz will celebrate a 53rd wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Apr. 2. The Oberkronzes reside at 60 E. Jenkins-av. Belated anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. James Bingmer, as of Mar. 21.

Vera Lampel, of Vera's Restaurant, will be the guest demonstrator of the YWCA's Cook Tour, on Tuesday, Apr. 2, at 10 a.m. Austrian cooking will be the specialty of the day. For complete information, contact the YWCA at CA. 4-9121.

An open church wedding at Livingston Methodist Church on Saturday, Mar. 30, at 2:30 p.m., will unite Nina Butcher and Kenneth Lewis.

Meetings, here and there:

The Junior Department of Livingston Methodist Church is sponsoring a Junior Family Afternoon at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Mar. 31. Rev. R. G. Perkins will show pictures of the Holy Land as the featured presentation of the get-together.

A South High Father and Son Banquet will be held at the Washington Avenue EUB, at 6:30 p.m. tonight. On Friday, Mar. 29, the WSWS Study Book Class of the church will meet at 7:30 p.m.

The C. E. group of Southwood Church of Christ will participate in a two day "Teens for Christ" Youth Conference at Linden Church of Christ on Friday, Mar. 29, and Saturday, Mar. 30. The Friday Nighters, of the YWCA will hold a Saturday special on Mar. 30, by taking a trip to the Hocking Hills.

The Christian Day School PTO of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet at 9:30 a.m. today. The South Side YMCA Mother's Club will meet at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Apr. 2.

Trudeau Guild 25 holds its 8 p.m. meeting on Wednesday, Apr. 3 in the home of Mrs. Herman Crary, 3496 E. Deshler-av. Circle 3, of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will meet at 12:30 noon today, while Circle 5 will hold its meeting 7:30 this evening.

A style show will be the main attraction of the Southwood School PTA meeting tonight at 7:30. Theme for the evening is "Mother-Daughter Night at Southwood."

All Trudeau Guild members are invited to attend the open board meeting which will be held tonight at the Health Center.

The Schiller Park Golden Age Club will discuss the coming Hobby Show at the Tuesday, Apr. 2 meeting at 1 p.m.

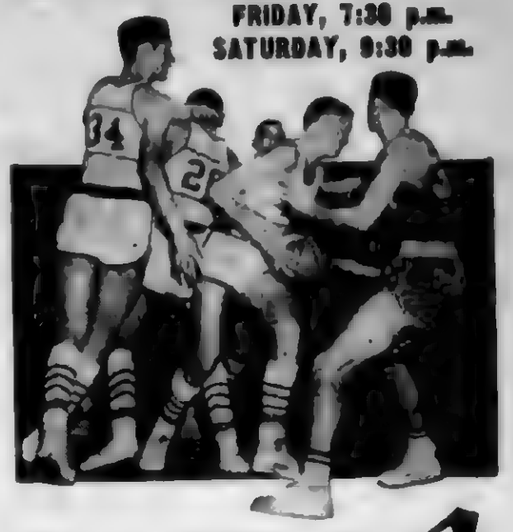
The St. Paul's Luther League will hold a Cinerama Party on Sunday, Mar. 31, at 1 p.m. Following the show, the Leaguers will enjoy a pot-luck supper.

The ailing list includes Glenna Alford, a patient in Grant Hospital; Jimmy Jarvis, in Children's Hospital; Molly Driscoll, a hospital patient as the result of a fall; Mrs. Bernard Knipfer, 19 Hanford-st; Maude Foreman, 32 Parkwood-av; Betty Richardson, Mt. Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richter were in an auto accident. The mishap caused Mrs. Richter to be a patient in Grant Hospital Linda Statler has been battling a leg infection.

Specialist Four Dick Rothwell, 140 E. Morrill-av, must have enjoyed his 14 month stint in Seoul, Korea, for he gained 32 pounds and grew one inch while overseas. The soldier is currently home on furlough and will report to Fort Jackson, S. C., on Apr. 22.

Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. John Baldini, are residing at 1007 S. 18th-st, following their Saturday, Mar. 16, wedding.

Rev. Ellis Wesner, 308 Southwood has returned to his pastoral duties after conducting an evangelistic meeting in Indiana. Some of his Southwood Church of Christ congregation thought it fitting that he should address the "heathen" of that state just when he did: right after the heartbreaking OSU-Indiana basketball game.



The MYF of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church is sponsoring the Annual Variety Show on Friday, Apr. 5, at 7:45 p.m. The theme for the presentation is "Memory Lane." Tickets are 50 cents for adults; children under eight, are admitted free.

John McGath is in Arizona, to be with a sister who was hospitalized with a heart attack.

Two sets of South Side grandparents are equally proud of a little girl born in February, to Sandy and Jerry Frebis. The grandparents are the Frebises, and the Gages.

Mar. 30 is the wedding date chosen by Eleanor Ruth Ott, (Continued on Page 6)

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Many Protein Foods Offered At Lower Cost

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas.

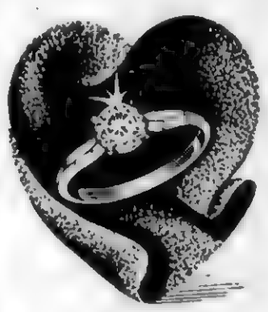
Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, celery, peppers.

Protein Foods — Beef "specials," pork loins, Boston butts, frozen fish fillets, large eggs, fryers, cottage cheese.

Shopping for the main dish should be easy this week with the abundance of beef, pork and fish offered at the lowest prices for a long time. In addition, poultry meats, eggs and cheese are in good supply.

Mrs. Franks

For best values in beef, check the food ads carefully for cost and grade for almost all medium and high value cuts may be found at bargain prices. All cuts of pork — chops, roasts, steaks, bacon, sausage and even spareribs — are being featured at one time or another. Supplies continue to be heavy and the low price on beef has not helped to move pork.



Fish and eggs are other fine protein choices, whether you're observing meatless meals or not. Supplies of frozen fish fillets and fish sticks stay heavy in spite of the heavy Lenten demand; the cost-per-serving is low. If you are hungry for fresh fish — meaning as they come from the water — you'll find a few around, but prices are not cheap. Fishermen are cutting through the ice to get a few perch and yellow pike from Lake Huron and some herring from Lake Superior.

Fresh vegetables from Florida have been increasing since mid-March. Here are some tips worth noting as you shop the produce counter this week. Cooking greens show fine quality; salad items such as tomatoes, green onions and radishes are more plentiful; cabbage, broccoli and green bean prices are a little lower. Green peppers are large and cost less than in weeks, carrots and old crop potatoes continue to be bargains. California asparagus is now at peak of production and lots of sweet corn from Florida will be coming soon.

On the other hand, fresh fruits might be called at the low point for the year, although there are plenty of good apples, bananas, winter pears and hothouse rhubarb. Strawberry shipments from Florida and California will be more plentiful by Apr. 1, if the weather is favorable.

IT MAY BE some consolation to know that the problem of shortages and high prices on citrus fruits is not ours alone. Other countries also have problems with weather. In Spain the 1962-'63 orange crop was cut in half by cold weather in December and again in February. In Italy the season's supply of oranges, already short because of frost damage in the winter of 1962-'63, was further reduced by an estimated 10 per cent as a result of the recent cold weather. Orange products for the 1962-'63 season is now estimated at 18.6 million boxes as compared to 28.2 million boxes last year.

Whitehall To Host Baptist Meet

More than 300 women will gather at Whitehall Baptist Church Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 28 and 29, for a 75th anniversary celebration of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The celebration is the annual convention of the Ohio Woman's Missionary Union, and covers a four-state area including Ohio, western New York, western Pennsylvania and West Virgina.

Speakers for the occasion include Dr. Courts Redford, executive secretary, Southern Baptist Convention Home Mission Board; Mrs. R. L. Mathis, president, Woman's Missionary Union, Southern Baptist Convention; C. Hoge Hockensmith, pastor, Tri-Village Baptist Church and past president, State Convention of Baptists in Ohio, and Mrs. Donald Heiss, missionary to Japan.

An anniversary banquet is scheduled the evening of Mar. 28 at Yearling High School. Those attending will wear costumes fashionable 75 years ago.

Another program highlight will be the coronation service Mar. 29, when recognition will be given to members of the Girls' Auxiliary who have attained the rank of queen, queen-with-a-scepter or queen-regent in their Forward Steps program.

Heart Council Board To Form Units

The Women's Board of the Franklin County Heart Council will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Mar. 29, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Russell Alban, 2749 Elliott-av.

The 46-member board has as its major project the organization of neighborhood groups, known as Heart Beats, and serves as advisors to these groups in their efforts on behalf of the fight against heart disease. Seven Heart Beats have been formed to date.

Anyone interested in starting a Heart Beat may contact Mrs. Thomas E. Clark, 6165 McVey-blvd, Worthington.

OES HOSPITAL CIRCLE TO MEET

OES Hospital Circle, District 17, will meet Monday, April 1, at Dorst Hall, YMCA, 40 W. Long-st, for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and 1:30 business meeting.

Martha Heckman, worthy matron of Evans Chapter, will serve as chaplain and Marilyn Rowley, worthy matron of Grove City Chapter, will be in charge of music.

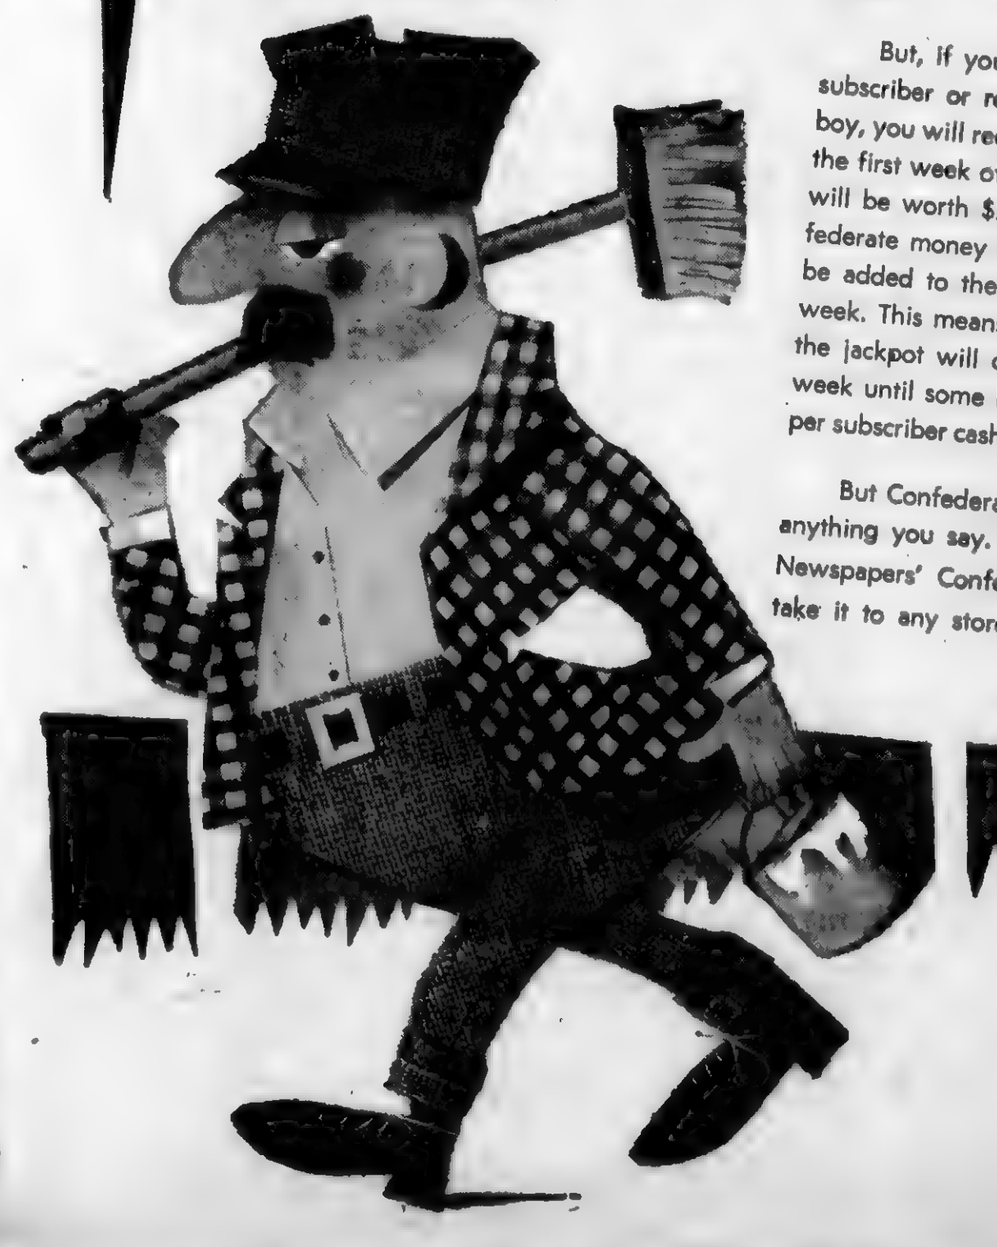
Confederate Money Is Good Again!



Hartley Newspapers Confederate Money–That Is!

Here's How:

Yes, sir, Rebel currency is as good as any present day American money, that is if you are a reader of one of the Hartley Suburban Newspapers.

1 Starting with this week's issue a little insignia like the one shown at the left will be printed in 20 different copies of these papers. If you find one of them in your copy it is worth a Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Dollar.

Each week one insignia like the number 5 at the right will be printed in one ad in some copy of one of the Hartley Newspapers. If your copy is the one, you merely bring or mail it to the office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 West Broad St. not later than noon Monday following publication and you will be given a Hartley Newspaper $5 Confederate Bill.

But, if your are a paid in advance subscriber or regularly pay your newsboy, you will receive the Jackpot. During the first week of the contest the Jackpot will be worth $25. All unclaimed Confederate money offered each week will be added to the Jackpot the following week. This means that in all probability the jackpot will continue to grow each week until some lucky Hartley Newspaper subscriber cashes it in.

But Confederate money isn't worth anything you say. Not so with Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Money. Just take it to any store advertising in this

5 week's issue of a Hartley Newspaper and it can be spent just like any other currency. Hartley Newspapers in turn will redeem all such currency at full value when turned in by a Hartley Newspaper advertiser. Further details of the contest are explained on Page One of this week's Hartley Newspapers.

If you have been receiving a copy of any of the Hartley Newspapers each week from your carrier or by mail and have not paid your carrier or paid in advance for your mail subscription, you are not eligible to win the jackpot. So, call BR. 4-1155, ask for the Circulation Dept. and determine the status of your subscription right now.

To Be Sure You Don't Miss Your Chance To Cash In On This Big Event, Pay Your Carrier Every Month, Or Mail In Your Subscription Now!

SPRING WORK AT HAND

LITTLE HANDS went to work while Mother and Dad were busy burning the weeds along their fence row last week. At least Cindy Lou Doersam, who is "almost five," and her two-year-old brother, Larry, thought they were helping to get the fields ready for spring plowing. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Doersam of Lockbourne.

Scout Troop Looking For Scoutmaster

Boy Scout Troop 53, sponsored by Lockbourne Road Baptist Church, is in need of a scoutmaster.

The troop has been organized about two and one-half years, has a membership of 15 and has built up a treasury.

Meetings are held every Monday at 7 p.m. at the church. According to John Huffman, 779 Ebner-st, a member of the six-man troop committee, "We need a man with scouting experience who could devote at least one evening a week and some weekend outing time to the boys."

Men of character who are interested in helping the troop should call Huffman at HI. 3-7443, evenings, or Lockbourne Road Baptist Church at HI. 4-4740, days.

Service Today For Kite Victim

Service for Donald E. Wurdach, 25, 1816 Lockbourne-rd, was to be held today with burial in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Wurdach died Sunday when the wire he was using as [illegible] on a kite touched a high voltage line.

The accident occurred northwest of Sugar Grove in Fairfield County.

He is survived by his wife, Carol, and his parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wurdach and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wallenburg; also two sisters, Mrs. Elaine Carter and Mrs. Eileen Woodward.

Judge Limits Pickets To 4

An order issued by Common Pleas Court Judge Dana F. Reynolds demands the pickets at the Bonney-Floyd Co., 611 Marion-rd be limited to four.

The International Moulders and Foundry Workers Union, Local No. 12 has been picketing the plant since the strike began, Feb. 17.

Pageant Planned At Livingston

The pageant, "The Challenge Of The Cross," will be presented Sunday, Mar. 31, 7:30 p.m. at Livingston Methodist Church, 76 E. Livingston-av.

Miss Ann Mayer is director of the pageant.

A girl's trio from Asbury College will also sing. Public is invited.

Edwards Trained

Pvt. James A. Edwards recently took part in winter training with the 4th Armored Division at Grafenwohr, Germany.

Edwards, a cannoneer in the 2nd Howitzer Battalion's Battery C of the division's 78th Artillery, entered the Army in March, 1962, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas the following July. The 18-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phiple Edwards, 1328 Dolle-av, attended South High School.

In the early days of our country it required the efforts of 99 out of every 100 persons just to produce food. Today, less than 10 out of 100 persons do the farming.

Strange Purple Birds Bring Fame To Sam Glines, Conservationist

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Last summer, Sam Glines, 607 S. Fifth-st, made ornithological history when he discovered a nesting pair of purple gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond, a lake owned by the Southeast Conservation Club. While this finding did not push Cuba off the front pages, it was widely reported in the press and caused a minor sensation among bird watchers. Now it will be official world-wide, for The Auk, a technical periodical that keeps birders informed as to what birds are doing, has accepted an article co-authored by Glines.

"It is the most fantastic thing that has happened in the 40 years I've been studying Ohio birds," exclaimed Dr. Milton B. Trautman, curator of vertebrate collections, Ohio State Museum. Trautman helped identify the birds and nest and wrote the article with Glines. Eugene Knoder, of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, was the other official witness.

Now, why all the fuss? How could a couple of marsh-dwelling birds that look something like a coot that got mixed up in some Easter egg dye cause such excitement? The purple gallinule is a strikingly beautiful bird that is quite rare in Ohio. It is purple, and that alone is something. But its normal range is the Gulf states and the southern East Coast. On those occasions when one has been seen in Ohio, it was thought to be lost, perhaps windblown far out of its usual territory.

The two romantic and enterprising gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond sort of blasted the "lost" theory. This definitely was the first authenticated nesting record for the state, and is hundreds of miles farther north than any other record. But the odds that a male and female would get blown off course, or became lost in a storm, would end their journey at a tiny pothole lake, find each other, build a nest, lay seven eggs, and hatch out seven young, are just too great for the bird students to swallow.

Sam Glines' discovery enlarged the sporadic range of the purple gallinule by several states. Many ornithologists would work a lifetime for such modest fame. Who says there is no adventure or no frontiers in the outdoors of today?

If you could predict such happenings, you might expect such a discovery from Sam Glines. He is a sportsman and conservationist who finds his work and enjoyment at home rather than traveling great distances. Sam traps squirrels in the city and releases them on farms. He has conducted a rabbit trapping and tagging project for the Southeast Club for a number of years. Winter feeding stations are maintained at the clubground by Sam and others. He and Bob White, another active club member, have supervised the building and erecting of wood duck nesting boxes. Sam Glines has more outdoor adventure in Franklin County and adjacent areas than any other man I know.

Truly, the outdoors is at your doorstep. In your backyard are more miracles and mysteries than you can imagine. So it is not surprising when someone like Sam makes a discovery that shakes the ornithological world to the tips of its wings. He sees something new almost every day, which is a lot more than television watchers can claim. And who knows when he will see something new to everyone in the world?

The "big find" is not what calls Sam Glines outdoors, however. He began when he did not even know what a purple gallinule was. Sam goes out to band wood ducks and to see if any he banded last year have returned. He spends spare hours in the cattails watching bitterns and bullfrogs, redwings and rails. The gallinules came along as a bonus.

Exchange Club Sponsors Freedom Editorial Contest

High school students from the Metropolitan Columbus area, including public and parochial schools, are asked to participate in the second annual Freedom Shrine Editorial Contest, according to Mit R. White, president of the Exchange Club of Columbus, local sponsors of the contest.

Interested high school students are asked to contact their journalism teachers and the editor of their high school newspaper or high school bulletin for details and contest rules.

Editorials must be published in the high school paper and have a publication date between Feb. 1 and Apr. 10, to be eligible for the contest.

The main theme of the contest, as sponsored by the Exchange Club of Columbus will be "Our Duties and Freedom as Citizens" based on the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence.

Winning students will receive a plaque, inscribed with their name, for display in their high school. They will also be eligible for the national competition. As local winners their editorial may be used on a Columbus television station.

To the high school a Freedom Shrine Award consists of a 50-star flag and 28 plaques. These plaques are authentic reproductions of our national heritage documents in their original form.

The Exchange Club, both nationally and locally, according to Joseph A. Favret, 5977 Endicott-rd, chairman of the committee and a national district governor for Exchange Clubs, is endeavoring to present graphically the positive answer to Communism and any other un-American idealogy that may threaten our free way of life.

Kiwanis Again Honored With Freedom Award

Kiwanis International received top recognition in the Americana, General, Division of the recent Freedoms Foundation Awards contest, local clubs have learned.

The award is the 13th that Kiwanis has received. It came for "Kiwanis' battery of programs conducted at grass roots level, promoting better understanding of, and participation in, the fundamental freedoms upon which our free constitutional government is based." Special note was made of Kiwanis' four-year-old Citizenship Quotient program, by means of which citizens are encouraged to rate themselves as citizens.

Red Cross Will Train Volunteer Motor Drivers

Red Cross needs volunteers to serve as motor service drivers. They will be trained to provide safe, efficient transportation for Red Cross and other community programs.

They serve principally in the blood program using chapter vehicles to deliver blood to hospitals in Franklin County and the other 22 counties served by the program.

Three shifts of drivers are needed for city runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. County runs are made Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with round trips averaging 140 to 220 miles. Qualifications are good health and a valid Ohio operator's license.

Anyone who can spare a few hours every week or two may call Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross at CL. 3-8511.

Pupils Finishing Science Report

The second phase of the Tuberculosis Society's TB-RD spring science report contest is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Mar. 30, at society headquarters when the high school participants will have a chance to "question the experts."

The following area high schools are already registered: Columbus School for Girls, Eastmoor High, Walnut Ridge, St. Mary's of the Springs Academy, St. Joseph Academy, Franklin Heights, Reynoldsburg, Bishop Ready and Bishop Hartley.

The TB Society will present token awards to individuals and certificates of merit to schools whose students place among the top 10 award winners.

Hans Dorn—Sunshine, 'Gloves' Success Tale

By Jack Wittenmeier

One of the biggest success stories of the recent Golden Gloves competition could be penned under the aspices of a 26-year-old Sunshine Recreation Center pugilist who won his weight division title in his first real taste of ring competition.

The boxer is Hans Dorn, who began to look at boxing as more than just a way to knock a fellow down after a bare ten weeks in this country.

Hans, a heavyweight, admitted that he had always been interested in boxing but never really took the sport seriously until he got interested in the Golden Gloves program at Sunshine.

"I boxed a few rounds in Germany but I never really fought against any real competition. I never worked with a trainer," Hans said.

Dorn found a trainer at Sunshine in the person of Al George, who sanded off the rough edges to make Dorn a GG contender. Sunshine Director Don McCann describes Hans as, "an intelligent boxer who catches on quickly."

"THE FACT that Hans is coming on so late is a disadvantage but his physical abilities might be enough to make up for it." At 6-2 and just slightly under 200 pounds, Hans presents a pretty sound argument for McCann's statement.

Sunshine's Everett Holbrook, who advanced to the Chicago arena this year as the 170-pound open winner here, backed up McCann's feelings about the German pugilist who bears a striking resemblance to Ingemar Johannson.

"Hans is fast and strong as an ox in the ring. What he needs most right now is experience," Holbrook said.

HANS, WHO DOESN'T limit his athletic interests to the ring entirely, competes in soccer and skiing. In fact, Dorn first became interested in the Center and its boxing program through the Columbus Germania Soccer Club, of which he is a playing member.

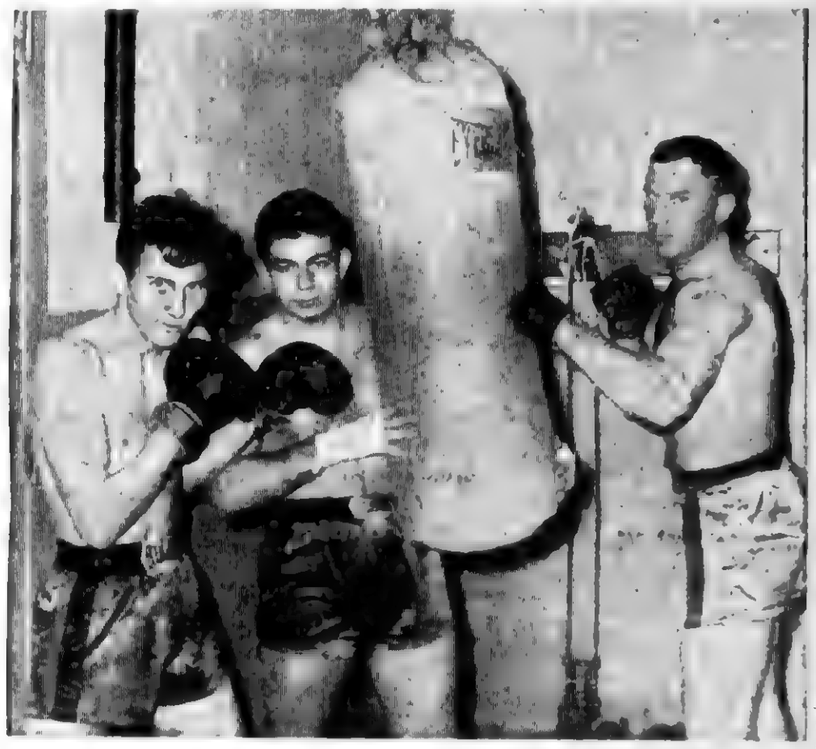
A native of Nuremburg, a German city situated in Baveria, Hans is an avid skier and won a runnerup trophy this past winter in skiing competition at Bellefontaine.

Single and employed as a plumber in Columbus, Hans has a defined "vagabond" streak. His travels have taken him around the world six times. "That's the way Hans operates," McCann said. "If he gets the urge to move on, he just packs up and leaves."

AFTER DORN'S success in the ring this past winter, it goes without saying that McCann and George hope Hans doesn't decide to "pack up and leave" again soon.

There is a good chance that the pro ranks have their eyes on Dorn for a little advanced punching but when we asked Hans about the possibility of making boxing a career, he replied that he "had never really thought about it."

We considered pressing the matter further but considering that Hans is five inches taller and 40 pounds heavier than we are, we decided to let the matter rest.



SOUTH SIDE Y SPORTSMANSHIP WINNERS

SPORTSMANSHIP was the theme as the South Side YMCA's Marion District Council honored 15 boys and girls with trophies last week at its 29th annual Athletic and Recognition Banquet at Marion-Franklin High School. The honored young men were, left to right, front row: Vaughn Beloat, Jerry Glenn, Pat Danison, John Moore and Joe Raine. Standing are Larry Moore, Ted Howell, Richard Darby, Elisha Washington, Herb Arter, Tony Ayres and Fritz Eckert.

YMCA GALS 'GOOD SPORTS'

SPORTSMANSHIP as well as athletic prowess isn't limited only to the fellows as these three young ladies exemplify. Honored with sportsmanship trophies for their display of same during the South Side Y basketball program this past season were, left to right: Lynn Miller, Patricia Baer and Lind Moore. All three girls are students at Marion-Franklin High School.

SUNSHINE'S GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPS

New Rome Horseshoe Pitching Not Really An 'Audio Illusion'

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Motorists traveling west on Route 40 during a howling snowstorm this past winter who thought they heard the clinks and clunks of rattling horseshoes in the New Rome Area could've saved themselves a trip to their psychiatrist's couch if they had only paused to investigate.

Because, you see what they though were clattering 'shoes were actually clattering 'shoes, so help me Sigmund Freud. For the boys out New Rome way have undertaken the necessity of the outdoors and warm temperatures right out of the sport—at least until Old Sol makes a comeback.

THE NEW ROME Recreation Center, which might appear to be a deserted barn from the outside, provides all the comforts of the great outdoors on the inside and has been doing so during the winter months for the past two years.

The New Rome setup is unique in Central Ohio area and except for two counterparts (in Waverly and Jeffersonville) unique in the entire state. The whole idea came to the fore two winters ago when a group of local sportsmen got interested in the idea that weekly get-togethers to throw 'shoes might be an entertaining way to spend a frosty evening.

The plan took on realistic form when the fellows got permission to use a building directly behind the Manor Motel, just off Route 40.

The idea caught on and everybody just "pitched in" on the work to convert the building into the area's first indoor horseshoe arena.

THE CLUB'S membership includes 40 members. Charter member Verlyn Pyles explained that each man is charged $1.50 a month in dues to take care of fuel and lighting expenses as well as cover the cost of trophies which are presented at the end of the season.

The indoor season extends from November until April with league play set for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and Saturday evenings. The New Rome league is composed of eight teams with four men to a team.

"We try to open every evening," Pyles said. The indoor courts will be open during the summer months also.

SINCE THE indoor setup is unique in Ohio, horseshoe pitchers from all over the state travel to New Rome to compete. "We have fellows who come up here from Waverly, Washington Court House, Newark, Springfield and Dayton," Pyles commented. "One fellow comes up every Saturday night from Bremen to pitch."

Right now Pyles and his buddies are warming up for their open tournament scheduled for late April. The old adage about practice making perfect is starting to show up in the New Rome sessions as Pyles reported that a number of the club members are ringing them in at a 60-65 per cent clip.

UNFORTUNATELY, there's a sad note to the New Rome story. The future of the indoor court is in jeopardy since the owners are considering an offer to sell the land.

But in the meantime, the sound of clanking horseshoes still breaks the evening air in New Rome. Warmer weather will send the club members out into the sunshine soon. If the 'shoe tossers are evicted from their present dwelling, could be they'll be pounding their stakes in a new location next fall. After all, it is a nice way to spend a winter evening, isn't it?

Cow Girls 'Sneak By' Coaches 5

Prior to the opening tipoff of Tuesday evening's Texas Cow Girl-Area Coaches basketball game at Hamilton Township, Ranger coach George Hamric was asked if he thought his team would win.

"I suppose we'll have to win," he commented. "Larry (Siegfried) hates to lose." Well, as things turned out, the Cow Girls won, 75-73, but not before they "shot" one referee and literally hogtied one of the opposition players.

WITH HAMILTON assistant coach Siegfried dropping in 12 of his total 16 points in the first period, the Coaches romped off to a 23-15 lead but the Cow Girls started to find the range in the second period and pulled up even (39-39) at halftime.

The Coaches got a second wind after intermission, however, as Siegfried and University mentor Bob White clicked on the fast break to pull the local club up to a 64-56 lead entering the final stanza.

But the Cow Girls, who even employed the services of one of the referees in the fourth stanza, pulled ahead to stay in the closing minutes of play.

WHITE SUPPLEMENTED Siegfried's total with 15 markers while Canal Winchester's Bob Miller and St. Mary's Ray DeCola, a real tiger on the boards, chipped in with eight more points apiece.

Hamric dropped in six points while Reynoldsburg mentor Harry Wolford hit for four, New Albany's Harry Sawdey added two more for the coaches.

SPRING IS HERE?

THAT'S WHAT the calendar said last week but here's one area golfer who's willing to argue the point. Could be that the past winter of every golfer's discontent is chattering to a close though. After three lusty swings, this early bird departed, promising he would return when he could shoot in the high 90's and we don't think he was referring to his golf score.

Volleyball At Schiller

Considerable interest has been shown in the organization of an adult volleyball league at Schiller Recreation Center. All men age 19 and over who would like to participate in volleyball, on a regular weekly basis are urged to contact Ronald Kirkpatrick at HI. 4-7262.

Registration is also continuing for volleyball players on the junior, intermediate, and senior levels.

All boys, age nine through 18, are eligible to play in leagues being organized now. The city-wide volleyball tournament for the top players in the three leagues will be played late in April.

South Girls Win

The South High School girls bowling team won the Bexley Invitational Tournament Tuesday evening at the Jewish Center, outpointing 11 other area high schools to capture the tourney's rotating trophy for the second straight year.

South Banquet Set For April 9

South High School will hold its annual All-Sports Banquet, Tuesday, Apr. 9 at 6 p.m. in the high school building.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be Carroll Widdoes, former Ohio University head football mentor and the "Coach of the Year" selection in 1955.

Bulldog Athletic Director Bob Jackson announced that everyone is welcome to attend the banquet and award ceremonies but they must make their reservations in advance. Dinner admission is two dollars a plate.

South Y Gra-Y Boys Honored At Banquet

The Gra-Y boys of the South Side YMCA will be honored at their annual Basketball and Mint Sale Recognition Party Monday at the Y.

Guest speaker will be OSU cage star Dick Reasbeck, who will also present sportsmanship trophies to one boy from each Gray-Y team. The banquet will be sponsored by the Amerigo Senior Men's Club of the South Side Y at 7 p.m.

Bryant-Butts Scandal—Grid's 'Blackest' Hour

The sporting world was forced to swallow something indigestable along with its usual breakfast diet of toast and coffee last week as that ugly sound of "fix" blasted out of the South like a triggered hydrogen bomb.

We thought we had heard the last of that kind of noise after the so-called pro-football scandal had been put to rest. But the Butts-Bryant-Burnett triangle has taken the respectability of the game out of the frying pan again and deposited it squarely in the flame this time.

IT ISN'T NECESSARY to go into details. Anyone who passes the "quiet hours" by losing himself in the sports pages knows the accusations, rebuttals and all the other sordid details involved in Butts' alleged "gift" of Georgia plays to Bryant.

What is necessary, perhaps, is an evaluation of the situation. How about the credibility of the Saturday Evening Post article, "The Story of a College Football Fix"?

Being familiar with what is involved in terms of libel, it's pretty safe to assume that the Post printed the article with more backstop material than Burnett's "hearsay." And to borrow from Mark Antony, (without the sarcasm) "The Post is an honorable slick."

HONORABLE OR NOT, you can bet that new set of golf clubs that no publication flirts with a line of law suits from here to Calcutta unless they've got a "sure thing" going for them.

The most stomach-turning aspect of the whole sickening debacle is that for the first time in our recollection, the scandal apparently cannot be foisted off on the evil green back—the gambler's lure to prey on the weakness of the youthful athlete who, for one sad minute, might envision a rags-to-riches future by peddling his athletic prowess.

There are grown and mature men involved here. Men who knew better. Men, as the Post article puts it, "who are employed to educate and to guide young men."

THE FIX ITSELF was disastrous enough, but the real tragedy must be borne in the instruments — the principals of the pact. We can harbor no remorse in their behalf if they are guilty.

Most puzzling to us is the point of motivation. WHY? For Butts, who was "retired" after 20 years as field director at Georgia, the answer could be one of a trampled ego.

But for the life of us, we cannot understand how Bryant could have become involved in such a sorry situation. Here is a man who had made the ascent to the top of the collegiate coaching ranks. Perhaps, his weakness lay in his ambition to remain there.

THE POST EXPOSE (if unshaken) has ruined three reputations. Butts and Bryant are through in the realm of athletics. No one group is more unforgiving than a willingly trusting sports public when betrayed. Burnett, who had guts enough to pop the cap on a personal pressure cooker, has no more distinction than being the "informer" with the tainted private life open for the nation to see.

But right is still right and vice versa. The story had to be told. It's highly doubtful that the Butts-Bryant bomb has enough explosiveness to shake the foundations, but it's just more ammunition for the "de-emphasis detail."

Taking the mess out of its emotion-charged surroundings is difficult to do. But it is necessary to stave off the witch hunters who would like nothing better than to use the incident as a kick off for a blanket condemnation.

PEOPLE CAN fail but well-founded, solid institutions like collegiate football don't crumble under sporadic attack. For every Butts and Bryant, there are thousands of coaches whose integrity is and will remain beyond question.

Tragic indeed, however, is the fact that people everywhere will be affected by the scandal and some guy somewhere will start wondering out loud why State U. lost to Central Tech by 35 points next fall.

As far as we're concerned, this fix makes the "Black Sox" episode and the basketball botch look like penny-ante stuff. Maybe Georgia coach Johnny Griffith said it best when he remarked, "I never had a chance."

For the sake of every pint-sized shaver that ever picks up a football again, we hope to God that Griffith's quote can never be spoken in reference to college football again.

EASTER SEAL PARADE SET SUNDAY TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CRIPPLED

South Side volunteers will march in the third annual house-to-house Easter Seal Parade, Sunday, Mar. 31, 1 to 4 p.m., to bring help and hope to crippled children throughout Columbus and Franklin County.

Paraders will work under the supervision of Fred Taylor and Doug McDonald, 1963 Easter Seal co-chairmen.

In America today, [redacted] family in every five each year is affected by some form of crippling. The crippled require care and treatment to overcome handicaps caused by birth, by accidents or as the result of illness.

Direct services are made available to crippled children locally by the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children through Easter Seal contributions.

Mrs. Frank Hartigan, 947 Geers-av, South area chairman, is assisted by majors, Mrs. Catherine Fifer, 360 E. Mithoff-st; Mrs. Ilda Davis, 514 Markison-av; Mrs. James E. Trent, 186 E. Whittier-st; Mrs. Lee Edward Taylor, 681 S. Front-st; Mrs. W. F. Hegele, 1042 Lockbourne-av; Mrs. Robert C. Weis, 1136 Oakwood-av; Mrs. John J. Bragg, 252 Betz-rd, and Mrs. Malcolm McCoy, 1570 Grovewood-dr.

Captains include Mrs. Joan Roth, Mrs. Don Routte, Mrs. Joseph Wiseman, Mrs. Wayne Goings, Mrs. Ella M. Talbott, Mrs. Charles Ferrell.

Mrs. George Barrowman, Mrs. John Howell, Mrs. James P. Maher, Miss Dorothy Myers, Mrs. Richard Stedman, Mrs. William J. McGurdy.

Saunders, Mrs. Delphia Haywood, Mrs. Frank Friebis, Mrs. Eugene R. Hill, Mrs. Louis Roberts and Mrs. Joan Newman.

Easter Seal contributions are the main source of income at the Treatment Center of the Society, 555 S. Monroe-av, where an average case load of 80 handicapped children receive physical, occupational and speech therapy and pre-school education. Many physically disabled perrons receive help here through aids, appliances, braces and special prescriptions, as well as equipment loans.

MF Installs John Nippert

Marion - Franklin Junior-Senior High School PTA will hear Mohammed Rauf from Pakistan, a graduate history student at Ohio State University, at its meeting Monday, Apr. 1 at 7 p.m.

He will speak on educational trends in his homeland. Program chairman is William Drewes.

The program will open with musical selections by the eighth grade glee club, directed by Mrs. Huff, the ninth grade prep choir, directed by Mr. Schick, and junior high instrumentalists, directed by Mr. Geedy.

Mrs. Chester Cunningham, district vice-president, will install the new officers as follows:

Let's Open Our Eyes To Juvenile Delinquency

Last week in one of our papers we carried a story of nine Hilltop juveniles involved in delinquent behavior. Offenses ranged from drinking parties, petty thievery and auto theft to check forgery, larceny and illicit relations.

It was not the type of story we would choose to print if we thought we really had a choice.

Certainly we are not unaware of the heartbreak, remorse and shame that are integral parts of such a story.

Our purpose in using the story can probably best be illustrated by relating an experience of a little four-year-old girl of our acquaintance. We shall call her Peggy.

She proved rather unresponsive, one day, to several admonitions from her mother about hopping out of bed while she was supposed to be taking her nap. Finally Mom decided that the situation called for something more than mere verbal instructions.

As Mother advanced into the bedroom, little Peggy dived under the covers and informed: "I close my eyes, Mommy, so you can't see me."

This simple, childish act solved the problem for Peggy. Mother was too much amused to administer justice.

Unfortunately, too many adults seem willing to use the same childish approach to a real and serious problem; unrestrained, unguided and delinquent youth.

We do not propose to solve the problem simply by reporting incidents and spotlighting areas of juvenile misdeeds. We do believe, however, that control of the problem calls for utilization of many tools from many sources.

We have tried (too long, perhaps) the technique of closing our eyes. Let's resolve, instead, to open our eyes — and our minds — in a continuing quest for answers.

What has been our attitude as a society? Basically, it has been this: The law enforcement people are too hard; the juvenile courts, too soft; the professional social workers, "do-gooders;" the parents, picked on; the troublesome youths, misunderstood; and the situation, hopeless.

To the above list we might add a more legitimate complaint: the newspapers, too silent.

We have been silent in the name of charity, in the name of patience and in the name of hope.

Now we are going to operate on the theory that "It is better to light a candle than curse the darkness."

We do not propose to do a complete about-face. We do propose to chart and sail an intermediate course. We will report, in as much detail as is necessary, specific incidents of juvenile crime. We will pinpoint areas. We will exercise our right to use names of both adults and juveniles when we feel that the situation warrants such action.

It may be that people in the quiet, home-owner, residential sections will be shocked to learn that juvenile delinquency is not confined to the blighted areas, the slums and the so-called underprivileged.

It may be that parents will give more serious thought to their personal responsibilities when they can no longer hide behind the cloak of anonymity offered in the name of protection of their offspring.

Many will agree with our position; probably, just as many will not. We may never know which group is right.

We will light our candle — and we will hope.

Another Survey . . . Costing $35,000 . . . And For What?

Completion of the Sawvel water report is proof again that the "short-cut-home" theory usually makes for a longer and more costly trip.

The all-solving rate formula — the very heart and purpose of the report — has justly received a "no confidence" vote from the Development Committee for Greater Columbus.

The committee evaluation of the report said in part:

"Since actual "cost-of-service" figures were not provided by this study, it is not possible for the Development Committee to endorse the revised rates proposed by Mr. Sawvel."

In other words, the Development Committee would like to see a rate schedule based on proven needs.

We must know the specifics on what service costs, by area and by classification. This must be balanced against sources and amounts of revenue, and administrative expenditures. Only when we know the specifics in all areas of water needs can we devise an equitable rate formula.

When the Sawvel report was authorized by an ordinance passed by Columbus City Council on Oct. 2, 1961, there was a clear understanding of the basic problem; revenues accruing to the Water Division were not sufficient to meet the then-present and anticipated future water needs of the Greater Columbus area.

Now, more than 16 months later, the report is ready for action by Columbus officials. The conclusion of the report? Revenues accruing to the Water Division are not sufficient to meet present and anticipated future needs of the Greater Columbus area.

For this the City of Columbus paid $35,000!

True, the report proposes a plan to secure the necessary revenues, and a rather "simple" plan at that. You simply determine your money "wants," and then jack up the price for industrial users and those individual users who live outside the Columbus corporation limits.

We dare say that this same formula could have been prepared for the City of Columbus by any small group of resident homeowners who had no business or industrial interests. And at considerably less cost than $35,000.

It seems that Columbus officials have taken a leaf from the federal policy of "managed news" by presenting to the people a "managed" consultant's report.

City officials supplied "instructions" rather than information to the Sawvel firm. This was not a case of the city seeking a consultant to advise on a specific problem. It was, rather, a case of using an intermediary to carry to the public a report to substantiate a pre-conceived conclusion.

Consequently, we are handed a carefully planned election issue. The emphasis has been shifted (as apparently planned) from seeking a realistic solution, to the building of a "champion" for the "low income bracket."

Columbus cannot win as a community if such a shortsighted approach to a long-range problem is allowed to persist. Columbus still remains the best hope of surrounding communities for establishment of an integrated water system that will provide the best service at the fairest cost. But we must have the cooperation of all communities affected — and cooperation is a two-way street.

Council Praised

(Copy of letter to Mrs. Golda Mae Edmonston, president of Columbus City Council).

This organization desires to commend you and the other members of City Council for your action several weeks ago in passing the ordinance requiring licensing of retailers selling goods produced or manufactured in Communist controlled countries.

We feel that this will be of material benefit to the local consumer in permitting him to identify such merchandise at the time of purchase and to make his choice according to his own conscience and beliefs.

The City of Columbus is indeed fortunate in having persons of your courage and ability serving and representing our people.

Farm Wife Writes

To The Editor:

(Copy of letter to Columnist John McPeek).

I am a farmer's wife who wishes to take issue with you on your Mar. 14 column about insecticides.

Since you stated that the articles you read disputing Miss Carson's book "Silent Spring" contained "no facts or contentions that merit serious attention" I am enclosing an article from a recent Ohio Farmer (Mar. 2, 1963), which I would like you to read. I think it is very sensible.

The author, Mr. Rings, is an etomologist, who I am sure has spent more than four and one-half years studying this problem as has Miss Carson. He should also be reasonably unbiased since he doesn't represent a chemical company, but a government agency devoted to finding out things to benefit all of us.

Of course, if Miss Carson is right, we had better hurriedly call back all of the Peace Corps members. They have been sent to places like India to teach the people new methods, and about insecticides to help them raise enough foods to feed their starving people.

Actually, I suppose there are cases where people might have been poisoned by insecticides, but how many children have died from an overdose of aspirin? And, yet, who would give up aspirin? Many people have died from "acute alcoholism" so why don't you try to prevent reckless, if not criminal use of alcohol? or tobacco? (Hopeless tasks?).

I never wrote a letter to the editor before in my life but I feel very strongly about this. I am not defending the reckless use of chemicals, but not to use them at all would be unreasonable.

At Last! A Plan To Abolish Pigeons

Until recently I was a neutral in the Great Pigeon Ruckus.

McPeek

Now I am anti-pigeon — almost violently so. But because of my chicken instincts, I cannot take an active combat role among the anti-pigeon forces.

However, I would like to offer a couple of suggestions that possibly could bring them a great coop d'tat and restore dignity to our statues.

Before doing so, perhaps I had best explain my sudden anti-bird partisanship. I was converted by a message from the sky, a fowl message that arrived in a most embarrassing manner — smack on my head at high noon on a downtown street.

Needless to say, anyone who has suffered such an indignity immediately regrets that Noah provided passage on his ark for such rude birds; and, if given the power, would order all of the vulgar creatures grounded for eternity.

As to my suggestions to rid the area of pigeons, the first plan, frankly calls for deceit. But, as in any war, deceit often is the greatest part of victory. And valor is for the birds, if you can win.

The core of the plan is imbedded in history. For centuries man (sporting variety) has used pigeons as racing birds. Even today pigeon racing is the national sport in Belgium, where it is said that the pigeon fanciers would choose their birds rather than their wives if the choice had to be made. (Come to think of it, that may not be as coo-coo as it first seems).

The first thing we must do is insult the city of Cincinnati. Inasmuch as most Cincinnatians are still smarting from former Governor DiSalle's tactless remarks two years ago when Ohio State played the University of Cincinnati for the NCAA basketball title, this shouldn't be difficult. By renewing some old snide aspersions against U. of C. athletic teams, supported with fresh insults against Ruth Lyons, (that should serve as a start), we should have them returning insults in jig time.

When the exchange reaches the proper degree of heat, we should then challenge them to a mass pigeon race. Because they also are plagued with a big problem, they undoubtedly will jump at the bait.

Then both cities must collect all of their pigeons. This we can easily do by setting giant traps baited with peanuts and popcorn on the statehouse lawn.

When the trapped pigeons have been transferred to starting points in the opposite cities, we then must hurriedly conceal all of Columbus' statues with surplus army camouflage materials. Naturally, when the birds come zooming home and are unable to recognize their old familiar vertical restrooms, they will become confused and probably sweep on until they hit Cleveland or Akron, where it is quite likely they would quit in disgust and take up new residence.

If by chance some of the birds should see through our ruse and straggle back, we could throw the second plan into operation.

It is possible we could even get federal aid on this plan because it involves urban renewal. Briefly, we should salvage all of the eaves from buildings demolished in urban renewal projects.

After these are collected we could select a site in a far corner of the county and erect them on discarded telephone poles. Because the eaves have for many years been home for the pigeons it is likely the birds, certainly most of the older ones, would follow. To add a homey touch we could erect a few cheap cement statues and install a battery of auto borns.

To make sure that the birds would stay there, we could advertise it nationwide as America's most exclusive bird sanctuary. This would attract bird-watchers and members of the Audubon Society from far and wide.

Knowing them, they eagerly would pay generous admission fees with which we could buy popcorn and peanuts to feed the birds, thus insuring that they would stay put.

(Upon rereading the foregoing, I am almost convinced that I have never been quite myself since suffering that pigeon-rendered blow on my head. I wonder — could I have grounds for a suit against the city?)

SOMETHING NEW

After more than six years at 280 E. Broad-st, (Old Memorial Hall), the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center moved the week of Mar. 11 to its new building at 275 McDowell-st. Mrs. James L. Fowler is its director and Merton Berrie its president.

The new center is modern in every respect. The largest room is a 500-seat auditorium with a stage and movable, comfortable chairs. A kitchen and adjoining dining room serve daily needs. Other rooms are for music, cards, offices, supplies, and classes in poetry, ceramics, painting, music, dancing, leathercraft, and woodcarving. Good books are welcome for the library.

The Seniors have had 14 annual hobby shows and several selling marts, some of the latter at the Art Gallery. These have attracted a wide interest from the public.

Ward H. Lee edits the monthly Senior Center News with schedules of classes and events. Walter Green, assisted by other members of the Columbus Writers' Club, edits the center's quarterly magazine "Eventide." He will head the center's dedication and open house program May 11.

The center has 1123 members. It is one of several under the Columbus Recreation Department. Still others are sponsored in various places by business, churches, and community organizations. There are at least 81 in Franklin County.

Ten volunteers act as hostesses, all members, serving the needs of visitors and other members.

The center is near a new apartment building for Seniors where 188 low-cost units will be ready for occupancy in May.

Faith Provides Power Non-Believers Lack

". . . without faith it is impossible to please God: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." Hebrews 11:6.

A man of faith is a victorious person. The soul does not know any defeats. The sainted S. A. Keene says, "The soul that is full of faith never becomes confounded by unconscious dependence upon apparent encouragement." Neither will discouragement dismay. Opposition, adversities, difficulties, do not enter into its calculation; it believes fully that all things are possible. The fact is that a soul full of faith cannot be discouraged, because it knows it shall not be disappointed. It shouts for what is to be done even when human appearance denotes that there is no hope of success.

Rev. Whipple

It says: "We are fully able to go up" even though the rabble of unbelief clamor. Faith has a sunlit pathway. You often hear people say, "I am in darkness, but I am walking by faith." True faith is not such, it is a cloudless way, a joyous way. The way that is cloudcast and doubt-strewn is the way of sight. The fulness of faith is a vision of the soul, where its eye sweeps the horizons of time and eternity."

Faith is an inward power by which we grasp an unseen possibility. It is the hand of the heart. It is the grasp of the soul upon a Divine person, upon truth that reaches out of darkness and in the unseen, and takes hold of things that do not yet appear.

Faith is also the power to see things. It is the eye of the heart. Faith has the power to discern things that unbelievers do not see. Faith sees through things. It sees through mountains and difficulties and discerns God, His Word, His promises, and eternal things that are out of sight. The man of faith has a magnifying glass in his soul and a telescope in his heart and sees farther and deeper down than any other man in the world.

Faith brings things to pass. It plans largely. It counts on a mighty God for great things. It laughs at impossibilities and cries "It shall be done." Real faith will do anything that is consistent with the will of God. It will detain an angel until he leaves a blessing. "All things," said Jesus, "are possible to him that believeth." What things? Finance, health, happiness, and everything that is needed for a well rounded Christian life.

Faith brings a sense of rest. A believing soul is a restful soul. Worry, fret, and doubt have no place in its life.

Lastly, if your faith is strong and sound, God will pull you through mountains of difficulties. Faith is like a cable. If you can stand the pull, God will bring you through the most trying situations of life.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Every conceivable trick has been tried for many years by venal politicians of both major parties, and by radical labor racketeers and monopoly-minded big business to repeal the law of "supply and demand." They have succeeded to the point that many of our vitally important day-by-day needs are under complete management of labor or big business.

The one thing that really works for the greatest good of the largest number is a genuinely free market competition in these United States. Very little real competition is left except in the areas of small neighborhood stores dealing mostly in day-by-day commodities, such as food and clothing.

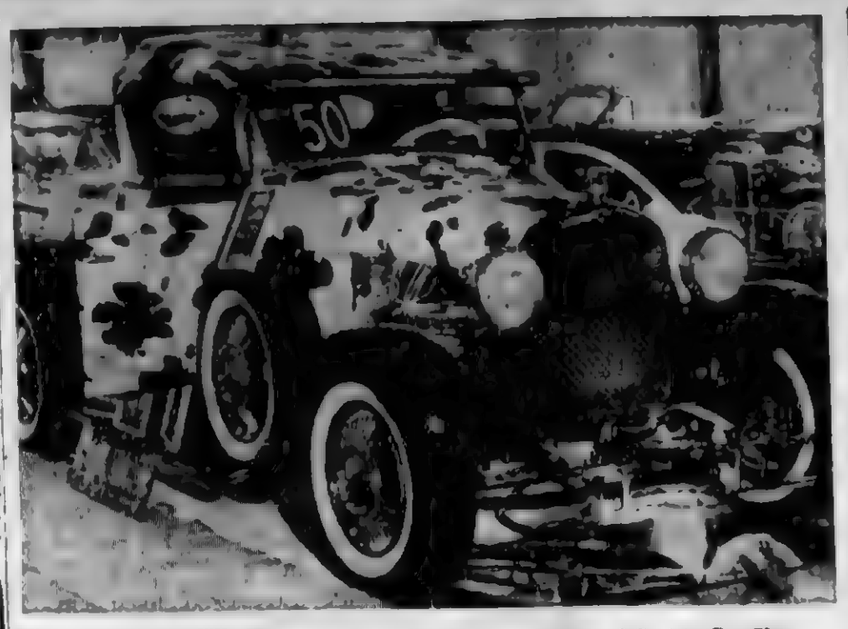
Socialism is pretending to serve the common man and create for him a "tailor made heaven" by managing every aspect of his life from the cradle to the grave. That is the biggest fake on earth and more and more people are getting wised up to what collectivism is really doing to them.

More and more taxes are extracted a thousand ways from long-suffering Joe Doakes and he continues to vote for pie in the sky and something for free. Men get elected to office by exploiting this bunk and then fail utterly to do anything but pass more laws that bind all the tighter the common masses of the people.

The once-legitimate labor movement has become a vicious and monopolistic dues-collecting racket and the time is about gone when free men can seek and find unregulated employment. This is a basic disease on our body-politic now and if it is played out to the bitter end by politicians who are solely interested in "getting elected" the time will come when the end result is "equalitarian destitution" as the late and great Grove Paterson named it.

One of the oldest and soundest laws of prime economics is the voluntary velocity of money by the individual who has judgment and good management. Millions are still doing that despite the growing army of public payroll subsisters. But, all of this present day management of everything by an army of theorists who never built or ran a successful business in their lives cuts the very heart out of the way of life that made this country great.

Home Show Will Feature Full-Size Patio and Pool



A special feature of the 1963 Home Show, opening Saturday (Mar. 30) in the Buckeye Building (Ohio State Fairgrounds), will be a huge garden patio and swimming pool area.

The full-size, 18x36-foot pool, will be surrounded by a lovely patio with flowers, shrubs and trees in full bloom. Style shows will be held in the patio each day.

Over 300 exhibit spaces will be filled with hundreds of new ideas for the home, offering Central Ohioans their only chance to compare styles, quality and price under one roof.

Show hours are Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 10 p.m., and Monday through Friday, 5 to 10 p.m. This is the 31st year of the Home Show's sponsorship by the Builders Exchange of Columbus.

Who Says 'Hot Rods' Are For Kids? Better Re-Check

It's a funny thing, but I'd be willing to bet a set of spinner hub caps that there are more people who cringe at the words "hot rod" than not.

All derogatory connotations, however, should be fairly well expelled in the upcoming Sixth Annual Custom Car Show slated for the Youth Center, Ohio State Fairgrounds, Mar. 29, 30 and 31.

If nothing else, local residents may learn that the term "hot rod," popularly used to denote today's teenagers' souped-up cars, is just not what it implies.

In fact, a so-called "hot rod"—correctly and technically—is any individually designed and built vehicle or one that has been revamped and entirely restyled.

It is the end product of a dedicated hobbiest.

Seldom seen on the streets, these automotive wonders sport such special features as jet engines, fur-lined interiors and exteriors, TV, running hot and cold water, the finest hand tailored leather upholstery and other unique details.

The big show is being sponsored by the Columbus Trotters Hot Rod Club and will run from 5 p.m. to midnight on Friday, 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

More than 100 vehicles from a 15-state area will compete for trophies and special awards in this National Hot Rod sanctioned event. A custom model car race will highlight Saturday's activities.

Continuous films of the world's greatest auto races (Daytona, Sebring, LeMans and NHRA National Drag Races) will be shown. Accommodations for those wishing to stay for the entire three days will be available in Youth Center dorms.

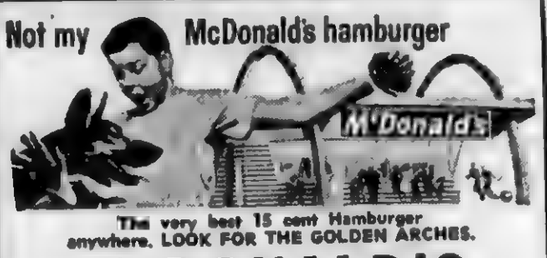
Many of the cars are valued as highly as $100,000. One to be sure and see is an auto with a collapsible center. Upon impact it compresses like an accordion and then re-adjusts to contour.

A portion of the show's proceeds (tickets available at the door) will be given to Boys' Clubs organizations.

Hartley Newspaper area residents participating in the event include:

John Krecsmar, 1313 Country Club-rd; Ron Adams, 579 S. Everett-st; Mike Keefe, 628 S. Everett-st; Guy Morris, 300 Oakwood-av; Richard Roe, 2824 E. Ninth-av; Jack Duffy, 903 Whittier-av.

Laurence Williams, 148 Parklawn-av; Jack Cuckler, 47 N. Harris-av; Ronald Harmon, 883 Miriam-dr West; Butch Schulze, 593 Chestershire-av; Richard Stickles, 251 Highland-av and Dave Daniels, 668 Brinker-av.



Quickies . . .

The recent popularity of Key Clubs prompted WLW-C's Jack Denton to comment recently, "Why doesn't someone start a combination lock club?"

It's probably not news anymore that talented WBNS radio newsman Willia.1 Teague broke into the Saturday Evening Post recently with his story on OSU swimming coach Mike Peppe.

What might be news is the fact that it's not stopping here. He reports that he's getting another one ready — this time on Jim Lorimer, local insurance executive and coach of the Ohio Girls' Track Club.

The Only Thing Predictible About This Job Is Its Unpredictibility

By ROD WARNER
(Contributing Writer)

Rosa Knotts has connections.

As switchboard operator at busy WLW-C television, sometimes those connections can range from the embarrassing to the humorous — with every "Good afternoon, TV-4" phone answer an invitation to adventure.

Now and then Rosa gets a crank call, an employment application, a request to speak to Perry Como or a sudden life-and-death matter that quickly thrusts her into an exciting uniqueness.

For example:

• Rosa opened her switchboard one morning at 7:30 a.m. A man wanted to talk to the news department — he said he had an exclusive story. The news staff hadn't arrived yet ,so Rosa asked if she could help.

"I am in the process of committing suicide," the man said slowly. "I've taken 'pills' and I want your station to have the story."

"Just a moment," replied Rosa hastily, "there's a newsman coming in now." She switched the call to Jack Davis, announcer on duty, whom Rosa had forewarned.

Davis held the man on the phone while Rosa contacted a real TV-4 newsman, the police and the phone company. All arrived at the man's location in time to save his life.

• One time a cowboy was shot and killed on the old series "Twenty-Six Men." A teenage lad came in to apply for the job of replacing the gunfighter.

Rosa shrewdly gave him a job application form after the boy claimed he could ride, shoot and wrangle cattle. While he filled out the form, Rosa called his home and discovered he had been missing for several days, according to parents who came after him.

• Then there was the lady who called nearly every weekday to find out who the stars would be on "Here's Hollywood." Once Rosa asked her why the matter caused her so much interest.

"Well," she said, "I don't have a TV set and when someone is on I'd like to see, I take a bus downtown and watch the show in a department store window."

• Whenever the WLW-C gang gives out some "instructive" information, Rosa cringes a bit. She remembers recently when "Jamboree" star Clay Eager, then on "Farm Forecast," gave instructions for baking cookies.

He gave the wrong amount of baking soda and the calls started. One woman even threatened to make the cookies and make Clay eat them. "They looked terrible," she told Rosa. "They're all puffed up and everything."

Many more unexpected incidents have occurred. She remembers especially the 1959 flood when the police telephone lines were tied-up and the overflow calls were shuttled to TV-4 for Rosa to answer.

Her busiest times are created by such events as weather cancellation of a World Series baseball game, when a soap opera goes off the air or when popular Ruth Lyons comes to Columbus and people want tickets.

Born and raised in Fairfield County, Rosa became a telephone operator in Amanda when she was 16. Later, she transferred to Ohio Bell in Lancaster.

She's been with TV-4 since 1956 and, before that, was in the same position at University Hospital and the Tracy Welles Co.

Rosa likes her job. More important, her experiences make her a veteran at the board and an expert in handling the unexpected.

WLW-C SWITCHBOARD operator Rosa Knott rivals mountain climbers for adventures. She's shown here giving "Jamboree" star Clay Eager some incorrectly made cookies after Clay gave the wrong recipe over the air. She had numerous calls on this one.

"Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," the "Monday Night at the Movies" feature preempted February 18 by the Ohio State vs. Michigan State Basketball game, has been rescheduled for Saturday, May 11, at 9 p.m. on TV-4 as the fare for "Saturday Night At The Movies." The film stars Robert Mitchum and Deborah Kerr.

Chance To Emote In South's Spring Play

By LAUREN WERLING

It's spring play time! South High School will present the intriguing "The Death and Life of Larry Benson," Apr. 26.

Charles Wheeler, senior, takes the central role of a boy who returns home after two years in the Army to find that not even his parents know him.

Helma Reinke, senior, portrays Freda, the divorced mother; Ronnie Cooper, senior, plays Sam, the father and Sharon Cozard, senior, plays their 16-year-old daughter, Jessie.

Linda Tapia and Sue Woodward, both seniors, are friends of Jessie. Freda's confiding neighbor is played by senior Cheryl Archer.

This is the first dramatic three-act production to be put on at South for two years. William Wilt, dramatics instructor, will direct the play.

PTA Wrap-Up Slated At South On April 16

By CAROL LARIMER

South High School will have their last PTA meeting at 7:45 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Alva Edwards, retired principal of South High, will give the invocation. The business meeting will include election and installation of officers.

Honored guests will be retired teachers, past PTA presidents, and Peb Clubs one and two.

Winners Named In Art Show

Winners of the recent art show held at the Lowe Brothers Paint Store in the Great Southern Shopping Center have been announced by store officials following the judging on Saturday, Mar. 16.

First place winner was Susan Miller, 1305 King-av, Apt. 5; second place honors went to Mrs. Katherine Morehead, Lockbourne, and third place was awarded to Mrs. Phyllis Stoner, 3535 Schirtzinger-rd.

The judging of original art selections was accomplished by a panel of three judges selected from the art departments of Columbus area schools.

Jack Brown On Anderson Staff

Ralph H. Anderson, president of the Anderson Concrete Corp., has announced the appointment of John K. (Jack) Brown to the sales department of his company, effective Monday, Apr. 1.

Brown is a graduate of Muskingum College and has been associated with the Columbia Cement Corp. Sales Division as a district and regional sales manager.

He was president of the Columbus Builders Exchange in 1962 and is affiliated with the Engineers Club, Columbus Chamber of Commerce, the Athletic Club and the Columbus Sales Executive Club.

U. S. Licenses Vaccine To Halt Measles

A shipment of more than 7,000 doses of a new vaccine, designed to eliminate measles as a disease affecting the nation's children has been delivered to Columbus and is now available to area physicians.

Merck, Sharp and Dohme, one of two drug firms licensed by the government to distribute the live-virus vaccine, received the shipment from their laboratory on Saturday.

Jack Price, spokesman for the drug firm, said the vaccine is being distributed to local doctors as fast as the orders come to his office and more can be obtained as the need arises. He added that the cost to patients will be set by each individual physician.

U.S. Surgeon General Luthur Terry, after announcing the release of the new measles preventative to the public, said he thought the disease could be eliminated within two years if the vaccine were were used effectively.

The vaccine distributed by Merck, Sharp and Dohme is made from a weakened form of wild measles and requires only one shot for lifetime protection. A second type is distributed by Charles Pfizer and

BUILDING PERMIT

William J. Ferris, 287 Sheldon-av, has been issued a building permit to construct an addition to a frame dwelling at the same address. Construction is valued at $3500. Contractor is John Metzger.

A NEW STYLE for Mrs. Mildred Stewart, owner of the Fayette Beauty Shop, 1328 S. Fourth-st. Hair stylist Gertrude Smith, who has been with the shop for six years, discusses the new coiffure with her boss and points out a similar hair-do on a style card.

Another Anniversary For The Fayette Beauty Salon

Almost nine years ago this same newspaper told the story of Fayette Beauty Shop and plans for celebrating its third anniversary at 1328 S. Fourth-st. Years have passed and many new customers have joined the ranks of the already satisfied ladies who enjoy the facilities of a completely equipped beauty salon.

But the motto, as printed in the July, 1954, edition of this newspaper, has remained the same: "If your hair isn't becoming to you, you should be coming to us."

Owner and operator Mrs. Mildred Stewart has received many awards and citations for outstanding accomplishments with permanent waving and coiffure designing. She is a member of the Hair Fashion Guild of America and the Hairdressers Guild of Ohio.

She is also owner of the Fayette Cosmetics Co., which specializes in making a corrective line of cosmetics, sold exclusively in the Fayette Beauty Salon.

With a full staff of trained cosmetologists on hand to serve customers, Mrs. Stewart invites all interested women to stop in at her shop to inspect the facilities and discuss the latest hair styles and cosmetics. Beauty operators include Ernestine Yancy, seven years; Gertrude Smith, six years; and Geraldine Fisher, five years.

With many years of quality service behind them, Fayette Beauty Shop is looking forward to another anniversary, the 12th, in July and many more years of qualified work for satisfied customers.

SERVING THE PUBLIC

INDEPENDENTLY OWNED since it was opened in 1957 by William Farson, the Parsons-av Super Duper, 1776 S. Parsons, is one of the most popular food markets on Columbus' South Side. Farson, who for many years was associated with the Farson Grocery Wholesale Co., Ironton, is active in many South Side activities and is currently participating in the South Side YMCA membership campaign. Pictured from the left are Farson, owner and manager; Harold McDaniel, meat department manager; Charles Ward, grocery department manager, and Dan Nowlin, produce department manager. As a member of the Super Duper System, the Parsons-av store is supplied by the S. M. Flickinger Co.

BY USING COMMODITY FOODS the housewife can bake for a fraction of the cost of ready-made sweet rolls and cakes. The table illustrating the potential savings attracted the above group. Little Sheri Taynor and her mother, Mary, who is a den mother in Lincoln Park, stand on the left. At the far end of the display, from left, are Mrs. Lois Washington, council secretary and den mother; Mrs. Mildred Bevan, council member and Girl Scout worker, and Mrs. Verilla Blue. All the women shown are residents of Lincoln Village and worked at the open house.

ber, Terry Sharburne, Sharon Standard and Diane Peer. Mrs. William Justus, president of the PTA, presented pins to the new members.

The Mixed Ensemble, under the direction of Max Bunker, sang. The orchestra, under the direction of Howard Cozart, played two selections.

Those students who were tapped for membership in the National Honor Society included:

Betty Baldeser, Richard Bricker, Harriet Chapdelaine, Dorothy Davies, Ralph Denney, JoAnn Dethloff, Barbara Druggan, Sherri Dupree, Dennis Ferrell, Sharon Frank, Carol Gilmore, Sharon Hahn, Barbara Hamilton, Vicki Hook, Shirley Hummerick.

Cheryl Lando, Janis Lewis, Margaret Marte, Kathryn Mason, Gary McCoy, Peter Meitner, Kenneth Mills, Anita Parsons, Glenna Salyer, Carol Schulz, Robert Scott, Linda Sharp, Steve Shawen, Dagmar Wiskow, Joanna Wittenmeier and Jay Young.

TO MAKE ADDITION

Luther Kleinlein 2631 Fairwood-av, has been issued a building permit to construct an alteration to a frame home at the same address. Constduction is valued at $3,500. Contractor is Smith-Dodson Lumber Co.

STAR DUSTERS FOR M-F DANCE

Homemakers Flock To Learn How They Can Save Pennies

Though a ready-mix yellow cake can be purchased for 39 cents, the same cake can be made using surplus commodities for only four pennies.

A stuffed doll can't be touched for less than a dollar, but every child that walked by the toy display at the Family Living Center Open House at Lincoln Park last week was fascinated by a floppy doll made of old nylon hose and a few buttons.

Displayed was a child's coat, warm and attractive, that had been made from a woman's cast-off suit.

More than 150 homemakers interested in better and more economical ways to manage their homes and serve their families attended the Open House which was an introduction to the courses that opened Monday and Tuesday.

"Stretching the Dollar" began Monday and involves all phases of food preparation from careful buying to new and interesting menus.

"Making and Re-Making Clothing" which opened Tuesday will demonstrate not only how to handle the clothing problems of a growing family, but how to add to the charm of the home with home-made drapes and slipcovers.

Mrs. Lois Oliver Sigler, coordinator of the pilot program, the first in Ohio, is delighted with the interest shown and persons had enrolled for either or the other of the classes before the day was over.

The courses are the result of the joint efforts of the Vocational Home Economics section of the State Department of Education, the Columbus Public Schools, and the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority.

BIRTHDAYS, BIRTH, ADD UP TO BIG DAY . . .

If people really do have "red letter days," Thursday, Mar. 21, was the one for Ray and Dorothy Miller, 4242 Colby-av.

It was that day that they celebrated their 48th and 49th birthdays, and it was also that day that their daughter, Carol Gage (now in Lakewood, Calif.) presented them with their first grandchild—a 6-pound, 10-ounce girl.

The Millers are formerly of 1104 Whittier-st. Carol and husband, Paul, were both graduated from South High and later from Ohio State University.

WELL MADE and attractive was the clothing on display at the Lincoln Park Family Center open house. Mrs. Daisy Thompson carefully looks over a dress. The mother-daughter frocks shown were made from 80-cents-a-yard material.

Ham—

Premium, fully cooked, ham.

Only one ham per family is permitted and you need not be present on the day of the drawing, Monday, Apr. 8, to win. Everyone over 16 is eligible to win.

Turn now to the full-page ad in this paper and start filling in your name on the coupons. Remember, every coupon deposited at the appropriate place of business is one more opportunity for you to win a free ham.

Local Man—

Chambless, of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Cos.

James Hunkler, of Battelle Memorial Institute; John Chakeres, of Chakeres Ohio Food Fixture Co.; Attorney Stewart Jaffy of Columbus; James Brown, appliance sales and service dealer; and Abe Zaidan of radio station WRFD.

Temporary headquarters for the Foundation is Stelios' apartment.

The unique part of Stelios' enterprises is that he works without financial reward, writes some 40 letters a day all over the world and travels extensively throughout the city without an automobile.

His love for this type of international relations has kept him going exhaustively for some eight and one-half years. He packs a sandwich and a piece of fruit for lunch so that he can save his extra money for postage.

He probably knows more about postal regulations than Postmaster General Summerfield and the amount of money he spends on stamps runs close to $200 a year.

He contributes the largest amount of his salary to his cancer-stricken mother, Mrs. Irene Efthimioy, who resides in North Carolina.

Stelios never married. He claims he doesn't have time for that. He does nothing for entertainment or relaxation. "There's not enough time in a day now for me to do the kind of job I'd like to," he lamented.

In his book exchange project, the first in his three undertakings, Stelios collects books from various sources in this country (schools, individuals, etc.), packages them and sends them to other countries.

They, in return, send back volumes from their country — all books containing history and educational matter, nothing else.

The art exchange works in the same way. Mainly, he collects sketches from elementary and junior high students for shipment. The pen pal set-up is worked like a triangle with Stelios in the middle. He furnishes pen pals for people all over the world. They, however, don't correspond between themselves. They send their letters to Stelios, who acts as the pivot man and forwards them.

Stelios carries on this work under almost unbelievable adversities. He's been laughed at and criticized but he's learned to be what he terms "a good loser."

"It's a tough life," he said, reflecting over the years (many of them hungry and lean ones), "but I don't worry about adversities. If I ever give up this work they can bury me. I'm going to fight Communism as long as I can."

Just how does this work help battle Communism? Stelios explains it this way:

"Many of the problems we have in America can be traced to the fact that the peoples of the world don't really know much about us. They think of us as a bunch of gangsters," he said, and can justify this claim since he's traveled a good deal through many countries of the world.

"These projects — showing American art and telling the story of American history through text books—can do more for world peace than most people realize," he added.

True, the Stelios Stetson world is a strange one. It's a hard-working, little-rewarding existence that can only be done with a sincere and abundant sense of dedication.

There are those who feel he's on the right track toward world peace. At any rate, this little man's typewriter has probably made more noise than the guns of an infantry division.

SEEKS PERMIT

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced it is processing the applications for D-1 and D-2 permits filed by Verna R. and Eugene T. Brown, 785 Bank-st. The permits would allow sale both on the premises and for carry-out of 3.2 per cent and high powered beer.

Projects Up For Planning

Two South Side projects were to be acted upon Wednesday by the City Planning Commission.

The first involves 2.6 acres having 820-foot frontage on the east side of Rhoads-av, from Rainbow Park south to Forest-st. The request is to rezone the area from apartment residential to a private parking district.

This is to enable parking for proposed retail stores to be located in the manufacturing district to the east.

The second project before the commission is acceptance of the final plan of Innis Gardens No. 4, located south of Moler-rd and west of Fairwood-av.

No results were available at press time.

Over Half Decade Of Service Ends

The oldest Columbus municipal employee — a South Side resident — will retire Friday, Mar. 29, after 51 years of service to the city.

He's John J. Cook, 1420 Studer-av, who has been water distribution supervisor since Feb. 1, 1954. He began his service with the water division on Apr. 1, 1912.

I Feel Better . . .
How About You?

Lives there a man with soul so dead, who hasn't to everyone this day said. . . "I feel better"?

Temperatures in the 80's in April have resulted in an outbreak of smiles. We loved the winter but oh, you spring!

* * *

The Gay Philosopher Says: If you want to be happy for a day — Get drunk! If you want to be happy for a week —Get married! If you want to be happy forever — Become a fisherman and go fishin'!

What This City Needs Is . . .

Last week we editorialized on the fact that recommendations of a volunteer group of laymen with regard to the city water needs was ignored and the city will end up paying a lot of money for a worthless survey.

Columbus is blessed with groups of men and women who are willing to work in a volunteer capacity to conduct drives, make surveys, etc. The city government has availed itself of the use of many such people in various boards such as the traffic commission, the recreation council, etc. We have the Development Committee for Greater Columbus which has turned in a stellar performance and likewise Citizens Research, Chamber of Commerce and the Metropolitan Committee all have their places and do a good job.

Now . . . how about a citizens group interested in seeing that more of these various recommendations get into the action stage? This would require that these same people take it on themselves to stand not only for a program but for candidates for office who will back up such programs.

There is a real opportunity for service here if the leadership for such a group can be forthcoming. Better qualified individuals will be willing to become candidates if they can have the feeling that they can have such backing.

It all comes down to one thing . . . we need business men and women and individuals with the fortitude to stand up and be counted and speak up in behalf of qualified men for our public offices.

Last Week For Entering Ham Contest

This is the last opportunity to enter the contest for the free Easter hams being given away by Hartley Newspapers and the merchants in your neighborhood. If you've already filled in your coupons and deposited them in the proper business places, then this is your last opportunity to complete the enclosed coupons and take advantage of as many chances as possible.

Next week's edition of this paper will contain the names of people in your area who have won a free Swift's Premium fully cooked ham.

There is nothing to buy to be eligible to enter the contest. Just fill in the coupons found on a full-page ad in this paper and deposit them in the place of business of the merchant sponsoring that particular coupon. Everyone reading this paper who is 16 years or older is eligible.

You do not have to be present for the drawings, Monday, Apr. 8, to win your ham. Just submit as many coupons as possible prior to the day of the drawing. Sponsoring merchants have additional coupons in the event you have a friend or relative who would like to join in the fun.

Names and Faces

Shrine Circus To Honor Jeanne . . .

"And in the center ring . . ."

That's the circus phrase that'll greet South Sider Jeanne Tesi who, according to reports from South High School this week, will be honored by Aladdin Temple at its Shrine Circus tonight, Apr 8.

Jeanne Tesi

Winsome Jeanne is South High's Homecoming Queen. She and her court members, Linda Tapia, Barbara Hamilton, Sherre Dupree and Sara Moss, will blend their feminine beauty preceding the circus performance.

Seventeen-year old Jeanne resides at 1117 Berkeley-rd. A college preparatory student at South, she plans to attend Ohio State to study elementary education.

She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tesi.

Southway Sons To Hear Long

Chet Long, the Gas Company news commentator, will be guest speaker at the Apr. 10 meeting of Sons of the Legion at Southway Post, 874 S. High-st, in the South Side.

Chet Long

According to Chairman Joe Baumbusch, the meeting is open to all boys and girls in the Post and a special invitation is extended to the Junior Auxiliary.

"I want the boys in the sons of the Legion to wear white shirts, dark pants and neckties," instructed Baumbusch. "Be sure to wear your cap."

The chairman added:

"I hope that Southway Post, the largest legion Post in the state of Ohio, will show Chet Long that we take an interest in our children."

Police Report: All Roses

One of the best shots of spring tonic so far has been the 1962 annual report by Chief George Scholer and the Columbus Police Department.

The 53-page manual lists such uplifting thoughts as, compared to 1953, the Columbus Police Department has:

- Investigated 10,018 more crimes
- Made 44,713 more traffic arrests.
- Made 3,522 more criminal arrests.
- Investigated 2,999 more traffic accidents, and
- Arrested 1,572 more juveniles.

George Scholer

All this, Scholer says, with only 124 more police officers since 1953. The report also considers that the land area has gone up 123 per cent since 10 years ago.

If your'e statistically minded, you might take a look at the report. Some of the figures are quite enlightening.

South Sider's Boat Recovered

Kermit Hoover, 1736 Bruck-st, sent a report to the Ohio Division of Watercraft that his boat had disappeared from its mooring place on the Muskingum River in Morgan County during the recent high water.

The same day this report was received a letter came in from Mrs. Fred Sims, of Marietta, in which she related that a boat adrift in the Ohio River had been recovered. She gave the Ohio registration number on the bow of the boat and a quick check indicated she had retrieved the boat that South Sider Hoover had reported missing.

City Winning Dirty Lit Battle

Columbus Safety Director Albert Giles reported that the city's vice-squad is doing an "excellent" job policing newsstands to guard against a market-glut of obscene literature experienced in other large cities in the country.

Albert Giles

"The vice squad continually checks the newsstands," Giles said. He added that Mayor Westlake had received letters from local ministers claiming that obscene literature was on local book racks.

"Of course," Giles added, "we don't have the needed manpower to read every book that's published. The major problem in terming a book obscene is that it's hard to get a conviction especially after the courts held that such books as 'Lady Chatterly's Lover' were not obscene."

Area Home Plans Maturing Gracefully For City's Elderly

Russell Taylor is as proud as proverbial punch over a project proposed for the south, southeast side of Columbus.

Taylor, director of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, has been working since the first of the year with Franklin County Commissioners to develop new homes for the elderly.

His first big pat on the back came two weeks ago when the City Planning Commission approved the site for an additional senior citizen pulic housing project at Alum Creek-dr and Frebis-av—just east of the rundown Franklin County Home.

On Monday came the second pat — so resounding that it almost knocked Taylor over.

The Public Housing Administration awarded a loan of $6,343,098 to the local housing authority for construction of the Alum Creek-dr home for the elderly and another on the southeast corner of Summit-st and E. Second-av.

KNOW YOUR CITY

"I'm delighted," Taylor rejoiced when he heard of the federal grant. "You know and I know how great the need is for housing for the elderly." Taylor told a Hartley Newspapers newsman. The government obviously knows, too.

Actually, both projects will be joint-efforts between the county commissioners and the housing group. Both are showing a desire to give full cooperation to each other.

Of course, the federal bucks mark just another step toward realization of the plan. Final plans still have to be worked out with the county and, of course, the question of where to put the money and how much is not entirely settled.

Taylor pointed out that the City Housing Authority is not permitted to equip cafeterias and furnish staff for a project like this and that it would have to be done by the county.

As plans stand now, the new building would be constructed on a 4.7-acre tract. It would be a five or six-story structure with facilities for 350 persons.

The housing will be designed and built specifically to fill the needs of elderly tenants, Taylor said construction on both projects should begin in one year.

The loan will be repaid from the sale of 40-year bonds

In NAACP Talent Show

South High students will participate in the annual NAACP Youth Council variety show Saturday, Apr. 6, at Mohawk Junior High.

Showtime is 8 p.m. Admission is 50 cents.

HEAD OVER HEELS TO PLEASE

THIS IS some of the action you'll see during Schiller Recreation Center's "Open House" that started Wednesday and runs until Friday from 2 to 10 p.m. each day. The young gymnast is Theresa Fields, 10, 232 E. Mithoff, receiving instructions on the still rings from staffer Joe Campbell. (See story inside for further details).

YMCA Membership Drive Is Extended

In response to a number of requests from campaign workers, the South Side YMCA Board of Management and division leaders report that the membership drive will be extended through Monday, Apr. 8.

The approximately 150 workers who did not have an opportunity to complete their calls are urged to take advantage of this additional time to complete the job and make a final report at the "Y" on Monday, Apr. 8, between 7 and 10 p.m.

The extension was reported by Ken Olbert, campaign chairman and principal of Barrett Junior High.

"This will absolutely be the last extension, however," Olbert stated. "I have to go back to work sometime."

On the evening of the original report night (last Monday), South Side YMCA membership workers had reported a total of $5020.

Since only 15 per cent of the membership enrollment had reported through Monday evening, the total dollar amount representing memberships sold is indeed encouraging," Olbert added.

With a big report seen for last Tuesday's "dessert meeting," at 8:15 p.m., "Y" officials saw a giant step taken toward the goal of $13,000.

Each member was challenged to call on 10 qualified prospects, plus any additional prospects for the various kinds of "Y" memberships that the worker can identify through personal contacts.

The personal goal of each worker was set at $80 in total memberships at the outset of the campaign.

As of Monday, 10 workers had brought in over $100 each, Olbert leading the pack.

THE PRICE FOR AIDING YOUTH

The following represent the prices of the various memberships available for the new South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood-av. They are being presented again since the drive has been extended one week:)

• Youth (under 18 years), $5; adult (18 years and up), $10; family, $20; Y-Park only (family), $10; Y-Park only (individual), $5; and Partner-In-Youth, $10 and up.

Can Check Rabies If Follow Rules Say Vets

With the discovery Monday of a sixth rabid skunk in Franklin County since the first of the year, an appeal asking that all families take proper precautions against exposure to the deadly disease has been issued to the public by the Columbus Academy of Veterinary Medicine.

According to Dr. George A. Kukor, president of the Academy, there are several things individuals can do to help prevent the spread of the disease.

Here are his suggestions:

DO obey the county-wide quarantine on dogs. Keep the family pet at home or on a leash at all times. Have dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies, since they are the most likely means to spread rabies to humans.

DO destroy any skunks and other suspicious wildlife found in rural areas. Call the police and health officials in town, they will handle the matter.

DO report all dog bite cases to the police and health officials. Try to indentify the dog and take it to a veterinarian to be examined.

DON'T handle or pet stray dogs. Parents should warn their children to avoid contact with any strange dogs while going to and from school.

DON'T handle any wildlife that acts friendly; this sort of behavior change in a wild animal can indicate the presence of rabies.

At the present time, Frank-

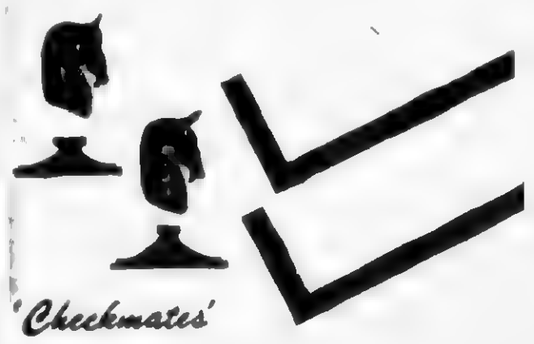
I'LL TAKE THE MONEY is the impression little Jackie Sue Gliech, seven-month-old daughter of Mrs. Suzanne Gliech, gives to Hartley Newspaper representative, Bob Santo, as he hands Mrs. Gliech a "Confederate" dollar bill. Mrs. Gliech said she found the "I" insignia in her paper Friday morning while reading the advertisements, and was the first person to bring a winning ad to the Hartley Newspaper office. Mrs. Gliech, a new subscriber to the South Side Leader, says she likes the want ads and swap column especially well in her newspaper. The Gliechs reside at 1686 Linscomb-dr.



'Confederate' Money Jackpot Is Growing

A total of $16 in "Confederate" cash now awaits the lucky winner of the "Confederate" money jackpot at Hartley Newspapers this week. Each week the "pot" will continue to grow until someone, who is a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper, gets the lucky "5" and claims the money . . . "Confederate" that is.

During the first week of the contest four lucky winners reduced the jackpot by four "Confederate" dollars. This means the remaining $21 has been added to the "pot" of $25 to make up the new total.

Somewhere in 21 different copies of Hartley Newspapers this week are hidden 20 insignia with the number "1", like the one shown in this column but in a color other than black, and one in-

'BARN DANCE' DATED

CORPUS CHRISTI Athletic Department will sponsor an old-fashioned barn dance Saturday, Apr. 20, 9 p.m. until midnight at the social hall, Deshler-av at Linwood-av. The affair is open to adult couples. Planning committee includes, standing from left, Mrs. John W. Corbett, Mrs. Robert Bohner and Mrs. Donald Galvin. Seated is chairman, Mrs. Paul Loeffler.

M-F Pupils To Honor Teachers

Future Teachers of America at Marion-Franklin High School, in cooperation with other community groups, will observe April as 'Teaching Career Month."

FTA officers are, Carol Angelo, president; Carol Bacal, vice-president; Ronald Edwards, treasurer; Peggy Baer, secretary, and Caroline Cordle, historian and parliamentarian.

Arrangements have been made to provide experience in school responsibilities for each PTA member. Carol Angelo, Carol Bacus, Marcia Kirchner and Sue Blackburn will assist homeroom teachers.

Other members will work as office assistants, grading papers, writing announcements, preparing bulletin board displays, and visiting classes to observe different approaches in teaching.

Teachers will answer questions concerning teacher education, preparation for college and other pertinent topics.

Special recognition will be accorded to Mrs. Mae Palmer and Vance Kersell, for 25 years or more teaching experience.

All administrators and teachers at Marion-Franklin will receive special certificates of appreciation, designed, produced and presented by students.

Extra effort and community consciousness is exemplified by Mrs. Esther Chaney, who has designed covers for special programs and occasions, and Charles Geedey, who directs an Army Reserve Band.

Dream To Aid Children With Exceptions Materializes

By BETTY DAFT

The modern, bright brick building on the corner of Souder and State-st is a dream-come-true for baffled educators and distraught parents . . . and a lifeline for the children most often misunderstood and neglected.

Here, children with exceptions find assistance and understanding, and an opportunity to build happy, well-adjusted and productive futures.

The rapid development of the Diocesan Child Guidance Center is matched only by the faith of its founder and director, Sr. Francois, SND.

Under her inspired leadership the center, opened in 1953 in third-floor quarters in the Diocesan office building, 246 E. Town-st, soon needed enlarged quarters, and moved to 1000 Bryden-rd. Finally, in the fall of 1961, it occupied the new, specially designed and equipped building across from Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Children of all ages, of all races and religions with exceptions ranging from speech and hearing defects, and emotional disturbance to an unusually high mentality, are helped here.

In their efforts to solve the increasingly complex problems of young people, from "Why Johnny can't read," to "Why Janey has lost contact with reality," parents and teachers are turning more and more to the center for help.

Sr. Francois and her expertly-trained staff study the uniqueness of each child's case through exhaustive physical and psychological testing, and recommend a course of training or treatment.

Children are treated on an out-patient plan. Very nominal fees are charged to those who can afford them, but none are refused because they cannot pay.

Careful, thorough physical examinations are given each child to determine his speech, hearing and seeing capabilities. Psychological testing follows. Finally, after consultations with the child and his parents, a remedial program is planned.

Babies are also given exhaustive physical and psychological testings at the center before being placed for adoption.

Sr. Francois, her name synonymous with the Child Guidance Center to Columbus educators, is the bridge between troubled children and their parents, and the highly specialized services at the center

Her personal interest in each child and his needs, mirrored in her cheerful, friendly, informal manner, is reassuring to all who seek her help.

Of the center, Sr. Francois says, "With our heads in the clouds and our feet on the ground, we have dreamed this dream." Her faith that the dream would be matched with a million dollars and be materialized in the new Child Guidance Center never wavered.

"My hope," she continued, "is that we will be able to take care of all children with exceptions — the exceptionally bright children who will be brilliant leaders of tomorrow, the mentally retarded, the palsied, the deaf and the blind children.

"And," she said wonderingly, "just imagine — until this year we never charged. All our services were free to anyone who needed them. But it costs more to operate this building; our bills are so high.

"The best is so expensive and, of course," she added emphatically, "nothing but the best will do for our children."

There is surely no skimping on the quality of education in the center's staff. Ph.D. degrees and impressive records of training and practical experience are the rule.

Sr. Francois herself was a long time readying for her unique role at the center. Her career in the classroom covers many years of experience in academies of Notre Dame, from intermediate grades through high school levels.

She was, for a while, a member of the faculty of the University of Dayton, and supervisor of Notre Dame academies and high schools.

Her wealth of knowledge of children and their ways was gained through many years.

Her success she attributes to a deep reverence for the human personality and unshaken trust in God for guidance in caring for His children.

WITH THE SURE INSTINCT of the young, every child at the center recognizes the sincerity of Sr. Francois and responds to her friendship.

"MAYBE IT'S THE TRANSFORMER." Thomas Harwood, psychologist, finds an effective way of counselling a boy is at play, on a child's own level.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Here's April Forecast For Food Shoppers

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bananas, apples, canned peaches

Vegetables — Carrots, new potatoes, salad greens, new cabbage, peppers.

Protein Foods — Beef and pork "specials," fryers, frozen fish, large eggs, cheese.

Food prices in April may push the over-all cost of living down a notch or so, some economists predict. They say the lower prices on meats and the declining prices on fresh vegetables will be largely responsible for the drop.

Mrs. Franks

As for meats and other main-dish proteins, food shoppers never had it so good — that is, not for many a moon. The whole family of pork cuts will be plentiful and prices well below last year, as unseasonally high slaughter rates for pork are expected in April and May. Beef also is expected to remain abundant. As much as 10 to 15 per cent more fed beef will be marketed in April, May and June of this year than during the same period in 1962, according to U.S.D.A. Marketing Service reports.

Other plentifuls for main dishes will be eggs, broiler-fryers and turkeys. Egg prices are expected to continue downward as hens increase their lay rate in the next few weeks. Increased supplies of fresh water fish, along with the good supply of frozen ones, offer fine menu changes. Milk production is on the up which means more cheese for cooking and for nibbling.

Fresh vegetables — partly responsible for the rising cost of food during the past winter — are on the increase and prices are beginning to drop. Florida growers say they're definitely back in business and will be sending us lots of pole beans, sweet corn, eggplant, squash and tomatoes. Our local greenhouse tomatoes will start this month — and, maybe, asparagus — if we have enough sunshine. Items to keep on your list are carrots, cabbage, potatoes and greens for both cooking or for salads.

As for fruits, that's another story. Fresh citrus will be about gone by the end of the month, although dealers say you can watch for better deals on grapefruit before the season ends. Banana imports will continue to be heavy, keeping them one of the best buys in fruits. There'll be enough good apples around to last throughout the month, but prices are firming up a bit.

Strawberries will be the brightest spot at fruit counters, if the weatherman behaves. Several southern states will be shipping berries and California will get into volume production.

In April, many folks begin to look for sassafras for a cup of "spring tonic." Sassafras bark has been around for weeks but have you noticed that it has gone convenient? Instead of the neat little bundles of bark, tied with cord string, you can now take your choice of instant or perculator grind — each packaged in a cello bag with the directions for making your cup of tea right on the label.

Left Bank Influence Hits Capital's Campus, Mon Ami

Things should be as French as French Fries Apr. 17-20 on the Capital University campus.

The reason, mon ami, for the transition from the dignified "University on Main Street" concept to the left bank influence is the big 1963 Creative Arts Festival.

Actually, "The Left Bank of Paris" is the theme for this year's festival and, according to talented publicity director Woody Books, over 150 entries have already reported in for such categories as:

Drama, fine arts, interpretive dance, literary arts, music and speech.

The whole French wingding will be climaxed with a Beaux Arts Ball open to all participants from 8 p.m. to midnight on the final day.

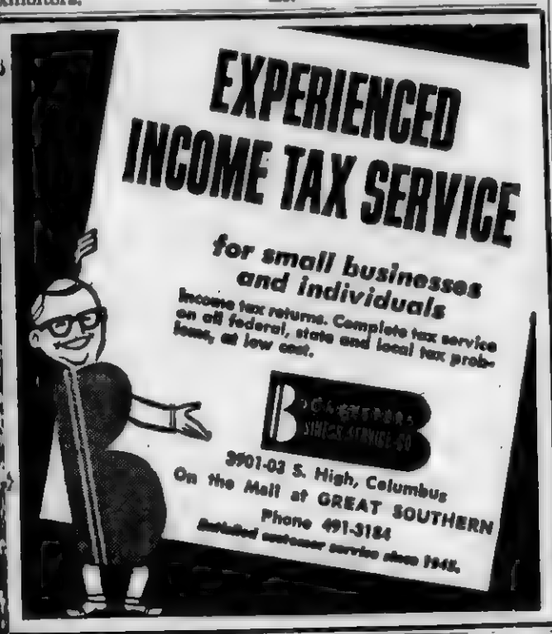
The Festival is open to all students, faculty and personnel at Cap, but the public, of course, is welcome to see the exhibitors.

Original one-act plays; informative, entertaining or stimulating speeches and musical compositions will highlight the four-day event, although original dance entries have been growing.

The schedule includes:

APR. 16 — A program relative to the Creative Arts will be presented in Convocation.

APR. 17 — An Art open house will be held in Schumacher Gallery from 7 until 10 p.m. Open to the public.



APR. 18 — Speeches to be presented and judged from 8 until 10 p.m. in the Toledo Room, in Bexley Hall. Music will be presented but not judged at this time. Open to the public.

APR. 19 — Music finalists and interpretive dance finalists will present program for judging from 8 until 8:45 p.m. in the Toledo Room, in Bexley Hall. Open to the public.

CALLED 'BEST EVER'

Trotters Did It Up Big In Custom Show

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

After leaving the annual Rod and Custom Show last weeekend at the Fairgrounds, you can't help but feel a bit guilty easing into your auto that still looks like it did when it left the Detroit assembly line.

You pull away from the Youth Center and glance at your hood. "Same old paint job from the factory," you think. You run your hand over the "stock" seat covers and wish it were angora, like some of the other cars at the show.

Even the motor sounds a little sicker, and you start to wonder about phrases such as "headers," "air blowers" and "twin chrome pipes" and how much these items would do for your oil burner.

It was that kind of a show.

The rod and custom spectacle, seen by observers as the best ever, was the sixth annual offering sanctioned by the Trotters' Hot Rod Club of Columbus.

And show it was. The Trotters left out litt'e in crowd pleasing, what with a bevy of colored lights sparkling on the metallic paint jobs and the fluffy mesh to create a cloud effect around the cars.

Show Chairman Frank Clark, 1701 Marina-dr, probably still in high school, seems to typify the type of boys and well-adjusted adult men who participate in the activity of "hot rodding" — no longer a term to be frowned on.

It's easy to back up this last statement by merely witnessing the time, money and work put into the some 100 cars on display.

For instance, Mike Keefe, 628 S. Everett, along with neighbor, Ron Adams, 579 S. Everett, went to work on a late-model Chevrolet and, before they had finished, the car now sports a closed-circuit TV set-up and record player, among other things.

Another auto, a Corvette, took one and one-half years of work by Skip Krecsmar of Country Club-rd and Sharon Jahn of Reynoldsburg. They installed a brand new interior of a blend of wool and angora.

One of the most unique items to hit a hot rod show ever was offered by the "Barkers" Hot Rod Club of Grove City — a division of Teens Unlimited.

They came home with the club display trophy with their satirical look at custom car styling.

"We were formed too late to make a real custom," said Paul Goebbel, one of the club's members. "So, we hit on this idea instead."

They took a 1949 Buick, merely "stuck on" custom items like triple exhaust pipes coming from the motor, splashed it up with paint — over the mud, rust and everything—and threw an auction-type collection of articles in the interior and trunk.

If nothing else, the Barker effort demonstrated the fact that it's not so easy to design and construct a custom car and pointed out the various areas of the car body used as targets for customizing.

Other show highlights included:

- "The Flirtation," owned by Dave Classon with interior work by Lenny Gray. It's a 1957 Ford that features a purple and white metallic flake finish, swivel seats and a bar in its interior.
- "The Thing," by Paul Johnson of Elyria. It's a 1932 Ford with a completely chromed undercarriage and was named 1962 National Roadster.
- "Miss Midget," a Buckeye Quarter Midget stock-modified racer driven by Corky Tulton, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tulton, 280 Dennis-ln, Grove City.

No Place For High School Drop Outs

The consequences of high school drop outs are much more serious today than in the past. Why? Because today's drop outs are virtually unemployable.

This was one of the prime messages carried to a capacity audience during a workshop meeting sponsored by the Columbus Urban League Guild. More than 200 persons attended the Mar. 27 meeting at the Southern Hotel.

Speaker for the program was Shelton B. Granger, director, Youth Development Unit, Children's Bureau, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Granger reported on programs being developed by the federal government to assist states in dealing with the high rate of drop outs.

A problem area that is now diminishing, he said, is the past willingness of educators to assume total blame for drop outs, and of the public to subscribe to this mistaken belief.

Granger pointed to a united front by educators, parents and many other agencies as the best means of stemming the flow of potential drop outs.

"She really dishes it out that way!"

Although he called for a distinction between drop outs and juvenile delinquents, he said that much common ground is shared by the drop out, the delinquent and the unemployed youth.

The program was moderated by Dr. Harold H. Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Public Schools. Dr. Eibling told the gathering that a number of programs aimed at the drop out problem are being carried out in the public school system. He cited a reduction over the past year from 35 to 32 per cent in the number of ninth grade pupils who will fail to graduate because of dropping out.

The Urban League Guild will sponsor two follow-up study group meetings, according to Mrs. Albert Schwartz, staff consultant.

Holy Week Mission Set At AFB

Dr. John W. Rilling, professor of practical theology at Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, will be guest speaker at the Protestant Religious Mission at Lockbourne AFB starting Palm Sunday, Apr. 7.

Chaplain (Maj.) Clinton E. Wendland, Lockbourne AFB base chaplain, invites all Protestants in the Columbus area to join the military in the Holy Week services. Air policemen at the gates to Lockbourne AFB will direct interested civilians to the chapel.

The mission will begin at 8:30 a.m., Apr. 7, with a Lutheran service and general Protestant services at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

A youth dinner will be held at 5:30 p.m. in the chapel annex, and the evening worship at 7:30. A reception will follow in the chapel annex.

Morning Bible studies will be conducted Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Apr. 8, 9 and 10 at 10 a.m.

Evening services on the same days will begin at 7:30. A discussion period with refreshments will follow.

Flood Control Agents Carry Identification

Appraisers who started to work Monday to evaluate 14,000 properties in the Scioto Conservancy District all carry credentials, Richard E. Midden, secretary, announced.

They are employes of the J. M. Cleminshaw Co. of Cleveland and will also have a letter signed by Midden. Any owner who is not satiafied may further verify the identity of the appraiser by contacting either the district office or the Cleminshaw office at 198 S. High-st.

Columbus City Council authorized a contract Mooday with the district allowing a $900,000 loan for a detailed engineering study of two of the 11 proposed flood control dams, Alum Creek and Mill Creek.

The loan will be retired when the district sells the bonds for the flood control program.

The survey will begin in Circleville and will progress north to Columbus through five counties. They are Scioto, Pike, Ross, Pickaway and Franklin.

Information compiled by the appraisers will be given to the county engineers to be used as a basis for setting up assessments against the land in question. The levy will be scheduled according to benefits to be received through the conservation program.

If the courts decide that benefits from the program will exceed the $79.6 million costs, taxes will be levied over a 30-year period and construction bonds sold.

Though law permits the appraiser access to the properties, the district hopes to obtain the cooperation of land owners without due process.

Confederate Money Is Good Again!

Hartley Newspapers Confederate Money–That Is!

Here's How:

Yes, sir, Rebel currency is as good as any present day American money, that is if you are a reader of one of the Hartley Suburban Newspapers.

1 Starting with this week's issue a little insignia like the one shown at the left will be printed in 20 different copies of these papers. If you find one of them in your copy it is worth a Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Dollar.

Each week one insignia like the number 5 at the right will be printed in one ad in some copy of one of the Hartley Newspapers. If your copy is the one, you merely bring or mail it to the office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 West Broad St. not later than noon Monday following publication and you will be given a Hartley Newspaper $5 Confederate Bill.

But, if your are a paid in advance subscriber or regularly pay your newsboy, you will receive the Jackpot. During the first week of the contest the Jackpot will be worth $25. All unclaimed Confederate money offered each week will be added to the Jackpot the following week. This means that in all probability the jackpot will continue to grow each week until some lucky Hartley Newspaper subscriber cashes it in.

But Confederate money isn't worth anything you say. Not so with Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Money. Just take it to any store advertising in this

5 week's issue of a Hartley Newspaper and it can be spent just like any other currency. Hartley Newspapers in turn will redeem all such currency at full value when turned in by a Hartley Newspaper advertiser. Further details of the contest are explained on Page One of this week's Hartley Newspapers.

If you have been receiving a copy of any of the Hartley Newspapers each week from your carrier or by mail and have not paid your carrier or paid in advance for your mail subscription, you are not eligible to win the jackpot. So, call BR. 4-1155, ask for the Circulation Dept. and determine the status of your subscription right now.

To Be Sure You Don't Miss Your Chance To Cash In On This Big Event, Pay Your Carrier Every Month, Or Mail In Your Subscription Now!

Series Of Daily Services Slated At Livingston Methodist

The last Easter to be observed in the present Livingston Methodist Church, Third-st at Livingston-av, will be preceded by a series of daily worship services, during Holy Week.

It is expected that the church will be torn down sometime in 1963 to make way for the expressway.

Monday through Wednesday, Apr. 8 through 10, a men's breakfast prayer group will meet at 6:30 a.m. and a ladies' prayer group at 1:30 p.m. The annual Livingston Bible series will be held Sunday through Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., led by Rev. Edwin Messerschmidt.

Communion service will be held Maundy Thursday, 7:30 p.m.

Dr. E. I.Klotz and Hae Jong Kim will be the speakers at Good Friday services, 12:15 to 1:15 p.m.

Livingston Methodist will also be host to Union Good Friday worship, sponsored by the South Side Ministerial Association, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Thomas Perkins will be the speaker and the Livingston Chancel Choir will sing.

Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Messerschmidt will conduct the church's annual Bible series during Holy Week.

Rev. Messerschmidt is now serving as field representative for the Oriental Missionary Society at Winona Lake, Ind. His world-wide ministry in Bible teaching and evangelism has taken him to more than 40 countries and overseas mission fields.

Mrs. Messerschmidt is a former missionary to South America.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES at Livingston Methodist Church will include a daily Bible series at 7:30 p.m. and men's prayer group at 6:30 a.m., led by Rev. Edwin Messerschmidt, and a ladies' prayer group at 1:30 p.m., led by Mrs. Messerschmidt.

PERMIT ISSUED

Eugene Scott, 5181 Edgeview-rd, has been issued a building permit to construct a two-car, concrete block garage at the same address. Construction is valued at $1,300. Contractor is United Garages Co.

Most wives find out that keeping hubby in hot water doesn't make him tender.

OX CART, PONY EXPRESS AND PILE boats are but three of the ways Americans have used to move themselves and their goods around the country since pioneer days. Proudly displaying a few of the models from their transportation showcase are young historians from Mrs. Margaret Kranaskas' fifth grade at Watkins Elementary school. From left, they are Mary Applegate, Jean Martin, Yolanda Calve, Clarence Himes, Mary McCurry, Patricia Kelley, Rudolph Sulton, David Jones and Rebecca Haynes.

Watkins Students Trace Transportation Progress

The wide, wide seat of the model horse and buggy doesn't fit in with Grandma's stories of old-fashioned courtship.

And the Mississippi sidewheeler has the silhouette of the Nautilus.

Yet when Mrs. Margaret Kranaskas' fifth graders at Watkins Elementary completed their transportation show case, it was a work of enthusiasm.

Based on the American history studied, the children and their teacher traced the ways used to get around in this country, from the Indian squaw trudging the trails to the modern space capsule.

Proud as the youngsters are of their display, they are even more impressed with their teacher's homemade rhyme explaining the models.

"Come, my children, and travel with me
Back through the years of history
To the Indian with his canoe and trails
And the river boats and engines on rails;
Then to autos, buses and planes,
The speedy jets and streamlined trains.
May your journey be full of fun
And you'll know lots more when the trip is done."

I need the Answers to some SERIOUS QUESTIONS

Why am I here? What shall I do with my life? Where am I going? This young man is at the threshold of his adult life and needs the answer to some serious questions. Perhaps you find yourself pausing to take stock of your life and groping for direction.

The Church of the Living God tells the truth about man's life, death, and destiny. The truths learned there will set you free to live a more abundant, meaningful, and creative life. "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." John 8:32.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Wanted—Talent Scouts To Up Olympic Stock

If you were to stop the man on the street and ask him to name the most dominant necessity of the 1960's, he would more than likely say prestige.

If the man you had questioned happened to be Ohio Track Club president Jim Lorimer, you would have gotten a more categorical response — U.S. Olympic prestige.

"SPORTS HAVE BECOME an instrument of international prestige," said Lorimer last week in a speech to a gathering of five local Civitan Clubs. "The Russians are out to prove that their system will produce superior results whether in space or the sporting world."

Pravda has kept us well informed about the Soviet space accomplishments and a quick check of Olympic results since 1948 indicates that the USSR hasn't been much of a slouch in the athletic battlefield either.

In '48 the Soviets had no Olympic team but arrived at the games with a gigantic battery of coaches and cameramen. In '52 Russia had its first team—a small but well-scoring nucleus. Four years later the USSR fielded a complete team and swept to victory. The Red win was encored in '60, nd from all indications Russia should nail down its third traight Olympic title in the track and field games of 1964.

LORIMER HAD the reason for the Russian success and consequent American defeat—girls.

The simple tragic fact of the matter is that our girls haven't been able to compete with the Russian girls. The male contingent of the U.S. team has constantly outscored its Soviet counterpart, despite the fact that Russian athletes are trained by the government while American sportsmen operate on a part-time amateur basis.

The wide-point spread separating the Red gals from the American squad has made the difference in team totals, and there's no reason to believe the situation will improve unless some positive action is taken.

"TOO LARGE a percentage of our high school competitive program is devoted to the boys," Lorimer said. "There are no opportunities for the girls. Too many potential Olympic prospects are left to die on the vine simply because of a lack of competitive programs.

"Our American boys are trained in athletics from grade school on up. A girl in Soviet Russia is trained on an equal basis with the boy. If we don't find some ways of getting our girls into necessary competition, we'll remain at our decided Olympic disadvantage."

There are two basic solutions that can rectify the present situation. One, we must find the girls who are qualified to compete on an Olympic basis, and two, we must sponsor their progress on a local level. Unlike the Russian setup, our government does not sponsor the development of local talent.

SOME EFFORTS have been initiated on a local basis. This May 3, for example, the Central Ohio Girls Championships will be held at Whetstone High School. Lorimer, who is also the secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee for Woman's Track and Field events, has sent out registration blanks to all schools and recreation centers.

"We'll probably attract about 500 girls of all age levels in this novice program," Lorimer said.

Another step in the right direction has been made with the establishment of a Girls' Track and Field Clinic by the department of Women's Physical Education at Ohio State University.

"Most necessary," Lorimer declared, "is the job of finding girls who have Olympic-level talents while they are young so we can bring them along. The tragedy is not finding the Estelle Baskervilles (East High high jumper who will represent the U.S. at the Pan American Games)."

THEN, OF COURSE, there's the problem of expenses. "The Ohio Track Club is not a profit-making organization," Lorimer continued. "Last year we went to New York three times by car. The parents had to foot the bill for travel and hotel expenses."

"We also had to get 14 of our girls to California. We must go where the competition is. In this case, we had to contact local service clubs, individuals and businesses to sponsor our trip. We can't go to the government."

It seems to us that Jim Lorimer and his Track Club shouldn't have this dilemma.

What is needed to make strides in the direction of Olympic success is an effort to find the best girl prospects from each school, get them oriented sports-wise and have them compete on a regular basis.

THE OHIO TRACK Club's victory in the recent Pan American Trials here represented a major achievement for Lorimer's dream of closing the Olympic gap. With the assistance of OSU track coach Larry Snyder, the Junior Olympics here attracted 2000 youngsters last summer, half of them girls. The labors of three and one-half years of hard work paid off big at the trials. So, you see, it can be done.

"The victory proved what can be done in a short period of time with a novice group of youngsters who are trying to improve the image of youth," Lorimer said.

Another point Lorimer brought up was that of facilities. "In Russia, all the athletic facilities are open to the public in keeping with the Soviet plan to make everyone Olympic-minded." Unfortunately, the same is not true in this country.

WHAT CAN BE done here? The Columbus West Civitan Club helped to get the ball rolling by sponsoring the 220-yard dash at the trials. This involved about $100 for trophies and expenses.

The sponsorship of regional level meets, which would attract prospective Olympic talent, is another possible means of improving the situation. The grass roots exploration and discovery of these youngsters should be a challenge for every citizen.

"We don't wish to pattern our American girl athlete after her Russian competitor. Our only desire is to find the talent and give the girls the opportunity to develop into potential Olympic champions," Lorimer said. "We cannot afford less than the best of this country's athletes.

"I JUST CAN'T overestimate the importance of this campaign. After the last Olympics, other countries wanted to know why we let the Russians beat us again."

The most encouraging aspect of Lorimer's plan is that everyone can participate. Everyone can be an "Olympic talent scout." The challenge is obvious enough—the need for a number of people working together to negate another false premise of the Soviets.

South Side Y Calls Churches For Softball

All south side churches interested in fielding softball teams in the South Side YMCA leagues this spring and summer are requested to have a representative present at the organizational meeting to be held at the new South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood Ave., on Monday, Apr. 8th at 7:30 p.m.

Teams that held franchises last year will be given preference providing they have a representative present at this meeting.

Leagues will be formed as follow: Monday and Wednesday, Junior boys 14 and under; Tuesday, Girls 18 and under; Thursday, Intermediate boys 15-16-17; Friday, adult slo-pitch men 18 and over ;Tuesday, a junior boys league for southeast churches.

Catholic Center Stages Karate, Judo Exhibition

An exhibition in judo, self-defense, and karate will be given at 8 p.m., Friday, Apr. 5, at the Catholic Center, 80 S. Sixth-st. The presentation will feature members of the Columbus Branch of the Korean Sports Judo Association.

The exhibition is open to all Catholic high school boys and men in the area.

INSTRUCTORS WILL be Doug Grant and Nick Liberty. Grant, a holder of the fourth-grade black belt, is the top ranking judo expert in the state. He is also the highest rate KSJA member in the United States.

Liberty, who has been participating in the sport for eight years, holds the first-degree black belt.

BLISS 'MVP'

BLISS COLLEGE basketball captain Dick Langley, 3964 Randall-rd, has been named the team's "most valuable player" this season. Langley, a 6-5, 220-pound ex-Marion-Franklin star, averaged 17.7 points per game for the Bookkeepers and scored at a 21.7 pace in Buckeye Intercollegiate Conference play. The West Side cager was also named to the BIC all-league team for the third straight year — the first player ever to achieve this distinction.

Bearcat Coaches Meet

The coaches of the Ohio Bearcat Football League will meet with members of the recently-formed Civitan Youth Fitness Associates Thursday, Apr. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Chittenden Hotel on N. High-st.

'63 BULLDOG'S INNER DEFENSE DEPARTMENT

IT MIGHT be difficult for South baseball Coach Bob Nolan to place all six of these returning Bulldog infield lettermen on the field at one time but regardless of the combination, the Rebs should be able to collar the hot ones with this sextet of vets back for another spring. Watching for that first hard hopper are, left to right: Herb Klopfer, Gary Kipp, Mike Rickard, Rock Roshon, Bob Scott and Andy Poczik.

Hey Kids—Jet Badges On Sale Till May 1

Youthful baseball fans this year will again see their favorite Columbus Jets Baseball Club for as little as a penny per game, when they buy a Junior Jet Badge.

For the ninth continuous season the ever-popular badges will go on sale today and continue for a month, ending May 1. The price per badge is 50 cents. Badge holders will be entitled to attend most of the Jets' home games when accompanied by an adult.

BADGES WILL be honored Monday through Saturday, except on opening day, holidays and other special occasions. Badges will not be honored on Sundays.

The following youth groups will distribute and sell the badges: Boy Scouts, The Boys' Club, Catholic Youth Organization, The Jewish Center, members of the Boys' YMCA and the Girl Scouts.

Money made from the sale of badges goes to these youth organizations to support activities within their groups.

IN THE EIGHT years since Junior Jet Badge sales began, almost 250,000 boys and girls living in Columbus and the Franklin County area have bought badges.

Dick Hahn is again chairman of the Badge Sale Committee.

Buckeye Grid Five Battles Ex-Cage Stars Saturday In Ambuc Benefit Headliner

An All-Star basketball game, featuring play of past, present and future cage stars, will be held Saturday evening at the North High School gym.

The opening game at 7 p.m. will be a cage battle between two sixth-grade quintets representing the Whetstone Recreation Center. The second game (7:30 p.m.) wil. pit the Ambucs (American Business Club) against a team composed of teachers from West Jefferson High School.

THE FINALE at 8:15 sets the OSU varsity football team against a quintet composed of former Buckeye basketball stars. The Ohio State cagers' starting five will be Mel Nowell, Larry Siegfried, Joe Roberts, Bobby Knight and Richie Hoyt.

TV personalities Clay Eager and Clark Smith will take part in the Ambuc-Jeff teachers game. Eager will perform as a player-coach for the teachers' team while Smith will serve in the same capacity for the Ambuc five.

Tickets, which sell for one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children, may be purchased from the Ambucs, Whetstone Recreation Center children, the Gahanna Youth Group or at the door.

The three-game cage spectacular is being sponsored by the Ambucs in an effort to raise funds to help the handicapped-retarded children and those afflicted with cerebral palsy.

New YICA Club Meets Tonight

The newly-organized YICA Club (Y-Inter Church Athletic) will hold a meeting tonight at the South Side Branch YMCA, 190 Southwood Ave. at 7:30 p.m.

All men who have served in an advisory capacity or have played Inter-Church Athletic program are eligible for membership and are urged to attend.

"Sport Highlights of 1962", a film featuring the Ohio State basketball team with Jerry Lucas and Co.; Jack Nicklaus, National Open triumph; Wilma Rudolph's sterling track performance and other sport eye-catchers will be shown following the meeting.

MOUND STRATEGY AT SOUTH

REBELS' '63 GARDEN FIXTURES

WITH THREE experienced lettermen returning to his outfield, South coach Bob Nolan shouldn't have too many worries with his 'outer space' department this spring. Patroling the Bulldog gardens this season will be, left to right: veteran performers Tom Schneiderer, Rick Coverdale and Bill Howard.

WHEN COACHES TURN PLAYERS

THIS SIX-MAN contingent of County League basketball coaches showed fans at Hamilton Township High School last week that they could practice what they preached on the hardwood. The six mentors provided the Texas Cowgirls with most of their competition during the course of the gals' 75-73 victory. The mentor lineup included, left to right, kneeling: Harry Wolford, Reynoldsburg, Bob White, University, and Ray DeCola, St. Mary's. Standing are Bob Miller, Canal Winchester, George Hamric, Hamilton Township, and Larry Siegfried, Hamilton Township.

Gahanna, St. Charles Nab Cinder Victories

Gahanna, Central and St. Charles recorded track victories Tuesday as the '63 cinder season progressed on four local lanes.

The Lion's John Mulconrey helped Gahanna to a 73-45 win over Whitehall, setting a new school record of :20.5 in the 180-yard low hurdles in the process. Ken Barth picked up 11 of the winners' points while Clark Fuller notched 13 markers for the losing Rams.

EAST'S FRED Lundy put on a one man show at Mansfield but couldn't prevent the host Tygers from scoring a 65-53 victory over the Tigers. Lundy won the 100, 220, broad jump and finished East's winning half-mile relay effort.

Eastmoor fell two points short of upsetting a talented Worthington team, 60-58 on the Cardinals track. Gary Perkins and Jim Clark set the pace for the Warriors — the former winning the 100 and 220 and aiding Eastmoor's victorious half-mile relay quartet, the latter going 13'4" to claim the pole vault event.

WILLIE THOMPSON'S double-win wasn't enough to stop Central as the Pirates recorded a 65-53 verdict over South. Thompson streaked to victory in both the high (16.0) and low (21.5) hurdles but the Reb runners' efforts were cancelled out by Central's Charlie Smith's 14-point output.

Bob Faller's 15-point performance provided the margin of victory for St. Charles as the Carolians outdistanced Rosary, 62.5-54.5 at Harley Field. Jim Groce was the Crusaders' most successful point-getter with 15 points.

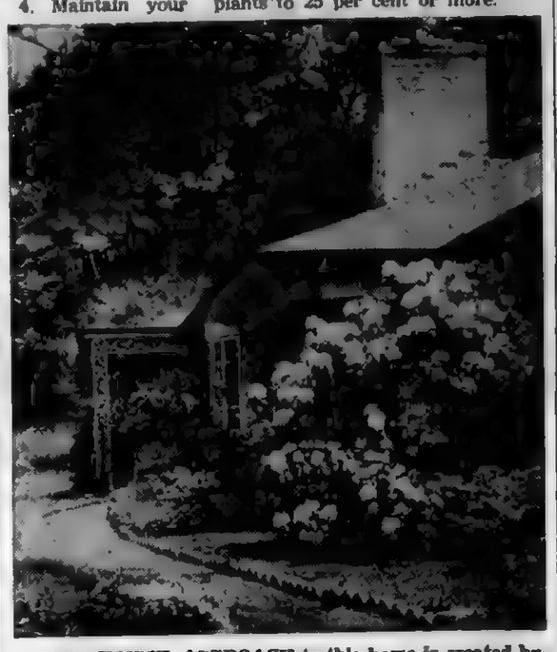
Well Landscaped Grounds Will Greatly Enhance A Home's Beauty, Charm, Value

Modern home improvement should start with one's land, says the American Association of Nurserymen. The costliest mansion surrounded by bare and eroded soil is a depressing sight. By comparison, a four-room house on a beautifully landscaped plot can provide a lovely setting for more beautiful and gracious living.

Natural beauty on the land has no limitations of wealth! Anyone can achieve it. The principal requirement is an appreciation of the land on which the family lives and what it can do for those who treat it kindly by planting and maintaining it.

Success in landscaping the property requires, as in everything else, a sound approach.

1. Sit down and figure out what you wish to achieve — outdoor living, armfuls of flowers, tree-ripened fruits, cool shade, play areas.' It may be a combination of all.



2. Start with a plan to achieve what you wish. Where you want your fruits and berries; where the ideal spot is for outdoor living (you may also wish to screen it with shrubs or trees from the neighborhood generally). Shade should be where you most desire it. The foliage of the tree when mature should be between the place where you want shade and the sun. A professional plan by a landscape nurseryman often is advisable.

3. Plant according to the plan. At the same time, after each plant is placed in the ground, stand off and observe whether you are planting it in exactly the right place. If not, shift it a little until it is most pleasing to the eye.

4. Maintain your plants once they are in the ground. A good soaking with water only when the soil becomes dry is a general rule. Fertilizing and mulching may be needed. Get advice from neighbors, nurserymen, state university extension services. Many pamphlets are available. Read the garden stories in your local newspaper for ideas.

Property improvement by landscaping and gardening can be a very rewarding experience.

Landscaping can also be a sound investment, the trees and shrubs growing in value from year to year, increasing the value of the property up to 25 per cent or more.

BEAUTIFUL APPROACH to this home is created by carefully proportioned grouping of colorful rhodendron and other shrubbery.

Many Easy Ways To Finance Projects

If you are like most families planning a major remodeling or modernization project, you most likely will find it necessary to borrow some or most of the money to pay for it. In today's money market, home improvement financing is one of the most common types of lending transactions. In fact, home improvements can be financed through a greater variety of techniques than almost any other kind of purchase.

Choose Your Plan

To choose the one method of financing that is best suited to your particular situation is a basic step in making sure that your remodeling or modernization project will meet all the requirements of a sound investment.

To aid you in making this selection, here is a quick wrapup of methods of home improvement currently available.

FHA Title 1 Short-Term Loan: You can borrow up to $3,500 with five years to repay under this loan, which is insured by the Federal Housing Administration. It is confined to improvements considered "essential" to the home, such as modernizing kitchens, bathrooms, finishing off extra rooms, etc. Interest usually runs five per cent discount on the first $2500 of the loan, drops to four per cent on the balance of the loan. "Discount" interest means that the full interest charges are deducted from the amount of the loan at the outset.

FHA Long-Term Loan (Section 203K): You can borrow up to $10,000 for as long as 20 years. The loan (also insured by the Federal Housing Administration) must be used to make major structural changes in your home, such as adding a new wing. Your dwelling must be at least 10 years old. Simple interest runs around six per cent.

Bank Home Improvement Loan: Like a Title 1 Loan, you can borrow up to $3,500 and take five years to repay. The interest varies from five per cent to seven per cent discount. While costing slightly more than Title 1 loans, bank loans are more flexible. You can use the money for many improvements which are considered "non-essential," and, thus, not eligible for a Title 1 loan.

Open End Mortgage Loan: If the mortgage on your home contains an "open end" provision, you may be able to borrow on it for home improvements, an amount equal to that which you have already paid off. To handle the added debt, (1) your monthly payment may be increased, or (2) the time of repayment may be increased slightly.

New Mortgages

Refinancing Present Mortgage: If your mortgage does not include an "open end" clause, look into the possibility of retiring your present mortgage, by getting a new one large enough to pay off the old loan and also cover the additional cost of your home improvement project.

Personal Bank Loan: If your home improvement project is relatively minor, such as installing storm doors or windows, repainting or the like, you might consider this type of financing.

Backyard Gamesmanship

To help you plan your backyard playground, here are the areas recommended for popular pastimes:

Archery: 25' for "plinking"; regulation course: 100' with 10' baseline.

Badminton: Doubles court 20'x44'; singles 17' x 44'.

Croquet: 30' x60'.

Deck Tennis: 18'x44' (doubles); 12'x44' (singles).

Handball: 20' x 34' (smaller if necessary).

Horseshoes: 10' x 50'; pitcher's box 6' square.

Paddle Tennis: 25 x 44' (doubles); 17' x 44' singles.

Quoits: 2 circles. 3' diameter, 54' apart.

Volley Ball: 30' x 60' (regulation); 25' x 40' (children).

Home Owners Start Clean-Up, Check-Up, Fix-Up Operations

As spring approaches, the home-owner's thoughts turn traditionally to cleaning-up and sprucing-up his property, both inside and outside.

In addition to the "spring cleaning" phase of the operation (usually Mrs. Home-Owner's department) there are matters of minor or major repairs, redecorating, replacement of outworn or outmoded equipment, even remodeling (the better to meet changing family needs) that are likely to get top priority at this time of year.

Certainly this is a good time to make a systematic check-up of the whole house, assessing the damage that the ravages of winter weather may have caused, and locating potential trouble spots that can result in more serious breakdowns later on.

A good place to start is outdoors. Check the ground around the home's foundation where washouts may have left holes. Further rainfall will fill these holes with water, which can leak through any cracks in the masonry. Such holes should be filled with sand or gravel and topped with soil at grade level.

Next take a close look at the foundation. Cracks should be repaired with a pitch base waterproofing cement that can be applied with a pointing tool, putty knife or trowel.

Inspect Siding

Siding should be closely inspected for cracks and splits or decay, and the decayed or rotten boards replaced, where practical. The homeowner also might consider re-siding with asbestos cement siding shingles that are virtually maintenance-free.

Roofing should be checked for loose or curled shingles, and these should be renailed in place. Nailheads should be covered with roofing cement. Badly damaged shingles should be replaced. Condition of chimney morter should be checked, and also the flashing, for holes, cracks or corrosion.

Take a look at gutters and downspouts, which may have become loose or damaged during the winter. Tighten up hangers, refastening them where necessary.

Check door frames and windows for deteriorating caulking, and replace it where necessary.

Outside paint should be checked for signs of peeling or flaking. Bare spots should be scraped clean, then touched up promptly to keep moisture from entering the wood. If the condition is widespread, a complete paint job is probably needed as soon as possible.

A close check should be made for possible signs of termite entry. Wooden members that are in contact with the ground should be treated with a penetrating type wood preservative.

Heating System

If heating system is more than 20 years old, consider possible modernization. Certainly the furnace and heating plant should be inspected, adjusted and lubricated at least once a year by a competent service man.

Inside the house, look for wall cracks and bulges and sagging ceilings. Check for needed paint work. In dry-wall construction, drive any protruding nails below the surface and fill hole before starting to paint.

Check flooring for needed repairs or replacement of boards or tiles. Consider reflooring one or more rooms with some of the new, attractive and highly durable materials, such as vinyl tiles.

Room Additions Can Often Solve Space Problems

Americans spent nearly $1 billion dollars last year adding space to their homes — proving that a new room is sometimes a better solution than a new house.

A survey of these families indicates that most of them had outgrown their present homes. However, they liked their present neighbors and neighborhood, had children in nearby schools, were located near their place of employment, had a mortgage with a favorable interest rate, and did not want to pay the real estate and moving costs involved in buying a new house. Many families also reported that they had not been able to get their price when they tried to sell their house, so they decided to "stay put" and add a room for greater convenience.

Most families add a 12x16 foot or 16x20 foot family room or parents' bedroom, depending upon their most urgent needs. New bedrooms usually include a half-bath. Family rooms are the most popular additions, because they provide leisure and entertainment space that is lacking in most three-bedroom homes today. Costs range from $14 to $18 per square foot, depending upon the amount of plumbing and wiring needed.

Ideas for those who are thinking of expanding their homes are offered by the Douglas Fir Plywood Association in "Add-a-Room-Manual." It shows how to add a bedroom or family room to the side or rear of a one-story or split-level house. There are also helpful tips on financing, decoration and choosing a contractor. For a copy of the Manual, send 15c to the above association at 1119 "A" Street, Tacoma 2, Wash.

What Paint To Use Where

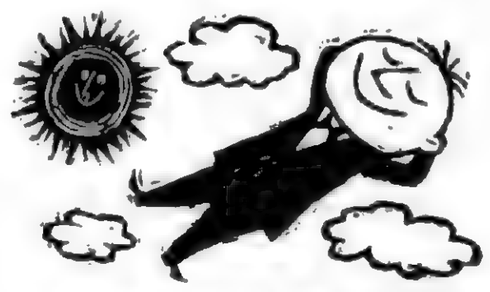
Here's a quick run-down on the proper paint to use for any interior surface you may be beautifying:

Plaster walls and ceilings—any high quality interior flat paint, oil, alkyd or latex paint. For bathrooms and kitchens, use semi-gloss or gloss enamel paint for greater washability.

Wallboard — seal with primer sealer and then follow with any high quality wall paint.

Hardboard — seal with latex paint, primer sealers, shellac or enamel undercoat. Use any desired topcoat.

Plywood—for an opaque top coat, seal with penetrating resin sealer, flat oil or alkyd paint or enamel undercoat. When dry, apply a second coat. For a natural finish which shows the grain, use a clear penetrating resin sealer, followed by varnish.



Woodwork — semi-gloss enamel in same color as walls. Full gloss is often used in kitchens and bathrooms.

OUTSIDE — POST and YARD LIGHTS

A Word Of Advice On Quitting School

If drop outs in the Columbus Public High Schools continue at the current rate, 32 percent of today's ninth grade pupils will not graduate.

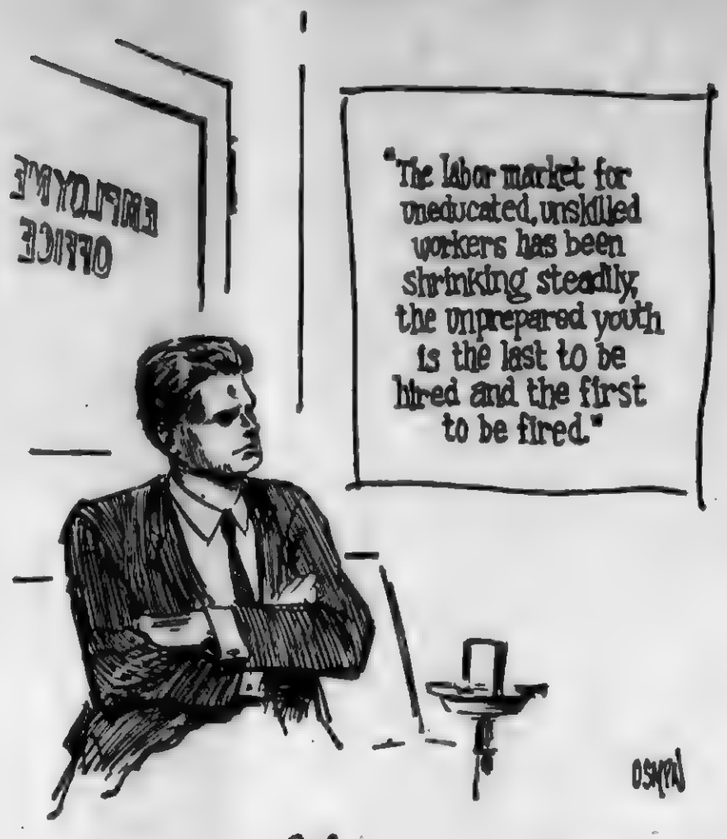
Local school officials are working diligently to develop a program to better meet this problem. As an intermediate step, we present the following points for consideration by potential drop outs and their parents:

To the would-be drop out:

At first freedom will be fun, but you will pay a heavy future price. Even if you have a job, your chances of advancement will be nil. If should you become unemployed (and this is almost certain to happen sooner or later) you will find that there is no place for you in industry. Many employers are demanding a high school diploma for such jobs as porters and common laborers.

In short, by avoiding the admittedly tough couple of years required to finish high school, you will almost certainly suffer a lifetime of misery, poverty and remorse. You will probably not be able to support yourself, much less a wife and family. You will deny yourself the right to participate as a worthwhile member of your community, and you will be a self-made second class citizen.

To the parents:



The foregoing tells you where your child is headed if he quits school. Statistics say that many of you have traveled the same road. Do you really want the same for your offspring?

Let your child quit and he will think you are "swell guys." But you will be blamed and condemned when the trouble begins.

It is much harder to be more firm and unyielding than you have ever been before; to do everything humanly possible, in cooperation with school officials, to keep your child in school. But this course of action will surely gain you the love and respect of your child for all of his adult life.

You will have the satisfaction of knowing that, when the blue chips were down, you met your burdensome duty as parents.

High School Dropout

Spring Is To Enjoy

Beautiful spring is here at last,
More welcome this year than ever before—
A time for letting the fresh air in
And "shoein' " the children out the door.

It's a sad reflection to think that the innocence of this springtime story can — in a few unsuspecting moments — result in tragedy. How many times this summer will our story continue like this?:

A ball is thrown or batted out,
A child chases it to the street
A screech of brakes — long moment —
Maybe he stopped in time, and maybe not

If it happens, we can't rewrite all the wonderful moments lost of the joy of spring. Perhaps we should — before the playing season begins — conduct "spring training" to condition our children and ourselves for the even more dangerous months ahead.

Let us invest a few minutes to tell our children about the dangers of competing with traffic or take time to transport them to a safe play area. It may well protect us from the hours of agony and self-recrimination spent in a hospital emergency room.

Buy Easter Seals

A message coming across our desk from the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children reminds us that giving, through Easter Seal contributions, is really a means of receiving. "Instant contentment," the society says, is the commodity received.

How great the reward for those who watch crippled children — some of them tiny tots — laugh at their accomplishments as they drop their crutches and haltingly walk three or four steps into the arms of a physical therapist.

Those of us who support the Easter Seal drive can rephrase the old slogan to "give until it doesn't hurt," i.e. until it (crippling disease) doesn't hurt the children.

Know The Things That Make For Peace

"Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."
Luke 19:42

It was the evening of Jesus' last visit to Jerusalem before His crucifixion—Jerusalem, the "holy city" in whose streets, synagogues, temple, He had preached and taught the gospel of the kingdom, had healed the sick, had worked many miracles to the glory of God. Here, as everywhere else He had gone, a worthy compendium of His ministry was that "He went about doing good."

Rev. Tuttle

What a metamorphosis! That morning, heralded by a motley throng, He had entered the gates of the city, with the loud plaudits of the self-seekers, the curious, and even many who did not know who He was, all rallying to the chance of being recognized by the object of popular acclaim.

There were a few who knew Him, including children, whose praise was genuine, and acknowledged by their Master.

But the crowd disassembled and the shouting faded away when it became apparent that Jesus was not riding into Jerusalem to claim the political throne. The multitude had frantically assumed that this was the time and the place, and the person who would fulfill the long-hoped-for deliverance from Roman rule and usher in a reign of peace and freedom from oppression.

And now it is evening, and He who a few hours before was borne along in a jubilant processional, with "Blessed is He who comes in the Name of the Lord," is away from the crowd, on Mount Olivet, overlooking the city, weeping.

Who is He that weeps? The central figure of the Bible, the Founder of the Church, Friend of the Sinner, the Hope of the Resurrection, our Advocate, the Bright and Morning Star, King of Kings, Lord of Lords, The Way, The Truth, The Life, The Good Shepherd, the Son of God, Savior of the World, The Prince of Peace! Yet He weeps.

Why? Not for Himself. This had been settled. Nor as a defeated conqueror. He wept, as He saw again in those streets, those who so needed the peace He had come to bring. He saw through their false ambitions and selfish motives, their crass unconcern, the emptiness of their pursuits. And He cried out, "Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."

Now, 2,000 years later, do we know the things that make for peace? We have tried everything, and still are bored. Peace is not to be bought at the prescription counter or the liquor store, nor is it to be found in the possession of things or gadgets, nor yet in the mad attempt at satisfying our sensual appetites, nor in the busyness of our affairs, nor in the attainment of unworthy goals.

Peace must begin in the heart of man. The peace of forgiven sins, "which passeth understanding" has no substitute. The love for God, giving Him first place in our lives, worshiping and serving Him, loving our fellowmen, even our enemies, forgiving others as God forgives us, growing in our faith through daily devotions and prayer habits,—these are some of the things that "make for our peace."

And as St. Paul urges, "Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts . . . and be ye thankful."

Lloyd W. Tuttle, pastor

United Brethren Church

Variety . . .
by I. F. Howell

"An House of Prayer for All People." That is the inscription over the doorway of one church in Columbus. It is typical of many places of worship in this great and good land.

In using the word "church," perhaps not too accurately, we mean any house of worship. Most are Christian, Protestant or Roman Catholic. There are many synagogues, perhaps even a few Buddhist temples and mosques of Islam.

This is not a sermon. It is a layman's effort to express his views and thoughts about the value and necessity of worship without either denial or affirmation of any creed.

All worshipers believe in a Supreme Power, a Creator of all things, whether they call Him God, Jehovah, Allah, or whatever. All have a concept of His omnipotence, justice and mercy.

Some non-believers and agnostics say they would join no church because they are all full of sinners. Of course they are. Redemption is religion's business. That's why repentant sinners seek it in a church.

We believe few or none, not even the worst criminals, would want to live in a land without churches. The meaning of freedom to worship may be hard to define, because it is so big. But wherever it is, we all are beneficiaries.

It says here . . .
Religion on earth is on-the-job training for Heaven.

For Whom The Fight Bell Tolls

(A Play In One Act)

Scene: Office of St. Bernadine just inside the Pearly Gates.

Cast: St. Bernadine and Teddy Jones, a new arrival from earth.

McPeek

SAINT B.: Hello, my son. May I help you?

TEDDY: I was sent here from the Gate for instructions. I just arrived.

ST. B.: Hmmm, that's odd. I usually don't handle general indoctrination cases. May I ask who you are?

TEDDY: My name is Teddy Jones. I'm a boxer . . . or rather I was until last night. I was killed in a match.

ST. B.: Oh, that explains why they sent you to me. I'm considered the patron saint of boxers. When I was on earth, a priest of Siena more than 700 years ago, I fostered the sport of boxing. It was much more moral than dueling with daggers, as was the custom then, and certainly vastly more healthful.

TEDDY: So that's how it started.

ST. B.: But, my son, you say you were killed in a boxing match. How could that happen? In my day, boxing was a fistic sport to determine the skill of the opponents. It was supervised and was never permitted to get out of hand, so to speak.

TEDDY: Well, boxing still is a sport among amateurs. But I was a professional boxer who fought for money. Professional boxing is run by gangsters and thugs, for the most part, and they don't want any real supervision cribbing their fun. They want the fights to be bloody. It pleases the fans who pay to see the fights and bet large sums on the outcome. So we professionals just wear light gloves and mix it up as much as possible. When you slug away all the time you don't have much chance to exhibit boxing skills. About nine of us are killed each year.

SAINT B.: My goodness! Why is this mayhem permitted?

TEDDY: Because a lot of people like it. They come for miles to see the professionals fight. It's probably a lot like when Nero used to throw Christians to the lions. You've heard how the crowds went for that "sport."

ST. B.: Alas, it's true. Many people responded to such base instincts in Nero's time, and also in my time of the dagger duelists — but up here we had hoped that such habits had been overcome on earth by now. Surely not all of the people encourage professional boxing. Why is it permitted?

TEDDY: Well, most states at one time or another did outlaw professional fighting. But there are an awful lot of people who love to see someone else's brains bashed out, and the gangsters who have lots of money and power use it to influence the lawmakers.

SAINT B.: Even if this is so, why do the boxers permit the gangsters to control them? Why do they fight?

TEDDY: Again it's because of money. Take me, for instance, I'm a Negro, as are most professional fighters today. We box because it is one of the few ways we can get money to enjoy a better life. Besides, we're used to fighting. We have to fight most of our lives. Many white people hate us and it is very difficult to get a good job, or even a suitable education in many places that would qualify a Negro for a good job if it was offered to him.

SAINT B.: What a deplorable situation. We must pray for the sake of those poor boxers and Negroes.

TEDDY: No disrespect intended, Saint Bernadine, but I would suggest that we pray for those poor bloodthirsty slobs who pay money to see two "civilized" men climb into a ring with the intent to murder each other. If we cure the fans then we need not worry about boxers. It might not hurt to pray for the bigots, too.

Frosting On The Cake
By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

We are dealing with so many amazing paradoxes in this country today that it is almost impossible for rational people to decide which way is up. Confusion is the order of the day.

On the happy side, I have never known a time in my public and professional career of 45 years, when so many fine and decent people are seeking modern scientific enlightenment.

Night schools are jammed with hungry-minded individuals, teenagers and adults. Libraries report a great demand for books that deal with self-improvement.

On the negative side, I have never known a time when there were so many confused and fear-bedeviled people as this generation. We read every day of almost incomprehensible behavior. Crime is now a disease in our entire social order, and experts are at loggerheads to find one right answer.

Those who know clearly today where they are going and what they wish to accomplish in this life, are constantly held up to ridicule and even slanderous comment. Work is a dirty word and old fashioned honesty is a mark of "not being quite bright."

Good manners and self-imposed consideration for the feelings of all others is so rare that anytime, anywhere we see a gracious and thoughtful individual it is almost a shock. Automobile drivers who don't even know the meaning of the word manners are more and more numerous, and if the decent and attentive driver even attempts to reason politely with such goons he lays himself open to mayhem or worse.

Police take constant abuse from ruffians just because they are trying to do their job. The only time a cop has a friend is when some ox gets gored by another oaf who then hollers bloody murder for "the law." Teachers finally blow their tops and whale the devilment out of some spoiled brat and the "dear darling's" mama or stupid dad have the teacher arrested on an assault and battery charge.

Judges are waking up at last to the fact that no "slap on the wrist" is going to cure this disease. Calling punks juveniles up to age 18 is social suicide. A full grown bully at 15 who won't behave himself is an adult physically and should be handled that way.

Unless we get this country back to God and back to work, it matters not one iota what the Communists do henceforth. May Almighty God speed the day!

Start Your Spring Fishing Slow 'n Easy

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

By the time you read this I fully expect to have received reports of some good fishing in this area. After the warm spell, largemouth bass should be showing up from farm ponds. And the word will be out any day now that walleyes are hitting at Hoover Dam.

Not more than two or three weeks ago when a lot of waters were still icebound, I heard anglers predicting a late spring. "No fishing until after the middle of April," was the general opinion. I had to agree.

But not even the weathermen could know about the warm rains and days of sunshine — those welcomed balmy breezes. As it turned out, the fishing season will begin about as usual.

The timeless roll of the seasons moves on with the regularity of waves beating on the shore, and nature has a way of catching up if she gets behind momentarily. A flood is a catastrophy for human beings, but you must admit it's a pretty good way of getting rid of a lot of ice.

I can predict fishing reports with more accuracy than the weather. The first bass will be taken from farm ponds or the shallow bays of larger lakes. Here, the water warms quickly, and the bass move in to bask in the sun and to shake the winter chill from their bones.

The first stringers will be taken on baits fished slowly. A medium-sized spinner with a white pork strip added is deadly at this season. It should be snaked across the mud bottom in slow jerks. Either live, or artificial nightcrawlers will also do the job.

Walleyes are where you find them. These are school fish and are highly mobile. They may be in deep water one week, and in the bay the next. At Hoover, however, the action generally starts in the upper end. The spawning urge will be upon them, and you may find walleyes congregated at the mouths of inlet streams.

Preferred baits are nightcrawlers and minnows. Some anglers use a spinner and nightcrawler. Spinners worked properly will also take them. Fishing is usually done near bottom early in the season.

The important thing right now is the slow and easy approach. Bass, especially, are in a slow motion mood, and the slashing strikes and spectacular leaps you see pictured in outdoor magazines come later. The knack of catching bass from cool water is to know when you have a strike. It is not uncommon for a bass to pick up a lure without the angler even knowing it. In these cases, hooking the fish is accidental. But it's a pleasant surprise to all at once have a fish on the end of your line.

The great onrush of spring has started. You might as well be a part of it and get in on the early fishing. It's been a long winter!

Tuesday Night TV? Depends On How You Look At It . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

So I was watching TV with my wife, Hazel Eyes, last Tuesday night, and I noticed she was making fewer trips to the refrigerator.

"Not feeling well?" I asked sympathetically.

As usual, when she's engrossed in watching television, she replied with her regular (and barely audible) "Huh?"

"I mean, you've hardly left your seat all evening," I continued. "Not hungry?"

'Can't you see Im busy," she replied, still glued to the tube with a reverence likened to a youngster pasting Mikey Mantle clippings into a scrapbook.

It's getting to be a regular Tuesday night ritual with Hazel Eyes. She sits with TV Guide in one hand and a sweaty palm in the other ready to reach for the dial selector.

So I wondered if Tuesday was something special. It does certainly seem to be packed with evening viewing entertainment but, after checking with the experts, I find that Hazel Eyes is all wet.

According to national Neilson surveys and local television station officials, Sunday is the night to watch television.

I offer this to Hazel Eyes, hoping to break the spell.

"You're wasting your time," I say. "Only two of the shows in the top 10 are on Tuesday. Why not turn it off and play euchre?"

It didn't work. Evidently Hazel Eyes isn't much impressed with rating systems so I call some friends "Wait'll this program's over," they say. "I'll call you back."

There was little else to do but check Tuesday's lineup. Red Skelton, Jack Benny and Garry Moore — there's a Big Three if I ever saw one, to say nothing of the "Untouchables" and "Dick Powell Theater" lest we forget "Empire."

The statistics tell a different story.

Some fast men with an adding machine have come up with the fact that 19,457,000 people in this country watch television on Sunday night. In comparison, 18,115,000 view on Tuesdays. See?

Benny and Skelton are the only shows in the top 10 on Tuesdays with top-ranked "Beverly Hillbillies" on Wednesdays and three of the top 10 on Sundays: "Candid Camera." "Lassie" and "Bonanza."

So what's with the Tuesday night business?

Officials at WLW-C television explain that "everybody's trying to knock everybody else out of the Tuesday night slot." Why? Who knows? At any rate, the big guns are certainly loaded for that evening, it seems.

Sunday night, the same officials say, is the best night for quality and variety. This doesn't impress Hazel Eyes much either. "There are eight different varieties of programming on prime time Sunday," they add, and Hazel Eyes shrugs her shoulders.

Of course she isn't paying the bills for programming, and the people who do watch those ratings closer than a chicken hawk watches chickens.

Of course, the rating companies are under fire by Senate subcommittees for certain inequalities in their judgments, but their effectiveness is still felt in the TV market.

A look, by local television personnel, at the industry on a day to day basis reveals:

MONDAY — Weakest night for total viewers. TUESDAY —Five different varieties of programs with NBC drama and new commentary, CBS adventure, comedy and variety and ABC adventure.

WEDNESDAY—Five kinds of variety. THURSDAY — Four different varieties. FRIDAY — Six. SATURDAY — Seven, and SUNDAY — Eight.

The biggest video fight seems to be for Monday night viewership. CBS is bombing the other networks with the Lucille Ball Show, Andy Griffith and Danny Thomas. NBC is making a valiant fight with "Monday Night at the Movies" feeling it's doing a better job than "Saints and Sinners" formerly in that time slot.

Me? I'll stick to Hazel Eyes' rating system. Simply stated, this means, "When she don't answer, then watch."

TOP TEN ON TV

The following regular viewing shows were listed as the top ten as of Feb. 24 as printed in "Variety" and compiled by the national Nielson survey:

1. "Beverly Hillbillies" (CBS) Wednesdays.
2. "Red Skelton Show" (CBS) Tuesdays.
3. "Candid Camera" (CBS) Sundays.
4. "Dick Van Dyke" (CBS) Wednesdays.
5. "Andy Griffith" (CBS) Mondays.
6. "Ben Casey" (ABC) Mondays.
7. "Dr. Kildare" (NBC) Thursdays.
8. "Lassie" (CBS) Sundays.
9. "Jack Benny Show" (CBS) Tuesdays.
10. "Bonanza" (NBC) Sundays.

The "Carol Burnett Special" and "A Look at Monaco" were also included but were omitted here since they are not regular series shows.

Fly A Kite— But Be Careful

Spring breezes are blowing again and the bright, cloud-studded skies are dotted with gaily-painted harbingers of the season—kites.

A kite, bobbing merrily on the end of a string, makes a happy and fun-filled toy. It's good for countless hours of enjoyment for youngsters and oldsters alike. But the dangers surrounding the launching of a kite into the air should not be forgotten.

There are some good rules to keep in mind to minimize the dangers connected with this sport.

- First select an open area, well away from traffic, people, electric lines, buildings, trees and other kite flyers.
- When running with the kite check the terrain first. This could prevent a twisted ankle or broken leg. Be sure the path is clear of auto traffic or a person you might run into.
- Use a good quality cotton string or line. NEVER USE WIRE.
- If your kite does become entangled in electric lines, call the electric company immediately. If not removed, the paper and string could collect enough moisture to short out the current in the wires. Never attempt to remove the kite yourself. Let the electric man do it the safe and proper way.

Colorful posters, along with Yogi Bear comic books, have been distributed to fourth, fifth and sixth grade students in public and parochial schools by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company. These tell the illustrated story of safety precautions to be observed by anyone preparing to fly a kite.

Parents are urged to remind the youngsters of the dangers of kite flying and see to it they have a safe kite to fly and a safe area in which to fly it.

Catholic Book Is Distributed

To give Catholics a better idea of the kinds of work their priests do, and of the need for more priests, an illustrated booklet titled "only 55,581 priests to serve 181,000,000 souls in the United States" is being distributed this week in the Catholic churches of the area.

This is the seventh in a series of informative booklets which comprise the adult education program for vocations, sponsored by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, Columbus, and directed by Msgr. Paul J. O'Dea, director of vocations for the diocese.

University Lodge To Meet Apr. 9

University Lodge, No. 631, F and AM, 1276 N. High-st, will have its annual Past Masters' Night Tuesday, Apr. 9, 6:15 p.m. The program for the evening will be conducted by Ernest G. Moore, Jr., who was master of the lodge last year.

A lady immediately got a seat on the bus when she said: "I wish that goodlooking man would give me his seat." Seven men stood up.

HELLO, WORLD - I THINK I'M GOING TO MAKE IT!

When we first met Tommy he had lost all hope. He wouldn't even speak to us—let alone try to walk.

But hope is our business. So we coaxed and needled and loved him until he crawled out of his shell and stood up. Now he is walking, and talking, and full of hope.

Hope raises up crippled children. So does money. We've got hope. But we're looking to you for the money. Not a lot—just enough to put one kid one day closer to walking.

The Easter Seals you use enable the Easter Seal Society, at more than a thousand clinics and centers, to help people fight against these crippling disorders—crippling accidents, poliomyelitis, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, birth deformities, speech defects and many others.

FLY KITES RIGHT

FLY KITES SAFELY

1. KEEP KITES AWAY FROM ELECTRIC WIRES and TV Antennas
2. USE DRY COTTON STRING not Metal
3. NEVER USE METAL ON KITES or Kite Tails
4. NEVER CLIMB POLES

PARENTS: Please bring this message to your children's attention. To make kite flying more fun . . . and to make it safe . . . keep away from electric wires and TV antennas. Metal on kites or a tinsel string can conduct electricity so never use them . . . and never climb poles! If you follow Reddy's rules when flying kites you'll be safer . . . and you'll have more fun too.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Soap Box Derby Interest Is High

There is every indication that the 1963 Columbus Soap Box Derby will be the biggest ever, according to Derby Director Tom Hawk, who added that already more than 250 boys from throughout Central Ohio have shown an interest in the coming race.

Hawk estimated that possibly 125 of these youngsters would compete in the Derby on race day, July 13. The winner will represent the Columbus area at the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Aug. 3.

The third advance clinic for boys with previous racing experience will be held at the Sunshine Recreation Center, 667 Sullivant-av, Saturday, Apr. 6. The first clinic for boys entering their first Derby will be held Saturday, Apr. 13, at Hugh White Chevrolet.

Watch Out For Furnace 'Inspectors'

Beware of furnace repair gyp artists. High pressure operators are costing American homeowners hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in exorbitant, unnecessary furnace repair and installation, according to Daniel Severt, president of Suburban Heating Co., Inc.

Severt pointed out that many such artists pick up their activities at the end of the heating season. In most cases a man introducing himself as a furnace inspector will call on the homeowner and ask to check the furnace.

In every case, Severt said, the "inspector" will find something wrong with the furnace and want to dismantle the heating plant in your home. "Of course," he added, "the salesman will want a down payment before making repairs he has recommended." In most cases, according to Severt, the furnace actually needed little repairing, if any.

Severt recommended that anyone identifying himself as an inspector should be required to produce proper credentials to substantiate his claim.

He added, "Don't let anyone dismantle your furnace and don't sign a contract or make a down payment for repairs before checking on the company doing the work. If it is a legitimate firm, it will welcome inquiries," he said.

"A phone call to the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce or utility companies might very well save money and headaches," he concluded.

To Take Part In 'Prelude To Taps'

Army PFC Robert H. Blake, son of Mrs. Wanda E. Sulvis, 505 S. Fourth-st, is scheduled to take part in "Prelude to Taps," a patriotic pageant, Apr. 2, 3 and 4 during the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.

Blake, with other members of The Old Guard, the Third Infantry's First Battle Group, will portray U.S. military heritage from Valley Forge to modern warfare.

Blake, an automatic rifleman in the group's Company A at Fort Lesley J. McNair, Washington, D.C., entered the Army in Sept., 1960 and was last stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Central High School.

PREPARING FOR THE EASTER BUNNY

EASTER BASKETS throughout the entire store are prepared by personnel of the Thrifty Shopper, 1914 Parsons-av. The baskets and goodies are purchased separately by the store and put together to be delivered by the Easter bunny on Easter morning. Dozens of other gifts and candies, especially for Easter, are also stocked by the store and are displayed on shelves and counters throughout the building. Pictured preparing the baskets are, from left, Ola Palmer, 1994 Linmoor-av, John Hoermle, store manager, and Ruth Bowles, 82 Reeb-av.

New Political Step?

TV Debate May Mean Twist Still In Style

M. D. Portman, Democrat candidate for Columbus City Council, may have hit upon a new technique for political campaign debate.

He has issued a challenge for a television debate, but not to one of his opponents for a seat on council. Instead, Portman has selected C. Wayne Freeman, his successor as Columbus finance director.

The debate challenge was issued as the result of a statement by Freeman at the Monday council session concerning a report filed by Portman when he was Columbus finance director.

The Freeman-Portman controversy hinges on the relationship between performance budgeting and cost-of-service studies.

Said Freeman: "One can only conclude that my predecessor was not aware of the distinction between performance budgeting and cost-of-service for rate making purposes, or chose to confuse the public by deliberately equating one with the other."

Portman's reply by letter: "In order for the public to determine the validity of the statements made by me, I suggest a public debate on the purposes of performance budgeting as it relates to determining rates (water and sewer) as well as the need for the department of finance in the city charter. If you so desire, we can include other aspects of municipal administration in our discussion."

signia containing the number "5."

By sending the entire page, including an ad with the insignia containing a "1," to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, a reader can win one "Confederate" dollar. An insignia containing the number "5" is worth five "Confederate" dollars to the reader. If the readers, with the "5" is a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper the insignia is worth the entire jackpot. The "5" insignia must be brought to the Newspaper office in person. Money not claimed each week is added to the next week's jackpot.

Employes of Hartley Newspapers, their families, carriers and their families are not eligible to participate in this contest.

Winners of "Confederate" Cash from Hartley Newspapers will find the old currency has become as good as gold if taken to an advertiser in a Hartley paper during the week the money is spent.

Hartley Newspapers guarantee the advertiser will receive the full amount of Hartley "Confederate" Money redeemed in his place of business.

Mrs. Suzanne Gliech, a South Side Leader subscriber, 1686 Linscomb-dr, was the first to discover a lucky "1" insignia in her paper and bring it to the newspaper office.

Another subscriber mailed her winning page to Hartley Newspapers to collect her "Confederate" money.

Others have won "Confederate" cash and so can you. No contest to enter, nothing to buy, nothing to write. Just watch this and future papers for the winning insignia, always in a color other than black, printed in one of the advertisements. It could be worth $46 this week, for a "5" and maybe more next week.

The White Oaks District is planning their spring camporee for May 3, 4 and 5. The camporee is to take place at the W. Bale farm on Athlcard near Hoover Dam.

The theme for the camporee is "Ropes and Spars and Conservation." The main activities during the camporee will be centered around pioneering skills such as bridge building. Relay races with rope work, lashings and knots will be the main competition.

The conservation part of the camporee will actually be held before the camporee. On Apr. 13 those troops attending the camporee will assemble at the farm to plant trees as a conservation project.

This project is in conjunction with the Ohio State Department of Natural Resources, and the main purpose is to prevent soil erosion in the Hoover Dam area and to provide a suitable wildlife reserve.

Three thousand White Pine, Yellow Pine, and Locust trees will be planted by the Scouts. All Scouts attending are expected to bring a shovel to help in the planting.

At the campfire, which will be held at the camporee, a tapout ceremony for the Order of the Arrow will be conducted. The Order is special Scouting brotherhood for experienced campers.

A 24th anniversary dinner was held Mar. 23 by Troop 78 of the Mohawk District, sponsored by the South Side YMCA. Guests of honor Mrs. Grace Stewart, Mrs. Wimbly and Mrs. Bechum were presented plaques for service by Mr. Wagner of the YMCA. Speakers were Mr. Gil Bolin and Mr. Herman Schumn of the Mohawk District.

Troop 369, sponsored by Reformation Lutheran Church, recently held a Court of Honor recognizing boys who have made advancements.

Inducted as tenderfeet were James Wilson, Steven Crawford, Don Sancho, Pat Smutz and David Caner. Receiving Second Class awards were Craig Garrelts, Greg Chalfant, Art Zook, Ion Sancho, Richard Caner and David Sturtz.

Two Scouts were awarded with the star Badge, the highest rank honored. John Andrews and Kenny Andrews were the recipients.

Twelve Merit Badges were awarded to seven different Scouts. They were Kenny Andrews, Fishing, Citizenship in the Home, Indian lore, home repairs and public speaking; John Andrews, public speaking; Steven Hines, stamp collecting; Larry Insco, first aid; Gary Spang, first aid; Rolan Dillion, first aid; and Mike Niebler, mechanical drawing and home repairs.

German Village Getting National Reputation . . .

News from German Village, the showplace of the South Side and Columbus:

The German Village is becoming nationally known, as witness the fact that the officers have received letters from the Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., and from the Christian Science Monitor, asking for details of the rehabilitation program.

New residents in the area include Ann and Molly McKinnon, 621 S. Lazelle-st; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brantingham, 623 S. Lazelle-st. Larry Darlington, formerly of Chicago, became a Village resident quite by chance, when he made a wrong turn and ended in the heart of the section. He was so captivated that he decided to make his home there! Restoration projects are being carried out by Bill and Jane Scheurer, Marion Boyer, Hugh and Mary Parsons, "Lefty" and Peg Pusecker.

The general membership meeting of the German Village Society will be held at 588 S. Third-st, Sunday, Apr. 7, at 2:30 p.m. Preliminary plans for the 1963 Haus and Garten Tour will be discussed. George Sheaf will show slides taken in Germany and refreshments will be served

Donations of all sorts of used greeting cards are needed in the charity projects carried out by Mabel DeWitt, who asked this writer to make the need known. The resident of 1401 S. Ohio-av may be reached by phone at HI. 4-4557.

Margie Boyd, 1799 Wilson-av, entered Mt. Carmel Hospital last week, and was a patient in room 401. Other ailing community members include Robert Daniels, a surgery patient in Mt. Carmel; Ina Warner, a patient in Mercy Hospital; Betty Richardson, recuperating nicely; Nancy Alton, who became ill while on a Florida vacation; Lucille Carsner, ill at her home, 1957 Linwood-av.

The Women's Guild of the Hungarian E. and R. Church has planned a rummage sale to be held in the office of Lincoln Park on Friday, Apr. 5. Donations of rummage are welcomed by the members. Carrie Szekely, 354 Woodrow-av, may be reached at HI. 4-2884 by those desiring to contribute.

Meetings, here and there:

The Wesleyan Service Guild of South Methodist Church will meet on Tuesday, Apr. 9, at 7:30 p.m. The Fellowship Class of Southwood Church of Christ will meet Friday, Apr. 5, at 7:30 p.m. Trudeau Guild 10 will meet at 1341 S. Third-st, at the home of Mary Eichel on Wednesday, Apr. 10.

Hostesses for the Tuesday, Apr. 9, meeting of Women's Guild of the Hungarian E. and R. Church will be Florence Bockoras, Ann Gaal, Esther Gadnai, Mary Chorba. The Young Christian Home Builders Class of Southwood Church of Christ will meet at the church on Saturday, Apr. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

The Evening Women's Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet on Friday, Apr. 5, at 8 p.m. 'n the home of Mrs. John Steller, 3791 Ashton-rd. Mrs. Richard Fisher will conduct the Bible study. The Luther League of St. Paul's will meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. They will ride the church bus to the homes of the sick and shutins of the congregation and sing Lenten and Easter songs.

PEBS, Chapter 1, will celebrate the anniversary of its inception with a 7 p.m. dinner at the Swiss Club, S. Front-st, on Tuesday, Apr. 9. The installation of officers will be held. The officers are Mrs. Ed Bray, president; Mrs. John Michael, vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Bentz, secretary, and Mrs. Russell Roller, treasurer.

There's no "April Foolin'" these small fry, for they are keenly aware that this week brings them a birthday: Ricky Johnson, Peggy Specie, Katie Specie, Michael Wright, Timmy Chesshir, Conchietta Hayes, Mylinda Pierce, Richard Botts, Thelma Burchett, Stanley Latta, Charles Plummer, Maria Wesner, Gary Wirtz, Priscilla Jordon, Lawrence Latta and Michael Jones.

Teenagers celebrating birthdays include Don Moon, Ronnie Skeen, Larry Snyder and Sharon Fillinger.

Birthday happiness is wished for these adult friends and neighbors: Margie Boyd, Jim Kraner, Helen Denney, Sarah Hughes, Carlene Kaser, Joan Houston, Kathleen Mowery, Don Dicke, Dora Dayton, Effie Allen, Frieda Oberkonz and Silas Church.

The annual candy Easter egg project of the Stewart Avenue PTA is in full swing. Five flavors are available—chocolate cream, coconut cream, cherry nut, mint and butter cream. The 50 cent items may be ordered by calling Mrs. William Corson, HI. 4-2725, or Jane Richards, HI. 4-1759.

Producing and directing chores of "Seems Like Old Times," St. Mary's variety show this year, are shared by Mrs. Henry Thibaut and Mrs. John Scanlon. Two presentations will be given, one on Friday, Apr. 19, and another on Saturday, Apr. 20. Both shows begin at 8 p.m. In charge of tickets is Mrs. Ann Lindsay, HI. 4-6142. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Taking part in the production are the St. Mary's Belles, joined this year by the Beaux. The show, to be held in the school gym at 700 S. Third-st, is open to the public.

It's also time to remind those who are saving premium stamps for the annual summer project that the stamp drive is entering its final month. Marie Esselstein, 808 Jaeger-st, is the chairman and may be reached at HI. 3-6903.

Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, will serve ham, candied sweet potatoes, raspberry apple sauce, tossed salad, Royal Ann cherries and coffee ($1 for adults, 50 cents for children), Wednesday, Apr. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. Lillian Yost is chairman of the chapter dinner, which will be held at 36 W. Sycamore-st on Sunday, Apr. 7. The Child Care Committee, under Chairman Stella Dato, will give an Easter party for 50 children at the State Hospital.

A group of 10 boys and girls will be confirmed at Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday, Apr. 7, at 10:30 a.m. The class consists of John Dethoff, Diane Ellis, James Fetherhoff, Annelle Headley, Marsha Middendorf, Susan Olney, Karen Schultz, Richard Tabor, Vicki Writsel and Erma Zarnes.

Siebert PTA Fun Fair will take place Friday, Apr. 5, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Mothers of Twins Club will meet Wednesday, Apr. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Main Federal Bank, Central Point Shopping Center.

The election of officers will be held for the PVA of Orient State Institute on Sunday, Apr. 7, in the school building. Among the list of candidates, Columbusite Steve Emory will run for the presidency. Orient hopes to be able to give 3500 Easter baskets to the patients of that hospital. Helping in the project is Margie Speakmon, 820 S. Third-st. Interested readers may help by donations of cottage cheese cartons, candy, seran wrap, grass, etc. For full details contact Mrs. Speakmon at HI. 4-0832.

Mrs. Elsa Olds has been enjoying an early spring vacation in California.

Diane Humes, 51 Southwood-av, will become the bride of David O'Neal, Reynoldsburg, Friday, Apr. 5, in Emmanuel Lutheran Church. Miss Humes is a South High graduate, while her fiance is a Franklin Heights alumnus. Another South High alumna, Patty Anderson, 997 S. Champion-av, has chosen Saturday, Apr. 6, as her wedding date. The groom-to-be is Airman 2-C Archie C. Fisher, of the Lockbourne AFB. The event will take place in the Oakwood Methodist Church.

Free refreshments will be served following the Gates-Fourth MYF annual variety show at the church on Friday, Apr. 5, at 7:45 p.m. A nostalgic "Memory Lane" is the theme for the presentation. Adult tickets are 50 cents and children under eight are admitted free.

Bonney-Floyd Strike Ended

Employes of the Bonney-Floyd Co. 611 Marion-rd, voted to end the two-month-old strike against the company Monday night. An agreement subject to members' acceptance was reached at a Saturday meeting in Cincinnati between management and officials of Molder's Local 12.

A company representative stated Tuesday that more than 150 employes were back at work. Others would be called as soon as they could be fitted into the production schedule.

Glenn Moore, secretary of Bonney-Floyd, refused to make public the terms of the settlement at this time.

However, the federal mediator told the press that a six-cents-an-hour wage increase was granted as well as a three-cent premium for shift work. Fringe benefits were included, and the modified union shop altered to enforce non-members to pay the equivalent of union dues.

Name Producers Livestock Officers

All officers of Producers Livestock Association, one of the largest livestock marketing organizations in the United States, have been re-elected to serve during 1963.

Ray Ellis, salesman, $130; Fred Erfurt, grocer, $185; Richard Munsel, Roosevelt principal, $110; James Roy, Southwood principal, $110; Robert Madden, board of management member, $110.

Ed P. Becker, Ohio Inspection Bureau manager, $110; Louis Kempf, South High teacher, $110; Mrs. Margaret Steffens, housewife, $115; Carl Snedeker, South Side businessman, $190.

Again, Olbert emphasized that "we with special interest in the South Side are encouraged to take the first step in involving our families, as well as worthy indigent youth, in the "Y's" program.

"If we reach our goal of $13,000, there will be sufficient funds for the "Y's" professional staff to operate and expand its services to our community."

Campaign workers and all South Side citizens and businessmen were urged by Olbert to support this first-ever membership effort of the South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood-av.

JAMES WAGNER, executive secretary of the South Side Branch YMCA, really gets wrapped up in his membership drive work, as this photo testifies. Here Wagner continues to tabulate results in the campaign effort that has been extended another week.

to private investors. The loan is for site acquisition and improvements, plans and designs and actual construction.

The housing director pointed out that such a facility was needed due to the "dilapidated condition" of the current County Home. He said he "wasn't sure" whether or not they'd consider completely tearing down the old structure.

Vets—

In County has the second highest number of rabies cases reported in the state, with six skunks and two cattle reported as confirmed cases since Jan. 1.

Ohio is second only to Texas in rabies incidence among those states reporting, according to Dr. Jack Russell, veterinarian with the Division of Cummunicable Diseases, Ohio Department of Health.

Dr. Robert Adams of the Columbus Health Department stated that there have been no cases of human rabies in Columbus since 1937. He pointed out that a great part of this decline has been due to the increased awareness of the problem, and the growing number of vaccinated pets.

Dogs, particularly, since they are usually the animals with closest contact with humans, can provide the link between rabies in wildlife and humans. The best way to break this chain reaction is to have the family pet vaccinated annually against rabies.

According to Dr. Adams, 21,000 dogs were given rabies vaccinations in the city of Columbus in 1962. There have been 38,318 dog licenses issued in Frankim County for 1963, estimated to cover about half the county dog population.

The City Health Department, which handles dog bite cases, had 2590 dog bites reported during 1962. This is a seasonal problem, with the highest number of bites usually occurring during April and May, when children and dogs are spending more time outdoors.

The number of dog bites reported this year have been as follow: January, 105; February, 126; March, 200.

In these cases, it is up to the family physician to decide whether the long and painful, and potentially dangerous, series of Pasteur shots must be given to the person bitten as a preventive measure. The only sure way to avoid this is to determine whether the animal responsible for the bite is immune to rabies.

Veterinarians throughout the county are prepared at all times to give rabies vaccinations to dogs and cats. There are two types of vaccine available; one with a one-year effectiveness, the other type effective for three years.

Both are acceptable with the city, county and state health officials. The law requires that all dogs over the age of three months must be vaccinated annually against rabies.

Complete compliance with this law will be a big step toward elimination of the health threat of rabies.

In Collision

Two persons were injured when a car and a motorcycle collided at Linwood-av and Mound-st, police reported this week.

Marvin Kyle, 24, 586 Lilley-av, riding the motorcycle, suffered face cuts and possible head, neck and back injuries.

Allen Harmon, 16, 510 Linwood-av, a passanger in the car, suffered face cuts. Both were taken to St. Anthony Hospital for treatment.

Tuberculosis Society Elects New Officers

John E. Nippert, 1615 Berkeley-rd, was re-elected president and four new members by the Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County at its annual meeting Mar. 26.

New board members include Mrs. Ray H. Long, 1897 Elmwood-av; Mrs. George Kauffman, 393 Brookside-dr; Leonard Stern, 370 S. Roosevelt-av; and Hugh Bone, Jr., 2522 Brentwood-rd.

In other action, the board:

- Approved an annual budget of $204,000 to finance the Society's TB case-detection and prevention program.
- Provided for additional funds — over-and-above the budgeted amount — to support expansions of hospital admissions' x-ray programs.
- Appropriated funds to support special concentrated case-detection programs offering both free chest x-rays and tuberculin tests for residents in high-incidence areas.
- Voted to continue and expand county-wide school tuberculintesting, general public and industrial x-ray, and health information programs.
- Allocated $9125 for four Christmas Seal research grants to finance investigations into problems to tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Also re-elected as Tuberculosis Society officers Tuesday were H. F. Gross, 2893 Neil-av, first vice-president; Maurice Buckles, M.D., 336 S. Columbia, second vice-president; Mrs. Lovell Rohr, 3136 Race, secretary and representative director; and W. W. Wheaton, 1824 Berkshire-rd, treasurer. James H. Olsen, 2111 Tremont-rd, was elected assistant treasurer.

Re-elected to three-year terms as Board members were Mrs. J. S. Poorman, 2540 Maryland-av; H. M. Williams, 1825 Elmore; Dr. James R. Hull, 2531 Coventry-rd; and Rev. C. F. Jenkins, 189 N. Nelson-rd.

SCANNING SCHILLER

To Hold Open House In Program, Friday

Dramatics

The Children's Theatre of Schiller Recreation Center will present scenes from "Alice in Wonderland," at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Apr. 5.

Have you ever seen a white rabbit wearing a waistcoat and holding a large gold watch? The first time Alice saw him, she had been lying on the grass wondering sleepily if she should get up and pick the daisies.

She was surprised to see him and to hear him say, "Dear, dear, I'm late again!" When he popped into a rabbit hole, she popped right in after him. That was where her adventures in wonderland began.

The cast for the play is as follows:

Alice's sister, Robin Yontz; Alice, Mary Kay Milligan; White Rabbit, Denise Skeen; Frog Footman, Linda Hunter; Duchess, Suzie Truax; Cook, Vivien Burns; Cheshire Cat, Sandy Castell; Five, Judy Altizer; Seven, Joyce Carr; Two, Judy Carr; March Hare, Ruthie Schmidt; Mad Hatter, Teresa Latella; Dormouse, Corinne Schmidt.

Gymnastics

The Schiller Gymnastic program to be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Apr. 5, is one of the most complete of its kind in central Ohio. Many types of equipment, including trampoline, parallel bars, vaulting horse and buck as well as the horizontal bar and the flying rings are used.

Exhibitions on most of the equipment will be seen as well as use of the balance beam, with a routine particularly difficult due to the poise and coordination needed to perform tumbling and gymnastic stunts on this wooden bar which is 12 feet long and three inches wide, placed three feet above the floor.

REGULAR RITUAL AT MARION-FRANKLIN

DURING ITS recent "Clean-up Campaign," the Marion-Franklin High student council inaugurated ceremonial flag raising and lowering. Each morning at 8:40 a group of Boy Scouts raise the flag under command of ninth-grader Omar Cordial. Jim Grahan blows "To the Colors." The ceremony is repeated at flag lowering, 3:25 p.m. Boy Scouts participating are Cordial, Larry Ball, Richard Wine, Dan Fox, Tom Price, Robbie Robinson, Mike Filbin, Mike Draculick, Mike Quinny, Ronnie Cox, Al Reese, Steve Burke, John Ryan and Tony Pack.

STARTS THIS WEEK . . . . . A NEW COLUMN BY JENKIN LLOYD JONES

SYMBOLICLY LOOKING at the State Capitol Building where Ohio Legislatures meeting in General Assembly may hold the answer to the future of nursing in this state are, from left, Ohio State Nurses Association Director Dorothy Cornelius and Capital University student nurses Aloise Bobb (of Gahanna) and Stephanie Shortridge (of Perrysburg, O.) The some 11,000 OSNA members are voicing strong opposition to Substitute Senate Bill 66 which would shift liability from the hospital itself to the individual nurses.

Nurses Take Licks At S.B. 66

Who's Responsible: Hospital Board Or On-Duty Nurse?

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Seldom since Florence Nightengale — or Clara Barton, even — have nurses put up a greater fight than they're doing right now in Ohio during the current General Assembly session.

Target for the attack by the girls in white is Substitute Senate Bill 66 which, according to Dorothy A. Cornelius, R.N., executive director of the Ohio State Nursing Association, is being viewed with dismay by nearly 11,000 nurses in this state.

More than that, allied professional groups, such as the Ohio Academy of Trial Lawyers, Ohio Physical Therapists Association, Licensed Practical Nurses Association of Ohio and Medical Technologists Association, are voicing strong protests.

In essence, the bill (up three times before with negative results) would withdraw liability from hospitals, leaving the registered nurse answerable directly to the patient for her acts or omissions, which in many cases are performed by her solely as the agent of the hospital institution and not in an independent professional capacity.

In other words, if, for instance, a patient would trip over a light cord, the hospital would no longer be responsible under this substitute Senate bill.

Naturally, the patient would seek damages and the most logical one to sue would be the nurse on duty as the bill clearly removes the hospital and its administration from any responsibility or "gross negligence."

The bill has been brought into this session by Senators Joseph W. Bartunek (D) of Cleveland and Charles W. Whalen, Jr., (R) from Dayton.

Both Bartunek and Whalen serve on hospital boards in their individual cities.

The bill was recommended for passage by a 4-2 vote of the Judiciary Committee on Mar. 19 with Senators Kenneth Berry (R) from Coshocton and Charles H. Jones (R) from Hamilton opposing.

It was in the Rules Committee this week. While resting here, nurses and nurse officials have been flooding the legislature with objections. Letters were to be sent out this week to most of the lawmakers and to Governor Rhodes.

The governor, when contacted Friday about the issue, said he "had not had a chance to take a look" at the

Cleanup Campaign Being Billboarded

There have, of course, been politicians who've tried to "clean up a town." Even western heroes on TV try it.

Although not a real-live politician—or gun-slinger—Council of South Side Organizations' President Mike Mileusnich is leveling his sights at the South Side vowing to really "clean up" the [illegible].

Mike Mileusnich

The active president revealed plans this week for one of the biggest clean-up, fix-up, paint-up campaigns ever in the South Side—even spelling it out in billboard-sized letters.

"That's right," Mileusnich said. "We've rented six billboards in the South Side to remind people of the clean-up campaign — a campaign that's definitely needed."

The effort fell by the wayside the last couple of years with little participation by residents—or urging by the Council, for that matter.

This year may be a different story. Mileusnich says that the South Side will "hook up with National Clean-Up Week, Apr. 19 to 27.

"We want all merchants and South Siders to clean up their yards and basements—and even paint, if possible. Now's the time, after the hard winter, for all of us to think about cleaning up the area to make it the pride of Columbus," Mileusnich said.

Linda Set, Beauty Sought

South High School pretty Linda Tapia is standing in the wings, crown in hand, ready to place it on the new "Miss South Side."

Linda was named the South Side Council's first "Miss South Side" during Fourth of July celebrations last year. The activity was accepted so well the CSSO has decided to try it again.

Linda Tapia

John Marshall, president of the South Side Business and Industrial Association, has been named this year's Fourth of July chairman. Although no entry dates for South Side beauties have been set, Marshall suggests that they, at least, start primping.

And, as last year, the gigantic $600 firework display will be fired high into the South Side night. There is

No 'Blue Monday' At YMCA When Drive Ends Near Goal

"Branch 'Y's' in cities the size of Columbus just don't raise more than $10,000 in a membership drive."

That's what Bob Cooper, executive director of the Area YMCA thought.

When the weary but exuberant workers from the South Side sat down Monday night and counted the fruits of their "First Ever" membership drive, they learned they had brought in a total of $10,400.

Though the energetic campaigners had set themselves a goal of $13,000, which they did not quite reach, Ken Olbert, chairman of the drive, agrees with Cooper that the results are "an outstanding achievement."

"We have a good solid foundation on which the "Y" can really get on its feet and serve the community," he stated.

He stressed, however, that one can join the organization at anytime, and feels those moving into the area and other latecomers this year will push the membership over the top.

Cliff Olsen headed the division which, out of eight, came nearest to attaining the quota of $1500. His men

Return To Incentive Idea Long Overdue

One of the vice presidents of General Electric Co., speaking in Chicago last week urged all Americans to "take a stand for incentive" as being the best plan to get our economy moving.

He pointed out that it is time to rebuild the value of rewarding success instead of penalizing it.

Any man who does a good job should be rewarded. It is not enough to live in a system that brings the same pay to the man who does a far less productive job.

The old coupon racket is about to hit Columbus again.

Lions Stage Easter Hunt At Schiller

The Easter Bunny will hippity-hop over Schiller Park early Saturday morning, leaving over 2,000 eggs for the annual Easter Egg Hunt.

Sponsored by the Southeast Lions and the park, the annual event will start at 9 a.m. All boys and girls eight-years-old and under are invited to participate in the fun. Hidden are 100 prize eggs which may be exchanged for large Easter baskets.

Children coming to the party are asked to go directly to the Recreation Center

THIS LITTLE BUNNY isn't old enough or wise enough to hide 2,000 eggs in Schiller Park for the annual hunt Saturday morning. It is rumored that he will have a lot of help from Lions Stu Jones, Frank Neubeck and Mike Mileusnich who all serve on the Boys and Girls Committee.

$71 ConfederateCash Jackpot Awaits LuckySubscriber

Think of the many things $71 will buy. It could be used to buy a needed appliance, shop at the market, repair the car or do any number of things for you or your family.

That $71 now awaits the winner of the rapidly growing jackpot in the "Confederate" Money Contest sponsored by Hartley Newspapers and its advertisers.

You could be the lucky reader who discovers the "5" insignia in this newspaper and bringing it to the Hartley Newspaper office, 2465 W. Broad-st you can claim five Hartley Newspapers dollars. But, if you are a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper, you can also claim the growing jackpot of 71 "Confederate" bills.

Besides the lucky "5" readers will also find insignia containing the number "1" hidden in 20 different newspapers. These insignia are worth one "Confederate" dollar which may be claimed by simply mailing the page containing the insignia to Hartley Newspa-

'OPERATION CHECKMATES'

Search For TB Is Planned For Area

"Operation Checkmates," the Tuberculosis Society's most energetic TB case-detection program yet, will concentrate on a 58-block area in Columbus' South Side, May 6 through June 7, the Society reported today.

The Christmas Seal X-ray cruiser and its new TB testing mate will travel through an area bounded by Morrill-av, Ann-st and Parsons-av, and the New York Central Railroad, according to E. Clifford Roberts, director of 'Checkmates."

"Consistently, the area has a comparatively high TB incidence," Roberts said this week. Franklin County TB controller records list six to eight new cases there annually.

The twin testing cruisers, to be called "Checkmates for TB," will offer the 6500 residents of the area free chest X-rays and Mantoux tuberculin tests. "Operation Checkmates" is part of the Society's fight to eradicate contagious tuberculosis.

"Our aim is to find and place under treatment all cases of tuberculosis and identify those who are positive reactors to tuberculin tests," Roberts explained.

X-rays show lung disease caused by tuberculosis. They

Read 'An Editor's Outlook' --On The Editorial Page

It's on the Editorial Page this week!

Jenkins Lloyd Jones, provocative, and sometimes crusading editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune, this week starts his stimulating new column, "An Editor's Outlook," which will run every week in the Hartley Newspapers.

JONES

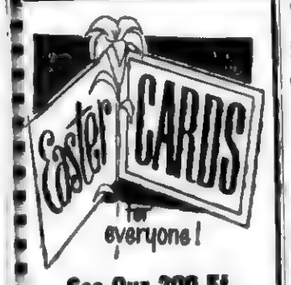
The dynamic editor, who promises that his column will be "politically impartial and nonpartisan," will "cover all phases of human experience" as he sees it. His brilliant editorials have been likened to those of the late William Allen White, who, as editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, received high acclaim earlier in the century for his journalistic achievements and became a legend in the newspaper world.

Jones just may follow in his footsteps. His speech, entitled "America's Moral Crisis," delivered before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, received widespread praise.

It was reprinted in Hartley Newspapers under the title "Who Is Tampering With the Soul Of America?" and requests for 500 copies of the speech came in. A reprint in Reader's Digest drew more requests for copies than any article the magazine has published in years!

In 1958, Jones won the William Allen White Citation for Journalistic Merit, which is considered one of the highest honors in the field of journalism.

"Jones and Typewriter" [illegible] been an unbeatable combination for [illegible] When he isn't tied to his news desk [illegible], he's off to far places shooting back [illegible] stories to the U.S.A.



Jones resides in Tulsa with his wife, the former Juanita Carlson (daughter of a former governor of Colorado), and their two sons and daughter.

The publishers of Hartley Newspapers think readers will like the straight-thinking views of this hard-fisted editor as he shares "An Editor's Outlook," starting today on the Editorial Page.

'Keep Make-Up Subtle And Illusive,' Beauty Expert Tells South High Y-Teens

By CONNIE STEWART
(Contributing Writer)

"Make-up should be subtle and illusive," said Mrs. Ruth Sonsburg, local beauty expert.

"Only lipstick and eye make-up . . . should come through in bold colors.

Mrs. Sonsburg was speaking to the South High Y-Teens about current beauty trends.

She said that a change of hair color should be accompanied by a change in make-up and that one must practice ceaselessly to obtain the right effect.

Eighteen Y-Teen girls had their hair styled and these were modeled at a recent meeting.

Girls who participated [illegible] Eloise Griffith, Anne Lee Dills, Jay Thimmes, Dorothy Davis, Jo Ann Dethloff, Virgine Watts, Carol Kinzelman, Jenny Dayton, Barb Hamilton, Lynette Sparks, Carolyn Easterling, Diane Parsons, Delorus Miller, Nyoka Kirk, Helen Katler and, modeling formals, Diane and Donna Cunningham and Kay Miller.

Freeway Interchange Tops In Accidents

Site of 28 Accidents During '62

Franklin County can hardly rejoice over the publicity won as having the most dangerous intersection in the State of Ohio.

The site of W. Broad and Georgesville-rd, which the State Patrol designated as topping all others in 1961, dropped to fourth place, but the interchange of Interstate 71 and State Rt. 104 crashed into first place with 28 accidents during 1962.

Averaging one injury for each accident, the interchange is scheduled for improvements totaling $40,000. This may be hoped to better traffic conditions, as 1962 changes brought a drop in accident rates at the Broad-st location.

South High-st and Rt. 665, also came into the limelight when the report was issued. This intersection ranked 15th with 10 injuries.

As no improvements are on the planning board for this area, the Highway Department's suggestion for more defensive driving" seems apt.

TRAFFIC USUALLY FLOWS north, east, south and west at the interchange of the South Freeway and State Route 104. Too often last year the traffic came to a dead stop while wreckers, patrolmen and ambulances came with screaming sirens to clean up the wreckage. The intersection was rated first in the State of Ohio in number of accidents, with 28 wrecks resulting in as many injuries. Among the remedies pledged by the State Highway department is stricter law enforcement in the area.

On Carrier

William W. Weaver, ship's serviceman second class USN, son of Mrs. Marie Weaver, 54 Kosuth-st, is serving aboard the seventh Fleet Aircraft carrier USS Ranger.

Now on her fourth Western Pacific cruise, the Ranger has visited ports in Japan and the Philippine since leaving Almeda, Calif, in Nov. 1962.

First Lady Too Quick For Photographers

Ohio's first lady, Mrs. Jane Rhodes, proved too quick for every photographer on hand when she christened the "Buckeye" last week.

As her first swing failed to break the brandy bottle, all cameras clicked. But her rapid-fire second and telling swing caught everyone offguard.

Pressman were on hand to record the arrival of the first KC jet tanker at Lockbourne AFB at exactly 4 p.m. last Friday. It was the first of a fleet that by summer's end will entirely replace the old piston tankers now servicing the RB 47 jets.

The new tankers can fly at the same extreme altitudes and speeds as the bombers which they refuel. The planes function at maximum efficiency at over 35,000 feet, can reach a speed of almost 600 mph and carry 100 tons of fuel.

The older propeller tankers were limited to a speed of 300 mph and could fly climb no higher than 20,000 feet.

Feed Grain Measuring Deadline Set

Franklin County producers who wish pre-measurements of fields in connection with the 1963 Feed Grain Program should make their request at the Franklin ASCS County Office not later than Friday, Apr. 19, according to Carl W. Schacht, chairman.

Schacht listed the advantages for participants in the feed grain program who obtain a pre-measurement:

1. The producer can be certain when planting his crop he will not have excess acreage and will have his maximum permitted acreage planted, if he chooses to do so.

2. He will have the required acreage diverted, if he follows the pre-measurment instructions.

3. He will be saved the cost of adjusting his acreage, loss of seed, fertilizer and possible non-compliance with the program.

Eagles Auxiliary Plan Card Party

All members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the South Side Eagle Aerie 2244 and their guests are invited to attend the monthly euchre party tonight, Apr. 11, at the club.

Spring Nature Activity Goes Into Full Swing At Parks

As spring becomes a reality, the activity at the Metropolitan Parks steps up. Park authorities urge nature lovers to visit Blendon Woods, Darby Creek and Blackwoods before the short Ohio spring has passed.

Several programs are now in full swing.

Bird Walks

Binoculars are available to those who wish to participate in the Sunday morning bird walks scheduled in all parks for seven weeks beginning Apr. 7. Guest leaders will meet beginners at the trading posts at 7:30 a.m. each Sunday morning.

Spring Wildflowers

The tours of the park trails start this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and will be conducted weekly through May 19. Park naturalists and guest leaders will show how to better appreciate and understand the trees and wildflowers during this season.

"Sounds of the Night"

Boots and warm clothing are a must for those who accept the Park Board's invitation to take part in the night walks scheduled at Blacklick Woods at 8 p.m. Friday, Apr. 19, and Saturday, Apr. 27. Along the swamp-forest trails will be heard the frogs and toads, "aquatic songsters" and the other often weird and mysterious sounds of the woodland at night.

Trail Ramblers

Adult nature enthusiasts form a club known as the Metropolitan Park Trail Ramblers. With a program of outdoor activities, special events and social get-togethers, the members pay annual dues of $1 to cover incidental expenses and cost of program notices.

Bird Houses

By writing or phoning the Metropolitan Park Board, anyone may receive, without charge, plans for bird houses. With simple plans available for various size houses suitable to different species of birds, the Board emphasized that wood working knowledge is unnecessary and almost anyone can build a useable nesting cavity with common household tools, a bit of lumber and a few nails.

Collision Sends Trio To Hospital

Cecil Buskirk of 2781 S. High-st, was trying to be a good Samaritan and give aid to a fellow-traveler when his car was struck from behind Saturday on S. High-st, near Obetz-rd.

Two women were admitted to Mercy Hospital, a child cut and bruised and three cars damaged as a result of the accident.

Mrs. Dorothy O'Reilly, 1191 Beechwood-rd, was reported in good condition after the car she was driving struck that of Buskirk who was attempting to pull off the road. Mrs. Mary Buchanan who was riding with her suffered severe neck cut and fractured ribs.

The eight - year - old boy, Robert Everhart, Jr., was a passenger in the Buskirk car, and lives at the same address.

Francis A. Sicilian, 346 Tibet-rd, whose car was parked on the berm after having broken down and whom Buskirk was trying to help escaped injury, though his car was hit.

Happy birthday to Stella G. Gleich, Dottie Davie, Sherye Russell, Wayne Sharron, Jackie Glassner, Paul Prushing, Davis Garrison, Don Meade, Robert Jenkins, Darlene Rager, Tom Peters and Sue Walters. Wedding anniversary congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Don Daubitz.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hamilton Township School Boosters is tonight, Thursday, Apr. 11, in the high school cafeteria. The nominating committee will present the ballot for officers to be elected in May. Further nominations will be open from the floor. Refreshments will be served. Thursday evening, Apr. 18, the Hamilton Township PTA will meet at the high school.

The FHA of Hamilton Township High School will sponsor a bake sale at the Great Southern Shopping Center. Watch the paper and posters for the location.

Good News To Anyone But A Worm

A cynic with an Ogden Nash-bent once said something like

"In Spring time I get more sneezes
And wooly dogs get more fleases."

Convertible tops were down, and kites were flying high.

Winter coats had been shed and short-shorts were in evidence.

Whole families were out shining the family chariot, and cleaning up the lawn.

Farmers faced spring plowing with a grin of relief. As Gerald Smith, Canal Winchester farmer said "I didn't get a thing done all winter except fire the stove."

Yes, no one can deny it's been a winter everyone would like to forget, but at last the traditionally beautiful Ohio spring is here.

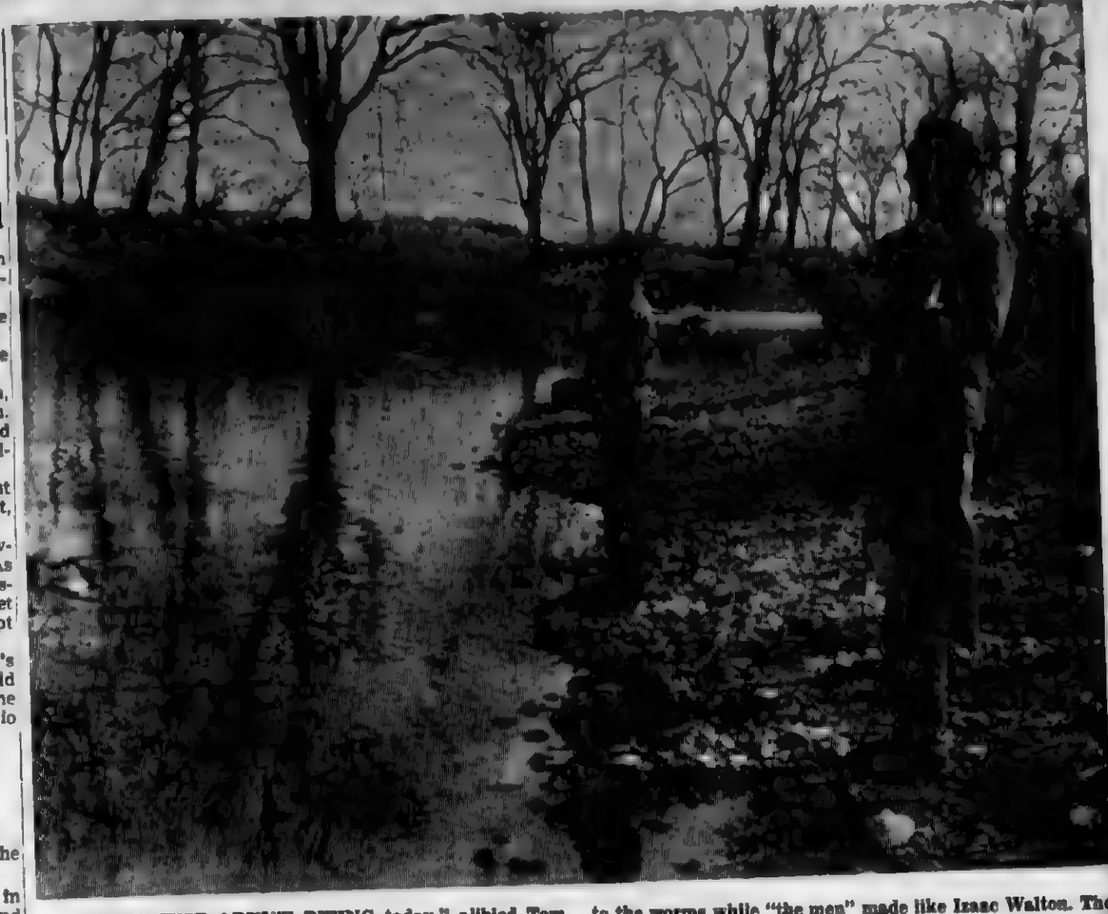
papers or by bringing the page into the office.

All insignia are printed in a color other than black and are like the two insignia printed in this article. All insignia are hidden in the advertisements of the Hartley Newspapers this week.

Those fortunate enough to be the possessors of Hartley "Confederate" cash will find their lucky money is as good as money in the bank when spent with an advertiser in a Hartley Newspaper during the week the winner wishes to spend his "Confederate" money. Hartley Newspapers guarantees all advertisers that "Confederate" money accepted from winners will be redeemed for U. S. currency in present use.

Employes or carriers of Hartley Newspapers or their families are not eligible to claim "Confederate" money.



So now is the time to polish up the reading glasses and begin to search through this newspaper for one of the lucky insignia. You could make as much as 76 "Confederate" dollars for the few minutes you spend searching. That's the jackpot total plus the five "Confederate" dollars, the "5" insignia wins whether you are a subscriber or not.

And don't forget, you always win when you read the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

The first regulation for one-way traffic is said to have been established Dec. 17, 1791, in New York due to a performance at the John Street Theater.

"THEY JUST AREN'T BITING today," alibied Tom Webb of Groveport, admitting that his son, Kenneth, was the one who had the luck when Dad and the boys went fishing in the Big Walnut Sunday afternoon. Younger brother Victor, in the foreground was delegated to hold on to the worms while "the men" made like Izaac Walton. The elder Webb reported getting a six or seven-pound carp last week, but it was a good-sized sucker that Ken took home to his mother for dinner.

CANCER CRUSADERS NEEDED NOW

The best laid plans of any campaign leaders are dependent upon workers for their successful completion, as is the April Cancer Crusade.

In recognition of their important role in the combination plan of education and fund-raising, 1963 has been designated as "the Year of the Volunteer."

Volunteers in the campaign to combat the disease that has touched the lives of so many have something vitally important to offer at each home they visit.

Carefully prepared educational pamphlets, with sound medical advice that may save countless lives, will be supplied to each volunteer in the crusade.

Thousands of women have already pledged their time in the effort, and many more are needed.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the crusade may call the American Cancer Society's Franklin County headquarters, 2300 W. Mound-st, BR. 6-5134.

PILOT CLUB TO MEET

Miss Annetta Schneider, 2656 Burnaby-dr, and Mrs. Betty Johnson, 580 E. Town-st, are helping to complete arrangements for the dinner meeting of Pilot Club of Columbus to be held Tuesday, April 16, 6:30 p.m. at the Fort Hayes Hotel. Dr. Jack Teterick will speak of his experiences during the maiden voyage of the USS hope.

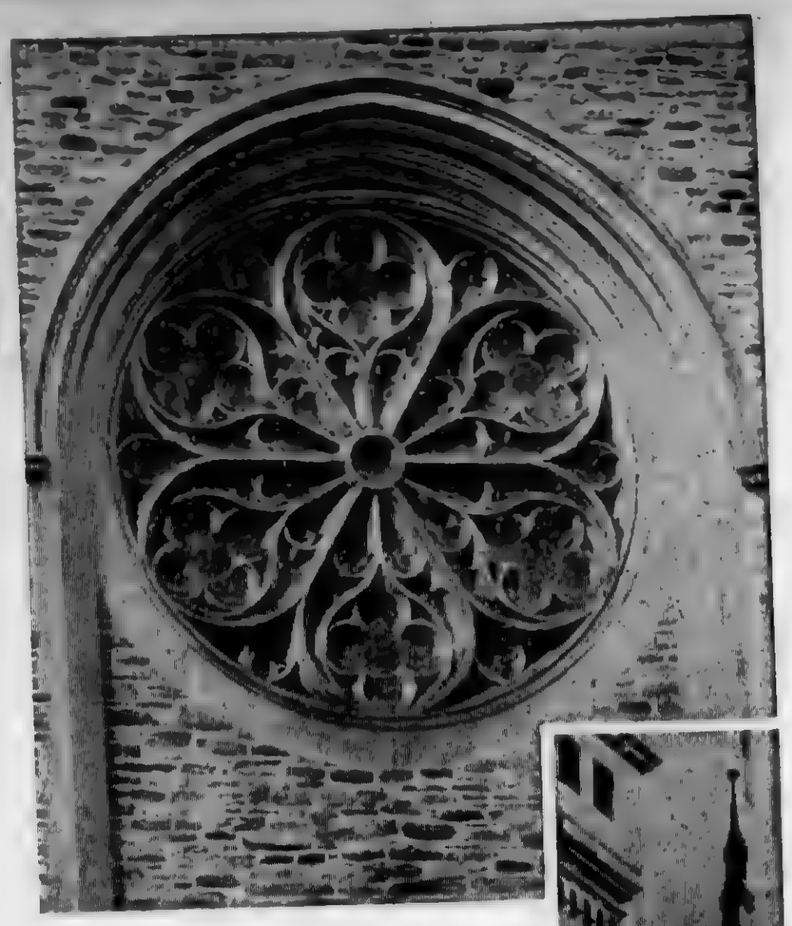
It's Good They Got Together

Fifty years ago your gas company had relatively few customers. Local gas production could meet their demands. Now, nearly everyone in your town uses gas. It heats most homes.

Over the years the tremendous growth in demand for natural gas caused a number of smaller companies to join together for economy and efficiency in operations. Gradually, they faced the problems of supplying gas service not to just hundreds of consumers — but to hundreds of thousands.

Today, your gas company is part of the Columbia Gas System. That's one big reason you can enjoy the best possible natural gas service and the wonderful advantages of natural gas at reasonable rates.



THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY

Steeples Soar In Downtown City's Skyline

Their spires are neighbors to downtown skyscrapers, their chimes strike a melodious note in the medley of city traffic.

By Betty Daft

The heart of Columbus has a busy beat — hurried by the rush of business, nervous with noisy traffic, strong with the authority of city, county and state affairs. . .

And reverent, with more than a dozen churches standing within a few blocks of Broad and High.

Many are very old, first houses of worship of some of the city's largest denominations. And their membership includes families whose names have been on the rolls for generations. Most members now live in various parts of the city and suburbs, but their loyalties have remained with their "home church."

Built a century or more ago, of enduring stone and hardwood, these churches with their interesting architecture stand serenely unaware of the brash, noisy downtown area. Behind magnificent old doors are islands of calm, dimly lit with quiet lights, candles and sun streaming faintly through stained glass.

Differing from neighborhood churches whose primary concern is for their own people, downtown churches also serve travelers and the business community. Services are held frequently, and many of the churches are open for rest, meditation and prayer.

Thirteen churches of the larger denominations, one vacant at 72 E. Mound-st, and a number of smaller houses of worship are located within the boundaries of the Scioto River, Livingston-av, Washington-av and Long-st.

And just beyond are others — Broad Street Presbyterian, St. Paul's Episcopal, Shiloh Baptist, St. Paul's AME and St. Patrick's and St. Mary's Catholic churches.

Within the downtown area are two Methodist, one Christian Science, one Congregational, two Roman Catholic, three Baptist, one Evangelical Protestant, a Presbyterian, Episcopal and a Lutheran church.

The distinctive spire of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran, 404 S. Third-st, dominates the neighborhood. Founded in 1848, it has occupied its present site since 1856. Rev. Harold S. Goers is pastor. The church numbers 604 confirmed members and a Sunday School enrollment of 300.

St. John's Evangelical Protestant, 61 E. Mound-st, was founded on its present site in 1872, and the present church was dedicated in 1924. Rev. William von Brauchitsch is acting pastor, and Rev. E. Bruce Jacobs, visiting pastor. There are about 1,400 communicant members, and 400 in church school.

Central Presbyterian, 132 S. Third-st, was founded at Cherry and S. Third-st in 1839, and the present building was dedicated in 1860. There are 400 members and 175 in church school, and the minister is Rev. John W. Omerod.

The seat of the Bishop of the Diocesan See of Columbus, and also a parish church served by Msgr. Joseph E. McGlynn, the Gothic, St. Joseph Catholic Cathedral on E. Broad-st, at Fifth-st, was consecrated in 1878. The parish was founded in 1866. About 3,500 attend eight Sunday masses.

Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, 428 E. Main-st, with its large marble cross in front was built in 1927, and the site purchased eight years earlier. Dr. H. Beecher Hicks is pastor, and of the 1,600 members, 400 are in Sunday School.

The spire with its large cross has made Holy Cross Catholic Church at 204 S. Fifth-st, a landmark. First mass was celebrated in the church in 1838. Fr. George Fulcher, pastor, is also editor of The Catholic Times.

First service of Trinity Episcopal Parish was led by Rev. Philander Chase in 1817 in the home of Dr. Lincoln Goodale, and the church school, formed in 1827, was the first in Columbus. Worship was held at Broad-st and Pearl-st from 1834 to 1869, when the present church was built at 125 E. Broad-st. Rev. Roger B. Nichols, rector, is assisted by Rev. Robert R. Hansel. Noonday Lenten services are a tradition at Trinity.

Gay Street Baptist at 496 E. Gay-st, was originated as the People's Baptist at 146 Talmadge, and the present structure was built in 1926. Rev. U. G. Campbell is pastor.

Livingston Methodist, 76 E. Livingston-av, was founded in 1834, near its present site, as the German Methodist. The present church, built in 1878, is expected to be razed this year to make way for the expressway. Rev. Roland G. Perkins is pastor.

Founded in 1922 at Grant-av and Donaldson, Friendship Baptist Church building at 442 Donaldson-st, was once a Jewish synagogue. Pastor is Rev. R. T. Gleaves.

A feature of First Congregational Church, 444 E. Broad-st, is the fleche, or spire, rising directly over the intersection of the cross that is the floor design of the church. The church was founded in 1852 on the site of the old Columbus Citizen. A structure was built at Third and Broad-sts in 1857, and the present one in 1931. There are about 1,800 members, with 300 in church school. Rev. Chalmers Coe is pastor, Rev. Ralph Colby, associate pastor, and Rev. Howard Russell in charge of youth work.

First building of Broad Street Methodist Church, built on its present site at 501 E. Broad-st, was a frame, dedicated in 1875. The present green serpentine stone was dedicated in 1885. Rev. David W. Skeen, pastor, is assisted by Rev. Richard Calentine. Of its 1,000 members, 200 are in church school.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, 457 E. Broad-st, is a branch of The Mother Church in Boston, Mass. Two locally elected readers conduct services. After the first formal meeting in 1896, First Church congregation outgrew three other locations before establishing its present church in 1914.

The role of urban churches in a city's religious life is the concern of denomination leaders everywhere, who recognize the added responsibility of downtown churches to their community, as well as to their own people.

This challenge to the urban church is being met by many. Varying programs of adult education, social services, and extensive youth activities are their answer to a city's need.

Downtown churches . . . their architecture a note of grandeur in the downtown scene, and their sanctuaries a place of peace for the business community and travelers . . .may they ever linger on.

Easter Rites Are Slated At St. Paul

St. Paul United Church of Christ, 225 E. Gates-st, has arranged Holy Week with a number of worship services.

On Maundy Thursday there will be an observance of the "Upper Room" experience and the last supper at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Communion will be celebrated Good Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"Discovering the Empty Tomb" will be the theme of the sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday. The Church School will have programs at 9 a.m. and communion will be celebrated at the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

The St. Paul Choir, directed by Paul Berger, will sing "Did They Crucify My Lord" — Davidson, "Easter Morn" — Peery, "The Shout of Victory" — Ashford, "The World Keeps Easter Day" — Lorenz, and "Hallelujah, Christ Is Risen" — Simper.

Mrs. Claire Freeman, organist, will play "Russian Easter" — Rihaky - Korsakoff "Ode To Spring" — Zamecnik, and "Allelulia" — Mozart.

Rev. Donald W. Sickbert will preach at all services.

Revival Under Way

Dr. Leonard Stigler, secretary of evangelism for Southern Baptist in Ohio is evangelist for a revival meeting, Apr. 7 to 14, at Parsons Baptist Church, 3231 Lee Ellen-pl. Gospel music including quartet and trio is featured at every service. Steve Geyer leads singing.

Services begin each evening at 7:30.

Theologian To Address Youth Rally

"Can science and the Bible be reconciled?" This question will be posed by Dr. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., in his presentation, "The Genesis Flood and the Final Judgment," at the Word of Truth rally at Immanuel Baptist Church, 3417 Palmetto-st, Saturday, Apr. 20, 7:45 p.m.

Dr. Whitcomb, professor of Old Testament and Hebrew at Grace Theological Seminary in Winona Lake, Ind., was graduated from Princeton University in 1948 with a BA degree in Ancient and European History, took theological training at Grace Theological Seminary and in 1951 was graduated with a BD degree.

In 1953 he received a Th.M. degree and in 1957 a Th.D. degree.

He has contributed articles to several theological journals and Bible dictionaries.

Dr. Whitcomb is being sponsored by the Word of Truth, an organization of young adults of high school and college age from more than 15 independent fundamental churches in the Columbus area.

The group has been in existence for four or five years. Present officers are Kerry McDowell, president; Mike Hamilton, vice-president; Ruth Gray, secretary, and Marilyn Castle, treasurer.

Monthly meetings are held at one of these churches. The meetings serve as training for Christian service in the church and the community, through special speakers such as Dr. Whitcomb, and films or panel discussions.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Hoover Dam Setting For Sunrise Rite

Easter sunrise service will be held at Hoover Reservoir for the eighth consecutive year.

Sponsored by Central College Presbyterian Church, attendance other years has been estimated at more than 3,000.

An 18-foot-high wooden cross has already been erected on top of the east tower of the dam. Illuminated at night, the cross can be seen from Sunbury-rd and from the parking areas near the dam.

The service will begin with the actual rising of the sun at 5:56 a.m. and will be conducted this year from the top of the west tower. A public address system will make it possible to hear from cars in the lower parking lot on the west side, as well as from the surrounding area which forms a natural ampitheater.

Entrance should be made from Sunbury-rd. If the parking lots on the east side are used it will be necessary to walk across to the west side of the dam.

Highway patrolmen and county sheriffs will be on hand to keep traffic moving smoothly. Boy Scouts and Explorers will also help direct people to best locations.

The welcome on behalf of the City of Columbus will be by Mayor Westlake. The Easter message, "The Beginning of the End," will be given by Rev. Richard D. Ellsworth of the Central College United Presbyterian Church.

Music will consist of a boys' quartet composed of Dave Cameron, Joe Goldsmith, Rick Odgers and Bill Batey singing "He Arose." Mrs. Donald O'Brien will play the portable organ.

New Library In Works For Senior Center

Columbus Public Library has okayed plans for a library at the new Senior Citizens Center, 275 McDowell-st, announced Edward Daniels, chief librarian.

Shelves will be stocked with a general collection of 3,000 books in a special room on the ground floor, Melvin Dodge, recreation supervisor of the Columbus Recreation Department, said. "In addition, there will be newspapers and periodicals in the lounge," he added.

Circulation procedures will be simplified so that patrons can fill out their own book cards and deposit them in a file box. A staff member from Franklin branch will visit the center periodically to re-card books, record circulation, and return books to their shelves.

The room is expected to be opened as soon as books arrive.

OFFICERS OF GAPA LODGE INSTALLED

NEW BOARD OF DIRECTORS of Doxa Lodge, Greek-American Progressive Association, was installed recently by Mrs. Artemis N. Pappas, 1614 Dundee-ct, second district councilor of women's lodges. Students Fill Government Posts On Hi-Y City Day

Central High School Hi-Y members took an active part in the Hi-Y City Day, Apr. 3.

Holding the posts of city council president and judge were Mike R. Stevens and Ken Ash, respectively.

Other members and their offices for the day were, Mike Liston, public defender; Dan Deist, vice squad; Dorel Griggs, superintendent of the zoo; Michael L. Stevens, chief clerk of the criminal division; James Morris, assistant finance director, and Steve Valentine, acting superintendent of markets.

Business education department of Central High is sponsoring a series of assemblies designed for girls who are now working in the business field, or will be starting this summer.

Last week's program for all 12th grade girls and all 11th grade business education girls was on proper grooming and attitude for the office worker.

A panel composed of three Columbus career women gave advice to the girls and answered their questions. Panelists were Mrs. Virginia Fox, executive secretary and office manager for Sims, Cornelius and Schooley; Miss Mary Ellen Shoaf, commercial instructor, personnel training department at Nationwide Insurance Company, and Mrs. Ann Walker, women's director at WVKO.

Students participating in the program were Delores Miller, Nancy Van Cleaf and Judy Shaver.

Mrs. Jean Bray, Columbus policewoman, was the feature speaker at a schoolwide assembly sponsored by the Safety Committee of Central, Mar. 27.

Others participating in the program were Joe Poeschel, committee member, and George Gorby, Ralph Wood and Robert Entsminger, faculty advisors to the committee.

The rally is sponsored by the Columbus Chapter Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship.

Forest Lawn Sunrise Rite Is Scheduled

Forest Lawn Memorial Gardens, 5600 E. Broad-st, will be the scene of an annual Easter sunrise service Apr. 14, 6:30 a.m., to be held in Christus Garden.

The public is invited.

Minister will be Rev. John W. Selvey of the Gahanna Community Church, Gahanna.

Music will be by the Chancel Choir of the same church. Norman Crabtree is director, and Robert Fisher, organist.

Methodists Plan Sunrise Service

South Methodist Church will have a sunrise service at 6:30. Guest speaker will be Dean Lewis of WBNS radio.

Easter breakfast will be served by the Youth Fellowship at 7:30.

Los Angeles claims the world's shortest railroad. The Angel's Flight Railway operates two cable cars a distance of one block.

Pupils Win Top Honors

Twenty-five Central High School seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society at an assembly held Apr. 4 in the school auditorium.

Returning National Honor Society alumni tapped the seniors, and escorted them to the stage for the induction ceremonies conducted by former Centralite members, Patricia Gillispie, Richard Dildine, Toni Kallantas, Benny Davis, William Ratliffe and Roberta Dildine.

Mrs. Virginia McGlaughlin, president of Central PTA, presented the initiates with National Honor Society pins, gifts of the PTA.

Guest speaker was Don Weaver, editor of the Citizen-Journal.

Central seniors honored at the assembly were Nancy Armstrong, Phyllis Atwell, Diana Boyd, Dwight Butcher, Bonnie Deem, Delores Icenhower, William Irwin, Mary Jane Lee, Martha Long, Judy Longo, Marybelle McGee.

Keith McGlaughlin, Mary McNally, Karen Mills, David Morgan, Sharon Nettleton, Judy Simon, Richard Stegmiller, Rose Marie Vaughn, Tom Webb, Beverly Wentzel, Nancy Whittington, Gloria Wilson, Beverly Wright and John Zulovitz.

Rites Set At St. John

Holy Week and Easter services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 322 Stewart-av, will start Maunday Thursday, 7:45 p.m., with communion. The sermon topic will be "The Sacrament of Thanksgiving."

The masterpiece, "The Entombment," will be shown and explained Good Friday, 7 p.m., and the sermon will be "When Even Was Come."

Communion will be celebrated and the topic will be "The Garden of Hope" at 7:30 a.m. Easter Sunday. At 10:30 communion will be celebrated. The Senior Choir will sing and the pastor, Rev. John O. Lang, will preach on "He Just Had To Rise!"

St. John's Plans Easter Sunrise, Communion

St. John's Evangelical Protestant Church, 58 E. Mound-st, will hold an Easter Sunrise Communion Service at 6:30 a.m.

The pastor, Rev. E. Bruce Jacobs will speak on, "The Cup of Sacrifice."

Church School Easter Service will be held at 9 a.m.

Morning worship will be at 10:30 a.m. Rev. Martin F. von Brauchitsch, associate pastor, will deliver the sermon, "The Joy of the Resurrection."

Paneling Can Define Room's Activity Areas

Solid lumber paneling is not only distinctive in and of itself, but it can also create distinctions between activity areas within a room.

The lines of demarcation which can be achieved with wall paneling may be either visual or physical.

To visually separate different activity areas, certain walls or sections of walls may be paneled while the remaining wall space is left unpaneled. In this way a specific area of the room becomes the focal point.

Fireplace Wall

An example of this sort of visual delineation would be the treatment of a fireplace wall on which the mantel itself is kept simple. The center of interest is created through the effective contrast between the brick or stone of the fireplace and the vertical rise of the paneling.

Similarly, an unusual collection of paintings or other wall hangings could be displayed to advantage against a wall paneled with solid lumber — such as clear, vertical grain Larch from the Western Pine region.

To emphasize a study corner in a larger room — a family or living room, for instance — that corner might be paneled in knotty Ponderosa Pine and bookcases built-in, thereby creating a comfortable room within a room. In like manner, a difficult alcove might be transformed into a distinctive and distinct dining area simply by installing handsomely patterned paneling on its three walls.

It is also possible to differentiate between activity areas in a room where all the walls are paneled by using a different installation design or pattern on the featured wall.

Thus, in a room where vertical paneling has been used throughout, the fireplace wall might be done in horizontal or even diagonal paneling. In using the same wood species, but varying the installation, the differentiation can be achieved without disrupting the integrity of the decor.

Room Dividers

The alternative to visual demarkation is physical separation via paneled screens and room dividers. These devices are more definitive than is the paneled feature wall, but as they are usually neither solid nor built to ceiling height, they divide space but do not enclose it.

For instance, many of today's homes are not designed with entrance foyers, nor are the living rooms such that they will stand being chopped off with a solid wall to create an entrance hall. However, an effective entrance can be achieved with a divider built of solid lumber.

Such a divider might be a simple screen of vertical White Fir 1x2's, or something of a lattice-work nature. Or it might be a series of shelves at random intervals which could accommodate plants or a collection of glassware and china.

Another area in which the solid lumber screen can produce effective results is in the case of the non-existent dining room. Rather than simply establish one end of the living room as a dining area, it is possible to construct a handsome and not-too-space-consuming divider which would serve, on both sides, as a backdrop for furniture. This sort of divider is most effective if it is solid perhaps two-thirds of the way up and open from there to the ceiling.

Open-work screens can also be used to span the wide opening between two definite rooms where the opening is an alternate entrance that is not used, but shouldn't be caled off with a solid door.

Enjoy More Peace And Quiet In Your Home

One of the reasons for the mass exodus from the city to suburbia is to get away from the bang, clatter and roar of the big metropolises.

But the new suburban resident has found that the country can be noisy too and he has to take steps to insure peace and quiet.

In the country, dogs bark, trains whistle, traffic still roars and swishes, appliances whirl, horns blow and the kids still make a rumpus when playing in the street or when confined to home by inclement weather.

How can the suburban dweller protect himself against the annoying suburban noises that he was not conscious of in the city. Here are a few suggestions:

Hedges, bushes, trees and fences can deflect a lot of traffic noise if you live near a busy street or highway.

Weather-stripping — felt strips and caulking can control sound as well as temperature.

Door Closers

Mechanical door-closers solve the problem of slamming doors.

Shaving a bit of wood off a door may stop annoying squeaks.

Lubricating hinges has the same effect.

Put casters under chairs to cut down on scraping noises. Glass casters instead of rubber or cloth-backed metal however, defeat your purpose.

A felt or rubber pad under an appliance may absorb more than 25 per cent of the noise. Keep pads under carpets, too.

Heavy drapes will absorb a lot of noise and keep it from spreading.

Quiet rooms such as bedrooms or reading rooms should be as far as possible from noisy rooms such as the kitchen or rumpus room.

You may become accustomed to a leaking faucet, but it may be annoying to others. Put in a new washer when necessary.

The suburban dweller also has found that new homes, while they are clean and beautiful inside, have a maximum of hard surfaces that act as sounding boards which reflect and amplify noise.

One of the most important noise reduction steps is to add absorptive material. The best method is to put acoustical tiles on ceilings, especially in the family room, living room, kitchen, den and playroom.

If the homeowner belongs to the new breed or do-it-yourselfers, he finds it's an easy job to install these tiles. All he needs are a few instructions which come with the materials. If he's that rare "unhandyman" he gets an accoustical contractor to do the job.

Amazing Difference

Amazing is the word for the difference between a sound conditioned room and an old fashioned one with hard surfaces from which noise bounces back and forth like a tennis ball.

Acoustical treatment is a comparative newcomer in the field of home repair, although it is included in the plans of many new homes.

Sound conditioning for many years has been a "must" in commercial buildings, auditoriums, broadcasting stations and other public and quasi-public structures.

Originally most acoustical tiles were white or off-white, but as they moved into the home, a wide variety of patterns and colors and color combinations were developed.

Some tiles resemble veined marble, others have appearance of vari-colored stone, still others are scultpured or embossed. Some are so cunningly designed they seem to change patterns with change in lights.

An acoustical ceiling can effect a marked, even quite striking change in a room's appearance, especially when care is taken to choose one or more of the distinctive surface designs that will complement the motif or color scheme.

Maintenance of acoustical ceiling tiles is an easy matter. They can be washed, dusted or painted, though in painting care should be taken not to clog the perforations that absorb most of the unwanted sound in a room.

Acoustical tiles are especially handy if the ceiling is in poor condition but does not need replacing. The tiles can be placed on the old ceiling with a special type of adhesive.

Decorative Lighting Effects Can Prove Highly Functional

Not all fixture lighting is intended specifically to provide illumination for clear, quick, comfortable seeing. Some lighting is used primarily to create an emotionally satisfying environment, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

Decorative, or non-task lighting can also be highly functional. Used correctly, it helps repair the two most common mistakes in home lighting: glaring concentrations of light surrounded by drabness or extreme, flat, even lighting.

Avoid High Contrast

Undesirable high contrast —or difference in brightness —is often created, for example, by using portable lamps without general light from ceiling or wall fixtures. The picture is one of pools of light surrounded by extensive unlighted areas. This type of harsh lighting is hard on the eyes and contributes to discomfort and irritability.

Contrasts are normally reduced by lighting a vertical surface, such as a wall or drapery, in the normal field of vision. Such lighting adds to the over-all illumination of a room and softens the lighting. Lighting experts employ hanging or surface-mounted fixtures, valances, cornices, wall brackets, coves, soffits or custom architectural lighting for this purpose.

This type of lighting also accentuates the color and texture of wall or window treatments and contributes to the over-all interior design.

Just as undesirable in the home is flat, even lighting. It does not jangle the nerves like sharp concentrations of light but it produces boredom and monotony.

ORIENTAL flavor of the dining area is enhanced by a colorful cluster of porcelain lighting pendants, in white with multi-colored bands. By Moe Light.

This is best offset with pinpoints of light in key areas and on decorative accents to stimulate interest, excitement and alertness.

Highlifghting of art objects such as paintings, murals, sculptures or planters can be done with recessed or surface-mounted directional lights or hanging fixtures. Many have focusing mechanisms for precise light control.

Similar techniques can be used to add emotional impact and visual excitement over a coffee or end table or a room divider, creating the theatrical effect of spotlighting key areas.

Good fixture lighting does more than deliver the right light for seeing it. It combines general illumination with sparkling highlights that add variation and interest and keeps the senses alive.

Fencing Provides Privacy Outdoors

For privacy and a sense of shelter, outdoor living space should be enclosed. Containment may be accomplished by a fence, a series of panels or a trellis.

These screens provide decorative protection—area delineation, privacy from passers by and sun or shade, when or where you want it.

When it comes to functionalism that's handsome too, fences and fence panels must certainly be given top priority in yard development.

Used alone or in conjunction with activity areas, fences can provide as little or as much protection and privacy as desired in a variety of attractive designs.

The more solid and taller the fence, the more privacy and protection achieved. Degree depends on purpose — whether the fence is to keep children in the yard or stray dogs out, to delineate between children's play area and yard proper, to create a barbecue patio or to screen utility areas from general view.

Fence design is limited only by the imagination.

SCREEN PATIO for privacy and individuality. Fence can be perfect foil for planting beds. Western red cedar is used here.

Choices include basket-weave, herringbone, lattice work, wood "bricks," parquets, alternating panels back and front, and vertical louvers.

BUILT-IN BABY SITTER fence encloses children's play-yard, protecting them from neighborhood hazards. Vertical, solid board design in red cedar provides no foot-holds. When youngsters are grown, area can be turned into a walled terrace for adults.

Yanks '63 Series Foe Giants, Reds Or LA?

Someone once described spring as a season for showers, vegetational growth and pennant race mystics. More exactly, April is the month when every male who's ever tossed a baseball lists September's final standings.

With sportswriters, as well as oddsmakers, picking the major league winners isn't just a game, it's a serious business. It becomes even more serious in the fall when some reader mails in your preseason picks pointing out that both of your pennant winners finished in the second division.

THE NEW YORK Yankees (who?) will play either the San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers or Cincinnati Redlegs in the 1963 World Series. So far, we believe we're safe.

Quite a few Bomber fans have been concerned with the departure of Bill Skowron. "And how about Mickey Mantle's knee? Can Stan Williams duplicate his '62 W-L mark with the Yankees?" they ask, wringing their hands.

The rest of the AL should have so many problems. If Williams only pitches batting practice (unlikely), Mantle only plays half of the schedule (more unlikely) and Skowron's replacement, Joe Pepitone, only bats .187 (most unlikely), the Yanks still have more than enough to nail down their fourth straight flag.

DETROIT, WITH a healthy Al Kaline and a Frank Lary "comeback," figures to lead the American League "also-runs." Baltimore, always tough on paper, looks like a good bet for third with the addition of Al Smith and Louie Aparicio.

We like Cleveland in the number four slot. The Indians have unquestionably improved their offensive stock this time around and if Davillilo and Martinez can show well all season, the Tribe could finish higher. But there are still too many question marks on the pitching staff.

THE NATIONAL League race should be the best of the century if early indications are worth anything. We'll stick with the defending champ, San Francisco—strictly on the basis of two pitching question marks at Cincinnati and Los Angeles.

It's highly possible that guys like Billy Pierce and Billy O'Dell will never win 15 games between them ever again, but there's still Sanford and Marichal, and oh—that offense!

TRY THE Dodgers on for size in the runnerup spot. Skowron adds real punch to the LA lineup and the Dodger "kiddie korps" of Davis, Wills, Howard, etc., are another step closer to full major league maturity.

The LA puzzler is Sandy Koufax. If Sandy's back to par in '63, LA might take it all.

Bob Purkey tells the whole story at Cincinnati (third place). If the Redlegs' leading moundsman (23-5) doesn't shake his spring arm malady, Cincy won't have the impetus to make it to the top.

CINCINNATI HAS depth in the hurling department with front liners like Jay, Maloney and O'Toole but without Purkey? ? ? Offensively, the Reds have sufficient guns to match the Giants and Dodgers.

Pittsburgh took a big gulp with its winter shakeup but the gamble might get the Pirates back into the pennant race and should at least tab them a "dark horse candidate."

WITH FINGERS crossed, here's the complete rundown:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

1—New York Yankees
2—Detroit Tigers
3—Baltimore Orioles
4—Cleveland Indians
5—Minnesota Twins
6—Los Angeles Angels
7—Boston Red Sox
8—Kansas City Athletics
9—Chicago White Sox
10—Washington Senators

NATIONAL LEAGUE

1—San Francisco Giants
2—Los Angeles Dodgers
3—Cincinnati Redlegs
4—Pittsburgh Pirates
5—St. Louis Cardinals
6—Milwaukee Braves
7—Philadelphia Phillies
8—Chicago Cubs
9—Houston Colt 45's
10—New York Mets (sorry Casey)

Ok—you can smirk now. But no fair belly laughing until September.

CRUSADERS GET BATTING TIP

JUNIORS WILL COMPETE

Aqua Ski Club Gets OWSA Nod For Annual State Tourney Here

With climbing temperatures and sunny skies evident once more, the Columbus Aqua Ski Club is making preparations for its ninth season of competition.

There is an added tone of excitement this spring as the 82-family membership makes plans to host the Ohio Water Ski Association's state championships at their tournament site on the Scioto River, July 19-21.

FOR THE first time in its history the American Water Ski Association sanctioned tourney will include competition in the Junior Boys and Girls Division (12 and under) this summer.

The local club, which carries on a year-round social program as well as skiing and safety instructions, has high hopes of making a good performance in the tournament in the junior division as well as the senior category.

Last summer at the state tournament in Piqua, O., three members of the Columbus Club entered the charmed Century Club with ski jumps of over 100 fet. The trio — Sonny Williams, Harold Taylor and Dan Poelman — will try to better their marks this time around.

THE CENTURY Club membership is quite an honor when you consider that it includes only 116 members in its fold which cover the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Of the Columbus club's total membership, approximately 30 percent are tournament skiers, 25 percent show skiers and the remaining 45 percent listed as novice and "fun" skiers.

The Ohio Water Ski Association selected the Columbus site this year due to the well-operated Buckeye Open Tournament conducted here last summer as well as in 1960 and 1961. The last state tournament here occured in 1959.

THE OHIO ASSOCIATION has expanded from its original 11-club organization to 20 clubs in the past three years.

Sonny Williams, a 16-year ski veteran, will be the '63 tournament chairman.

Club officials welcome everyone to attend their tournament free of charge this July on the Scioto River, eight miles north of downtown Columbus on Route 33, just north of Hayden Run Bridge.

The Columbus club's ski jump, which is 14 ft. wide by 24 ft. long, surpasses all American Ski specifications. It welded steel frame, decked with hardwood and sided fully with marine plywood, is bouyed with 14 55-gallon drums.

THE JUMP'S surface is covered with Carnauba wax and a small two-cycle gasoline motor pumps a continuous flow of water over the surface.

The 315-yard salalom course is a permanent installation which is raised and lowered from the east bank. Plastic bleach bottles are used for practice and the course is left in the water on Saturdays and Sundays as a public service for weekend fun skiers.

TWINS STUN LONDON

Reb Nine Nabs Pair; Opens CL Flag Race

By ART KIENZLE

South's Bulldogs, under the new leadership of coach Robert Nolan, opened their '63 baseball season last week by shutting out St. Charles, 3-0, coming back to beat Hartley, 5-3, two days later.

Senior pitcher Bob White threw a two-hitter at St. Charles, 3-0, coming back to beat Hartley, 5-3, two days later.

Senior pitcher Bob White threw a two-hitter at St. Charles while his teammates grabbed three runs in the fourth inning.

AGAINST HARTLEY, White again showed his fireballing ability, holding the Hawks hitless for five innings. White also had a hot bat with three hits—one a sixth-inning homer.

The Bulldogs put their hits together in the third and sixth innings for two and three runs respectively.

Tonight South opens its City League season with Linden McKinley as the opposition at Southway No. 5.

"I LOOK FOR Linden and Central to be the toughest City League teams this year," said coach Nolan. "Most likely the league champion will lose two or three ball games and finish at least with a 7-3 record."

Elsewhere around the area, Rosary opened its '63 County League slate on a sour note as a no-hit victim of Dublin's Bakenhaster, 12-2.

The Crusaders scored both of their tallies in the fourth inning on two of Bakenhaster's five walks, an error and two passed balls. Bakenhaster whiffed 17 Rosary batsmen in his seven-inning stint.

ON OTHER sporting fronts around the area, East's Fred Lundy notched 16¼ points to pace the Tiger cindermen to a triangular meet victory over South and Whitehall.

East totaled 55 points, one more than the runnerup Rams, while the Bulldog runners finished with a total of 39 markers.

It was quite a different story Tuesday, however, as South's cindermen streaked to 13 first-place finishes enroute to a runaway 100-18 dual meet win over London. Charles Dunbar's 14¼ points set the pace for the Bulldogs (100, 200 and 880 relay anchor).

IN THE CITY League's opening golf matches Monday at Stoney Creek Golf Course, the Rebel linksmen dropped a 14½ to 1½ decision to North.

Looking forward to the weekend, two major track meets are on tap—the Gahanna and Mansfield Relays. Both are scheduled for Saturday with the former set to get underway with prelims at 2 p.m.

Eastmoor is the defending champion and 14 schools will compete.

JET BASEBALL, ANYONE?

JET TICKET Book Drive Chairman Bob Grueser reminds local baseball fans that the West Mound-st stadium is open each day from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. to take your orders for 1963 ticket books. The book bargain (10 general admission tickets for $10.) will continue through Thursday, Apr. 18, when the Jets open their International League home season with Indianapolis.

South Side Eagles Hold Practice Tonight

Manager Dan Elliott of the South Side Eagles, an entry in the Old Timers League, has called all old and new players to practice this evening at 5:30 p.m. at Southview No. 14.

Players should report for practice at that time and also Saturday at 2 p.m. on the same diamond. Elliott will be assisted this year by coaches Bill Lindley and Mural Stump.

The Eagles have a new sponsor this season — Shoenling Beer.

South Side YMCA Honors 35 Inter-Church Athletes

Individuals and teams that excelled in sportsmanship in the South Side Branch YMCA Inter-Church winter athletic program were honored at league award parties held recently at the new "Y."

Participants selected to receive the individual awards by their teammates were as follow:

SENIOR BASKETBALL — Don Wray, Jr., Dick Evans, Chuck Graver and Jim Kuhn.

SENIOR VOLLEYBALL — Tim Van Antwerp, Max Evans, Frank Speicher, Dick Heintz and Joe Miller.

TUESDAY JUNIORS — Larry Selvage, Doug Meszaros, Jim Osborn, Bill Hylton, Steve Rieser, Cameron Roberts and Dan Watkins.

WEDNESDAY JUNIORS— John Workmaster, Neil Miller, Terry Parfitt and Paul Quickel.

GIRLS—Vickie Lee Quinn, Sharon Sharp, Terri Rinehart, Linda Hiltbrunner and Christina Hepner.

INTERMEDIATE BOYS — Dave McGrew, John Whitacre, Dale Goff, Jim Leslein, Rick Coverdale, Tom Waltz, Mike Rickard, Bill Howard, John Komives and Jack Davis.

Team awards went to St. John United Junior Boys and their Girl representatives, plus teams playing under the colors of Hope Lutheran, Scottwood Community, Livingston Methodist and Trinity Lutheran.

The fast growing YICA Club ("Y" Inter-Church Athletic) took a giant organizational step at their Apr. 4 meeting by electing officers for the current year.

MEN ELECTED to office were Bud McLaughlin, president; John Deason, vice-president; Rev. Fred Brown, chaplain; Henry Held, secretary; and William "Red" Harrison, treasurer.

Next meeting of the group will be held at the South Side YMCA, Thursday, May 2, and plans are underway now for club members to attend the Indian - Yankee doubleheader scheduled at Cleveland, June 2.

Calling All Fishermen— 'Big Ones' Hitting Again

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Well, the fishing reports came in as we predicted last week. Phil McGinnis, 640 S. 18th.-st, started things off in a big way. He caught an eight pound, one ounce largemouth bass at Hocking Lake. Using his special homemade lure, he took the lunker on his first cast. The fish was 22 inches in length and had a girth of 18½ inches.

Muskellunge are hitting at Hoover Reservoir. Carl Schott, at Paul's Marine, reported that Charles Mangus, 1887 Roberts-rd, caught a six pounder while fishing for bass. The muskie was 27¾ inches in length. Another one was weighed in, but Schott missed the angler's name.

SMALL BASS are being caught at Hoover, up to a pound and a half, but nothing much to brag about yet. They are being taken on Shysters, ABUS and plugs. Incidentally, the muskellunge are being caught by the bass fishermen. Crappies have also started to hit minnows.

Best fishing waters at Hoover are in the upper end. It is shallow there, and the water warms faster.

"Bud" Gelbe, 2673 Johnstown-rd, has reported two stringers of smallish bass from Buckeye Lake. He fished two days, and his score was five and four. "I used spinners and a Johnson silver minnow," said Gelbe. "The bass weren't large, but at least it was a start for the season."

Actually Gelbe started the season in Florida, over a month ago. His best bass went over nine pounds, and he had another almost nine pounds.

THE ONLY THING not typical of this beginning is the appearance of muskies on this list—they are newcomers to this section of the state. Due to a stocking program carried out by the Ohio Division of Wildlife, this fighting trophy fish is available to anglers here. Muskies have been stocked in a number of lakes, but Hoover is the closest. Several area anglers go to Rocky Fork for muskellunge, and have been successful in taking them.

A Hoover muskie received statewide recognition recently, when the fish was given an honorable mention rating by the Huskie Muskie Club. The fish was caught by Dick H. Lewis, of Marysville, and weighed 17 pounds. It was 41 inches in length.

The Huskie Muskie Club was started by the Division of Wildlife to honor fishermen taking large muskellunge, to promote muskie fishing in Ohio, and to evaluate the stocking program.

TO QUALIFY in the regular listing, a muskie must be at least 40 inches long and weigh 20 pounds or more. Honorable mention is given to every muskie 30 or more inches in length. For more information write: Huskie Muskie Club, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12.

This is a happy day! When you can report that good fishing has started, it makes the winter seem not so bad. Who would have thought a month ago, that the fishing season would be off and running the first week of April? I haven't heard of anyone complaining.

WANNA' BUY A '63 JET BADGE?

THAT'S THE question this young baseball fan would like to know. The Jets' 1963 International League home opener, Apr. 18, can't come soon enough for Christina Kumler, 11, of 891 Linwood-av, shown here displaying the Junior Jet Badge emblem. Christina and other members of her Girl Scout troop (593) are currently selling the familiar Jet Badges. Price is still only 50 cents apiece.

Hold It—It's Illegal To Kill Eagle!

A limited permit system that will prevent the killing of all American bald and golden eagles, except with the advance permission of the Department of Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service, is one of the features of new federal regulations that became effective Apr. 1. They also provide full protection of the birds from hunting by airplanes and poison.

The regulations, announced by Secretary of the Interior Udall, put into effect the protective features of a law signed by President Kennedy last October. The laws and regulations extend to golden eagles the protection earlier granted the bald eagle in 1940.

When requested by the governor of any state, the new law requires the secretary to authorize the taking of golden eagles for the seasonal protection of livestock. He recently authorized the killing of golden eagles — except by poisoning and airplanes — by livestock men and their agents in 28 Texas counties.

Stag Dinner To Kick Off Center Softball

The 1963 A.K. Slo-Pitch Softball season will officially kick off Thursday, Apr. 25, at 8:15 p.m. in the Jewish Center gym with a stag dinner.

This traditional affair precedes the first practice game of the season.

A.K. CO-CHAIRMEN Herschel Hausman and Marty Gold, look for a great year as many new "old" men have already registered.

The stag will feature a "full course" meal prepared by master chef Meyer Kravitz and his committee. A speaker for the evening will be announced at a later date.

Jewish Center A.K. Softball is a program for men, 30 years of age or over. Games are played on Thursday evenings under the lights. The pitching is underhand slow pitch utilizing a 14" softball.

AS IS THE Jewish Center policy, everyone who signs up is guaranteed to play a minimum of a game and a half every two weeks. A substitution system eliminates forfeits thus providing an enjoyable evening for everyone.

The practice game schedule is set for May 2 and May 9. Official league play starts on May 16. Jewish Center men interested in playing ball this summer should contact Howard Banchefsky, at BE. 1-2731.

Game Hearing Here April 16

County fish and game hearings have been scheduled for April in all six Wildlife Districts. Sportsmen and farmers have been urged by Hayden W. Olds, Divison of Wildlife, to attend.

The recommendations from each county are taken to a central hearing in each of the six Wildlife Districts. From these a suggested set of regulations is compiled for presentation at the state hearing in Columbus, June 27.

THE WILDLIFE Council considers the recommendations before it sets fish and game regulations immediately after the one-day hearing.

The County hearings have been scheduled for Franklin County on Tuesday, Apr. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Columbus Youth Center on the State Fairgrounds and for Pickaway County on Thursday, Apr. 18 at Circleville. Time and location of the latter meeting was unavailable at press time.

HE DIED TO SAVE OUR SOULS

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

PRELUDE OF LIFE

Earth children kneeling, sorrowing
Before a Cross black-shrouded,
Symbol of despair
Until the third day.
For a brief interim
Faith and universe
And hope anesthetized.
Men of earth not knowing
Of Heaven's Grand Design.

For nearly 2,000 years Christians have met on the last Friday in Lent in commemoration of the Crucifixion. It is the prelude of Easter, the joyous day of Resurrection when death is vanquished with the assurance of life everlasting.

In His own earthly lifetime, many had accepted Jesus of Nazareth as the Christ, the long prophesied Messiah, king of heaven and earth. It was beyond their imagining that He could be put to the most cruel and degrading of deaths by any earthly authority. Yet it had happened. And to the faithful it must have seemed the end of all hope.

They could not foresee the glory and the power yet to appear. The Cross had indeed become the symbol of despair, unexplained to those not knowing of Heaven's Grand Design.

Now, for three hours, we shroud the Cross with black crepe, symbol of death, and kneel before it in sorrowful self-discipline. Yet we know what the first Christians did not know —that on the third day, grief will yield suddenly to joy and assurance bounded only by our capacity to believe.

It says here . . .
True religion is the victory of faith over doubt.

At Eastertime . .

What is Easter? It is truth, love, joy, hope, promise and beauty.

Easter is proof that the God of justice is, first, a loving God. It is the joy of Resurrection, the hope of salvation and the promise of eternal life.

Easter is an invitation to the individual to join in Nature's rebirth; to grow; to know the spiritual life that overcomes all the sorrows and heartaches of man.

Easter is a beautiful message and a beautiful time of the year.

Guest Pulpit . . .

He Said: 'Because I Live, Ye Shall Live Also'

There once was a man born of a peasant family who grew up in an obscure village and lived a relatively quiet life for 30 years. During these years there burned within Him a deep desire to be "about His Father's business."

Rev. Brown

And so, with no college credentials He set out to proclaim His convictions to His fellow man. According to all historical accounts He was a righteous man. Although confronted with all the sins of man He remained victorious over these temptations. However, early in His ministry His friends turned against Him and criticism was so high that He was sentenced to death. Only a handful of His friends witnessed His execution and mourned the loss of this great man. He had stirred them with the fire of His enthusiasm. He had preached His convictions and His followers were willing to do anything for Him.

Why did He have to die? What could He possibly have done wrong? Who would take His place? Who could deliver the love of God the way He had? And then they remembered His words: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless; I will come to you. Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but ye see me; because I live, ye shall live also." John 14:15-19. What kind of a comforter could possibly take the place of Jesus Christ?

In sorrow they recalled the comforters of a righteous man named Job who suffered great loss and pain. His comforters were of very little comfort to him. As though he were a dead man, they went through the prescribed seven days of mourning for him. Even in their great wisdom they were unable to offer any solution to his problem. If this was comfort, as far as the disciples were concerned there was no comfort to be found for them in all the earth.

In spite of a compelling urge to go back to their old ways of life, they stayed together for three days trying to formulate some plans. Early in the afternoon of the third day following His death, they were confronted by the angelic form of their leader. By some miraculous manner He stayed with them awhile and bolstered their faith. The followers were later blessed with His divine power and began performing great things in His memory, but they never met the comforter—or did they?

Job's problem and the Apostles' problems are translated over and over in our present times. Needless wars and desires have plagued mankind for years and no matter how righteous we may be, we are not immune to suffering at the hands of evil.

It would be foolish for us to try to prophesy what the future holds for although the problems will remain the same, the instruments of destruction will develop with civilization. The inevitable comforters will not always have the same beliefs as Job's friends but as long as they refer to suffering in terms of worldly experience their words "will be as sounding brass." We may be forced to cry out, like the disciples, "What next?" According to the Book of Revelations, eventually Christ is next. That same Jesus who, faced with all the temptations of man, emerged victorious.

Symbolically, the Book of Job is a panoramic view of the birth, development, discipline, and reward of a spirit. Are we not all Jobs? Are we not all spirits? Is not this life on earth as flesh a short disciplinary action to make us more appreciative of a hereafter? Do we not search sometimes aimlessly for comfort?

Those who finally find real comfort span the chasm safely back to the dimension from which they as spirits came, now educated in the divine power of the Creator. There, meeting the Comforter "face-to-face," the words of Christ ring triumphantly in our ears, ". . . because I live, ye shall live also."

Rev. Fred V. Brown, pastor
Wagner Memorial E.U.B. Church
1015 Oakwood-av.

Togetherness? Yes!

Maybe it's "spring fever," or maybe we're dreaming out loud, but we can't help dwelling on those oft-heard phrases "wouldn't it be nice," and "maybe, someday."

Here are our thoughts on these phrases.

Wouldn't it be nice if there were a clear understanding that Columbus and Franklin County are each a part of the other? Maybe, someday, this fact will be generally accepted.

Wouldn't it be nice if ALL communities within the county—cities, townships and villages—realized that, combined, they CONSTITUTE Franklin County: that certain major functions can BEST be handled ONLY through a UNITED, cooperative effort? Maybe, someday, a representative group of citizens will carry this message to their friends and neighbors at the "grass roots" levels.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could apply this thinking to such areas as water, sewer, zoning and other problems that recognize NO intra-county territorial boundary lines? Maybe, someday, we will.

Wouldn't it be nice? It certainly would! And there is no better time for that "someday" than RIGHT NOW.

Honesty Still Best Policy

Local striking members of the Insurance Workers' International Union have chosen an ill-conceived and potentially harmful method of enlisting the aid of local policyholders.

In an unsigned letter to policyholders, the striking agents have urged that premiums not be paid during the course of the strike. The closest thing to a guarantee of protection they offer the policyholder is a statement that "other insurance companies did not lapse insurance for non-payment during a strike."

As a matter of fact, the company has the right, by law, to lapse any policy that is not kept in force under the terms of the policy. Under Ohio law, the use of agents by insurance companies is only a convenience to the policyholders. Should the agent fail to collect, or should the policyholder refuse to make a payment to an agent, this does not relieve the policyholder of the obligation to meet payment terms of the policy.

We feel that any insurance agent worthy of his job should be aware of these facts.

This particular incident is the more serious, we feel, because the striking agents chose to remind the policyholders in their letter that: "We have dedicated our lives to bring FINANCIAL SECURITY and FREEDOM from WORRY to you and your family."

The ethics of these striking agents is certainly open to question when—through ignorance or intent—they place in jeopardy the very purpose they claim as their life's dedication.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Now, What About The Poor Majority?

The U.S. Supreme Court now has under advisement another school prayer case, and if it hasn't learned anything since its decision on the New York regents prayer last fall it is likely to come up with another dizzy ruling.

Jones

The new suit came out of Baltimore where a mother who is an avowed atheist sued the Baltimore school board because a passage from the Old Testament and the Lord's Prayer were part of the daily opening exercises at her son's school.

When she complained in the lower court the school board promptly offered to let her son be excused from hearing the offensive words. But now the mother claims that this sets her son apart and subjects him to ridicule and abuse. She has demanded that no Bible readings or prayers be made in the hearing of any Maryland child while in public school.

Now someday the majority are going to be tired of being pushed around by the minority. Because we have moved into an era where the minority is demanding satisfaction for itself even where it interferes with the satisfaction of the majority. This can get absurd.

The overwhelming majority of Marylanders are not atheists and they think it is a good idea if their children listen to a few preachments. The communists think so, too. They smother Russian and Chinese children with preachments, most of them from their pickled god, Lenin. So do the Koran, the Zend Avesta and the sacred books of Buddha — all filled with good advice to youth. But all but a handful of Americans subscribe to religious bodies that venerate the Old Testament.

Yet the angry lady in Baltimore holds that even though it is okay with the majority of Marylanders that her son duck out when the Bible is opened, his "rights" are being outraged. They will only be satisfied if all Marylanders agree to conform to her taboos. Otherwise, Maryland shall be damned as "intolerant."

Is it possible for the minority to be intolerant, too?

Both houses of the U.S. Congress open with prayer. Isn't this an affront to atheist citizens? Let us fire the chaplains.

On most of the coins and bills we carry there is the legend, "In God We Trust." Aren't we being cruel to sincere atheists in forcing them to purchase their groceries with this pious money ?

The school assembly salutes the flag. The students stand with their hands over their hearts intoning the words— this nation under god . . ." Surely the cops should be called and the principal arrested.

School lunches offer meat. Meat is an abomination to vegetarians. Shall we, therefore, feed our children pea soup and yogurt?

Last December, three public schools in Sharon, Mass., removed all Christmas trees and Christmas decorations from their classrooms on the theory that they were an affront to Jewish students. Bye-bye Santa Claus because Saint Nicholas was a Christian saint. However, the Russians have shown us how we can still get our presents. We welcome Grandfather Frost. Merry Present-Giving Day!

And bye-bye to all the school Easter Bunnies. Easter is a Christian festival in which the resurrection of living things from the death of winter is symbolized by observance of the story of Christ's resurrection, which you may or may not believe. This has got to go. But on the other hand, the millinery business, the garment industry and the candy makers need something like Easter. So let's train our children to look forward to New-Hat-New-Dress-Chocolate-Egg Day.

We've got to clean up Thanksgiving, too. These silhouettes of obviously Protestant Pilgrim fathers that we have the kindergarten kids cutting out, are an insult to all other sects and religions. And the whole business is a slam at our atheists. For Thanksgiving means giving thanks to God. What shall be substitute? The United Nations?

American Negroes have properly battled for the right to live where they choose and go to school where they live. In some places the reluctant majority have had to be spanked pretty hard and the battle isn't over. But New Jersey hasn't had to be spanked. These rights have long been guaranteed there.

Yet, at the urging of the NAACP, Negroes are boycotting a school in northern New Jersey because 90 per cent of the students are colored. Why? Because white families exercised what Negroes have been demanding, namely the right to move where they pleased. And they moved out of the neighborhood. So the Negroes are demanding that white children be driven back into that school.

It is one thing to insist that the majority accord a minority that which the majority enjoys. This is justice. But it is another thing to chase the majority around the block with a stick, demanding that it behave in a way decreed by the minority.

We're getting close to that point. The tragedy is that a growing public consciousness of minority rights is likely to be soured by the arrogance of some minority leaders. This could set us back—way back.

The majority will stand just so much kicking.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Thousands of marriages are destroyed every year in family situations, not because the battling parties aren't decent people, but because their "personality quotient" is so deficient.

Many students of social and personality problems are coming to realize that fundamentally there is no insoluble problem involved. It used to be that sadism had only one category of identification—that was deliberate and violent physical abuse of other humans or domestic animals in deranged "fits of temper."

Now we know that much so-called sadism is wholly verbal and that it hurts much worse than actual physical violence, not inflicted to the point of fatality. The tragedy is that all such behavior injures two people. The hapless victim many times can do nothing except keep still about it, given that such an individual has enough adulthood to "consider the source."

If this unhealthy habit of always "going into orbit" on the slightest excuse, or no real excuse, continues, then it becomes more and more dangerous to the perpetrator because he can become neurotic or even psychotic to the point of paranoic deadly behavior.

Many a grass widow is "out to pasture" because she never learned how to take the vinegar out of her voice. Many a no-good oaf is shucked off by a high grade and civilized woman because he had "no raising and a foul mouth."

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Human Dynamo Suffers Power Failure

The "new me," that's who I've got to find.

Everyone else seems to be finding his "new me," so why should I be having such trouble? As a sometime book reviewer, I have had many of the how-to-find-your-new-self books placed at my disposal. But either I've been getting the wrong books or I've been failing to get the messages correctly.

Needless to say, this has greatly fueled the milquetoast tumor within my quivering frame. Each day I find it more difficult to meet the level glances of passers-by on the street. Even my son's cat (a totally shiftless beast that does little more than eat, sleep and foal litters) can now stare me down.

McPeek

For a brief while, I thought I had found the "new me." It came after I read the recently published "Seven Days to New Power and Happiness." (In a concession to cowardly instincts, I've altered the title somewhat to prevent the author from seeking me out to punch my old nose.)

After re-reading three times the chapter that tells how to bolster your self-confidence, I eagerly set out to put this new information into practice. I swaggered into the kitchen where my soulmate was preparing dinner. Masterfully brushing her aside, I took a few sniffs over the range.

"Macaroni and cheese!" I snarled. "Good grief, that's the third casserole you've made in three days. Don't you know how to make an occasional man's meal? What's wrong with steak, or a roast?"

For a moment the scene was frozen as my stunned mate studied my confidently arrogant face.

"You sick?" she asked gently after about 30 loud ticks of the wall clock.

"No," I replied, taken aback by her sudden show of concern.

"Then get that asthmatic beak of yours out of my kitchen," she exploded, "before I show you how to garnish a spouse with bruises!"

Trembling, I dashed into the living room and sought refuge behind the sofa where I set up a loud hissing. After a few minutes, she came into the room and shooed the dozing cat out the door.

Taking some consolation in my sneakery, I slunk upstairs and slammed "Seven Days to New etc." into the corner, then re-read a magazine review of the movie, "Divorce, Italian Style."

After a few days of mental convalescence, I retrieved "Seven Days . . ." and read the chapter on "How to Bring Out Your Hidden Power."

Well, why not, I decided. But this time I would wisely forego any kitchen experiments. I waited until going to work the next day.

Striding briskly into the newsroom, I flipped my hat atop the coat rack, spun my chair, catching it neatly on the third twirl, and commanded: "Boy, get me coffee . . . black, and make it quick!"

"Simmer down, Cletus," he chuckled. "I've got to clip the one-star and it'll be at least a half-hour before I can make a coffee run."

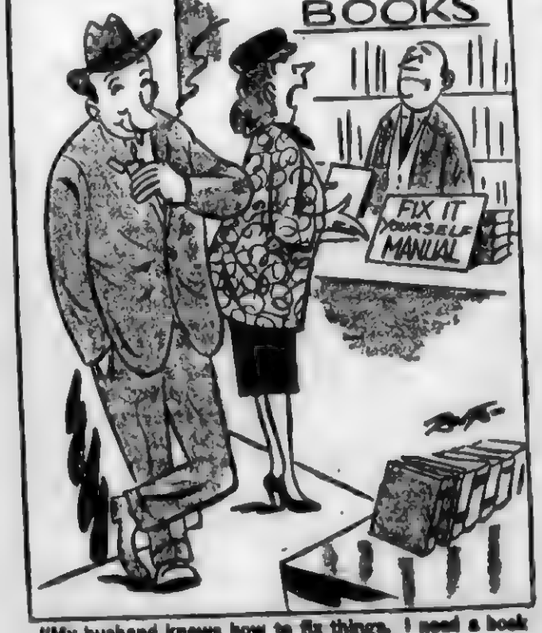
Smart aleck copy boys! No wonder the world's going to pot, I said to myself. Oh well, why waste newly found hidden power on a punk kid. Save it for the news editor, where it will count.

About three hours later I got my chance. (No use being foolish; no one speaks to the news editor until after mid-morning.)

"If you don't mind a constructive suggestion," said I in a firm tone, "I think that front page wing makeup we used yesterday fell apart when we threw in those two-column pictures."

He gazed at me blandly for a brief second or two, waggled his head sadly and turned to his desk.

"Don't you agree?" I insisted.



He pivoted about, zeroed a 100-watt stare between my eyes, and said:

"Whadda you want . . . my job? You wantta get ahead? Is your talent being wasted?" Then muttering something about "d--n office climbers," he turned his back to me.

For the next few weeks, I consoled myself with thoughts of my next vacation.

So who needs confidence, power, mental energy, etc? Phooey!

SHE'S GOT TIME ON HER HANDS

DEIDRE DAMON, one of the dancers on Channel 4's network show, "Sing Along with Mitch," reminds that Daylight Saving Time will start at 2 a.m. EST Sunday, Apr. 28. How about that for a tie-in? For those who aren't particularly concerned about watch-winding, Deirdre is a blue-eyed brunette who hails from London, England.

Pianist Claudette Sorel To Perform At OSU

In her first recital in Columbus since her appointment to the University School of Music faculty, concert pianist Claudette Sorel will appear in concert at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Thursday evening, Apr. 18.

Paris-born of French-Hungarian parentage and U.S. trained under such famous masters as Olga Samaroff Stokowski, Rudolf Serkin, and Mieczyslaw Horszowski, Miss Sorel has chosen this date to premiere a composition written especially for her by Paul Creston.

Possessing an extensive repertoire of the most difficult pieces in piano literature, Miss Sorel has occupied a prominent place in the spotlight of great artists since the age of eleven.

Miss Sorel joined the faculty in the fall of 1962 and has attracted an increasing number of piano students who wish to work with one of the country's busiest concert performers and artists-in-residence.

This concert will be presented free of charge as a part of the regular Faculty Recital Series of the OSU School of Music.

Incidently, a well-worn pair of black leather gloves will be donned by Claudette backstage shortly before the start of her concert.

She'll leave them on until just before the start of the program as she has done for good luck ever since making her concert debut as a child of eleven on a cold winter afternoon in New York in 1943.

Four Freshmen Due At Mershon

The "Four Freshmen," popular vocal group of college concert and recording fame, will appear in a one-night stand at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 3.

John Simpson (Who?) To Play Archie In New TV Venture

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

There was a supposedly true story circulating about a European gentleman who took off for a mountain retreat with the intention of invention heavy on his fast, but somewhat feeble, mind.

He came back to his village some 30 years later with a crude looking instrument resembling a typewriter — only to find that in his absence the typewriter was already invented five years previous.

Although not boasting a mountain retreat (not even as much as a pup tent) I have long nurtured the idea that I would make my first million in Hollywood with a somewhat ingenious idea of my own.

I, however, figured to have the jump on our European friend since my invention was already formulated in my fast, but somewhat feeble, mind.

The idea seemed like a natural, what with the almost instant success of comic strip turned TV-characters as witness Dennis the Menace, Dick Tracy, Blondie and a few others.

The one that Hollywood had forgot about, however, was a comic character named Archie which, heretofore, had been confined to the multi-colored pages of comic book newsprint.

Sound good? An entire TV series based on Archie and his adventures along with his pals Reggie, Betty and Veronica — to say nothing about nearly-a-legend Jughead.

What a market for high-schoolers who are mainly responsible for the fantastic sale of Archie comic books.

So I'm still milling this idea over in mind — even going so far as deciding what Hollywood personalities could fit the parts — when last Thursday night the wife, Hazel Eyes, looks up from her latest copy of "Archie's Joke Book" (June, 1963) and shouts:

"Say, hey! Did you read this? They're making a television series out of Archie."

The disappointment was likened to a fellow driving an Edsel with a Nixon-Lodge sticker on the bumper, as you can well imagine.

It's true. Archie Comic Publications, Inc., have announced plans to put Archie and his friends and family on television in the next few months.

It turns out that an "Archie Pilot Film" is now being made in Hollywood. All that's really needed now is a sponsor.

Investigating further, the pilot is being filmed at Columbia Studios (Screen Gems) with a young fellow named John Simpson playing the Archie lead.

Wayne Adams has been picked for Reggie, Cheryl Holdridge for Betty, Miki Jamison for Veronica and Jerry Brite for Jughead.

The pilot shot is being directed by talented Gene Nelson and casting has been done by Columbia's Phil Rogers and Mildride Gusse.

Oh, well. I'll just keep repeating the adage about the best laid plans of mice and men. Anyway, it could've been worse. Do you have any idea what they're getting in rent for a mountain retreat these days?

Folk Dance Memberships Available

Memberships in the intermediate folk dance class, sponsored by Columbus Folk Dancers and the Columbus Recreation Department, are still available.

The class meets each Tuesday at 8 p.m. for eight weeks. Anyone who has attended a beginning class or has previous dancing experience is eligible. The cost is $3, and it is not necessary to come as a couple.

For further information call Margaret Schwab, 1505 Miller-av, HI. 3-1822.

Comic Opera Comes To Cap

Smetana's opera "The Bartered Bride" will unfold on Capital University's Mees Hall stage on May 17 and 18. The musical offering is sponsored by Phi Mu Sinfonia and Phi Beta fraternities. Professor Wilbur E. Crist is music director.

The complicated plot involves a pair of "star-cross'd lovers" whose marriage is arranged by a marriage broker. But complications set in rapidly and profusely, and it is not until the third act that the confusion is finally untangled.

The Jorg Fasting Ballet will be featured in the choreography. Patricia Gaines of the Gaines Drama School is stage director. Fred Probst is chorus master.

Tickets may be obtained from Capital University, Bexley Hall, Room 107. The phone number is BE. 5-8611, Extension 31. Also handling tickets will be the Central Ticket Office, Richman's, 37 N. High-st, CA. 8-1305.

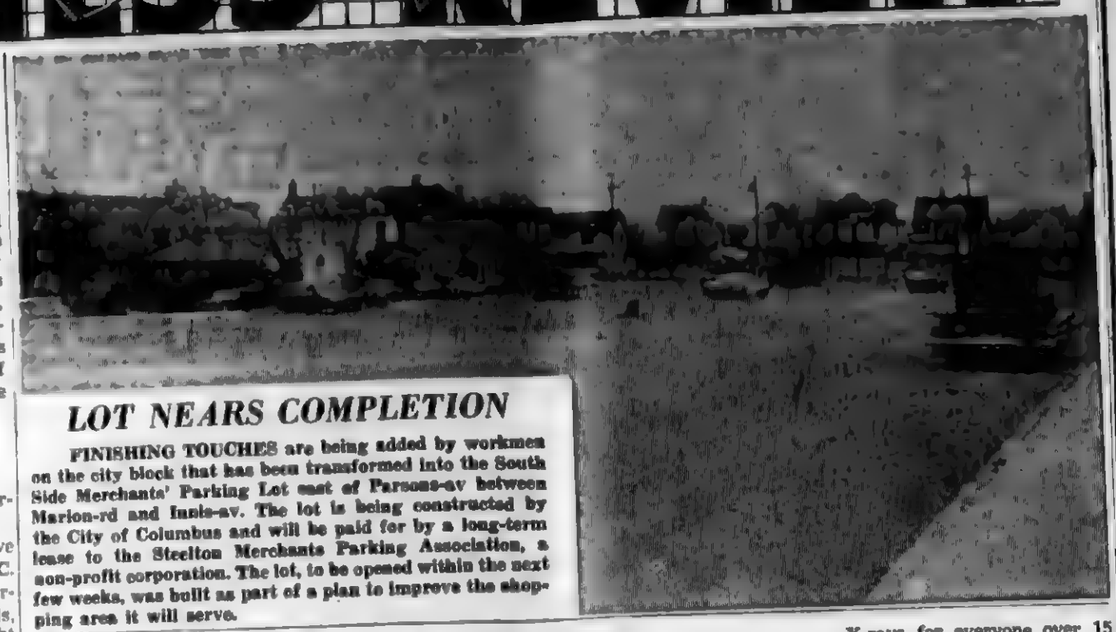
brought in $1405 in memberships.

In each division were five teams with a goal of $300. C. L. Dumaree, assistant superintendent of public schools, headed the team that brought in a whopping $500.



Individual recognition was given to the men and women with rank less than captain who were high producers.

Bob Madden, Dick Munsell James Roy and Ed Berker each hit $110, almost 40 per cent over their quota.

The top three women were Mrs. Hancel Rice, $105; Mrs. Flo Kenney, $100, and Mrs. Gary Hoover, $65.

Olbert emphasized that it was not only the most outstanding achievement of these but the efforts of at least 248 men and women who gave unselfishly of their time and energy that made this initial drive such a success.

LOT NEARS COMPLETION

FINISHING TOUCHES are being added by workmen on the city block that has been transformed into the South Side Merchants' Parking Lot east of Parsons-av between Marion-rd and Innis-av. The lot is being constructed by the City of Columbus and will be paid for by a long-term lease to the Steelton Merchants Parking Association, a non-profit corporation. The lot, to be opened within the next few weeks, was built as part of a plan to improve the shopping area it will serve.

bill and reserved comment until he had a chance to do so.

The bill was previously vetoed by former Governor DiSalle.

"Senate Bill 66 would free Ohio hospitals from liability for negligent acts committed by their employes," the nurses director said. "It would place the whole legal burden on nurses, whose income has risen far less than most hospital costs.

"As professional people, nurses accept responsibility for their conduct and acts. But the public won't be protected if they alone can be sued."

From a nurses' director standpoint, biggest drawback to the bill would be its deterent abilities for girls thinking of entering the profession — a profession which, in Ohio, is reportedly in need of 100 per cent more ladies of mercy.

"Low hospital salary levels (supposedly at an average of $295 per month) have made it very difficult to attract the right numbers of qualified young women into nursing. If we remove hospital responsibility, the present nursing shortage will get even worse," Miss Cornelius theorized.

"The burden of carrying liability insurance would be shifted significantly from the hospital administration to the individual employe, professional and non-professional alike," she added.

The current rate of hospital liability insurance has been estimated at 10 cents a bed per day. If individual nurses were forced to purchase the insurance (by law or by their own desire for protection) the rate would be an extra burden with current salaries.

In 1956, the Supreme Court ruled that hospitals should be held responsible. Since then greater safety measures than ever before have been introduced and observed by administrations.

"In view of some deplorable conditions presently existing in many hospitals in our state, we view as untimely the attempt by hospitals to limit their liability for negligence in caring for and treating a patient in the hospital," Miss Cornelius concluded.

South Highers In Festival

The annual City Music Festival will be held Friday, Apr. 19, at St. John's Arena on the Ohio State University Campus.

The music festival consists of a junior orchestra and a senior orchestra made up of students from all over the city. The vocal music comes from the choirs of the Columbus elementary schools, junior high schools and senior high schools.

The senior choir of South High School, under the direction of Max Bunker, will participate in the festival.

The students from South High School who will play in the all-city orchestra are:

Clyde Evans, trombone; Paul Lofton, tuba; Jim Westlake, violin I, and Kathy Mason and Sue Woodward, violin II.

Howard Cozart, instrumental director at South, will conduct the all-city orchestra in West Side Story.

Tickets may be purchased for 80 cents from Howard Cozart or the night of festival at the arena.

Retired Teacher Dies Of Stroke

Funeral service took place Monday for Verne C. Smith, 69, of 1355 E. Oakwood-av. The retired educator died Friday night at Mt. Carmel Hospital after suffering a stroke.

Smith was a retired teacher and viceprincipal of South High School. He was a graduate of Berea (Ky.) College and Ohio State University.

The World War I veteran was a member of the Oakwood Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Rebecca R.; sisters, Mrs. Ora Hamilton and Mrs. Della Shadoin; niece, Frances Fergus.

Interment at Maple Hill Cemetery, Stoutsville.

also suggest presence of other serious respiratory diseases and chest conditions such as emphysema, silicosis, enlarged heart, tumor, cancer and others.

"A positive reaction to a Mantoux TB skin test does not necessarily mean that the person has active contagious tuberculosis.

"It does mean that the person has been in close contact with someone who has TB and that TB germs have entered his body," Roberts stressed. Authorities estimate that 80 per cent of all future TB cases will come from the positive reactors of today.

"These positive reactors found during 'Operation Checkmates' will be advised to have annual checkups to spot active tuberculosis if it should develop," Roberts explained.

"Operation Checkmates" is similar to a TB Society project on the city's near North Side in 1961.

"We learned from experience there, that we must stress the importance of adult tuberculin testing. Although this is an important phase of modern-day TB case-detection and prevention, the value of adult TB testing is not generally recognized by the public," Roberts said.

"To win general acceptance of both checks for TB, the Society in cooperation with many official health agencies and South Side organizations, has set up an extensive volunteer corps to explain personally to each resident of the area the importance of chest X-rays for everyone over 15 years of age and Mantoux TB tests for every person over one month old."

TRIBUTE WAS PAID to three women at the annual meeting of the South Side YMCA Community Center Boy Scout Troop 78 recently. Robert Douglas, committeeman, left, and Scoutmaster Richard Ludaway stand with the women. From the left, they are Mrs. Johnson Beecham, who received an award in memory of her husband; Mrs. Grace Steward, recognized for the service she has rendered to scouting, and Mrs. Arthur Wimbley who received an award in memory of her husband. Herman Schumm spoke at the dinner meeting on "Importance of Community Responsibility—Importance of Parent Responsibility."

Hiking 500 Miles No Fad For New Guinea Reverend

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lenox

HI. 4-1051

The current 50-mile hiking fad would be considered a hop, skip and jump by Rev. Harold E. Brown, who recently returned to his mission station in New Guinea after a year's leave in the States.

The native Ohioan is in charge of four congregations which total 10,000 people around Loe. He walks through his circuit twice a year, since no other transportation is available. One of the trips takes 30 days to complete, with 500 miles of walking involved.

Rev. Brown was an assistant to Rev. John O. Long of St. Paul's Lutheran Church while attending the seminary at Capital University.

Jane Brown, the pastor's wife, is well-known locally since she is a former area resident. She keeps quite busy while her husband is on his church and school inspection tours by teaching English in the native kindergarten, sewing to the older girls, and conducting Bible study in the native language. Since the mission is 77 years old, many natives are third generation Christians.

It probably is inconceivable to many of our teen-age girls that helping with routine household chores could be "higher education," but such is the case for the two native girls who assist Mrs. Brown with the house work. The intense heat saps the energy of those who come from countries of more moderate temperatures, naturally.

The help of the 16-year-old native girls enables Mrs. Brown to be free for her teaching assignments. The girls are gaining new knowledge of such tasks as washing dishes, performing household tasks, laundry and child-care practices. The temperature in New Guinea, at the time Mrs. Brown wrote, was a hot 94 degrees in this most easterly island of the East Indies, which can be expected from a country situated directly south of the equator.

With the Browns are their three children, Cathy, 8; Carol, 6 and David, 4. All were born in New Guinea. Cathy and Carol attend the government school in Loe. For those who might like to write the Browns, we'll include the address: Lutheran Mission, Box 80, Loe, Territory of New Guinea.

Mohawk PTA executive board will meet at the school today.

Carl Kramer, an Apr. 2 birthdayite, is also listed on the community ailing list.

The Washington Avenue EUB men are in charge of the program that will be held at the church Wednesday, Apr. 17, for the Family Night meeting. A 6:30 p.m. fellowship dinner will precede the program. The Ladies' Bible Class of the church will meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Apr. 15.

Congratulations to happy parents, Bob and Sally Floyd, who presented a little brother to their two sons, and to Rev. and Mrs. Richard Pettibone, who became the parents of a little girl.

About 40 family members recently gathered to honor Harry Smith, a navy man, who was home between assignments. The Refugee-rd resident had been stationed in San Diego, and is now at New London, Conn. Harry is the grandson of Liz and Joe Kramer, 1242 S. Washington-av.

Meetings, here and there: An all-sports banquet will be held at South High School on Monday, Apr. 15.

The Tuesday, Apr. 16, event at South will be the final PTA meeting of the year, at 7:45 p.m. The election and installation of officers will be held. Retired teachers, PEBS, Chapters 1 and 2, will be the honored guests.

The Emmanuel Lutheran Church Brotherhood will meet for a potluck dinner on Tuesday, Apr. 16. The attending fathers and sons will view a movie, "Just a Stranger," as part of the evening's program.

The King's Workers Class of South Methodist Church will meet Tuesday, Apr. 16, at 7:45 p.m. Gladys Hill will be in charge of the devotions, while Laura Houghn will serve as entertainment chairman. Hostesses will be Ann McCarthy, Doris Hain, Nelle Egan and Marguerite Turner.

John Sittig of the Columbus public schools will be the guest speaker at the Deshler PTA meeting on Wednesday, Apr. 17, at 1:30 p.m. The election of officers will be held at this meeting.

Emmanuel Lutheran Circle 1 will meet at 9:15 a.m., Wednesday, Apr. 17. The South Side YMCA Mothers Club will meet at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 16.

"Civil Defense for Southwood Community" will be the Wednesday, Apr. 17, topic for the Southwood 7:30 p.m. PTA meeting. The election and installation of officers will be held.

The Creative Arts Festival of Capital University will be held at Shumaker Gallery from Wednesday, Apr. 17, to Saturday, Apr. 20.

These youngsters have a double portion of excitement this week, with Easter and a birthday to keep them occupied: Thomas Babbitt, Anna Weekley, Richard Brodek, Robert Fellure, Jerry Montgomery, Mike Donahoe, Edward Ketzel, Hobia Brown, Debra Sherrod, Charles Blankenship, Tony DiGoia and Kathy Guiffre.

A birthday "hello" to these teenagers: Kathy Church, Marty Komives, Twila Carter, Susan Olney, William Jordon and Sandy Leonard.

Birthday cakes, heavy with candles, will soon appear for Dorothy Whitacre, Carol DeCamp, Jack O'Ryan, Nellie McDaniel, Judy Grace, Irene Voss, Ted Day, Chuck Myers, Christina Loos, Frieda K. Otto, Rufus Barnett, Anna Hammond, Flora Heiserman and Ruth Reiber.

Another year of wedded life will be chalked up by these marriage partners within the week: Don and Martha Thomas, Wallace and Madeline Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hickle, Don and Mary LaRue and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Fox.

A 51st wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. William Neno on Apr. 6.

The annual steak dinner sponsored by the WSCS of South Methodist Church will be held Thursday, Apr. 18, at the church. Meals will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m.

St. Ann's Guild 60 will meet Tuesday, Apr. 16, at 8 p.m., in the home of W. J. Siepel, 833 Reinhard-av.

The ailing list includes Katie Smith, 1217 Wilson-av; Minnie Brawler, 444 Deshler-av; Charles Plummer, a patient in Grant Hospital; Cecil Duvall, Clara Stoltz, William Byerly, Gary Keenan.

Mt. Carmel Hospital was the temporary abode of Hazel Mitchell and Mary Pierce. Other ailing residents are Erma Daugherty and Lewis Wright. Harry Shaver is a patient in the C and O Hospital, Clifton Forge, Va.

Good Friday community-wide services will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Apr. 12, at the Livingston Avenue Methodist Church.

Hostesses of Group B, OSU Mothers' Club, will serve a noon dessert luncheon at the meeting to be held at the South Methodist Church on Tuesday, Apr. 16. The Wesley-Wed Class of South Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Apr. 17.

Congratulations to Jeannie Straub, 472 E. Welch-av, who was one of 361 OSU students to be invited to attend the sixth annual president's dinner at the university. Invited guests were all 3.5 students or above, in grade ratings. Jeannie, a 1959 South High graduate, received a medallion to commemorate her scholastic achievements.

The Wednesday, Apr. 17, dinner of Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, will be supervised by Gertrude Larson and Pauline Fields. The 5 to 7 p.m. menu includes Cornish hen and dressing, mashed potatoes with gravy, buttered peas, coffee and sliced peaches. The tickets, $1 adult and 50 cents children, may be bought at the Moose Lodge, 36 W. Sycamore-st, site of the dinner.

Elizabeth Seemueller, chairman of the homemaking committee of Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, will be in charge of the program tonight at the regular chapter meeting. Friday, Apr. 12, the social service committee of the chapter will hold a bake sale in the lobby of the Moose home.

Elsie Sattler was the honor guest of a party given for her by a sister, Mildred Kuehner. Mrs. Sattler is leaving Columbus to join her son in Colorado Springs.

The Loyal Men and Women's Class of Southwood Church of Christ will meet at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 16.

The fourth quarterly congregational meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be held at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Apr. 17.

The officers of the South Side YMCA Mothers' Club were elected for the coming year at the Apr. 2 meeting. They are Mrs. Walter Steffans, president; Mrs. Alex Komives, vice-president; Mrs. William Potter, secretary; Mrs. Hancel Rice, treasurer.

Committee members include: ways and means, Mrs. William Hickle, Mrs. Francis Spotts, Mrs. Paul Dupler and Mrs. Walter McCain; sunshine, Mrs. Paul Dupler; program, Mrs. Merl Kenney and Mrs. Paul Lenox; publicity, Mrs. Paul Lenox. Mothers interested in joining the group still have the opportunity of becoming charter members if their membership dues are paid by Friday, Apr. 19. The next meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 16.

The South Methodist MYF is in charge of the Easter sunrise breakfast, Sunday, Apr. 14, following the 6:30 a.m. service. Two menus are available, one for $1, the other for 50 cents. The young people will use the profits to send delegates to the summer institute at Lakeside and for missionary contributions through the Methodist Youth Fund.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Bailly, 318 Hanford-st, who recently lost their daughter, Harriet B. Carlson. Mrs. Carlson was a 1949 South High graduate.

Recent little family-brighteners are the additions in the homes of Russ and Sharron Miller, and Roy and Joyce Mincer. Both couples have welcomed new daughters in their households.

More ailing community residents include Art Scott, Mrs. Arthur Richter, Mrs. James Robison, Sr., who is recovering from a sprained ankle. Jack Sherrod entered Children's Hospital for skin grafting. E. B. Mason is making a nice recovery after an extended illness.

Rev. David Wilkerson will address the members of FGBMFI in a two-day meeting, today and tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m., in the new Youth Center building on the fair grounds. His exploits have been written in a book, "The Cross and the Switchblade."

Rev. Wilkerson left his Pennsylvania mountain parish five years ago to help combat crime and dope addiction in big city slums. In effect, he has helped to substitute the cross for switchblades in those areas. He operates Teen Challenge Centers across the nation, in his rehabilitation program. The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

The early spring birthdays of three South Side residents were recognized by a luncheon in their honor at the Arlington Arms on Apr. 3. Irene Klein, Matilda Boehm and Ellen Frederick were the feted guests.

Brownie Scout Troop 322 visited Alum Crest County Home during the week and acted for the Easter rabbit by leaving 40 baskets with residents of the home. The girls are under the leadership of Mrs. Clifford Berger.

Our sympathy to the family of "Happy" Perry, longtime resident, who passed away after a long illness last week.

Dec. 17, 1944, the Battle of the Bulge developed in World War II when the Germans began an offensive on the western front. During the battle Nazi Storm Troopers machine-gunned 80 American war prisoners in what is known as the infamous Malmedy Massacre.

Police Bullets Pursue Teenage Speeders

Comment ran high when two Columbus policemen fired six shots in the pursuit of a couple of teenage boys running down an alley.

John Robison, 15, of 277½ E. Livingston-av, and Thomas Rawlins, 18, 536 S. Fifth, were chased by police after the Robison family car driven by the Rawlins boy was observed traveling at a high rate of speed about 9 p.m. last Thursday.

After their car collided with one of the cruisers the boys fled with the officers from three cruisers in pursuit.

Six shots were fired, though none struck the boys. However, Robison struck his head when he was dodging the bullets and was captured in the alley. Rawlin surrendered to police a couple days later.

Police Chief George Scholer was considering suspension of the officers who are permitted to use their guns only in self-defense, for the protection of innocent persons or in pursuit of a felon.

Robison's mother condoned the police action when she asked the chief not to punish the officers.

No charges were filed against Robison, but reckless driving, hit-skip, stop sign violation, and disregarding of a police officer were booked against the older boy.

City Okays $369,139 To Aid Scioto Floods

Monday night's Columbus City Council action was highlighted by approval of a $369,139 appropriation for a flood control project in the lower Scioto River channel.

Work on the project was scheduled to begin immediately upon approval of the appropriation. Service Director Ernest Stork said the project calls for cleaning and dredging the channel to improve water flow. The work will also include repair and raising of levees where needed.

Low bid for the project was submitted by Christopher Construction Co., 3150 Valleyview-dr.

Council also approved legislation authorizing expenditure of $9,379 for award of a contract to replace concrete curb and gutters on Livingston-av.

In other action, council set a May 6 public hearing date for a request to rezone 2.6 acres on the east side of Rhoads-av from apartment residential to parking for a retail store. The area affected extends from 146 feet south of Livingston-av, south, to Forest-st.

FULL STEAM AHEAD

TWO YOUNG HUCKSTERS, Martha and Daniel, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Esswein, Groveport Rt. 1, ride the tractor that will help bring in their truck garden this spring. Though Mother and Dad do most of the work now, the 12-year-old twins will harvest the tomatoes, sweet corn, melons and strawberries and manage road side sales. Their big sister, Phyllis, who as they attend Groveport Madison High School will lend a hand. The children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Esswein, 554 Reinhard-av, backed up their son's contention that farming is only a hobby with him. "He was born and raised on the South Side," his mother explained.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

News of Schiller Neighborhood.

On Monday, Apr. 15, the Schiller Neighborhood Girl Scout leaders and committee members will meet at St. Paul's United Church of Christ, 225 E. Gates-st., at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Brice Griffith will conduct the business meeting. Later there will be discussion of different troop problems.

Mrs. Norman Dodd, leader of Troop 686, Scioto Trail, announced the troop will take a trip to the Coca-Cola Bottling Plant on Friday, Apr. 12. They also plan to have a display of Arts and Crafts at the Scout Fair Saturday, Apr. 27.

TROOP 66

This troop of Gates-Fourth Church took part in the Youth Activities program at Stewart Avenue School PTA on Mar. 26. The entire troop sang "Girl Scouts Together" and "Ol' MacDonald."

Mrs. Robert Ferguson, troop organizer, gave an interesting account of the founder of Girl Scouting, Mrs. Juliette Low, and of the Girl Scout program, bringing out that most of the program is volunteer work.

The following girls took part in the program: Paulette Dupler, Janet Nagy, Patty Coner, Cheri Mason, Jeanie Gee, Deborah Harmon, Margaret Trumps, Rosalind Lent, Darlene Spencer, Patty Thornhill, Tammy Herold, Clarice Holliday, Deena Markus, Lenora Gilgien, Penny Hinty, Cathy Arnold, Susie Coner, Patty Lent and Elizabeth Schultz. Mrs. Paul Dupler is troop leader.

Publicity chairman for this neighborhood is Mrs. James Donohoe, HI. 4-3064.

Ken Olbert Thanks All 'Y' Helpers

The sacrifice of time and money by almost 200 South Side citizens to the YMCA membership drive is recognized in a public "thank you" by Ken Olbert, campaign chairman.

He stresses also that those who have met their responsibilities in making enough money available to the "Y" staff to serve community needs have, as Christians, "gone the second mile."

He has asked that special recognition be given to several who worked closely with the office staff and the two "professionals," Jim Wagner and Bob Davis, who made the YMCA "go."

His salute is to the division leaders, James Hildenbrand, Fred Erfurt, Mrs. Mabel Gaffin, Mike Lower, Cliff Olson, Carl Snedeker, Oscar Wiechers and Dave Wilson.

Publicity chairmen John Auble, Jr., and George Robey are included in the special thanks, as well as board of management chairman Joe Davis, and the arrangement committee, Roland Hepner, Dr. Harry Schadler and "Augie" Graumlich.

PLAY CAST

The cast of "Seems Like Old Times" is hoping for record crowds when the curtain rises at 8 p.m., Friday, Apr. 19, and Saturday, Apr. 20, in the St. Mary's gym, 700 S. Third-st. The Belles and Beaux of St. Mary's will use the profits from the production to help defray expenses for the church's Centennial, an event of 1963, the year that marks their monsignor's 60th anniversary in the priesthood. The public is invited to attend. Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

The Schiller Park Golden Age Club will meet for a potluck luncheon Tuesday, Apr. 16. The group, as in past years, has spent two days of this pre-Easter week in coloring the eggs for the Easter Egg Hunt. As another project, the group also held a hobby show last week.

Linda Makes Finals

Linda Tapia, last year's Miss South Side, won an entirely unexpected honor Wednesday night when judges of the Miss Central Ohio Contest named her as one of the 15 semi-finalists.

Only the day before she had explained that she had "just turned 18" and was competing against "really beautiful girls with lots of talent."

"I just entered for the experience and know I don't have a chance," she said.

Twelve of the other semi-finalists are students from OSU. Linda is a senior at South High.

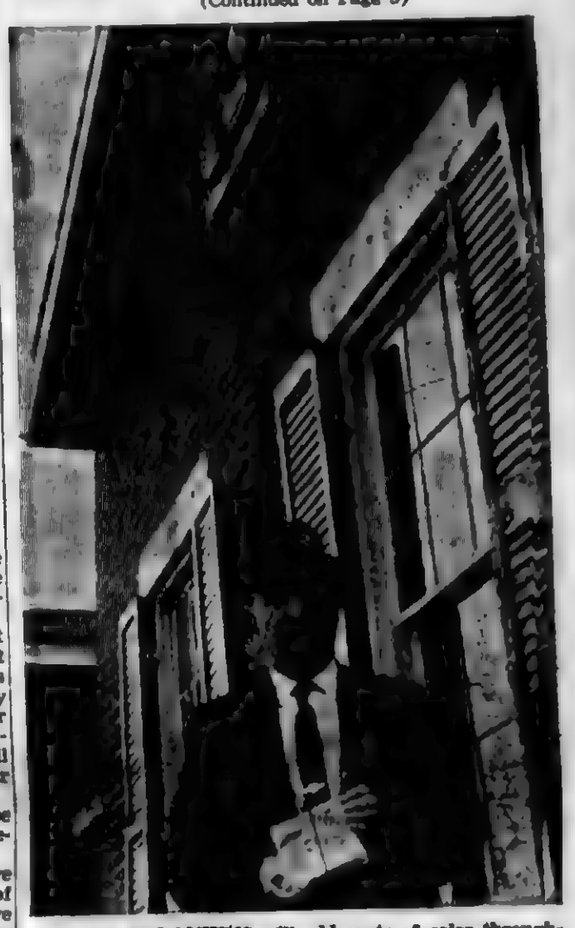
The finals will be held May 10 to determine the winner who will go on to the Miss Ohio contest. The Grove City Jaycees are sponsoring the Central Ohio contestant.

POPULATION FIGURES for the area between Morrill-av and the NYC Railroad are checked by William P. Hoermle, Sr., chairman of the Tuberculosis Society's "Operation Checkmates," and Dr. Ollie M. Geodloe, city health commissioner.

VILLAGE DONS SUNDAY BEST BIB AND TUCKER

"Put out a window box of color, a pot, a vase, or a bottle, bright with geraniums," urge the members of the German Village Society Inc.

The pleas to brighten up the area with the official flower is but a part of the preparations being made for the annual Haus und Garten tour to be held in June.



A small park to be knows as Beck Square at Beck and Fifth is coming into being as a place of rest and beauty for adults. Only 60 by 150 feet, it will be planted with shrubbery and secluded with the typical brick wall.

"Paint-up and point up," urged Mrs. Jan Jones, co-publicity chairman, pointing out that both add not only to the attractiveness of the old turn-of-the-century brick homes, but go far to their preservaion.

Last year when shuttle busses loaned by the state took over 3,000 visitors through the village, 11 homes were opened to show what can be accomplished by an enthusiastic "boot-strap" operation.

Dedicated to restoring the Old World atmosphere of the South Side area where German immigrants came and built their small and sturdy homes 60 years ago, the society functions completely without city, state or federal money.

GAY GERANIUMS will add spots of color throughout the German Village at the fourth annual Haus und Garten Tour slated Sunday, June 23. Armed with a few of the thousands of tickets expected to be sold starting early in June, William A. Schuer, chairman of special events, stands before the historical village's office at 624 S High-st. High above him is the first of the window boxes village residents are readying for the visitors who will come to see the restoration of an area slated for "slum clearance" a few years ago.

SOUTH SIDER SHOWS YOUTH AT ITS BEST

"Enthusiastic, thorough, responsible, zealous"—these are but a few of the words used by adult co-workers to describe William Resch, president of the Columbus Diocesan Council of Catholic Youth.

A senior at OSU, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Resch, 1021 E. Livingston-av.

With tremendous energy directed, in the words of Dan Kersher of CYC, to activities "other than bed-folding, piano smashing and phone booth stuffing" he pursues his double major in college, works part-time in the family business, and gives generously of his time to his church and community.

William Resch

During the past year he has logged about 25 hours a week to the job cut out for him by his presidency.

He has also spent many miles on the road visiting priests and youth leaders in the 23 counties of the Columbus Diocese and attending meetings from Chicago to Washington, D.C. "Bill shows three essential qualities of workmanship — preparation, promotion and evaluation" praised John E. Jones, promotion service director, when discussing the young leader's attainments.

Rev. Richard F. Dodd, Diocesan Director of Youth, pointed out Resch's "deep sense of commitment to the job he has and to Christ."

Hoermle Heads Hunt For TB In 58 Blocks

William P. Hoermle, Sr., city councilman and South Side businessman, has been named honorary chairman of "Operation Checkmates."

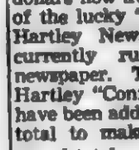
The Tuberculosis Society's program to locate all cases of tuberculosis in high TB incidence areas opens May 6 in the 58-block area between Morrill-av and the New York Central Railroad.

It offers free Christmas Seal chest X-rays and TB tests to the area's estimated 6500 residents through June 7. TB controller records list six to eight new cases of TB in this area each year.

"I want to lend my wholehearted support to 'Checkmates' and urge everyone in the area 15 years or older to have a free chest X-ray and everyone over one month old to get a free Mantoux tuberculin test," Hoermle said.

"The success of this program," he explained, "depends on every resident's taking advantage of these free 'Checkmates for TB.' No one is safe from TB until everyone is safe."

A chest X-ray will spot lung damage and a TB test will tell if there are TB germs in one's body. The society hopes to find and place under treatment all cases of tuberculosis and to identify all those with TB germs in their bodies.



Annual check-ups will be encouraged for all positive reactors.

Hoermle, who is a native South Sider and graduate of South High School, is active in numerous civic and fraternal organizations including St. Stephen's Community House, which is assisting in "Checkmates"; Columbus Maennerchor; Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce; and the Knights of Columbus. He is also a trustee of Mercy Hospital and on the board of Good Shepherd Convent.

$91 Awaits Winner Of 'Confederate' Jackpot

A total of 91 "Confederate" dollars now awaits the winner of the lucky "jackpot" in the Hartley Newspapers contest currently running in this newspaper. This means 20 Hartley "Confederate" dollars have been added to last week's total to make up the new grand total.

Each week the "Confederate" cash not claimed in the previous week's contest is added to the lucky "jackpot." Each week 25 new "Confederate" dollars are made available to readers of Hartley Newspapers by means of insignia, similar to those in this column, printed in a color other than black, hidden in the advertisements inside your newspaper.

There are 20 insignia containing the number "1" and one insignia containing the number "5" hidden in 21 different newspapers each week. Any reader finding a "1" insignia may bring or mail the page containing the lucky number to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, and he will receive a "Confederate" bill. The holder of a "5" insignia will receive five Hartley "Confederate" dollars, but if that reader is a paid subscriber he will also receive the "jackpot," which is 91 "Confederate" dollars this week. To claim the five "Confederate" dollars or the jackpot the winner must bring the page, containing the insignia, into the office in person.

All Hartley "Confederate" cash can be spent, just like U.S. currency, for goods or services with any advertiser in a Hartley newspaper during the week the winner wishes to spend it. Advertisers are guaranteed the money will be redeemed, at face value, by Hartley Newspapers. Employes of Hartley Newspapers, including carriers or their families, are not eligible to participate in the contest.

Winners of one "Confederate" dollars included Mr. and

South Siders Help Out In Lily Parade

South Side girls took part in the Apr. 6 Lily Parade. Bluebirds of St. Marys School and Stewart Avenue School received $46.24 in donations for the crippled children from the Parsons-av area of the parade. The leader is Mrs. John Stevens, 147 E. Deshler-av.

The youth group of Our Mother of Sorrows parish collected $291.85 at the Great Southern Shopping Center. In charge of the project were Drue and Jill Lehman, with their mother, Mrs. Selmar Lehman, 8500 Jackson-pk, a member of Brace 4, supervising.

Girls from various clubs at South High worked in the downtown Lily Parade and helped raise $1,163.21. Mrs. Charlotte Swisher was their advisor. Donations for the tiny lilies went to the Easter Seal Campaign of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children. A total of $3,943.98 was collected throughout the city and county.

Central Boosters Club Plans Meet

Central High School Boosters Club will meet Monday, Apr. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and plans will be made for the membership drive to be held in September.

Commission Won't Okay Olbert Plea

Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission members have denied a request from Barrett Junior High School Principal Kenneth Olbert for installation of a traffic signal at the intersection of Bruck-st and Thurman-av.

Chief Engineer John L. Gallagher told commission members that reports of survey crews indicated that a traffic signal was not required.

The area is used by children from two elementary schools and a high school in the area in addition to the junior high school.

Gallagher said reports of the survey crews indicated sufficient opportunities for the children to cross at the intersection without the aid of a signal.

School officials requested the signal installation due to increased traffic since opening of nearby Interstate Rt. 71.

Traffic men okayed installation of a second signal for the Great Southern Shopping Center on South High-st, 1,040 feet north of the present traffic light. Installation will be completed by Columbus Division of Traffic Engineering personnel, with costs of the controller and detector

Harry Olson Appears Happier About Move As His Roses Leaf

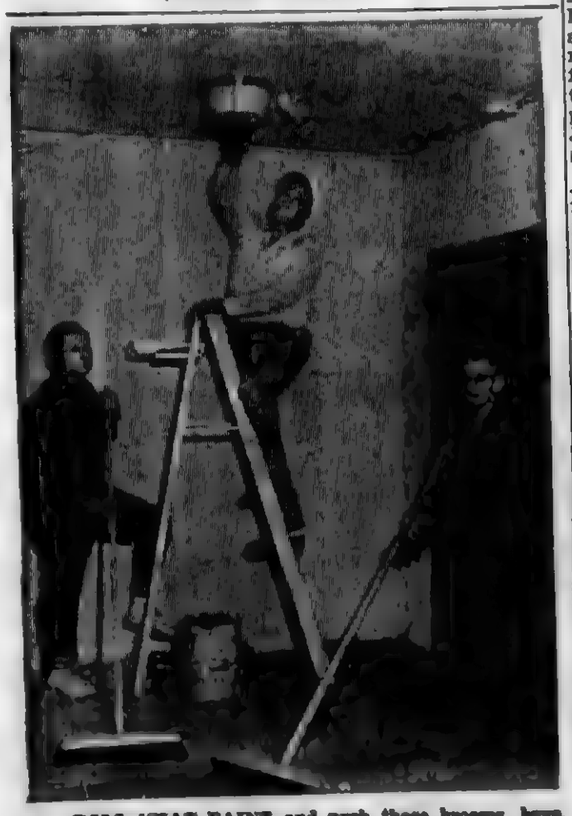
By JANE ROBINSON

WITH TENDER, loving care Harry Olson examines the once towering roses he transplanted when forced to move his home and business as his building faces being razed. Out of view is a young apple tree, also moved which he has pruned into the shape of a perfect cross.

"We've been awful shook-up," Harry Olson explained last week, faced with the monumental job of moving his sewing machine service business and his home to make way for the innerbelt.

It isn't easy for a man past 70 to be uprooted and Harry didn't exactly cooperate in the beginning. In fact, he registered his disapproval of the whole situation with a BB gun.

But he has come to accept what must be done and is moving his possessions from 444 S. High to a building across the street, 491 S. High.



"They are treating me pretty decent," the old gentleman said, telling of the powers that granted him more time to get moved.

Probably what has helped him take the matter more calmly is that he now has his beloved climbing roses safely transplanted and they are looking mighty good.

But he'll never forget the beautiful old roses soaring 40 and 50 feet in the air that had to be cut to tea-rose height when, like Olson, they were uprooted.

Yet to be moved are the literally millions of parts he

ROLL THAT PAINT and push those brooms, boys. Jim Wagner, executive secretary of the CSSO and of the YMCA attacks the ceiling while Bernie Wohl, CSSO Service, Safety and Welfare chairman and Louis Dimel, his committeeman, past CSSO president, start from the ground up. The annual cleanup campaign kicks off tomorrow, Apr. 19 and will continue through the 27th.

A CLEAN SWEEP DOWN BEGINS

Now Hear This, Mates! Man Your Brooms

Community pride is what it will take to make the South Side Clean Up Campaign, which kicks off tomorrow, Apr. 9, a success, emphasized James Wagner, executive secretary of CSSO.

The council is spearheading the drive for the South Side to back up the city-wide, nation-wide campaign.

"We've got to paint up, scrub up and burn up," committeeman Louis Dimel exclaimed.

This is one of the few chances residents will have to get something for nothing.

The city will haul away free anything that is put beside the street, and a telephone call to the sanitation department will send out special trucks to pick up junk too large to be handled by ordinary disposal units.

"Now's the time to get rid of davenports that have had it, old cars rusting away and discarded plumbing fixtures," explained Mike Mileusenich, council president.

The Frank-rd fill, usually closed to the public, will be open for dumping to anyone wishing to haul his own trash.

The mayor, the fraternal and civic organizations and business associations have all pledged their cooperation to make this program succeed and one that will leave the South Side a better place in which to live

But Wagner, Mileusenich, Dimler and Bernie Wohl, chairman of service, safety and welfare in the CSSO, all stressed one point.

That point is that the efforts of the individual homeowner and businessman will make or break the clean-up campaign.

Science, Health To Be Published In Paperback

A paperback edition will be published on May 8 of one of the world's most widely-circulated religious books — "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

This book, for nearly 70 years, has been read along with the Bible at all Christian Science church services, in place of sermons by ministers.

Although this will be the first paperback edition of Science and Health, the book has already reached sales of several millions since it first appeared in 1875.

The new 700-page paperback, like all other editions of Science and Health, will be published by the trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, in Boston. Printed on standard book paper, it will be priced at $1.95, the publishers have announced.

It will be distributed by Harper and Row, Inc., of New York, Evanston and London, to book stores throughout the world, and also by the publishers' agent to Christian Science reading rooms.

Retired Minister Dies At Home Devotions

After serving his church for over 40 years, Rev. Carl H. Heminghaus, retired Lutheran minister, died Monday while at devotions in his home, 3383 Broadmoor-av.

Service was to be held Thursday afternoon with Dr. Edward C. Fendt, president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, and Rev. Samuel Goers officiating.

Mr. Heminghaus retired as minister of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, 492 Oakwood-av, last year, but this week held the Easter service at the Capital University chapel, where his old congregation has been meeting.

A native of Columbus and Capital graduate, he headed churches in Hubbard, O., and Baltimore, Md. before returning here in 1948.

Taking a prominent part in inter-church affairs, he was for many years the vice-president of the Board of Inner Missions.

In addition to his wife Helen and two daughters, he is survived by five grandchildren, a brother and four sisters. His daughters, Mrs. Helen Simone and Mrs. Jeanne Horne, live in Wisconsin and California, respectively.

stocks for 1,900 different kinds of sewing machines.

He collects sewing machines like bees do nectar, storing them away for future reference.

The oldest machine he has is well over a hundred years old and bears the name "Howe." It was Elias Howe who patented the first machine in 1845. Another of the interesting mementos of early inventions is the sewing machine powered by a gasoline engine.

Some of his treasures will live only in his mind when "my shop is pushed over by those bulldozers." The mural of a huge weeping willow tree with a house built within the roots (he remembers such trees in the "old country") cannot go along with the Olsons.

Neither can his lucky tree. This smaller tree is outlined with the coins he has found during his lifetime.

"I didn't have to sweat for this money; it just came to me," he grinned and ruefully commented that a quarter was the largest piece of silver ever to come his way.

He seemed to find comfort in the fact that his old telephone number at least would be unchanged.

The son of Rumanian immigrants, he was born in New York State in 1892 and was taken by his family back to Rumania as a two-year-old. In 1907 the Olsons returned to America and settled in Columbus.

Not a very big man physically, he joked about his belief that "it forgot to rain the day I was born."

Remarkably active for a man of his age and sporting a mustache, the color of which indicated he might not like the idea of turning gray, the craftsman thanks the Good Lord for his health.

"I'm like my old Packard," he said. "People think we're old, but we are still going good."

He either speaks or understands a half dozen different languages, and yet refuses to have anything at all to do with the sound "th."

Even if he were speaking Hungarian he would be easy to know and to enjoy. The twinkle in his fading eyes speak an international language.

Three Types Of Diplomas Predicted For High Schools

By CONNIE STEWART
Contributing Writer

"There has been more grouping going on in our schools than we have ever known before," said Dr Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Schools, at a high school press conference Wednesday, Apr. 10.

Dr. Eibling stated that educators are trying to group students according to their ability but "advanced" classes must be "A" or "B" students to begin with."

He explained that when students are grouped entirely according to ability, three classes or types of diplomas should be offered. One would be a diploma with distinction for the advanced student; one would be an average diploma for the average student; and the third would be the modified diploma for the student in a modified or slower class.

A certificate of completion for those who complete the occupational service courses, as those now offered at Central High School, is also a possibility.

"There isn't a good answer," he said, as to whether communism will be taught in high schools in Columbus. He explained that many people feel that students must thoroughly understand democracy before they study communism to any extent.

These Tips Will Promote Safety In Family Pool

Whether you now own a swimming pool or hope to build one some day, knowing the rules of swimming pool safety may make a vital difference to you and your family.

Here are some protective pointers:

1. Arrange for an adult to be present whenever the children are in for a swim. In case of neighborhood kids, make an informal rule that no small children will be allowed unless accompanied by an adult.

2. Be sure that swimmers stay out of the pool for at least an hour after meals.

3. Have a life preserver handy — an inflated inner tube is fine.

4. A high fence around the pool will protect wandering tots — and possibly save you from negligence charges. Keep the gate closed whenever the pool is not in use.

5. Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer, help prevent falls into the pool.

6. Filters should be run so that pool water is completely filtered every 18-24 hours.

7. Filters must be cleaned every 3 to 10 days.

8. Keep water well-chlorinated to fight the growth of algae and bacteria.

9. During the off-season, pool should be constantly covered with a plastic or canvas top strong enough to support the weight of a person who might fall or step onto it.

Choosing Right Size Vital In Buying Air Conditioner

When buying a room air-conditioner, it's important to select one with the right cooling power. There's no point in buying a 12,000 BTU/hr unit if an 8,000 BTU/hr unit will do the job. A unit with excessive cooling capacity won't do a better job, but it will cost more to buy and operate.

COMPACT air conditioner keeps kitchen free from heat and heavy food odors. Model shodwn by General Electric.

Room air conditioner dealers are equipped to advise families on what size units they'll need and where they should be installed, but dealers need information to arrive at an accurate estimate.

Pertinent Points

The homeowner should be able to tell a dealer:

1 The size and use of the area to be cooled.

2. Number and location of windows.

3. What exposure outside walls have to the sun.

4. Whether electric circuits are 115, 208 or 230 volts.

5. Whether ceiling or roof above is insulated.

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., in a current booklet on room air conditioners, advises families to draw a simple floor plan to show the area to be cooled in relation to the rest of the house. Using the above information, a dealer can determine the cooling capacity needed in BTU's per hour.

Blend With Decor

Families who buy room air conditioners this year will find it's easier than ever to get a unit to meet specific cooling needs. In addition, many new room air conditioners blend better with the decor of a room.

The larger-capacity units are becoming increasingly popular. Often one or two units are installed in the walls while a house is being built to provide air conditioning for the entire house.

Some families place the through-the-wall models under a window, while others prefer a spot high on a wall to provide maximum circulation of conditioned air.

For Added Rooms

Home owners who add a room to their house can easily install batts of blankets of mineral wool insulation themselves, as long as this is done before interior walls and ceiling are finished. The basic tools needed are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun.

Here are a few installation tips to keep in mind:

1. Always install insulation with vapor barrier toward heated-in-winter side of walls, ceiling and floors.

2. Use plenty of staples, no more than six inches apart.

3. Insulation should fit snugly between studs and and joists.

4. Insulation with a reflective facing should be installed to provide air space between it and the inside wall.

Through the concern for the freedom of others our own heritage of freedom is best preserved and strengthened.—J. Irwin Miller

Most Homes Need More 'Housepower'

To keep pace with modern electric living, wiring in four out of every five homes needs upgrading. With twice as many electric appliances and much more lighting than they originally had, most homes 15 years or more years old are limping along with wiring virtually unchanged since the house was built.

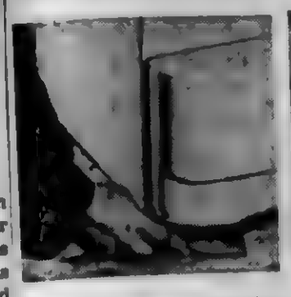
The result is that when appliances go on, lights often flicker or dim, the TV picture shrinks or winks, radios fade and fuses blow. Other symptoms of outdated wiring include "octopus connections" in outlets and extension cords strung around rooms.

In an adequately wired house, a family can take full advantage of the electric appliances it contains, conveniently, safely and with assurance that there is sufficient power to permit them to operate at peak performance.

For example, full housepower wiring permits the use of an increasingly popular appliance, the room air conditioner, without the need for additional wiring.

This is the kind of wiring always found in Gold Medallion Homes, which are all-electric homes designed around the concept of modern electric living. Wiring in these homes must conform to the American Standard Requirements for Residential Wiring, which are an excellent guide for the adequate wiring of older homes, too.

One requirement for adequate wiring is a 100 ampere electric service entrance. In older homes this would replace the 30 or 60 ampere service entrances with which most of them originally were equipped.



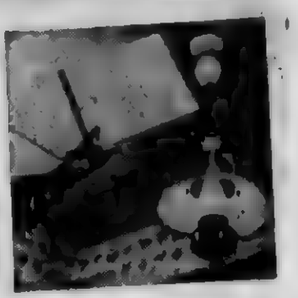
Another feature of an adequately wired home is the generous use of branch circuits. These include general-purpose circuits for lights, radios and the like; small appliance circuits for electric housewares such as toasters, waffle irons and broilers, and heavy-duty circuits to serve single major electric appliances, such as electric ranges.

Full housepower wiring also calls for electric outlets located so that no point along the floor line in any usable wall space is more than six feet from an outlet. In the kitchen, one outlet for every four feet of counter space is required.

More and more homeowners are turning to multi-outlet systems to assure them of outlets where they are needed for now and the future.

These continuous outlet strips provide electrical outlets so placed that they will always be available. In general, a multi-outlet system consists of a metal channel with outlets located at predetermined intervals, from six inches to five feet, along a continuous strip.

Ways To Eliminate Bothersome Home Noises



VIBRATING refrigerator can create distracting noise. Shore it up with a resilient mounting.

DRIP, DRIP, DRIP from faucet is nerve-wracking. A new, easy-to-install washer will stop it.

HEAVY DRAPES will absorb a lot of noise from outdoors and prevent it spreading through house.

RUBBER CASTERS on chairs will eliminate a lot of squealing and squeaking; save floors, too.

REPLACE noisy toilet tank flush mechanism with the silent type. Out-of-order tank wastes water.

BANGING doors are very annoying. Install mechanical door closers to stop this aggravation.

LOOSE PIPES are apt to rattle in their clamps, get on everybody's nerves. Simply tighten clamps!

TO ABSORB noise, install acoustical materials on ceilings. About 200 patterns available.

Steady Savings On Fuel Bills Soon Cover Entire Cost Of Installation

IT'S EASY to install insulation blankets on exposed ceilings and walls of attics. This do-in-yourself project helps keep the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Practically everyone can think of exciting ways to improve a home — but they all cost mopey. However, there is one home improvement that has consistently appealed to even the most budget-minded of families: it's having their homes fully insulated to meet recommended standards.

BLANKETS of insulation are installed on the attic floor.

BATTS of mineral wool are readily installed between ceiling joists.

HOSE pneumatically forces loose mineral wool into spaces between wall studs to insulate home. Individual shingles were removed and holes cut in sheathing to admit hose nozzle. At Job's end, shingles were replaced.

These families reason that:

1. Insulation will pay for itself in a few years in savings on fuel bills.

2. It will continue to save money for them indefinitely.

3. If the house is sold, the original cost of the installation usually will be completely recovered because insulation is a permanent improvement.

4. They would welcome the added comfort: a warmer home in winter, a cooler home in summer.

Various studies conducted through the years show that when a house is thoroughly insulated, families will realize a saving on heating of from 30 to 40 per cent compared to their inadequately insulated homes. It doesn't take long at that rate for savings on heating to equal the initial cost.

Promotes Comfort

Insulation provides added comfort. The temperatures throughout the house are even and easy to maintain; chilling drafts eliminated.

Families who want to make sure they get optimum results from their insulation can follow the Quality Home requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for insulation to provide an installed resistance to heat flow of R-19 or R-24 for ceilings, R-11 for walls, and R-13 for floors.

The "R" number indicates its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the number, the more effective the insulation.

The development of new installation techniques using "blowing wool" has made it possible to insulate older houses without damaging existing walls. To insulate the walls of an older house, a contractor first removes sections of the exterior siding. He then cuts neat holes into the sheathing and with pneumatic equipment forces the insulation through a hose into the spaces between the wall studs. After the walls are filled, the exterior siding is carefully replaced.

In the attic, the hose is often brought in through a louver, and the mechanic simply fills the spaces between the joists to the proper level. Batts or blankets are used where required.

Bags of blowing wool used to insulate existing houses are marked with the coverage needed to provide the resistance to heat flow specified for each of the key areas of a house.

HAMS FOR WINNERS

GETTING READY FOR EASTER — Members of the Hartley Newspapers' Display Advertising Department pause for a moment before delivering prizes to the winners of the Hartley Easter Ham Contest. Armed with 152 Swift's Premium Hams, the account executives spent a busy Friday delivering the prizes to all the Hartley Newspaper areas in time for Easter dinner. Featured, from left, are W. E. Poly, Rosa Glick, Bill Koon, Bob Maxwell, C. H. (Doc) Campbell, Joe Knapick and R. F. (Dee) DeSpelder.

Village—

This past year city council at least gave moral support to the project with the establishment of clear-cut boundaries, including about 3,500 residences housing about 10,000 persons.

With long-range plans for the village, the society is well on its way with 140 homes already changed from run-down slums to immaculate up-to-date homes with carefully manicured gardens.

The tour has attracted state-wide attention and complaints of there not being enough time to see everything has resulted in the hours being extended to 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Youth—

He went further and stated that no one has done more than Resch to show the true program of CYC, to show youth how they can contribute to their church and to their fellow man.

He will round out his term of office at the Youth Convention Saturday and Sunday, Apr. 20, at the Youth Center at the Fairgrounds.

All those who have worked with the young man agree he has held a challenging job and more than met the challenge.

Commission—

paid by the shopping center.

The commission also authorized parking bans for sections of Woodrow-av and Bank-st.

Parking will be banned on the south side of Woodrow-st, from Parsons-av to the first alley east(the approach to the traffic signal), while a 7 a.m. and to 6 p.m. parking ban will be established for the east side of Bank-st between Frankfort-st and E. Sycamore-st.

In other action the commission reduced speed limits from 45 to 40 miles per hour on S. High-st and Alcott-rd between Dering-rd and Southgate-dr, and approved signing for Studer-av traffic to yield to Reeb-av traffic.

As Servicemen Of The Year For Outstanding Merits

Four servicemen, representing all four branches of the U.S. Armed Forces, have been selected as Servicemen of the Year by a selection board comprised of several Columbus community leaders.

Named to the honor on the basis of their service work and community projects, the group includes Air Force SM/Sgt. King T. Frazier, Navy Chief Evan D. Bristle, Marine Corps GY/Sgt. Robert W. Ebert and Army Sgt. Alan Ellis Whitcomb.

The honored servicemen and their families will be guests of Columbus area service and civic organizations and will be presented with appropriate proclamations by Governor James Rhodes and Mayor W. Ralston Westlake. They will also be presented at Columbus City Council.

Other activities include a theatre party, weekend at the Arlington Arms and an Armed Forces Day Luncheon, May 17, at which Defense Secretary Robert McNamara will be the featured speaker.

Seniors Will Attend Rotary Club May 13

The Columbus Rotary Club will honor 23 South High School seniors at a luncheon in the Deshler-Hilton ballroom on Monday, May 13 at 11:30 a.m. Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus public schools, will present the program. Students selected from all the Columbus schools will be honored.

The students are chosen by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, character, service and leadership. The guests from South High School will be Betty Baldeser, Harriett Chapdelaine, Sharon Cozad, Dorothy Davies, JoAnn Dethloff, Sherri Dupree, Clyde Evans, Barbara Hamilton, Shirley Hummerick, Herb Klopfer, Janie Lewis, Gary McCoy, Kathy Mason, Peter Meitner, Ken Mills, Glenna Salyer, Tom Scheiderer, Bob Scott, Linda Sharp, Steve Shawen, Jeanne Test, Ruth Ward and Dagmar Wiskow.

Appeal For Zoning Variance

A public hearing to consider an appeal by Viola Settles, 277 E. Innis-av, for a variance to the Columbus Zoning Ordinance will be held before the Board of Zoning Adjustment in City Hall on Friday, Apr. 26, at 2 p.m.

Viola Settles has requested a variance to the use district regulations to convert a garage into a two-family dwelling at the rear of 292 E. Innis-av.

The Board of Zoning Appeals does not consider petitions to rezone property, only appeals for special permits and variances which cannot, for reasons of hardship or other cause, meet strict compliance with the Columbus Zoning Ordinance.

RAM RUNNERS READY TO RAMBLE

WITH THEIR EYES on the finish line, these six St. Marys' track lettermen are ready to run for the wire this spring. The six Ram returnees are, left to right: Jack Douer, Roger Whaley, Mike Gray, Jim Yates, Bernie Willis and Frank Purdue. Missing from the lineup is another St. Marys track veteran, Tim Sauer.

ST. MARYS' FLINGER

READY TO LET 'er fly is St. Marys' lone returning letterman in the field events this spring—senior discus man George Maurer. Ram coach Ray DeCola will be looking for Maurer, who was throwing in baskets a month ago, to add up some more big points for the Ramblers this season in the weight events.

Bullheads After Sunset Is Spring Fever Tonic

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

It was a hot summer day, typical of June or July in Ohio. School had been out for sometime and barefeet were in style. Two or three of us gathered on the bank of a muddy pond a forerunner of today's farm ponds. Cattle were standing in the water to cool, and were swishing flies with their tails.

Some heavy black line was tied to a willow pole, and was baited with a worm. In went the rig with considerable commotion. Soon the bobber dipperd. Once. Twice. The anxiety was too much. A big yank flopped a bullhead onto the grass behind and I had caught my first fish.

THIS, PERHAPS, is not the storybook birth of an angler. a trout or bass should have been the star performer, and a big one at that! But it was a bullhead that cast the die. In real life, as they say, this is more often the case than not.

All of this reflection was started because it is bullhead season, and they are hitting at Buckeye Lake and elsewhere. Long stringers are being taken by those anglers who have the zeal to fish all night and work hard at it.

You may make more modest catches by not working so hard. Bullheads are traditional spring fever medicine. Along morel mushrooms, which will be showing up in a week or two, bullheads offer the first real excuse to get outdoors again.

CATCHING BULLHEADS is not demanding in its simplest form. You find a grassy bank near the water, one that is sheltered from the wind and that catches the spring sun. You bait your hook with a garden worm or nightcrawler, and throw it in the water.

Then you retire to the bank, where you can see migrating warblers flitting in the treetops, or watch fleecy clouds drift by. When you get a nibble, let him chew awhile and then set the hook firmly. You pull in the wriggling bullhead and repeat the process. This, happily, is medicine that you can take as often as necessary.

Quiet water with silt bottoms are best for bullheads. Lakes are better than streams, and Buckeye Lake seems to be ideal for them. The bullhead catch there some years has been truly phenomenal.

MEMBERS OF THE catfish family, bullheads feed best at night. That's why confirmed anglers lose sleep in the spring of the year. Typical bullhead fishermen at Buckeye take off in a small boat at about dark.

They go to a favorite location and anchor. Here they light up gasoline lanterns, set up their rigs and begin fishing. They are bundled against the chill night air, and are well stocked with thermos' of hot coffee and sandwiches. The bullheads keep them from getting sleepy.

A bullhead safari is not complete, of course, until the fish are cleaned and deep-fried. Then you sit down to a repast that brings back memories. Bullheads will make a boy of you again.

Too Much Emphasis Put On Major Sports

It has always been our contention, while trying to keep our finger on the pulse of sporting activity in this country, that too much emphasis is put on the so-called major sports.

Although the majority of the public is naturally more interested in physical activities such as football, baseball and basketball, it seems a shame that national sports pages slight such small-time sports as pigeon racing, squash and kite flying.

A NATIONAL shoe company has taken a step in the right direction by publishing a 60-page booklet listing the who's, how's and wherefore's on 82 American sports, major and minor.

Unfortunately, there are several sports that the booklet apparently has overlooked in its desire to inform the public.

As a public service, we would like to supplement this list with several athletic diversities that have found favor with at least a minority of participants.

UMPIRE BAITING — Origin—Although the experts are a little cloudy on this point, umpire baiting (not to be confused with the advanced "player baiting" and "bench jockeying") began sometime in the late 1800's when the first umpire missed a close call at first base.

Participants—At least seven; to every ballpark (major, minor, college or high school leagues). Equipment—Strong lungs and tonsils, gruff vocal tones and usually a beer or soda pop bottle to wave threateningly in the right hand.

CLUB THROWING — A popular sport among golf enthusiasts in this country — Origin—John McGregor, Scotland, 1872, after three successive slices into the woods off number four. Equipment—Ordinary set of golf clubs that won't hit the ball straight regardless of your talent. Bad disposition and even worse attitude helps to increase your proficiency at this sport.

The sports' national headquarters reports that if you're over 35 and take your game seriously, you've thrown a club an average of 12.8 times per golfing month. Record — 37 feet, nine inches (1956, Tommy Bolt).

GOAL POST DISMANTLING — Seasonal sport connected with last college football game of the year in most parts of the country. Participants — High-spirited college students and higher-spirited alumni.

Equipment — Brute force with six coaches for every player. This sport is sometimes referred to as "rioting" when goal posts are on opponent's field.

DRAG RACING — Sport concerning the operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of speed. Organization — Amateur (on track) early 1920's; professional (on highways) 1905.

Equipment — New or old model car equipped with full race cam and competitive driver. Turnover — Fantastic.

FLOOR LITTERING — A new sport usually confined to basketball and founded in Bloomington, Ind. Organization — Ohio State - Indiana game, 1960. Equipment — Soft drink cups, programs, sour grapes, etc.

PRO-WRESTLING SARCASM — Origin — Sometime in the mid 1950's when TV introduced the sport to a wide audience. Procedure — Sit behind an avid fan and root for the opposition or degrade the integrity of the match.

Equipment — Plenty of fortitude, a spirit of recklessness and a 6-2, 220-pound physique. If you are of a scrawny nature, the national headquarters suggests making the sport a team activity.

INJURY FEIGNING—Origin—Notre Dame-Iowa football game, 1954. Procedure — Collapse on the field to stop the clock when your team has consumed its regular number of time outs.

Equipment — A sense of dramatic timeliness, good facial expression and the ability to writhe with pain. National headquarters inform us that over 500 participants win letters in this sport each season.

POOL HUSTLING — Origin — Unknown. Procedure — Let yourself get talked into a friendly, penny-ante game of eight ball. Goof a couple of side pocket rail banks and then find a comfortable high chair. Equipment — White shirt with blue chalk marks on the sleeves, a retiring, nervous gaze and strong thumbs.

Social Democrats won West Berlin elections Dec. 4, 1954, as the Communists made a poor showing.

Bulldog Nine Wins City League Opener

By ART KIENZLE

South High's baseballers, showing early season brilliancy, pulled the rug out from under Linden's defending champions in the City League diamond opener by taking a 5-2 victory at South.

The win gave the Bulldogs a 3-0 record. Pitcher Bob White has shown fine form in winning all three games this season and bested Lynn Fitzer in last week's loop opener.

CATCHER JOE Middendorf shook things up in the four-run fourth inning when he drove in two runs with a bases loaded bingle.

Tomorrow South meets Brookhaven in a non-leaguer with West joining the Rebs for league competition Tuesday. Both games are scheduled for the Bulldog diamond at 3:45 p.m.

The Bulldogs played Central in the "big game" Tuesday but deadlines intervened with coverage.

IN OTHER City League action, John Hopgood limited Walnut Ridge to a single hit as Marion-Franklin opened its '63 CL season successfully with a 1-0 win over the Scotties.

The Red Devils collected five hits, picking up their winning run in the fifth frame. East edged Aquinas, 5-4, in another City League game.

Over in the County League, Academy blasted Rosary pitching for 17 hits while piling up a 14-1 loop victory over the Crusaders. Rosary was limited to three hits by Viking moundsman Dan Fouche.

Big Bats Loud As South Gra-Y Softball Opens

South Side YMCA softball opened its season with Southwood downing Siebert, 9-1, and Reeb topping Beck, 6-3, in Tuesday's contests.

In the Thursday night section the Heyl Spartans defeated Livingston, 18-0, while Deshler overpowered the Heyl Globetrotters, 10-1.

PENROD BLASTED a triple for Southwood that proved to be the only extra base hit of the game. Barry Hickle scored Siebert's lone run.

Caldwell paced the Spartans with a home run and a single and also played a fine defensive game at short stop.

Livingston played without the services of three players. Clayton Campbell showed outstanding play in covering two positions.

Edwin Broehar belted a home run and a double for Deshler and Ty Ware collected the Heyl Globetrotters' only hit.

RANK HIKED

Recently promoted to Pvt. 1-C is David K. Pilkington, son of Virgil Pilkington, 3119 Minerva Park, and Mrs. Mary C. Pilkintgon of 695 Markison-av. The 19-year-old wireman for the 92d Artillery, is stationed at Eissen, Germany. He attended South High School.

South YMCA Sets Lineups For Church Softball Loops

With a successful winter sports program completed the churches participating in the South Side Branch YMCA leagues are now looking forward to playing softball.

An organizational meeting was held at the "Y" earlier this month and from now until the week of May 6, teams will be going through their "spring training" paces in preparation for the regular season play.

TEAMS INDICATING a desire to play in the program were as follows:

Monday Juniors: Parsons Baptist, Livingston Methodist, Hungarian United, Trinity Lutheran, Gates-Fourth Methodist, Emmanuel Lutheran, Welch Avenue Free Will Baptist and Williams Road Presbyterian.

Girls League (Tuesday): Parsons Baptist, South Methodist, Oakwood Methodist, St. John United, Emmanuel Lutheran, Livingston Methodist, Southwood Church of Christ, Ohio Avenue EUB, St. Paul United, Hope Lutheran, Washington Avenue EUB, and Hungarian United.

Wednesday Juniors: St. Paul United, Thurman Methodist, South Methodist, Ohio Avenue EUB, St. John United, St. Paul Lutheran, Southwood Church of Christ and Hope Lutheran.

Intermediate Boys: South Methodist, Frebis Church of God, Livingston Methodist, Williams Road Presbyterian, Southwood Church of Christ and St. Paul United.

Senior Slo-Pitch: Parsons Baptist, South Methodist, Hope Lutheran, Livingston Methodist, St. Paul Lutheran, Ohio Avenue EUB, Scottwood Community, Emmanuel Lutheran, Williams Road Presbyterian, St. John United, St. Paul United and Frebis Church of God.

Churches desiring further information about the softball leagues are requested to contact the South Side YMCA, 444-2151.

Plans for the South Side Fourth of July celebration will be shaped-up when the Council of South Side Organizations meets tonight, Apr. 18, 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA, 190 Southwood-av.

Mike Milcusnich, president, asked that members make every effort to attend.

GRA-Y SPORTSMANSHIP WINNERS

WHOA, THERE! NOT SO FAST

Someone's Counting Chickens Before They're Hatched

Editor's Note: In the past several years we have encountered many unhappy people who have purchased homes only to find that the real facts of their purchase were unraveled after the deal was closed. Unincorporated areas are finding themselves faced with real school problems as a result of promises made by developers. We asked our reporter to inquire about a new housing project in this county. Names and locations obviously have been changed . . . but not the facts.

By JANE ROBINSON

Anyone shopping for a house in "Boondock Bungalows" subdivision last Thursday could meet "J. O. Doaks."

He was on hand to show model homes and discuss financing with those interested in the subject.

Though describing himself as "an office boy sent out to keep an eye on the furniture," he also revealed that he was one of the two who must pass on credit before a sale can be approved. Not many office boys are given this responsibility.

He pointed out to at least one person the site where "an elementary school will be built this summer." He stated that the local school board had bought 14 acres for the purpose. However, he did not argue the point when reminded that though acreage was set aside for a school when the subdivision was platted for approval by the Regional Planning Commission, no purchase has been made.

Confirming his statement that the building would be started soon was the project superintendent for "Boondock Bungalows."

Asked what would be done if by any chance this school did not materialize by September, the "office boy" explained that "shell houses" would be thrown up to provide classrooms until construction was complete.

Such a pat solution would be welcome news to those in the school district who have been alerted to the possibility of double sessions for at least some of the primary grades.

The only sour note is that the announcement of such "school board plans" is news to the executive head of the district (called here John Brown).

"I have never discussed school plans with any representative of 'Boondock'," he stated definitely, when informed of the new picture of the situation.

"Brown" once again listed the facts of the situation.

Ten, not 14, acres of land were set aside when the development was platted, and can be purchased by the school board at $3,000 an acre.

Looking forward to a big jump in enrollment this fall as about a thousand families are expected to move into the subdivision, the board has on the drawing boards plans for an elementary school at the site. This is only part of future construction the board feels must be undertaken.

Three times a building bond issue has been put on the ballot. Three times it has failed.

In May, approval is being asked for $1.2 million worth of construction bonds. As a 60 per cent majority is required to pass an issue in an odd-year election, there remains a big "if" in any building plans.

The length of time which it takes to advertise for bids and award contracts makes it virtually impossible for construction to be completed by September under any circumstances.

"Brown" stated that at one time the board had discussed the use of "shell homes" for schools with "Podunk Patios," major builder in the subdivision.

However, according to the executive head, the board decided the plan was impractical as it would involve considerable expense for makeshift facilities.

"Doaks" was overheard, stating what monthly tax rates will be on each of the two homes. (One model is more expensive than the other.)

Told of the figures given, "Brown" agreed they were reasonably accurate, "if the bond issue FAILS."

A call was later made to a "Podunk" salesman.

The representative at first said he believed school construction was to begin immediately, but when asked if there was not a bond issue that must first be passed, he said he would check and call back.

This he did, with the advice to call "Brown," as he was the person best qualified to report on the school board plans.

"I would not want to tell you one thing and have him tell you something else," he said.

"Brown" said that the president of "Podunk Patios" has attended several school board meetings at the board's request and is well informed of the school situation.

Creeping Socialism Sneaks Up In Many Ways

Charles W. Claybaugh, publisher of The News and Journal, Brigham City, Utah, and president of the National Editorial Association, concluded his remarks at the recent annual convention of the Ohio Newspaper Association with this modern fable.

Although it is pointed to editors and publishers, we pass it on to our readers because it has wide application and speaks of a symptom of the times more in truth than in fable:

This modern day fable is about the young man who lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus and ate the government subsidized hot lunch. He entered the Army, and upon discharge enrolled in the state university journalism school under the GI bill.

Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse, and bought a farm with an FHA loan. He took a Civil Service job at a nearby Air Force base with the public information staff. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of the Veterans' land program and obtained emergency feed from the government. Later, he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments soon paid off his farm and ranch. His father and mother lived very comfortably on the ranch on their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied cheap electricity and the goverment helped clear his land. The county agent showed him how to terrace the land, and the government built him a fish pond and stocked it with fish.

His children grew up, entered public school, ate hot lunches, rode free school buses, played in public parks under supervision of the city and county recreation departments. He got another FHA loan on his farm and bought a newspaper, complaining because the Small Business Administration couldn't make loans in the mass media field.

As a stalwart and fearless leader of the community, he campaigned editorially for the federal highway program and was instrumental in getting a new post office building, circulated petitions seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his depressed area, got federal Hill-Burton funds to enlarge the county hospital, FAA aid to improve the airport, a grant-in-aid to enlarge the sewer plant, urban renewal funds to clean up the run-down section of town.

He went to Washington with a group from the Chamber of Commerce to ask the government to build a great dam so that the area could get the benefits of subsidized electricity, irrigation and recreation. He petitioned the government to give the abandoned air base to the county.

Then one day he wrote a burning editorial, addressed to his Congressman: "I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes," he wrote. "I believe in rugged individualism. People should stand on their own two feet without handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution and the policies of states' rights."

"Does anyone in the audience happen to know an editor like that?" the speaker asked in conclusion. Needless to say, no one did. The only editor known to these Ohio editors who may have remotely resembled the fabled character never owned a farm, didn't have children or had never asked for a post office for his home town.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Quiet simple truth spoken modestly, is still the greatest single force for genuine leadership in all social progress. The ideal of the "common good" has always been kept alive in the minds and hearts of free men by those real leaders who dare to dream and then persist politely to make those dreams come true.

The ideal of excellency is always a great spiritual tonic, and all individuals who have made that priceless discovery about life and the living of it, achieved healthy soul status in this life and assured comfort and peace of mind about the life to come.

When we hear an evil thing about a neighbor, we must not repeat it. We must believe it untrue unless it is validated. And even if validated, pray for the moral recovery of the one accused.

Of all the deadly sins, the vilest is ingratitude, because the ingrate is both morally blind and spiritually sick. People who constantly take everything they can grab by hook or crook, are never happy individuals.

Snakes in the Garden of Eden are still doing business. They are Hurry and Worry. Hypertension kills more people than all the wars and disease put together.

How About Aid for Us TAXPAYERS?

This Card's To Your Credit

The week of Apr. 21-27 will mark the seventh observance of National Library Week. It is a good time to consider the power of the library card.

The wallet-sized card is unpretentious. It retains its shape, neatness and readability much longer than most other cards because it is much less used.

But it is as powerful a tool as any you will find in a factory.

The library card is an entrance visa, an exit visa, a passport and a magic carpet. It represents the opportunity to escape from the sometimes oppressive realities of life; yet it affords avenues of return to reality.

A trip to the library can provide us with the means of touring the world from our living room easy chair. We can travel to outer space without donning a space suit; increase our knowledge in the arts, sciences, or world affairs; or relax by reading nonsense rhymes to the small-fry.

If you don't already have a library card, we remind you that the service it represents is one of the few not affected by inflation — it's still free.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

So, Who's A Hero?

"Do I have within me the stuff of which heroes are made?"

This is a question that all men, from boyhood on, ask themselves. Most are lucky and never find the answer.

McPeek

The question began to plague me at about 10 when I read the verse about the boy who stood stupidly on the burning deck whence all the smart ones but he had scrammed . . .

Perhaps if I hadn't read that gung-ho piece of literary goop I would have been content to go blissfully through life as a coward in ignorance . . . or maybe even a hero unaware.

As a boy I had little chance to find the answer. Never did I have the opportunity to rescue a fainting old lady from the path of an onrushing streetcar as did juvenile heroes in the Horatio Alger novels. But this, I consoled myself, may largely have been due to the total absence of streetcars in my small hometown.

Nor did a moment of possible glory present itself to me to rescue a swaddled infant from a burning house. Probably this was because the only fire I witnessed as a boy was when the drugstore on the square burned. Any thoughts I may have harbored to rush into the smoking building to see if any baby, swaddled or unswaddled, was in need of such attention vanished at the sight of candy bars scattered into the street with other debris thrown out by the firemen.

The bars quickly were gathered up in handfuls by myself and several other urchins, after which we fled to a cooler site to enjoy our unexpected feast. (Who needs to see the last ember extinguished?)

It was not until the war when I scrubbed my acneyed face and marched off to battle the Axis (actually, in keeping with Greyhound's great wartime slogan, "Leave the marching to the Marines, and ride with us," I took a bus), that I encountered my first real hero's test.

It came on my first visit to a kool-ade parlor where I and several other smartly uniformed warriors on pass had repaired to quench our thirst and brag about our training camp adventures. Vaulting onto stools, we clamored for service—whereupon a Sophie Tucker-type creature, clad in an alpaca T-shirt and GI physical training trunks, rumbled up from behind the bar.

"What'll it be, Patriots?" she rasped cheerfully. But then sighting my warm little eyes peering over the top of the mahogany, she curled her hemplike lips and muttered:

"Who let you in here Junior? Cub Scouts meet down the street in the 'Y'."

My first mortified impulse was to carom a spittoon off both her heads, but noting her log-sized biceps I restrained such manly instincts.

"Look, Sophie," I said snarling, "I don't know why you haven't been fitted with treads and sent off to the tank corps, but spare us your jokes; It's not amusement we want——it's aboozement."

"Funny, funny, Sonny!" she sneered. "But you're going to have to do your growing up somewhere else. If you don't crawl down from that stool and vamoose, I'm going to restage the War of the Bourbons and you'll be the first to get a Burple Heart."

So saying, she advanced menacingly around the end of the bar. Then came the moment of truth. I stood my ground . . . or rather, my bar stool.

Seconds later I found myself scrambling awkwardly across the sidewalk in front of the sawdust oasis. Mortification of mortifications! To be thrown bodily out of a saloon by a wartime female bartender.

I clung to a pole until my trembling subsided, then crawled down the street to the "Y" where a USO matron applied cold compresses to my flushed brow.

Needless to say, from that day on I was of little value to my country and spent the remaining two years of the war touring the more sedentary islands in the backwaters of the Pacific, a creature shorne of any possible heroic fibers.

Which probably explains why I married relatively late. (If one has to be a coward, why be a stupid coward?)

Through bluff and diplomacy, I thought I had concealed my weaknesses from my mate. But the other day, in a moment of forgetfulness, I recalled aloud Emerson's immortal words:

"Each man is a hero and an oracle to somebody, and to that person whatever he says has an enhanced value."

"Is that right, Dear? Do you think of me that way?" I asked my tender wife.

Guffawing widely and rolling on the floor, she exclaimed: "Good grief! You are a scream! Where do you get all that nonsense?"

ALAS! I'm a husband. Color me yellow.

Trade Supports Reds

To the Editor:

The citizens of America, and of the free world generally, must be mindful of the arrogant boast of one of Communism's chief architects. That boast concerned itself with the observation that the way to financing the eventual domination (by Russia) of the world lay in the area of world trade.

The workers in Communist-held countries labor to exhaustion for ridiculously low wages, which enables the Red masters to tighten their hold upon the workers and to expand their deceitful and fallacious theories into "movements" and "coups" in non-totalitarian countries.

The Communist system must have money in order to accomplish its duality of sinister purpose for the propaganda machine to be used against the minds of men, and for the machinery of violence and death.

Since the Soviet Russian propaganda is increasingly costly and demands new revenues, foreign trade became the object of attention.

The attention given foreign trade culminates in the appearance, upon local shelves, of slave-made merchandise. Retail merchants thus aid the conspiracy to enslave themselves and all free men. Through corruption and blackmail in the political field, through naivete in the citizen purchasing Soviet goods . . . to economic and social ruin of this nation, runs the continuity of Communist purpose.

A Word From Woody

The help your newspaper gave to the recent Heart Fund campaign is deeply appreciated by the Heart Association.

By telling your readers the Heart Fund story, you helped make them aware of the triumphs over heart disease which Heart Fund dollars have achieved to date through research and of the many areas yet to be conquered.

An informed public is essential to the continuance of the fight. Our sincerest thanks for your services in publishing this information.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Do Away With Sawdust Sandwiches!

If we can ever cure the asininities of the "look-say" method of teaching reading, which has condemned many hundreds of thousands of young Americans to word-guessing, it will be time to start in on the content of grade-school textbooks.

These beautifully printed and illustrated books include texts so remarkable for their dullness that it is little wonder young America can hardly wait to get back to the TV. Most of them have been steam cleaned of every vestige of excitement, of inspiration and romance.

Jones

There is no reference to God or religion. This is regarded as controversial. There is no story of war. If we don't think about it, maybe it will go away. There is nothing that would give rise to patriotism. How old-fashioned!

I have before me a fifth-grade reader, "Days and Deeds" published last year by Scott, Foresman and Company and standard in many American school systems.

With a puerile vocabulary, it discusses such things as Uncle Lem's new outboard motor, John's lawn-mowing business, and how Wally, the bloodhound, helped Jerry, the police dog, find his missing bone.

I have also before me a reprint of McGuffey's Fifth Eclectic Reader, published in 1879. Let's skip through the list of contents: "The Relief of Lucknow," London "Times"; "Battle of Blenheim" by Southey; "Sands of Dee" by Charles Kingsley; "An Old-Fashioned Girl" by Louisa May Alcott; an account of a riot in the Massachusetts State Prison; supposed speech of John Adams by Daniel Webster; excerpts from "The Virginian" by Thackeray and from Hamlet; "Dissertation on Roast Pig" by Charles Lamb; "A Frigate Chase in the English Channel" by James Fenimore Cooper; "The Boston Massacre" by William Wirt; "Religion, the Only Basis of Society" by William Channing.

Blood and thunder? Plenty of it. Heroism? Of course. Moral homilies? In profusion. Religious preachments? Unashamed. Patriotism? With pride. And, in addition, tough words and involved sentences that would flabbergast the fifth-grader who has been brought up on the thin consomme of today's "Days and Deeds" series.

On June 20, 1961, Dr. Max Rafferty, school superintendent of La Canada, Calif., made a speech that caused a sensation and resulted in his election last fall as superintendent of public instruction over the dead bodies of the progressive educators. He asked: "What happened to patriotism?" and I quote:

"We have been so busy educating for 'life adjustment' that we forgot to educate for survival. Words that America had treasured as a rich legacy, that had sounded like trumpet calls above the clash of arms and the fury of debate, we allowed to fade from the classrooms.

" 'Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable.'

" 'We have met the enemy and they are ours.'

" 'Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute'."

Search for these towering phrases in vain today in too many of our schools. The golden words are gone. Patriotism feeds on hero worship and we decided to abolish heroes.

The quest for the Golden Fleece has been crowded out by the visit of Tom and Susan to the zoo. The deeds of the heroes before Troy are now passe, and the peregrinations of the local milkman as he wends his way among the stodgy streets of Blah City have taken over. Bobby and Betty pursue this insipid goal of a ride in the district garbage truck while the deathless ride of Paul Revere goes unsung.

For Roland at Roncesvalles we have substituted Muk-Muk the Eskimo boy. It is, I think, significant that education during the past three decades has deliberately debunked the hero to make room for the jerk!

No wonder these heroless American kids often broke down before the Red brainwashers in the Korean prison camps. They had no points of reference. They had no understanding of the traditions of liberty. In many cases, the Communists were delighted that there was so little to erase. It was a cinch to unteach those who had never been taught.

In commenting on a modern sixth reader, "Bright Peaks," put out by Houghton Mifflin, Dr. Russell Kirk says: "With the exception of a poem by Sara Teasdale, another short poem by Robert Frost, and an autobiographical piece by John Muir, every selection is by a fourth or fifth-grade writer."

Why? Could it be that the fifth and sixth graders can't read the classics as they did in the days of McGuffey? Could it be that the bankruptcy of the "look-say" method and the stubborn refusal of many school administrations to admit the error have required them to pretend that there is special virtue in extending kindergarten-style reading to the upper grades?

It's time America got a new set of textbooks. It's time we quit boring bright students to death with the banalities of John and Jane visiting the henhouse. It's time we put romance and courage and excitement and some frank moral indoctrination before our children in their most impressionable years.

We don't have to go back to McGuffey.

There's plenty of good writing. But let's give our children some literary taste, some ethical calories and patriotic vitamins.

To hell with these sawdust sandwiches!

Guest Pulpit . . .

Evils Of Liquor A Blot On History

One of our major problems in America is drunkenness.

Day after day, year after year, liquor threatens to eat away the luster of our gleaming past, and corrode the brightness of our future. The creeping paralysis of liquor is sapping our morals, ruining our homes, and luring people away from the church. Many Christians have been too smug about this great evil. Negatively they have folded their hands and said: "Drunkenness does not bother me," while at the same time they do nothing to "bother drunkenness," and to destroy its devastating power.

Rev. Anthony

Strong drink caused Noah to commit the first sin following the flood. It brought a moral blackout to the family of Lot. It played a tragic part in David's sins of adultery and murder. It was employed by Absalom when he murdered Amnon. It debauched and killed Nabal, a descendant of grand old Caleb. Ahasuerus dethroned good Queen Vashti because she refused to promenade her beauty before his drunken party. Mighty Babylon fell while Belshazzar with a thousand of his lords drank wine and praised the gods of gold and silver. John the Baptist got his head cut off at a drunken birthday party.

Evangeline Booth, who, with her Salvation Army, went around the world gathering up the human wreckage from the streets and gutters, never spoke truer words than when she declared: "Drink has drained more blood, hung more crepe, sold more homes, plunged more people into bankruptcy, armed more villains, slain more children, snapped more wedding rings, defiled more innocence, blinded more eyes, twisted more limbs, dethroned more reason, wrecked more manhood, dishonored more womanhood, broken more hearts, blasted more lives, driven more to suicide, and dug more graves than any other poisonous scourge that ever swept its death-dealing waves across the world."

The Bible very emphatically declares, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." I stand with the Bible on the question of drunkenness. Any sin which can keep a man from inheriting the kingdom of God, I must denounce; and the Bible says: "No drunkard . . . shall inherit the kingdom of God."

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY — The files of Ada County, Idaho, revealed that 96 per cent of juvenile delinquent cases in that county, coming before the court, involved liquor. But what can we expect when many modern parents have liquor in the family bar?

IMMORALITY AND DIVORCE — Drunkenness not only dulls the mind and depresses the spirit; it inflames the baser passions and brings out the animal in man. One expert authority estimates that more than 50 per cent of the divorces in America are the result of, or are related to drunkenness.

DRINK IS A KILLER — At least 10,000 people die every year, and more than 250,000 are wounded in accidents on our streets and highways involving people who are drunk or nearly drunk.

We could go on compiling facts depicting the evils of drunkenness, but that would be useless. Drunkenness is not merely a disease — it is a vicious, ugly, devastating sin.

If you are bound down by this evil habit, come to Christ today, confessing and forsaking your sins, and by faith accept Him as, your personal Saviour and He will change the desire of your heart and fill it with something that satisfies. He will give you happiness without a headache, real joy without a hangover, and a thrill without a highball.

'Confederate' Ca$h Jackpot $hoot $ Pa$t $ 100 Mark

The South will rise again!

And whoever wins that big Hartley Newspaper "Confederate" Jackpot can really rise up and shout 'cause it now totals $113.

Yes sir, if you find that little old "5 Confederate" insignia in your copy of any of the Hartley Newspapers this week you will receive all 113 of those "Confederate" Dollars . . . now as good as gold and spendable for real, honest to goodness merchandise with any advertiser in one of the seven Hartley Newspapers. Of course, if you don't happen to be a paid subscriber to one of these papers, you will receive only $5.

This little, old "Confederate" Jackpot is climbing each week and the best way to be sure you are in the money is to see that your subscription is paid either through your carrier or by mail. Better check up on it right now.

The jackpot grew by another $22 this past week when only three persons were able to find the "1" insignia.

Three actual winners, who received one "Confederate" dollar for sending in the proper insignia to Hartley Newspapers, were J. Curtis, 6962 Claymer-dr; W. Hiser, 28 W. Welch-av, and Gloria Baker, 9000 Alkire-rd, Grove City.

Five almost winners sent in what they thought were proper "Confederate" insignia which turned out to be part of an advertisement and not an actual insignia good for Hartley "Confederate" cash.

Don't forget, the insignias are just like those printed in this column, but always in a color other than black. They are just like those printed in this column but always in a color other than black. They are not part of an ad but printed in the white space around an ad.

To win the jackpot the reader must find the "Confederate" "5" insignia in his newspaper and be a paid subscriber. All "1" insignia are good for one 'Confederate" dollar if sent in to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, before the deadline at noon on Monday following publication of the paper containing the insignia.

The holder of the "5" insignia must bring the paper containing the insignia in person to the Hartley Newspapers Office to be eligible for the jackpot or to win the five "Confederate" dollars.

Employes of Hartley Newspapers, including carriers, and their families are not eligible to participate in this contest.

Twenty-one insignia will be hidden in 21 different copies of this week's edition, and one of these insignia is worth 113 "Confederate" dollars to a lucky reader. Start checking the advertisements right now for the winning "Confederate" insignia.

Don't delay any longer . . . by spending a few minutes checking the advertisements in this paper you could be $113 richer.

Attention To Youth

This past week we received a nice letter from a "Disappointed Mother" in which she takes us to task for not reporting the Science Fair in detail.

We regret this fact but at the same time feel we are not entitled to be criticized for lack of recognition to youth. Any issue of our papers will show that we regularly devote a great portion of our space to our young people, and shall continue to do so.

We did not print the letter because it was not signed. We welcome letters but also appreciate knowing who writes them.

The Gay Philosopher says: "The greatest disappointment a guy can have is to marry a gal with the hour glass figure only to find out that it was later than he thought."

Definition — Mrs. Molly Pugh at Roosevelt Junior High School recently asked a boy in one of her health science classes to give a definition of a mammal. The youngster pondered the question for a minute and then answered: "An animal born already hatched."

Another Fine Message

Some time ago we carried a short item relative to the new book by Charles L. Allen, "The Twenty-Third Psalm." Numerous of our friends have received much strength and encouragement from the words of this wonderful book.

Now comes another fine message from Charles Allen entitled, "The Lord's Prayer." "Praying is not saying words. Words merely form the frame on which the temple of thought is built. The power of the Lord's Prayer is not in the words but rather in the pattern of thinking in which our minds are formed," says Dr. Allen.

South Side Seminars Scheduled

Just about the time of year when students start turning their minds toward things less academic, each of the 135 Columbus Public Schools will participate in a series of seminars during May.

According to school officials, the project has a dual objective. It is designed to:

(1) Broaden the understanding of the programs of the Columbus Public Schools, and

(2) Study the future financial needs of these schools.

In the South Side, seminars will be held at Barrett Junior High May 1, 8 and 15 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

A committee of 10 educators met Apr. 4 to plan the series. This committee included Rev. L. W. Bernhard, Buckley Carlin, R. P. Comer, Fred G. Erfurt, Roland Esslwein, N. V. Goodman (chairman), John R. Holden, John R. Phillips, Judge Robert Schwarzwalder and Clifford A. Tyree.

Also included were the school's PTA officers, Mrs. Elmer Morte, Mrs. Earl Snyder, Mrs. Orland Sells, Mrs. Robert Rickard and Barrett Principal Kenneth Olbert.

The Neighborhood Seminar invitation list includes:

Harry Anthony, Ralph Bonner, Helen Bowers, George D. Brown, John Clifford, Tom Crawshaw, Dr. Sam Daykin, Margaret DiPiero, Charles Dunfee, Lewis Eakin, Howard Eberts, William Fornof, Mrs. Frances Jiorden.

HELP! Clean-Up Campaign Needs Cooperation From South Siders

AT LEAST ONE FAMILY on the South Side realized that it is going to take their personal efforts to help clean-up the neighborhood. After spending cold and rainy days inside painting-up and cleaning-up, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rassenfoss, 911 Mohawk-st, tackled the yard Sunday. "We certainly do have a dandelion problem," Mrs. Rassenfoss groaned, diligently digging away while her husband exercises with the man-powered mower.

Mileusnich Calls For Final Push

The business men of the South Side know there's a clean-up campaign going on. They are proving it by getting out their accumulated junk and debris for disposal.

The city knows there's a clean-up campaign going on. It is proving it by coming "a running" whenever they receive a call to cart away things too big to be carried by the regular trucks.

But it looks like a lot of individuals somehow have missed the boat.

The opportunity to clean up their homes and yards and have it taken away scott-free comes but once a year, and the deal is over this Saturday.

"Yes," Mike Mileusnich, president of the CSS admits, "a lot of eyesores have disappeared, but there are too many left, and time is running out.

"Take care of your own home and the neighborhood will take care of itself," he pleaded in the middle of the week.

He also stressed that people who ignore this opportunity to rid themselves of unsightly and unsanitary messes may risk the unwanted attention of the City Board of Health.

All the civic organizations have been behind this drive, Mileusnich stresses, and there is still a chance to make it a big success.

But that last effort needed to make it really succeed must come from the individual, he said, and that means "You, you and you!"

AIRMAN KILLED

Airman 3 C. Luke C. Conley, 18, died Monday when the convertible he and three other airmen stationed at Lockbourne AFB were riding in crashed into a tractor-trailer on Rt. 40 near Kirkersville. Edwin Cole suffered a fractured thigh and other injuries while Edwin Reustle, 17, driver of the car, and Ronald Hoblitz received emergency treatment and were transferred to Lockbourne AFB hospital. The men were returning from weekend leave.

'TRICKS' END TRAGICALLY

Ronald Conkey, an 18-year-old boy of 2389 Groveport-pk remains in critical condition in Mt. Carmel after he attempted to ride on the top of a car driven by 14-year-old Alberta Stewart of 878 Lawndale-av. The accident occurred on Rt. 104, just south of the Frank-rd interchange, when he crawled through a rear window while the car was in motion. Miss Stewart stated that Conkey had "been teaching her to drive."

ART TEACHER DIES

Robert H. Cunningham, 34, Columbus College of Art and Design instructor, died last week and a student driving his car was injured returning to Columbus after Easter vacation from Louisiana. The student, James P. McDonald, of 32 Hamilton-pk, admitted he fell asleep while driving the teacher's sports car. Cunningham lived with his grandfather, Thomas Reed, 1268 Parsons-av.

Later cited for driving while intoxicated, George S. Ryder struck Robert E. Cleveland, 834 Wilson-av, while he was standing on the Spring-Sandusky Interchange last Saturday. Cleveland, who was talking with police after having been stopped for a traffic violation, was reported in fair condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital. Both men were driving trucks.

FIRE CAR STRUCK

Battalion fire chief Albert Smith of 289 Stewart-av and his driver, Raymond Hysell of 1712 E. Kossuth-st were taken to Grant Hospital after the chief's car was struck from the rear at E. Engler and Sixth-st Saturday. The driver of the car was charged with failing to keep a safe distance ahead.

NURSES CLARIFYING

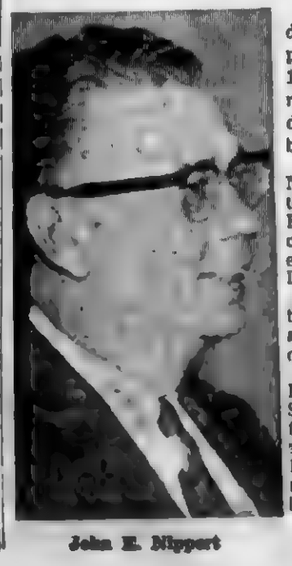
Confusion Clouding Senate Bill Waters

By JOHN A. [illegible], JR.

It doesn't take a nurse to tell that the thermometer is up to fever proportions around the state over substitute Senate Bill 66, which is causing more headaches for the ladies of mercy than a flu epidemic.

The bill is designed to withdraw liability from hospitals, leaving the registered nurse answerable directly to the patient for her acts or omissions.

Under the leadership of Dorothy A. Cornelius, R.N., executive director of Ohio State Nursing Association, the some 11,000 OSNA members have glutted the state with literature in opposition to such action.



Biggest fight now is beating down of flash fires springing up throughout Ohio—with seemingly no geographic or political pattern — as a result of the nurses' opposition. According to Miss Cornelius, most of the effort by nurses is dispelling "false rumors" concerning the bill and what it actually means.

It may take an extra ounce of dispelling in the greater Columbus area where two of the senators — Kline Roberts (R) and Robert Shaw (R) — indicated to Hartley Newspapers Tuesday that the bill has "some merit."

The bill, still in the rules

NIPPERT IN RACE FOR SCHOOL POST

John E. Nippert

John E. Nippert, vice-president and treasurer of the Nippert Electric Products Co., 1759 W. Mound-st, today announced his first-time candidacy as member of the Columbus Board of Education.

His name will appear on the November ballot along with the names of Hilltopper Paul R. Langdon (president, incumbent) and two North Siders, Don Calhoun, Jr. (I) and Dr. William Logan.

Two veteran members of the board, Homer Trantham and Daniel W. DeHayes, have chosen not to run.

Nippert, 50, lives at 1615 Berkeley-rd. Born in the South Side, he was graduated from South High School and attended Ohio State and Franklin Universities. He moved to the Hilltop where he lived until 1951.

Two years ago he was

Tech Staff Misses Call In 'Bells Are Ringing'

Reviewer's stage, screen Corner

By BOB PERKOWSKI

Technical difficulties almost stole the show when the Independent Players presented "Bells Are Ringing" last Friday and Saturday at Veteran's Memorial.

From the beginning there was Trouble (with a capital "T") that even a "music man" wouldn't have to concoct. The door to Susanswerphone (the answering service from which Ella Peterson becomes involved in the lives of her clients) wouldn't open. From then on the cast not only fought the door but a host of other difficulties as well.

Through it all the cast performed ably, even in the powerful darkness (poor lighting) that often descended. The leads, Joanne Howard, Carol Kruckeberg, Hal Summers and Stu Sinclair, came out on top over the stagehands for attention.

The singing ensemble did especially well in all its songs, which, happily, were many in number. The ensemble size had the advantage of concealing whatever distractions occurred behind them.

The orchestra, under the direction of C. Robert Myers (Friday evening), gave its all to the memorable Jule Styne melodies.

Though slow in the beginning scenes, the musical picked up later in the first act and continued with vigor, doing justice to book and lyrics by Betty Comden and Adolph Green.

All in all, there was much to be enjoyed. What distracted was a poor performance by the technical staff—the part of the show which performers are often inclined to slight.

This reviewer hopes the next show by the Independent Players sees the situation improved. Even though the technical staff may get no notices for their labors, it would be better than the amateurish attention-getting devices in "Bells Are Ringing."

Spring Treat—Fresh Fish From Lake Erie

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Meats, Poultry, Fish—Chuck roasts, beef steaks, ground beef, pork "specials," fresh smelts, fryers, eggs

Vegetables—New red potatoes, salad greens, new cabbage, carrots, celery

Fruits—Bananas, apples, pineapple

Other—Dairy products, canned: peaches, pineapple, tomato products.

A SPRING TREAT—FRESH FISH FROM LAKE ERIE

If you're hungry for a meal of fresh fish—meaning as they come from the water — the season is here. Lake Erie fishing has opened up at last. The lake waters are very cold which means the fish have an excellent flavor.

Dealers say the pan fish in best supply this week are perch, white bass and smelts. You can also find "jumbo" pickerel for baking (they came early this year from Lake Erie) and large pickerel from Canadian waters. Small pickerel are just beginning to come.

A Real treat for any fish lover is a big platter of fresh smelts. They're at their very best now, fresh and plump before they start to spawn in another couple of weeks. Remember the tedious task of cleaning smelts? This is no longer true—you can get them dressed for the fry pan . . . or, whole if you prefer to clean your own. Prices are quite reasonable.

You're probably wondering where to find fresh fish. True, fresh fish are never abundant in our markets, but the selection is better now than usual. At fish specialty markets, such as those found at Central Market, you can get fish only 12 hours out of the water. Some supermarkets are offering a fairly good selection, and if you happen to be in the Sandusky area you can get them right off the boat. The fish are packed in ice as soon as they leave the water and are shipped in refrigerated trucks to hold their fresh quality.

When buying fresh fish, remember the fishin' fact we know best . . . the fresher the fish, the better the flavor. So, any method to get—and keep—that just-out-of-the-water flavor is the trick.

Top quality fresh whole fish have bright, clear bulging eyes that "look like they're looking at you"; firm, moist, elastic flesh—springing back when pressed; and an odor that is fresh . . . not tainted or stale. Fish that have a strong "fishy odor" are not fresh.

An easy tip for scaling whole fish, we learned from Tom Stockdale, Extension Specialist, Wildlife Conservation: Use a teaspoon for scaling small fish and a tablespoon for large ones. It works. You won't have scales all over the place, and on you.

Tom also points out that fresh fish are highly perishable. So, keep them iced or place in a plastic bag with some ice and keep in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Use within the day.

ROSARY'S DISTANCE VETS EYE FINISH LINE

READY FOR A quick trip down the track are these six returning Rosary Crusader distance veterans. Coach Bud Trapp will be pinning a large share of his hopes for a good season this spring on, left to right, hurdler-half-miler Jim Groce, mile relay-sprinter Ken Pearrell, discus-sprinter-quarter-miler Bill Blodgett, mile-relay quarter-miler Bryce Bradford, half-miler Joe Haley and miler Joe Smithberger.

CRUSADER SHOT PUT FORM

TWO REASONS for high hopes in the track outlook at Rosary this spring are these two returning lettermen in the field events. Discus thrower Don Spurlock (left) watches as Crusader shot put specialist Pat Kennedy gets set to let one fly. Spurlock and Kennedy also participate in running events—the former a sprint man, the latter clearing the hurdles.

Weather Never Spoils Hungry Fish Appetite

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Everyone wishes for that ideal day when water conditions are perfect, the temperature is right and the fish are hitting. But conditions are seldom perfect and we must make do with what we have—rain showers, muddy water, finicky fish.

All successful anglers have one rule in common, go fishing when you can! Do not wait until the moon or the wind is right.

THE SECRET, of course, is to be adaptable and to change your fishing methods to fit the day. One of the most common aggravations from now on will be muddy or roily water after nearly every rainy period. When the water gets so bad that you can "plant corn in it," fishing is bound to be poor and you might as well put in your window screens or mow the grass.

There are many days when the water is roiled, far from perfect, but will yield fish to the knowledgeable angler. Under these conditions aquatic creatures switch from visual control to "instruments" and carry on life pretty much as usual. By understanding this, your creel will be heavier.

The instruments in question are simply organs of smell and hearing, senses that are just as important as sight to a fish's well-being. With visibility reduced, they'll carry the load.

..BAIT IS the tried and proven prescription for curing the disabilities of mud blindness. Most any baits that give off a tantilizing aroma will penetrate the visual barrier and entice hungry fish within range.

This is especially true with the bottom feeders, which often go on a feeding spree after the water has been stirred by runoff. These would include catfish, bullheads, carp and suckers.

The other sense-hearing can be just as useful to the fisherman who doesn't give up because of silt-laden streams. He knows that much of the success of night fishing depends on the fish's response to sounds. And the proof lies in the fact that the best lure on a moonless night is often a black one.

..SO IF YOU want to try for bass or crappies, break out the noisiest underwater plug in your tackle box. Shapes and patterns are of secondary importance, but the lure should be of the rapidly vibrating type or have spinners on it. A spinner with a good-working blade is also a good choice. Another tip is to use white or yellow lures, or chrome spinners.

Fishing muddy water is far from ideal, but it is not impossible. Some of my most memorable catches were not trophies, but were fish taken under difficult conditions. On a day when everyone is catching fish, there is not so much of which to be proud. But when everyone else is skunked, a couple of fish loom mighty large.

The main thing to remember is that fish don't go "home" when things are not just right. Why should you?

South High Boosters Call Meeting Monday

The South High School Boosters Club has called a meeting for Monday at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Highlight of the meeting will be the presentation of a $900 check to the Bulldog athletic department by the Booster Club.

Other activities will include the installation of the new officers and the initiation of a new Booster Club drive.

Hornung, Karras Guilty But Penalty Questioned

You probably could have traded one Johnny Unitas for 174 Paul Hornungs in the bubble gum card mart last week.

That would probably be the going rate of exchange after Mr. Pete Rozelle swallowed hard, puffed through several packs of cigarettes and then threw the book at two of pro football's super stars.

THERE ARE plenty of people who think Rozelle was justified in going the limit with his penalty to curtail player lottery on pro games.

The culprits were guilty as charged, and since their contracts stipulate "no betting" they deserve just punishment.

However, no evidence was produced which indicated that bets by Hornung and Alex Karras influenced the outcome of any game.

Furthermore, there was no indication that there was any telltale point spread involved which might also jump the charge from a misdemeanor to a felony.

FOR THESE reasons, we question the justice of Rozelle's punishment. An indefinite suspension with no opportunity for redress for one year is a pretty stiff penalty.

Such a heavy sentence smacks of the old military axiom . . . "make somebody an example and hit 'em hard." Rozelle isn't fielding a circuit of little leaguers who have to be in bed before dark.

We rather doubt if he believes that he has or will be able to clean house with the Hornung-Karras case. We might even go so far as to suggest that the NFL might have a hard time filling up their playing rosters if every player who ever bet on a game or looked twice at an "undesirable" were booted into the doghouse.

IT JUST ISN'T likely that every sports participant leaves the great American pastime in his hip pocket with a change of clothes.

If we had a nickel for every jockey who ever bet on a horse race, we could retire tomorrow. (This doesn't imply that the race is fixed).

You may argue that Rozelle's penalty put some teeth into this country's effort to keep the gamblers at the tracks. Well and good, but as of this sitting, the whole scandal has sounds of scapegoat.

IF THE NFL investigators continue their snooping and collect all the offenders, we'll be most happy to eat these words. But if the whole orobe slips back into obscurity without ALL the guilty parties getting their just deserts, we're holding our stand till the Mets win the NL flag.

BITS OF WIT(T)—A good chunk of fan interest at last week's Jet opener was centered around Indianapolis pitcher Herb Score as he worked out in the Indian bullpen during the late innings.

In a pre-game uniform number identification, Score got one of the biggest plaudits we've heard for a non-Columbus player since Mo Mazzali made his return to the stadium in a foreign uniform a few years back.

It would be pretty hard to find a baseball fan anywhere who isn't pulling for this victim of one of baseball's greatest tragedies—a fellow whom the Boston Red Sox wanted one million dollars' worth just nine short seasons ago.

Beulah Racing Opens Saturday

Everything is set for the opening of the spring racing season at Beulah Park Saturday and all indications point to spirited competition during the 25-day stand which ends on May 25.

President Robert Y. Dienst is hopeful that the fine array of talent assembled for the meet, will bring business to a level of a couple of seasons ago.

WITH SOME 750 horses on the scene and possibly a fifth of them "newcomers" to the local area, it is expected that the fans will have a wide choice of new names in the racing lineups as well as new faces among the jockeys and trainers who will be plying their trades.

One of the strongest jockey colonies in recent seasons is ready for action, headed by Paul Ward and Jimmy Dobson, who have been campaigning at Beulah for many years.

Post time for the racing will be 2:15 each day and every effort will be made to complete the programs well before 6 p.m. There will be a daily double on the first and second races and sales of double tickets will close 10 minutes prior to first post.

Entries Taken For Hospital Golf Tourney

Team entries from throughout Ohio are being received for the Second Annual Hospital Day Golf Tournament at the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital.

The tourney is being sponsored by the Chillicothe Swing Club of United Voluntary Services, a gofers organization whose members work as volunteers in veterans and military hospitals.

THE INVITATIONAL event gets underway at 8 a.m. Sunday, May 5, and consists of three flights.

One is for ladies while a "championship" and a "first" flight are planned for men. They will vie with patient teams for the club's Josef E. Clark Memorial Trophies.

PHYSICAL FITNESS is stressed as part of the treatment program at Chillicothe VA Hospital, one of the three largest neuropsychiatric hospitals operated by the Veterans Administration.

The hospital has a large stadium, an exercise building housing a gym and an Olympic-size pool, nine-hole golf course, bowling alleys, tennis courts, horseshoe courts, badminton courts, and table tennis.

These are among the hospital facilities the public is invited to see during the hospital's "open house" on Hospital Day.

Parks' Workshop Reveals Statewide Camping 'Boom'

The number 10 seems to be a significant figure when it comes to Ohio campers, according to V. W. Flickinger, chief of the Division of Parks.

Ten types of campers have increased 10 times over in the past 10 years. This information came out in a camping workshop held by the division to discuss design and construction techniques that will aid in the efficient operation and maintenance of campgrounds, some of which become small cities during the summer season.

IT WAS SHOWN that camping has mushroomed in the state since 1953. In fiscal year 1953-'54 there were 63,972 camper-days logged in Ohio. By 1961-'62—the total was 700,431.

"Splitting campers into 10 types may be cutting things a little fine," commented Flickinger. "But they are easily recognized by park managers, and each type seems to want slightly different facilities and puts different demands on camping areas. They must be identified in order to talk intelligently about campground design and construction."

According to Flickinger campers are divided into: sleeping bag (back-packers and hikers), tent, tent-trailer, converted school bus, boat (those that come ashore), station wagon, turtle back (units carried on pick-up trucks), self-propelled (units manufactured by auto companies) and transient (as differentiated from vacation campers).

Accidents Rise

Traffic accidents are on the rise on the South Side, reports Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer. Particularly weak sections include Main-st from 18th to Wilson, Broad-st, from Taylor to Nelson, Parsons from Sycamore to Siebert, and High-st from Thurman to Welch.

The chief cause of the accidents stemmed from excessive speed, failure to observe stop signs, drunken driving and reckless driving.

Scholer has called for an enforcement crackdown to reduce the accidents and to maintain the proper traffic flow.

ON AREA TRACKS...

Rebs Crush Devils; Ram Thins Beaten

Track records shuddered and fell during the week's course of cinder activity around the area.

South rewrote six new school records and tied a seventh as the Bulldogs rolled up a hefty 101-16 victory over Marion-Franklin.

THE RED DEVILS took honors in the high jump event but that was the last first they were able to pick up as South rolled on to victory in the remaining 13 events.

The Rebels' Pate-Thompson combo picked up four wins in the high and low hurdles, 220 and 440 events.

RUNNERUP St. Marys yielded the top spot to DeSales in a quadrangular meet with the Stallions, Ohio Deaf and Mt. Vernon St. Vincents.

DeSales' Kirk Sharrock paced the DeSales win with 20 points as the Stallions picked up 74½ points as compared with the Rams' 61 markers.

The Ramblers' winning efforts came in both the 880 (Tim Sauer, Roger Whaley, Mike Gray and Frank Perdue) and mile relays (Jim Yates, Gray, Whaley and Bernie Willis).

Rebs Bop Brookhaven, Lose To Central Nine

By ART KIENZLE

Spirit has become very intense at South High this week although the baseball team played .500 ball.

Thursday afternoon the Rebs lost at Central, 7-6, coming back Monday with a one-hit 9-0 whitewash of Brookhaven at South.

THE PIRATE - BULLDOG battle saw Central's clutch-hitting Dave Roberts blast a two-run homer in the first to erase a 3-0 South lead and tie the score.

The Riverside nine grabbed two more runs in the third (one on Roberts' second homer) while South had to wait until the fifth before bringing home a run.

In the seventh frame, Bill Howard put South back in the game with a two-run homer to make it, 6-5 Rebels. However, in the bottom of the inning, Pirate Pete Eyer's double sent home a run and the game went into extra innings.

THE BOOF fell in the eighth as Central picked up a run to win the thriller.

Reb Joe Middendorf had a big bat with a three-for-three day.

Monday, South's Terry Emrich and Jerry Robinson threw a one-hitter while their teammates banged out 13 hits and scored nine runs.

Andy Poczik had a perfect day at the plate with four bingles.

Crum Covers Pan-Am Games For WLW-C

WLW-C sportscaster Jimmy Crum departed by plane last evening for San Paulo, Brazil and the Pan American Games to provide TV-4 viewers with filmed reports on the progress of five local performers, competing in the '63 games.

Crum will shoot over 3500 feet of film, showing the efforts of East High School high jumper Estelle Baskerville, OSU basketball All-American Gary Bradds, U.S. cycling team member Gus Husse and Buckeye diving stars Lou Vitucci and Juan Botella.

Three 30-minute filmed reports, highlighting these five local stars, can be viewed on Channel Four on three consecutive Monday evenings (May 13, 20 and 27) at 9:30 p.m.

SPORTS DEADLINE

A new deadline will require all written information on area sports to be submitted no later than 5 p.m. Monday. Late sports can be reported by telephone no later than 10 a.m. Tuesday by calling BR. 4-1156, ext. 20.

Southwood, Heyl Nines Set Pace In Gra-Y Loop

The South Side YMCA Gra-Y League went into its second week with Southwood coming from behind to down Beck in a thriller, 7-6. In the other diamond action Reeb showed a lot of batting power, beating Lincoln Park, 28-3. On Thursday night the Heyl Globetrotters beat Stewart, 10-3, while the Heyl Spartans set back Deshler, 12-4.

SOUTHWOOD SPOTTED Beck six runs and then came back strong in the late innings with the help of Landefeld and Vick to pull out a victory. Stanley Harding had two hits for Beck.

Lawson and White hit home runs for Reeb in its victoy over Lincoln Park. Thomas, Hayes and Walker scored Lincoln's runs.

Shadwell hit a home run for the Globetrotters as they downed Stewart. Clements collected two hits for the losers.

Foraker and Ruzicha each banged out three hits for the Spartans. Gary Sarchet, Wayne Heason and Guther Waretzi each had two hits for Deshler.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE THIRD GRADE

THIRD GRADERS at Scioto Trail School have come up with one of the most unique projects seen in the South Side in recent years. They studied about homes (how they're built, different types, etc) and then, in miniature, built them. Here nine-year-old Suzanne Bishop shows teacher Mrs. Alma Lewis a church she constructed using stones for the roof. Donald Ryan, 8, stands by with his Philippine-style thatched-roof home. The project included everything from a dog house to the nation's capitol.

Mystery Drama At South High

"The Death and Life of Larry Benson" will be presented Apr. 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the South High School auditorium by the dramatics department.

The play is the story of Larry Benson's return from the Korean War where he was reported missing in action. When a stranger arrives in place of Larry, the solution to his identity makes a dramatic story.

Tickets are on sale for 75 cents by the members of the dramatics classes and can also be purchased at the door the night of the play.

Members of the cast are Sharon Cozad as Jessie, Donna Johnson as Susan, Kay Miller as Mary Ellen, Barb Druggan as Freda, Deanne Cunningham as Grace, Carol Fisher as Mrs. Potter, Clyde Evans as Walter Potter, Ronnie Cooper as Sam Benson, Cheryl Archer as Mrs. Fitch, Carole Schulz as Nettie, Marshal Martin as Melvin, Chuck Wheeler as the boy, and David George as Bud. Sue Pultz is the student director.

Barrett Delegates Will Attend PTA Fairground Meet

Ten delegates from Barrett Junior High School will attend the annual meeting of the Columbus Council of PTA Wednesday, May 1.

The members will register at the Ycuth Building at the fairgrounds at 11 a.m. A luncheon at 11:30 will be followed by a business meeting.

The Barrett group will include Principal Ken Olbert, the retiring president, Mrs. Elmer Marte, the president-elect, and Mrs. Glenn Morris. Others are Mrs. Evelyn Gill, Mrs. Jack Kirby, Mrs. Sue Coon, Mrs. Norton Cox, Mrs. James Pappas, Mrs. Charles Dayton and Mrs. Robert Alling.

USING POWER FROM JETS

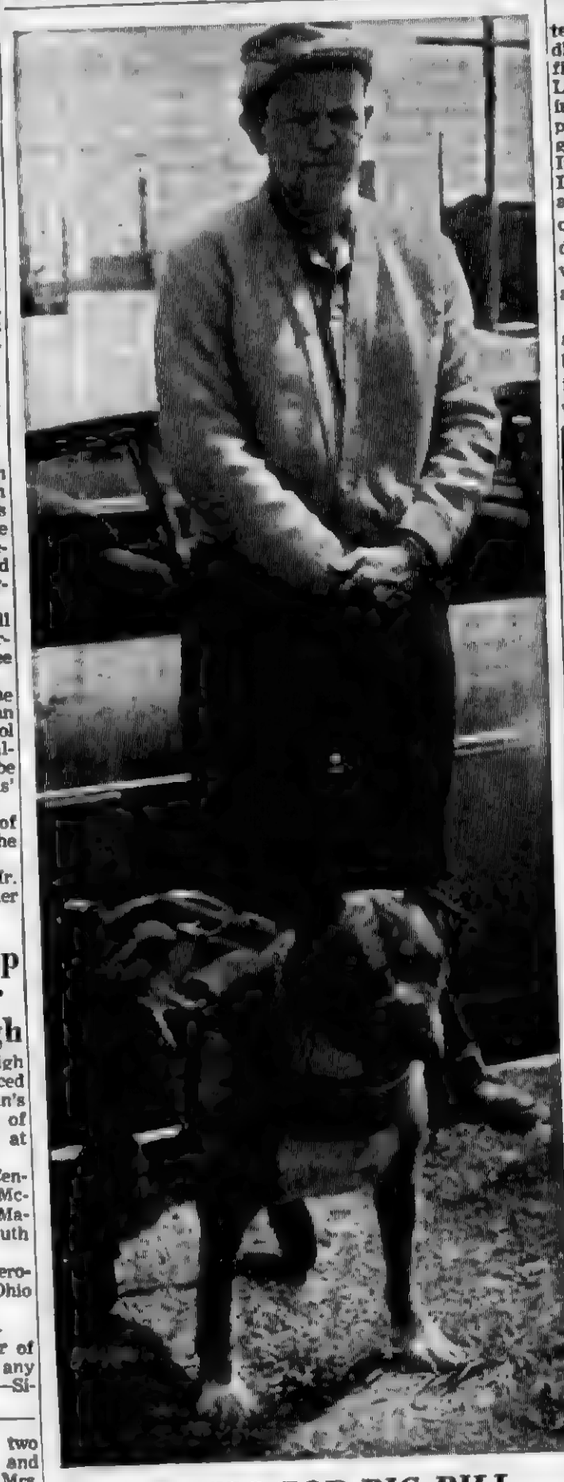
MARION-FRANKLIN High School freshmen Glen Hickman and Antony Pack get a close-up of a miniature pulse engine, which was used as a gasifier for a model turbine engine used in a recent "Previews of Progress" demonstration at the school. Rich Oshove, General Motors lecturer, explained how a blast of hot compressed gasses directed at the turbine wheels cause the rear wheels to rotate by a series of shafts and gears. "Previews of Progress is being presented to area schools by the General Motors Corp. to stimulate an interest in science and engineering.

Jacob And Son Movers Has World-Wide Connections

Established in 1921 on the South Side of Columbus, Jacob and Son Movers has enjoyed 42 years of continued growth and progress. Starting with a single van, the family-owned and operated moving and storage company has grown to six moving vans, offering the latest and most modern of moving equipment and packing services with world-wide connections.

The company moved to its present location at 954 Gilbert-rd in 1940.

Manager Tom Jacob pointed out that the company now employs eight full-time movers and a staff of three in the office. He added that a member of the family is always on hand in the office to take care of any prospective customer. Besides Tom Jacob, his brother, James, and uncle, Virgil, are active in the organization. Clarence Jacob, the founder of the company, retired from the company several years ago.



"We offer full-value protection on every item we handle and by utilizing our affiliations with U.S. Van Lines, we can ship anywhere in the world. We have shipped furniture and household goods as far away as Japan, Italy, Germany, Thailand and India. Upon arrival the goods are shipped intact to the door of the receiver. The customer doesn't have to touch a thing when he moves halfway around the world" said Jacob.

When asked about his storage facilities, also at 954 Gilbert, Jacob said he had run into all types of items which were to be stored. Beside furniture and household goods he has stored a giant replica of the Ohio State Football Stadium and a ton-ton laundry and dry-cleaning press.

At the present time Jacob said an inspection of his warehouse would reveal everything needed to start a pizzaria and complete facilities for an ice cream store. He added he has stored just about everything imaginable in his warehouse at one time or another.

One of Columbus' oldest and most respected moving companies, the Jacob and Son Moving Company will be happy to discuss any moving problems whether it's a change from one side of Columbus to the other or a moving job halfway across the world.

WHEELS FOR BIG BILL

BIG BILL has been with the Harry Miller family since a six-weeks-old pup, but his puppy days are long forgotten. When the degeneration of a dog's age caused him to drag his hind-quarters Miller designed a walker on wheels for him. A metal manufacturing company produced the frame, a shoe repair shop made the harness and the Groveport Hardware supplied the rest. Big Bill tried it on and showed his approval by walking with ease for the first time in many months.
